P R E F A C E.

The necessity for a revision of the laws relating to the Navy and Marine Corps was felt by the Naval Committee of the two Houses of Congress and by the Navy Department, and the Senate, through the Joint Committee on Printing, directed the revision to be made. The Secretary of the Navy tendered any assistance practicable for the Department to extend in accomplishing the work. The Judge-Advocate-General of the Navy, Captain Lemly, examined the proof sheets and noted many valuable suggestions. Mr. E. P. Hanna, chief clerk in the Judge-Advocate-General's Office, read the proofs critically and rendered the reviser most valuable assistance in many ways in connection with the work. The reviser takes pleasure in acknowledging the valuable service thus rendered him.

This revision includes all laws relating to the Navy and Marine Corps up to and including June 17, 1893.

To keep the book within proper limits as to size, much matter contained in Mr. Hogg's compilation, which did not strictly relate to the Navy and Marine Corps nor to the Navy Department, was expurgated.

The arrangement is somewhat different from that of Mr. Hogg, yet in a general way his arrangement has been preserved, for the reason that it was considered very good, and because it was thought desirable not to disturb the familiarity of those who had used the Hogg compilation by substituting for it a compilation wholly different in its arrangement.

The notes have been completely revised, and instead of retaining them as they were in the Hogg compilation they have been uniformly inserted as footnotes.

At the end of the work may be found the gist of decisions of Federal courts and opinions of Attorneys-General construing United States statutes relating to the Navy and Marine Corps and Navy Department. This is alphabetically arranged, and the author feels confident that it will be found of value.

While the compiler is conscious that defects and errors will be met with in this revision, as is the case in all works of similar character, yet he feels that it will serve the purpose for which it is intended reasonably well.

There have been six compilations and revisions of the laws relating to the Navy and Marine Corps. The first was a volume of 198 pages, and was compiled in 1826 by order of the Secretary of the Navy. The second was by Benjamin Homans, of the Navy Department, and was compiled in 1843. This volume contains 246 pages, and includes the laws of the Twenty-seventh Congress. The third was compiled in 1859 by John F. Callan, clerk to the Military Committee, and A. W. Russell, clerk to the Naval Committee of the United States Senate, and contains 464 pages. The fourth was a revision of Mr. Homans's work, and was printed in 1865. It contains 253 pages. The fifth was made by order of the Navy Department in 1875, and includes the laws of the Forty-third Congress. This volume contains 374 pages. The sixth was a compilation and revision by John W. Hogg, made in 1883, and contains 401 pages.

inspecting the conduct of all persons who are placed under their command; to guard against and suppress all dissolute and immoral practices, and to correct, according to the laws and regulations of the Navy, all persons who are guilty of them; and any such commander who offends against this article shall be punished as a court-martial may direct.

Divine service.
July 17, 1862, § 8,
1, v. 12, p. 600.

ART. 2. The commanders of vessels and naval stations to which chaplains are attached shall cause divine service to be performed on Sunday, whenever the weather and other circumstances allow it to be done; and it is earnestly recommended to all officers, seamen, and others in the naval service diligently to attend at every performance of the worship of Almighty God.

Irreverent behavior.
Ibid., art. 2.

ART. 3. Any irreverent or unbecoming behavior during divine service shall be punished as a general or summary court-martial may direct.

ART. 4. The punishment of death, or such other punishment as a court-martial may adjudge, may be inflicted on any person in the naval service—

Mutiny.
See Title Mutiny, Division IV.

First. Who makes, or attempts to make, or unites with any mutiny or mutinous assembly, or, being witness to or present at any mutiny, does not do his utmost to suppress it; or, knowing of any mutinous assembly or of any intended mutiny, does not immediately communicate his knowledge to his superior or commanding officer;

Disobedience of orders.

Second. Or disobeys the lawful orders of his superior officer;

Striking superior officer.

Third. Or strikes or assaults, or attempts or threatens to strike or assault, his superior officer while in the execution of the duties of his office;

Intercourse with an enemy.

Fourth. Or gives any intelligence to, or holds or entertains any intercourse with, an enemy or rebel, without leave from the President, the Secretary of the Navy, the commander-in-chief of the fleet, the commander of the squadron, or, in case of a vessel acting singly, from his commanding officer;

Messages from an enemy.

Fifth. Or receives any message or letter from an enemy or rebel, or, being aware of the unlawful reception of such message or letter, fails to take the earliest opportunity to inform his superior or commanding officer thereof;

Desertion in time of war.

Sixth. Or, in time of war, deserts or entices others to desert;

See secs. 1996-1998, Desertion.

Deserting trust.

Seventh. Or, in time of war, deserts or betrays his trust, or entices or aids others to desert or betray their trust;

Sleeping on watch.

Eighth. Or sleeps upon his watch;

Leaving station.

Ninth. Or leaves his station before being regularly relieved;

Willful stranding or injury of vessel.

Tenth. Or intentionally or willfully suffers any vessel of the Navy to be stranded, or run upon rocks or shoals, or improperly hazarded; or maliciously or willfully injures any vessel of the Navy, or any part of her tackle, armament, or equipment, whereby the safety of the vessel is hazarded or the lives of the crew exposed to danger;

Unlawful destruction of public property.

Eleventh. Or unlawfully sets on fire, or otherwise unlawfully destroys, any public property not at the time in possession of an enemy, pirate, or rebel;

Twelfth. Or strikes or attempts to strike the flag to an enemy or rebel, without proper authority, or, when engaged in battle, treacherously yields or pusillanimously cries for quarters;

Striking flag or treacherously yielding.
See note 1.

Thirteenth. Or, in time of battle, displays cowardice, negligence, or disaffection, or withdraws from or keeps out of danger to which he should expose himself;

Cowardice in battle.

Fourteenth. Or, in time of battle, deserts his duty or station, or entices others to do so;

Deserting duty in battle.

Fifteenth. Or does not properly observe the orders of his commanding officer, and use his utmost exertions to carry them into execution, when ordered to prepare for or join in, or when actually engaged in, battle, or while in sight of an enemy;

Neglecting orders to prepare for battle.

Sixteenth. Or, being in command of a fleet, squadron, or vessel acting singly, neglects, when an engagement is probable, or when an armed vessel of an enemy or rebel is in sight, to prepare and clear his ship or ships for action;

Neglecting to clear for action.

Seventeenth. Or does not, upon signal for battle, use his utmost exertions to join in battle;

Neglecting to join on signal for battle.

Eighteenth. Or fails to encourage, in his own person, his inferior officers and men to fight courageously;

Failing to encourage the men to fight.

Nineteenth. Or does not do his utmost to overtake and capture or destroy any vessel which it is his duty to encounter;

Failing to seek encounter.

Twentieth. Or does not afford all practicable relief and assistance to vessels belonging to the United States or their allies when engaged in battle.

Failing to afford relief in battle.

ART. 5. All persons who, in time of war, or of rebellion against the supreme authority of the United States, come or are found in the capacity of spies, or who bring or deliver any seducing letter or message from an enemy or rebel, or endeavor to corrupt any person in the Navy to betray his trust, shall suffer death, or such other punishment as a court-martial may adjudge.

Apr. 23, 1800, v. 2, p. 47; July 17, 1862, v. 12, p. 601.

Spies.
July 17, 1862, s. 1, v. 12, p. 602, art. 4; Feb. 13, 1862, s. 4, v. 12, p. 340; Mar. 3, 1863, s. 38, v. 12, p. 737.
See note 2.

ART. 6. If any person belonging to any public vessel of the United States commits the crime of murder without the territorial jurisdiction thereof, he may be tried by court-martial and punished with death.

Murder.
July 17, 1862, s. 1, v. 12, p. 602, art. 5.
[See Piracy, etc., Division IV.]

ART. 7. A naval court-martial may adjudge the punishment of imprisonment for life, or for a stated term, at hard labor, in any case where it is authorized to adjudge the punishment of death; and such sentences of imprisonment and hard labor may be carried into execution in any prison or penitentiary under the control of the United States, or Imprisonment in a penitentiary.

July 17, 1862, s. 1, v. 12, p. 602, art. 6.
See note 3.

Note 1.—By inadvertance the statute reads "quarters." It should read quarter.

Note 2.—Such other punishment is limited only to that kind of punishment which has become usual. (Op., X, 159.) Sentence of incapacity or disability not within that range. Can only be awarded when specially authorized by law. (Naval contractor's case, Op., XII, 523.) To be limited to the customs of the service. Cruel and unusual punishments are forbidden by the law-martial and the Constitution. (Op., X, 160.)

See art. 5.

Note 3.—A naval or marine court-martial, upon conviction for an offense not capital, under articles 7 and 8, may sentence to imprisonment at hard labor. (Op., XII, p. 510, Evarts, Oct. IX, 1868; X, p. 158, Bates, Nov. 1, 1861; IX, p. 80, Black, Sept. 5, 1857.) It is held in Army practice that a sentence of penitentiary confinement in a case of a purely military offense is wholly unauthorized and should be disapproved. Larceny, embezzlement, violent crime, or other offenses made punishable with penitentiary confinement by the law of the State, etc., may be legally visited with this punishment. (Winthrop's Digest, p. 115, new ed.) The same principles are now applied by the Navy Department.

See art. 7.

which the United States may be allowed, by the legislature of any State, to use; and persons so imprisoned in the prison or penitentiary of any State or Territory shall be subject, in all respects, to the same discipline and treatment as convicts sentenced by the courts of the State or Territory in which the same may be situated.

Profanity, falsehood, etc.

ART. 8. Such punishment as a court-martial may adjudge may be inflicted on any person in the Navy—

First. Who is guilty of profane swearing, falsehood, drunkenness, gambling, fraud, theft, or any other scandalous conduct tending to the destruction of good morals;

Cruelty.

Second. Or is guilty of cruelty toward, or oppression or maltreatment of, any person subject to his orders;

Quarreling.

Third. Or quarrels with, strikes, or assaults, or uses provoking or reproachful words, gestures, or menaces toward, any person in the Navy;

Fomenting quarrels.

Fourth. Or endeavors to foment quarrels between other persons in the Navy;

Duels.

Fifth. Or sends or accepts a challenge to fight a duel or acts as a second in a duel;

Contempt of superior officer.

Sixth. Or treats his superior officer with contempt, or is disrespectful to him in language or deportment, while in the execution of his office;

Combinations against superior officer.

Seventh. Or joins in or abets any combination to weaken the lawful authority of, or lessen the respect due to, his commanding officer;

July 17, 1862, s. 1, v. 12, p. 602, art. 7.
M u t i n o u s words.

Eighth. Or utters any seditious or mutinous words;

April 23, 1800, art. 13, v. 2, p. 47.
Neglect of orders.

Ninth. Or is negligent or careless in obeying orders, or culpably inefficient in the performance of duty;

Preventing destruction of public property.

Tenth. Or does not use his best exertions to prevent the unlawful destruction of public property by others;

N e g l i g e n t stranding.

Eleventh. Or, through inattention or negligence, suffers any vessel of the Navy to be stranded, or run upon a rock or shoal, or hazarded;

Negligence in convoy service.

Twelfth. Or, when attached to any vessel appointed as convoy to any merchant or other vessels, fails diligently to perform his duty, or demands or exacts any compensation for his services, or maltreats the officers or crews of such merchant or other vessels;

Receiving articles for freight.

Thirteenth. Or takes, receives, or permits to be received, on board the vessel to which he is attached, any goods or merchandise, for freight, sale, or traffic, except gold, silver, or jewels, for freight or safe-keeping; or demands or receives any compensation for the receipt or transportation of any other article than gold, silver, or jewels, without authority from the President or Secretary of the Navy;

False muster.

Fourteenth. Or knowingly makes or signs, or aids, abets, directs, or procures the making or signing of, any false muster;

Waste of public property, etc.

Fifteenth. Or wastes any ammunition, provisions, or other public property, or, having power to prevent it, knowingly permits such waste;

Plundering on shore.

Sixteenth. Or, when on shore, plunders, abuses, or maltreats any inhabitant, or injures his property in any way;

Seventeenth. Or refuses, or fails to use, his utmost exertions to detect, apprehend, and bring to punishment all offenders, or to aid all persons appointed for that purpose;

Refusing to apprehend offenders.

Eighteenth. Or, when rated or acting as master-at-arms, refuses to receive such prisoners as may be committed to his charge, or, having received them, suffers them to escape, or dismisses them without orders from the proper authority;

Refusing to receive prisoners.

Nineteenth. Or is absent from his station or duty without leave, or after his leave has expired;

Absence from duty without leave.

Twentieth. Or violates or refuses obedience to any lawful general order or regulation issued by the Secretary of the Navy;

Violating general orders or regulations.

Twenty-first. Or, in time of peace, deserts or attempts to desert, or aids and entices others to desert;

Desertion in time of peace.

Twenty-second. Or receives or entertains any deserter from any other vessel of the Navy, knowing him to be such, and does not, with all convenient speed, give notice of such deserter to the commander of the vessel to which he belongs, or to the commander-in-chief, or to the commander of the squadron.

Harboring deserters.

Apr. 23, 1800, v. 2, p. 47; July 17, 1862, v. 12, p. 602.

ART. 9. Any officer who absents himself from his command without leave, may, by the sentence of a court-martial, be reduced to the rating of an ordinary seaman.

Officer absent without leave may be reduced.

May 16, 1864, s. 2, v. 13, p. 75.

ART. 10. Any commissioned officer of the Navy or Marine Corps who, having tendered his resignation, quits his post or proper duties without leave, and with intent to remain permanently absent therefrom, prior to due notice of the acceptance of such resignation, shall be deemed and punished as a deserter.

Desertion by resignation.

Aug. 5, 1861, s. 2, v. 12, p. 316.

[See Dismissal; also, Desertion, Division 1.

ART. 11. No person in the naval service shall procure stores or other articles or supplies for, and dispose thereof to, the officers or enlisted men on vessels of the Navy, or at navy-yards or naval stations, for his own account or benefit.

Dealing in supplies on private account.

Aug. 26, 1842, s. 1, v. 5, p. 535.

against the United States or against any officer thereof, makes or uses, or procures or advises the making or use of, any writing, or other paper, knowing the same to contain any false or fraudulent statement; or

Perjury. Who, for the purpose of obtaining, or aiding others to obtain, the approval, allowance, or payment of any claim against the United States or any officer thereof, makes, or procures or advises the making of, any oath to any fact or to any writing or other paper, knowing such oath to be false; or

Forgery. Who, for the purpose of obtaining, or aiding others to obtain, the approval, allowance, or payment of any claim against the United States or any officer thereof, forges or counterfeits, or procures or advises the forging or counterfeiting of, any signature upon any writing or other paper, or uses, or procures or advises the use of, any such signature, knowing the same to be forged or counterfeited; or

Delivering less property than receipt calls for. Who, having charge, possession, custody, or control of any money or other property of the United States, furnished or intended for the naval service thereof, knowingly delivers, or causes to be delivered, to any person having authority to receive the same, any amount thereof less than that for which he receives a certificate or receipt; or

Giving receipts without knowing truth of. Who, being authorized to make or deliver any paper certifying the receipt of any money or other property of the United States, furnished or intended for the naval service thereof, makes, or delivers to any person, such writing, without having full knowledge of the truth of the statements therein contained, and with intent to defraud the United States; or

Stealing, wrongfully selling, etc. Who steals, embezzles, knowingly and willfully misappropriates, applies to his own use or benefit, or wrongfully and knowingly sells or disposes of any ordnance, arms, equipments, ammunition, clothing, subsistence stores, money or other property of the United States, furnished or intended for the military or naval service thereof; or

Buying public military property. Who knowingly purchases, or receives in pledge for any obligation or indebtedness, from any other person who is a part of or employed in said service, any ordnance, arms, equipments, ammunition, clothing, subsistence stores, or other property of the United States, such other person not having lawful right to sell or pledge the same; or Other frauds. Who executes, attempts, or countenances any other fraud against the United States.

And if any person, being guilty of any of the offenses described in this article while in the naval service, receives his discharge, or is dismissed from the service, he shall continue to be liable to be arrested and held for trial and sentence by a court-martial, in the same manner and to the same extent as if he had not received such discharge nor been dismissed.

List of persons claiming prize-money. ART. 15. The commanding officer of every vessel in the Navy entitled to or claiming an award of prize-money shall, as soon as it may be practicable after the capture, transmit to the Navy Department a complete list of the officers and men of his vessel entitled to share, stating therein the quality of each person rating; and every commanding officer who offends against this article shall be punished as a court-martial may direct.

ART. 16. No person in the Navy shall take out of a prize, or vessel seized as a prize, any money, plate, goods, or any part of her equipment, unless it be for the better preservation thereof, or unless such articles are absolutely needed for the use of any of the vessels or armed forces of the United States, before the same are adjudged lawful prize by a competent court; but the whole, without fraud, concealment, or embezzlement, shall be brought in, in order that judgment may be passed thereon; and every person who offends against this article shall be punished as a court-martial may direct.

Removing property from a prize.
July 17, 1862, s. 7, v. 12, p. 607.

ART. 17. If any person in the Navy strips off the clothes of, or pillages, or in any manner maltreats, any person taken on board a prize, he shall suffer such punishment as a court-martial may adjudge.

Maltreating persons taken on a prize.
July 17, 1862, s. 8, v. 12, p. 607.

ART. 18. If any officer or person in the naval service employs any of the forces under his command for the purpose of returning any fugitive from service or labor, he shall be dismissed from the service.

Returning fugitives from service.
Mar. 13, 1862, s. 1, v. 12, p. 354.

ART. 19. Any officer who knowingly enlists into the naval service any deserter from the naval or military service of the United States, or any insane or intoxicated person, or any minor between the ages of fourteen and eighteen years, without the consent of his parents or guardian, or any minor under the age of fourteen years, shall be punished as a court-martial may direct.

Enlisting deserters, minors, &c.

See note 4.

ART. 20. Every commanding officer of a vessel in the Navy shall obey the following rules:

First. Whenever a man enters on board, the commanding officer shall cause an accurate entry to be made in the ship's books, showing his name, the date, place, and term of his enlistment, the place or vessel from which he was received on board, his rating, his descriptive list, his age, place of birth, and citizenship, with such remarks as may be necessary.

Men received on board.

Second. He shall, before sailing, transmit to the Secretary of the Navy a complete list of the rated men under his command, showing the particulars set forth in rule one, and a list of officers and passengers, showing the date of their entering. And he shall cause similar lists to be made out on the first day of every third month and transmitted to the Secretary of the Navy as opportunities occur, accounting therein for any casualty which may have happened since the last list.

List of officers, men, and passengers.

Third. He shall cause to be accurately minuted on the ship's books the names of any persons dying or deserting, and the times at which such death or desertion occurs.

Deaths and desertions.

Fourth. In case of the death of any officer, man, or passenger on said vessel, he shall take care that the paymaster secures all the property of the deceased, for the benefit of his legal representatives.

Accounts of men received. Fifth. He shall not receive on board any man transferred from any other vessel or station to him, unless such man is furnished with an account, signed by the captain and paymaster of the vessel or station from which he came, specifying the date of his entry on said vessel or at said station, the period and term of his service, the sums paid him, the balance due him, the quality in which he was rated, and his descriptive list.

Accounts of men sent from the ship. Sixth. He shall, whenever officers or men are sent from his ship, for whatever cause, take care that each man is furnished with a complete statement of his account, specifying the date of his enlistment, the period and term of his service, and his descriptive list. Said account shall be signed by the commanding officer and paymaster.

Inspection of provisions. Seventh. He shall cause frequent inspections to be made into the condition of the provisions on his ship, and use every precaution for their preservation.

Health of crew. Eighth. He shall frequently consult with the surgeon in regard to the sanitary condition of his crew, and shall use all proper means to preserve their health. And he shall cause a convenient place to be set apart for sick or disabled men, to which he shall have them removed, with their hammocks and bedding, when the surgeon so advises, and shall direct that some of the crew attend them and keep the place clean.

Attendance at final payment of crew. Ninth. He shall attend in person, or appoint a proper officer to attend, when his crew is finally paid off, to see that justice is done to the men and to the United States in the settlement of the accounts.

Articles to be hung up and read. Tenth. He shall cause the articles for the government of the Navy to be hung up in some public part of the ship and read once a month to his ship's company.

Punishment for offending against this article. Every commanding officer who offends against the provisions of this article shall be punished as a court-martial may direct.

Authority of officers after loss of vessel. ART. 21. When the crew of any vessel of the United States are separated from their vessel by means of her wreck, loss, or destruction, all the command and authority given to the officers of such vessel shall remain in full force until such ship's company shall be regularly discharged from or ordered again into service, or until a court-martial or court of inquiry shall be held to inquire into the loss of said vessel. And if any officer or man, after such wreck, loss, or destruction, acts contrary to the discipline of the Navy, he shall be punished as a court-martial may direct.

Offenses not specified. ART. 22. All offenses committed by persons belonging to the Navy which are not specified in the foregoing article shall be punished as a court-martial may direct.

See art. 22.

Note 5.—On board a United States vessel of war on the Thames River, under way, opposite New London, a fatal assault was committed upon a member of the crew by another. Held, that a naval court-martial could, under article 22, section 1624, Revised Statutes, take jurisdiction of the offense as manslaughter. The State authorities could have tried the case, but it would not have ousted the court-martial of jurisdiction over the same offense so far as it affected the order and discipline of the ship. (Op., XVI, 578, published in General Order Navy Department 259, January 25, 1881.)

ART. 23. All offenses committed by persons belonging to the Navy while on shore shall be punished in the same manner as if they had been committed at sea.

Offenses committed on shore. July 17, 1862, s. 1, v. 12, p. 602, arts. 8 and 9.

ART. 24. No commander of a vessel shall inflict upon a commissioned or warrant officer any other punishment than private reprimand, suspension from duty, arrest, or confinement, and such suspension, arrest, or confinement shall not continue longer than ten days, unless a further period is necessary to bring the offender to trial by a court-martial; nor shall he inflict, or cause to be inflicted, upon any petty officer, or person of inferior rating, or marine, for a single offense, or at any one time, any other than one of the following punishments, namely:

Punishment by order of commander. July 17, 1862, s. 1, v. 12, p. 603, art. 10.

First. Reduction of any rating established by himself.

Second. Confinement, with or without irons, single or double, not exceeding ten days, unless further confinement be necessary, in the case of a prisoner to be tried by court-martial.

Third. Solitary confinement, on bread and water, not exceeding five days.

Fourth. Solitary confinement not exceeding seven days.

Fifth. Deprivation of liberty on shore.

Sixth. Extra duties.

No other punishment shall be permitted on board of vessels belonging to the Navy, except by sentence of a general or summary court-martial. All punishments inflicted by the commander, or by his order, except reprimands, shall be fully entered upon the ship's log.

ART. 25. No officer who may command by accident, or in the absence of the commanding officer, except when such commanding officer is absent for a time by leave, shall inflict any other punishment than confinement.

Punishment by officers temporarily commanding. Apr. 23, 1800, s. 1, v. 2, p. 49, art. 30.

ART. 26. Summary courts-martial may be ordered upon petty officers and persons of inferior ratings, by the commander of any vessel, or by the commandant of any navy-yard, naval station, or marine barracks to which they belong, for the trial of offenses which such officer may deem deserving of greater punishment than such commander or commandant is authorized to inflict, but not sufficient to require trial by a general court-martial.

Summary courts-martial.

Mar. 2, 1855, s. 4, v. 10, p. 627; July 15, 1870, s. 14, v. 16, p. 334.

ART. 27. A summary court-martial shall consist of three officers not below the rank of ensign, as members, and of a recorder. The commander of a ship may order any officer under his command to act as such recorder.

Constitution of summary courts-martial.

Mar. 2, 1855, ss. 5, 6, v. 10, p. 628.

ART. 28. Before proceeding to trial the members of a summary court-martial shall take the following oath or affirmation, which shall be administered by the recorder:

Oath of members and recorder.

"I, A B, do swear (or affirm) that I will well and truly try, without prejudice or partiality, the case now depending, according to the evidence which shall be adduced, the laws for the government of the Navy, and my own conscience." After which the recorder of the court shall take the following oath or affirmation, which shall be administered by the senior member of the court: "I, A B, do swear (or affirm) that I will keep a true record of the evidence which shall be given before this court and of the proceedings thereof."

Mar. 2, 1855, s. 5, p. 628.

Testimony. ART. 29. All testimony before a summary court-martial shall be given orally, upon oath or affirmation, administered by the senior member of the court.

Punishments by summary courts. ART. 30. Summary courts-martial may sentence petty officers and persons of inferior ratings to any one of the following punishments, namely:

Mar. 2, 1855, s. 7, p. 628. First. Discharge from the service with bad conduct discharge; but the sentence shall not be carried into effect in a foreign country.

Second. Solitary confinement, not exceeding thirty days, in irons, single or double, on bread and water, or on diminished rations.

Third. Solitary confinement in irons, single or double, not exceeding thirty days.

Fourth. Solitary confinement not exceeding thirty days.

Fifth. Confinement not exceeding two months.

Sixth. Reduction to next inferior rating.

Seventh. Deprivation of liberty on shore on foreign station.

Eighth. Extra police duties, and loss of pay, not to exceed three months, may be added to any of the above-mentioned punishments.

Disrating for incompetency. ART. 31. A summary court-martial may disrate any rated person for incompetency.

July 17, 1862, s. 1, art. 10, v. 12, p. 603.

Execution of sentence of summary court. ART. 32. No sentence of a summary court-martial shall be carried into execution until the proceedings and sentence have been approved by the officer ordering the court and by the commander-in-chief, or, in his absence, by the senior officer present. And no sentence of such court which involves loss of pay shall be carried into execution until the proceedings and sentence have been approved by the Secretary of the Navy.

Mar. 2, 1855, s. 8, v. 10, p. 628; Mar. 2, 1867, s. 5, v. 14, p. 516. See note 6.

Remission of sentence. ART. 33. The officer ordering a summary court-martial shall have power to remit, in part or altogether, but not to commute, the sentence of the court. And it shall be his duty either to remit any part or the whole of any sentence, the execution of which would, in the opinion of the surgeon or senior medical officer on board, given in writing, produce serious injury to the health of the person sentenced; or to submit the case again, without delay, to the same or to another summary court-martial, which shall have power, upon the testimony already taken, to remit the former punishment and to assign some other of the authorized punishments in the place thereof.

Manner of conducting proceedings. ART. 34. The proceedings of summary courts-martial shall be conducted with as much conciseness and precision as may be consistent with the ends of justice, and under such forms and rules as may be prescribed by the Secretary of the Navy, with the approval of the President; and

Mar. 2, 1855, s. 9, p. 628.

See art. 32.

Note 6.—The proceedings of all general and summary courts-martial and courts of inquiry, after action thereon by the reviewing officer, will be forwarded direct to the Judge-Advocate-General of the Navy, accompanied by a communication addressed to him. All communications pertaining to questions of law before such courts, requiring the action of the Department, must also be addressed to him. (See U. S. Navy Regulations, 1896.)

all such proceedings shall be transmitted, in the usual mode, to the Navy Department.

ART. 35. Any punishment which a summary court-martial is authorized to inflict may be inflicted by a general court-martial.

Same punishments by general court-martial.

Mar. 2, 1855, s. 10, p. 628.

Dismissal of officers.

July 13, 1866, s. 5, v. 14, p. 92.

ART. 36. No officer shall be dismissed from the naval service except by the order of the President or by sentence of a general court-martial; and in time of peace no officer shall be dismissed except in pursuance of the sentence of a general court-martial or in mitigation thereof.

ART. 37. When any officer, dismissed by order of the President since 3d March, 1865, makes, in writing, an application for trial, setting forth, under oath that he has been wrongly dismissed, the President shall, as soon as the necessities of the service may permit, convene a court-martial to try such officer on the charges on which he shall have been dismissed. And if such court-martial shall not be convened within six months from the presentation of such application for trial, or if such court, being convened, shall not award dismissal or death as the punishment of such officer, the order of dismissal by the President shall be void.

Officer dismissed by the President may demand trial.

Mar. 3, 1865, s. 12, v. 13, p. 489.

See act June 22, 1874, p. —. Accounting officers. See Dismissal, Division 1.

ART. 38. General courts-martial may be convened by the President, the Secretary of the Navy, or the commander-in-chief of a fleet or squadron; but no commander of a fleet or squadron in the waters of the United States shall convene such court without express authority from the President.

General courts-martial by whom convened.

July 17, 1862, s. 1, art. 11, v. 12, p. 603.

ART. 39. A general court-martial shall consist of not more than thirteen nor less than five commissioned officers as members; and as many officers, not exceeding thirteen, as can be convened without injury to the service, shall be summoned on every such court. But in no case, where it can be avoided without injury to the service, shall more than one-half, exclusive of the president, be junior to the officer to be tried. The senior officer shall always preside and the others shall take place according to their rank.

Constitution of. July 17, 1862, s. 1, art. 11, v. 12, p. 603.

See note 7.

ART. 40. The president of the general court-martial shall administer the following oath or affirmation to the judge-advocate or person officiating as such:

Oaths of members and judge-advocate.

Mar. 2, 1855, s. 1, art. 12, p. 603.

See note 8.

“I, A B, do swear (or affirm) that I will keep a true record of the evidence given to and the proceedings of this court; that I will not divulge or by any means disclose the sentence of the court until it shall have been approved by the proper authority; and that I will not at any time divulge or disclose the vote or opinion of any particular member of the court, unless required so to do before a court of justice in due course of law.”

This oath or affirmation being duly administered, each member of the court, before proceeding to trial, shall take the following oath or affirmation, which shall be administered by the judge-advocate or person officiating as such:

"I, A B, do swear (or affirm) that I will truly try without prejudice or partiality, the case now depending, according to the evidence which shall come before the court, the rules for the government of the Navy, and my own conscience; that I will not by any means divulge or disclose the sentence of the court until it shall have been approved by the proper authority; and that I will not at any time divulge or disclose the vote or opinion of any particular member of the court, unless required so to do before a court of justice in due course of law."

Oath of witness.
Mar. 2, 1855, s.
1, art. 14, p. 603.

ART. 41. An oath or affirmation in the following form, shall be administered to all witnesses, before any court-martial, by the president thereof:

"You do solemnly swear (or affirm) that the evidence you shall give in the case now before this court shall be the truth, the whole truth, and nothing but the truth, and that you will state everything within your knowledge in relation to the charges. So help you God; (or 'this you do under the pains and penalties of perjury.') court.

Id., art. 13.

ART. 42. Whenever any person refuses to give his evidence or to give it in the manner provided by these articles, or prevaricates, or behaves with contempt to the court, it shall be lawful for the court to imprison him for any time not exceeding two months.

Charges.
Id., art. 15;
Mar. 16, 1878, v.
20, p. 30.

ART. 43. The person accused shall be furnished with a true copy of the charges, with the specifications, at the time he is put under arrest; and no other charges than those so furnished shall be urged against him at the trial, unless it shall appear to the court that intelligence of such other charge had not reached the officer ordering the court when the accused was put under arrest, or that some witness material to the support of such charge was at that time absent and can be produced at the trial; in which case reasonable time shall be given to the accused to make his defense against such new charge. The person so charged shall, at his own request but not otherwise, be a competent witness. And his failure to make such request shall not create any presumption against him.

art. 15, v. 12, p.
604.

ART. 44. Every officer who is arrested for trial shall deliver up his sword to his commanding officer and confine himself to the limits assigned him, on pain of dismissal from the service.

Suspension of proceedings.
Id., art. 16.

ART. 45. When the proceedings of any general court-martial have commenced, they shall not be suspended or delayed on account of the absence of any of the members, provided five or more are assembled; but the court is enjoined to sit from day to day, Sundays excepted, until

Note 9.—Article 43 of the Articles for the Government of the Navy (Rev. Stat., 1824) requiring the accused to be furnished with a copy of the charges and specifications "at the time he is put under arrest," refers to his arrest for trial by court-martial; and, if he is already in custody to await the result of a court of inquiry, is sufficiently complied with by delivering the copy to him immediately after the Secretary of the Navy has informed him of that result, and has ordered a court-martial to convene to try him. (Johnson v. Sayre, 158 U. S., p. 109.)

sentence is given, unless temporarily adjourned by the authority which convened it.

ART. 46. No member of a general court-martial shall, after the proceedings are begun, absent himself therefrom, except in case of sickness, or of an order to go on duty from a superior officer, on pain of being cashiered.

Absence of members.
Id., art. 16.

ART. 47. Whenever any member of a court-martial, from any legal cause, is absent from the court after the commencement of a case, all the witnesses who have been examined during his absence must, when he is ready to resume his seat, be recalled by the court, and the recorded testimony of each witness so examined must be read over to him, and such witness must acknowledge the same to be correct and be subject to such further examination as the said member may require. Without a compliance with this rule, and an entry thereof upon the record, a member who shall have been absent during the examination of a witness shall not be allowed to sit again in that particular case.

Witnesses examined in absence of a member.
Id., art. 17.

ART. 48. Whenever a court-martial sentences an officer to be suspended, it may suspend his pay and emoluments for the whole or any part of the time of his suspension.

Suspension of pay.
Id., art. 18.

ART. 49. In no case shall punishment by flogging, or by branding, marking, or tattooing on the body be adjudged by any court-martial or be inflicted upon any person in the Navy.

Flogging, branding, etc.
Id., art. 8; June 6, 1872, s. 2, v. 17, p. 261.

ART. 50. No person shall be sentenced by a court-martial to suffer death, except by the concurrence of two-thirds of the members present, and in the cases where such punishment is expressly provided in these articles. All other sentences may be determined by a majority of votes.

Sentences, how determined.
July 17, 1862, s. 1, v. 12, p. 605, art. 19.

ART. 51. It shall be the duty of a court-martial, in all cases of conviction, to adjudge a punishment adequate to the nature of the offense; but the members thereof may recommend the person convicted as deserving of clemency, and state, on the record, their reasons for so doing.

Adequate punishment; recommendation to mercy.
See art. 35, Summary Courts-martial.
Id., art. 21.

ART. 52. The judgment of every court-martial shall be authenticated by the signature of the president, and of every member who may be present when said judgment is pronounced, and also of the judge-advocate.

Authentication of judgment.
Id., art. 22.

ART. 53. No sentence of a court-martial, extending to the loss of life, or to the dismissal of a commissioned or warrant officer, shall be carried into execution until confirmed by the President. All other sentences of a general court-martial may be carried into execution on confirmation of the commander of the fleet or officer ordering the court.

Confirmation of sentence.
Id., art. 19.

ART. 54. Every officer who is authorized to convene a general court-martial shall have power, on revision of its proceedings, to remit or mitigate, but not to commute, the sentence of any such court which he is authorized to approve and confirm.

Remission and mitigation of sentence.
Id., art. 20.
See note 10.

Note 10.—A milder punishment may be substituted by the President for dismissal. In mitigating, may substitute suspension without pay, which is an inferior degree of the same punishment. Mitigation must be of the punishment adjudged by reducing and modifying its severity, except in case of death, where there is no inferior degree. The Executive can not add to the punishment; can not suspend pay or

Id., art. 25.

ART. 55. Courts of inquiry may be ordered by the President, the Secretary of the Navy, or the commander of a fleet or squadron.

ART. 56. A court of inquiry shall consist of not more than three commissioned officers as members, and of a judge-advocate, or person officiating as such.

ART. 57. Courts of inquiry shall have power to summon witnesses, administer oaths, and punish contempts, in the same manner as courts-martial; but they shall only state facts, and shall not give their opinion, unless expressly required so to do in the order for convening.

ART. 58. The judge-advocate, or person officiating as such, shall administer to the members the following oath or affirmation: "You do swear (or affirm) well and truly to examine and inquire, according to the evidence, into the matter now before you, without partiality." After which the president shall administer to the judge-advocate, or person officiating as such, the following oath or affirmation: "You do swear (or affirm) truly to record the proceedings of this court and the evidence to be given in the case in hearing."

emoluments where they were not suspended by the court. Sentence of suspension merely does not deprive the party of pay or emoluments. Where forfeiture or loss of pay is made part of the sentence, in addition to confinement or suspension from duty, the former may be remitted by the proper authority, in whole or in part, without also remitting the latter. (Op., IV, 432, 444; V, 45; VI, 200; XV, 175.)

It is well settled that it is beyond the power of the President to annul or revoke the sentence of a court-martial which has been approved and executed under a former President. The rule is not confined to cases in which the sentence is required to be approved by the President. (Op., X, 64. Refers to Op., I, 486; IV, 170, 274; VI, 369, 514; VII, 98.)

Forfeiture or loss of pay, by confinement or suspension from duty, under a sentence of a court-martial, is not incurred unless the forfeiture or loss be imposed by the sentence. (Op., XV, 175.)

The action of an officer who ordered the court, on forwarding the proceedings with the indorsement "that the finding of the court is not sustained by the evidence," can not be deemed to be a disapproval of the sentence of the court. Such disapproval should be distinctly expressed. (Op., XVI, 312.)

Notice by the Secretary of the Navy of the approval by the President of the sentence of a court-martial is sufficient evidence of approval and promulgation. (Op., XVI, 550; see also XV, 290.) Sign-manual of the President not necessary.

A disapproval of a sentence by the proper reviewing officer, release from confinement, and restoration to duty is tantamount to an acquittal by the court. (Op., XIII, 459.)

When the sentence of a court-martial, lawfully confirmed, has been executed, the proceedings in the case are no longer subject to review by the President. (Op., XV, 290.) In a note to this opinion, observations are submitted upon the authority of the President to appoint general courts-martial in cases other than those in which he is expressly authorized to do so by Congress, and the conclusion reached that such authority is well established.

A midshipman was nominated and confirmed as an ensign, subject to examination, but subsequently tried, never having been examined, and sentenced to be dismissed. Under the circumstances, was properly tried as a midshipman. (Op., XVI, 550.)

Any person having an interest in the record of a naval court-martial is entitled to have an exemplified copy of it, after the proceedings are consummated by the proper authority. (Op., XI, 137.)

See arts. 55 to 60.

Note 11.—Courts of inquiry are open or close, as the authority ordering them may determine. (De Hart, 276.) Their reports are not decisions, but advice, only for information of Executive. They are not subject to statutes of limitation. May be ordered at any subsequent date. (Op., VIII, 335; VI, 239.) A court of inquiry can not be ordered on a civilian. A body of officers convened to inquire into and report on the facts of the case of an officer who has been legally dismissed is a mere board of investigation, and can exercise none of the special powers of a court-martial or court of inquiry. (Winthrop's Digest, 125; see same as to powers of boards of investigation.)

A copy of the record of a court of inquiry is not to be furnished to parties, or their agents, as a matter of right, as is the copy of the record of a court-martial. (Holt's Digest, 43.)

ART. 59. The party whose conduct shall be the subject of inquiry, or his attorney, shall have the right to cross-examine all the witnesses.

Rights of party inquired of. Id., art. 23. See act of Mar. 16, 1878, as noted under General Courts-Martial, art. 43.

ART. 60. The proceedings of courts of inquiry shall be authenticated by the signature of the president of the court and of the judge-advocate, and shall, in all cases not capital, nor extending to the dismissal of a commissioned or warrant officer, be evidence before a court-martial, provided oral testimony cannot be obtained.

Proceedings, how authenticated and used as evidence.

ART. 61. No person shall be tried by court-martial or otherwise punished for any offense, except as provided in the following article, which appears to have been committed more than two years before the issuing of the order for such trial or punishment, unless by reason of having absented himself, or of some other manifest impediment he shall not have been amenable to justice within that period.

Trials to be within two years of committing offense.

ART. 62. No person shall be tried by court-martial or otherwise punished for desertion in time of peace committed more than two years before the issuing of the order for such trial or punishment, unless he shall meanwhile have absented himself from the United States, or by reason of some other manifest impediment shall not have been amenable to justice within that period, in which case the time of his absence shall be excluded in computing the period of the limitation:

Provided, That said limitation shall not begin until the end of the term for which said person was enlisted in the service.

Time limit to run from end of term. Feb. 25, 1895.

ART. 63. Whenever, by any of the Articles for the Government of the Navy of the United States, the punishment on conviction of an offense is left to the discretion of the court-martial, the punishment therefor shall not, in time of peace, be in excess of a limit which the President may prescribe.

Punishment for offenses in time of peace. Sup. R. S., 1892, p. 389; 28 Stat. L., 689; articles amended, R. S., s. 1624. Feb. 27, 1895. Sup., chap. 137.

Sea service.
 June 1, 1860, s. 3, v. 12, p. 27. See note 3.

SEC. 1571. No service shall be regarded as sea service except such as shall be performed at sea, under the orders of a Department and in vessels employed by authority of law.

Medicines and medical attendance.
 July 15, 1870, s. 17, v. 16, p. 334.

SEC. 1586. Expenses incurred by any officer of the Navy for medicines and medical attendance shall not be allowed unless they were incurred when he was on duty, and the medicines could not have been obtained from naval supplies, or the attendance of a naval medical officer could not have been had.

Funeral expenses.
 July 15, 1870, s. 17, v. 16, p. 334.

SEC. 1587. No funeral expense of a naval officer who dies in the United States, nor expenses for travel to attend the funeral of an officer who dies there, shall be allowed. But

See sec. 1442.

Note 1.—Furloughed, in ordinary sense of the administration of the Department, is a question of duty and pay, not of rank or place on the roll of the Navy. The officer may be restored by the same power, retains his place in the line of promotion, and it can not be occupied by another. (Op., VIII, 223, Dec. 10, 1856.)

See sec. 1547.

Note 2.—Congress is empowered by the Constitution to make Navy Regulations. Those made by the President or subordinates must be in execution of and supplemental to the statutes and statute regulations. (Op., VI, p. 10; see also X, p. 413; XIII, p. 9.)

A regulation of the Department (Treasury) made in pursuance of an act of Congress becomes a part of the law, and is of the same force as if incorporated in the body of the act itself. (U. S. v. Barrows, 1 Abbott, U. S. R., 351.)

A regulation of a Department is a rule made by the head of such Department for its action, under a statute conferring such power, and has the force of law; a mere order of the President, or the Secretary of the Department, is not a regulation. (Court of Claims, III, p. 39.)

The Navy Regulations on the subject of payments to administrators and under wills are to be construed as binding only upon the officers and seamen of the Navy; they are not applicable to nor binding upon the accounting officers of the Treasury Department in the settlement of naval accounts, and it was not intended that they should control these officers. (Op., XVI, p. 494, Devens, May 21, 1880.) The general tenor of this opinion is that the Navy Regulations are not intended to affect any persons except those subject to the orders of the Secretary of the Navy.

See sec. 1571.

Note 3.—The service which entitles an officer to the pay allowed for "duty at sea" begins when, having been ordered to a particular duty, he reports himself, in obedience to the orders, at the place designated and enters upon that duty. (Op., X, p. 191, Feb. 19, 1862, and p. 97, Aug. 13, 1861, Bates.)

when an officer on duty dies in a foreign country the expenses of his funeral, not exceeding his sea-pay for one month, shall be defrayed by the Government, and paid by the paymaster upon whose books the name of such officer was borne for pay.

See note 4.

SEC. 1860. * * * Third. No officer, soldier, seaman, mariner, or other person in the Army or Navy, or attached to troops in the service of the United States, shall be allowed to vote in any Territory, by reason of being on service therein, unless such Territory is, and has been for the period of six months, his permanent domicile.

Feb. 25, 1865, s. 1, v. 13, p. 437.

Note 4.—Section 1587 prohibits the allowance of the funeral expenses of an officer who dies in the United States. The fact that an officer had started on foreign service, but died in a port of the United States at which his vessel had touched, does not relieve the case from the prohibition in the statute. (Op., XIII, p. 341, Nov. 17, 1870, case of Captain Harrison.) Not held by the Navy Department as prohibiting an allowance of an officer's funeral expenses, to the limit in the statute, who dies at sea on the way home from a foreign station. Disqualification for holding office.
Ibid., ss. 1, 2.

SEC. 5532. Every person convicted of any of the offenses specified in the five preceding sections, shall, in addition to the punishments therein severally prescribed, be disqualified from holding any office of honor, profit, or trust under the United States; but nothing in those sections shall be construed to prevent any officer, soldier, sailor, or marine from exercising the right of suffrage in any election district to which he may belong, if otherwise qualified according to the laws of the State in which he offers to vote.

Regulations of supplies, Aug. 26, 1842, s. 2, v. 5, p. 535; Mar. 3, 1847, s. 1, v. 9, p. 171. See note 1.

SEC. 1549. It shall be the duty of the President to make, subject to the provisions of law concerning supplies, such regulations for the purchase, preservation, and disposition of all articles, stores, and supplies for persons in the Navy, as may be necessary for the safe and economical administration of that branch of the public service.

See sec. 1549.

Note 1.—Authority given by Congress to make a contract implies none to change it after it is made. (Op., IX, 80, 104; see post, Supreme Court Decisions.)

Where a contract is made, after advertisement, with the lowest bidder, the head of a Department has no authority to modify its terms in regard to time of delivery, or any other of its material elements. (Op., IV, Sept. 24, 1844, p. 334.)

Can not be renewed and extended at the pleasure of a head of a Department. No extension, unless for a period fixed as an alternative in the proposals, is authorized or sanctioned by law. (Op., XIII, 175, Dec. 4, 1869.)

An act directing the Secretary of the Navy to enter into a contract is not a contract per se. The Secretary makes the contract, and may vary the details. (Wallace, VIII, p. 358; C. C., I, 28.)

Where the Secretary of the Navy may enter into a contract for the construction of a vessel, he may suspend the work contracted for and agree with the contractors as to the compensation to be paid for the partial completion of the same. (C. C., II, p. 126; Otto, V, 91, p. 321.)

When a contract is closed the general rule is that it must be executed without change of terms, which are not subject, in general, to change at the will of either party or of both parties. (Op., X, 480.) Later authorities appear to favor the exercise, by the head of a Department, of a discretion to consent to modifications of detail, in the course of the execution of public contracts, when such modifications (not being in contravention of law) are found to be for the public interest, and are not of such a character as to operate to the pecuniary disadvantage of the United States. (Winthrop's Digest cites Otto 91, p. 321, and Op., XV, 481.)

Where Congress authorized the examination of a claim and appropriated a sum not exceeding a fixed amount to pay it, and a less sum was found due, held that the appropriation was exhausted when latter amount was paid. (Op., IX, 451; see Op., IX, 449, as to principles governing payment of money to a citizen under a special act of Congress.)

In breach of contract the law contemplates two elements of damage: (1) Losses sustained; (2) gains prevented. (C. C., VII, 543; affirmed by S. C.)

A military board of survey is an ex parte tribunal; decision not binding on a contractor, its proceedings not evidence against him, etc. (C. C., VIII, p. 213.) The award by a commission on a contract can be refused to be received, or the contractor can accompany his receipt of it with a proper protest. (Idem. See also C. C., II, 95.)

The sureties of a contractor are not responsible for fulfillment, after his death, on what are called personal contracts, where skill or taste is required. (Op., VI, p. 410.)

A claim for damages was adjusted by the appropriate Department on a basis to

That hereafter no payment shall be made from appropriations made by Congress to any officer in the Navy or Marine Corps on the active or retired list while such officer is employed, after June thirtieth, eighteen hundred and ninety-seven, by any person or company furnishing naval supplies or war material to the Government; and such employment is hereby made unlawful after said date. * *

Employment forbidden.

SEC. 3709. All purchases and contracts for supplies or services, in any of the Departments of the Government, except for personal services, shall be made by advertising a sufficient time previously for proposals respecting the same; when the public exigencies do not require the immediate delivery of the articles, or performance of the service. When immediate delivery or performance is required by the public exigency, the articles or service required may be procured by open purchase or contract, at the places and in the manner in which such articles are usually bought and sold, or such services engaged, between individuals.

Note 3.—This section invests the officer charged with the duty of contracting for supplies, or services, with discretion to dispense with advertising if the exigencies of the service require immediate delivery or performance. Attorney-General's opinion, Sept. 22, 1894, vol. 21, p. 59.

Note 5.—All purchases and contracts for supplies in any of the Departments of the Government must be made by advertisement unless immediate delivery is necessary. The first two sentences of section 3709, Revised Statutes, as amended by the acts of January 27, 1894, chapter 22, and April 21, 1894, chapter 61, apply to purchases anywhere in the United States. The remaining three sentences apply only to purchases in the city of Washington.

The word "miscellaneous," in the urgent deficiency act of April 21, 1894, section 2, must be restricted to that class of commodities which must be purchased on a considerable scale and used alike by many or all of the various Departments and Government establishments in the city of Washington.

Note 6.—R. S., sec. 3709, provides for advertisement for public supplies or services, except in cases of public exigency.

Note 7.—See limitation upon this act, 1894, Apr. 21, ch. 61, sec. 2.

Note 8.—The laws in regard to advertisements for proposal are contained in the following acts: R. S., sec. 3709 (see note 5 above). R. S., sec. 3828, no advertisement is to be published without authority from the head of a Department. By 1876, July 31, ch. 246, par. 2 (1 Supp. R. S., 114), advertisements are not to be published in the District of Columbia unless the contracts are to be performed there. By 1878, June 20, ch. 359, pars. 4, 5 (1 Supp. R. S., 202), no more than commercial rates are to be paid for advertisements. By 1881, Jan. 21, ch. 25 (1 Supp. R. S., 314), advertising in the District of Columbia is regulated.

more of the principal papers published in the place where such articles are to be furnished, for sealed proposals for furnishing the same, or the whole of any particular class thereof, specifying the classes of materials and referring bidders to the several chiefs of Bureaus, who will furnish them with printed schedules, giving a full description of each and every article, with dates of delivery, and so forth.
In the case of transportation of such articles, he shall

That on and after the passage of this act, the Secretary of the Navy be, and he is hereby authorized to purchase at the lowest market price, such plate iron and other material as may enter into the construction of steam boilers for the Navy without advertising for bids to furnish the same:

as may be required specifications of the quality description and character of such iron and materials so required:

agents as may choose to attend at the making thereof.

ance, although a formal written contract is to be subsequently executed. (C. C., vol. I, 192.)

A formal notice to a bidder of the acceptance of his bid and of the award of the contract to him is beyond recall, and binding on the United States as a completed obligation. An award thus made is in the nature of a preliminary contract. (Op., XV, 226.)

Head of Department has power in advertising for proposals to reserve "the right to reject any and all bids if, in his judgment, the interests of the Government require it." Right of lowest bidder perfect against others, but does not exclude the counter right of the head of the Department of considering, in the interest of the Government, the whole subject, and deciding whether it be fit that any bid should be accepted. (Op., XIV, 682.)

The statutory advertisement for proposals does not enlarge, control, or change the express terms of the contract, and is to be considered as merged therein. (C. C., V, p. 416.)

The advertisement and the proposals in response thereto do not form a part of the subsequent contract, and can not be admitted to contradict or vary the terms thereof. (C. C., VIII, 501.)

Under a contract for a certain quantity of an article, or more if required, a Department is not precluded from advertising for new proposals and awarding a contract for a superior article. Not obliged to receive more than the specified quantity. (Op., XVI., 183; see also Op., X, 93.)

It shall be the duty of the Bureau of Provisions and Clothing to cause property accounts to be kept of all the supplies pertaining to the naval establishment, and to report annually to Congress the money value of the supplies on hand at the various stations at the beginning of the fiscal year, the dispositions thereof, and of the purchases, and the expenditures of supplies for the year, and the balances remaining on hand at the end thereof.

Bureau of Provisions and Clothing, hereafter to be called Bureau of Supplies and Accounts. * * *

And all laws now in force relating to the Bureau of Provisions and Clothing shall now and hereafter apply to the Bureau of Supplies and Accounts.

And the Secretary of the Treasury is hereby authorized and directed to cause general account of advances to be charged with the sum of two hundred thousand dollars, which amount shall be carried to the credit of a permanent naval-supply fund to be used under the direction of the Secretary of the Navy in the purchase of ordinary commercial supplies for the naval service, and to be reimbursed from the proper naval appropriations whenever the supplies purchased under said fund are issued for use. * * *

And section thirty-seven hundred and eighteen of the Revised Statutes of the United States, as amended by the act of July nineteenth, eighteen hundred and ninety-two, is hereby amended so as to read: "twice a week for two weeks or longer, not to exceed four weeks, or once a week for two weeks or longer, not to exceed four weeks, in the discretion of the Secretary of the Navy." * * *

That no contract for the purchase of gun steel or armor for the Navy shall hereafter be made until the subject-matter of the same shall have been submitted to public competition by the Department by advertisement.

Form explained.

Laws relating to Bureau.

Note 10.—This appears in the appropriation act (27 Stat. L., 243) as a heading—not a complete sentence—followed by the appropriations for the Bureau for the year.

Note 11.—The laws relating to this Bureau are: R. S., sec. 419, Bureau authorized; R. S., sec. 416, employees; R. S., secs. 421, 425, qualification of chief; R. S., secs. 420, 430, 3666, 3676, duties; R. S., secs. 1471, 1472, 1473, 1565, rank and pay of chief; R. S., sec. 1436, former chief exempt from sea duty; 1878, June 19, ch. 312 (1 Supp. R. S., 194), "general account of advances" authorized; 1879, Feb. 14, ch. 68, par. 1 (1 Supp. R. S., 216), "small stores fund" authorized; 1889, Mar. 2, ch. 371 (1 Supp. R. S., 678), accounts to be kept and reports made; 1890, June 30, ch. 640, par. 2 (1 Supp. R. S., 762), clothing and small stores funds consolidated; 1891, Mar. 2, ch. 494, par. 1 (1 Supp. R. S., 900), supplies to be naval and not bureau supplies; 1893, Mar. 3, ch. 212, par. 2, p. 130, "pay, miscellaneous," to be credited with certain receipts.

Note 12.—R. S., sec. 3718, provides that materials for the Navy shall be furnished by contract, to be advertised "once a week, for at least four weeks."

By 1890, June 30, ch. 640, par. 3 (1 Supp. R. S., 762), this was changed to "twice a week for at least two weeks or longer, not to exceed four weeks, in the discretion of the Secretary of the Navy."

By 1892, July 19, ch. 206 (27 Stat. L., 243, 244), this was changed to "twice a week for two weeks or longer, not to exceed four weeks, or once a week for four weeks, in the discretion of the Secretary of the Navy."

These are all superseded by the provision appearing above.

Note 13.—This provision has appeared in the naval appropriation acts of 1891, Mar. 2, ch. 494 (26 Stat. L., 815), and in 1892, July 19, ch. 206 (27 Stat. L., 249).

Note 14.—This provision supersedes a similar provision in the appropriation act of 1892, July 19, ch. 206 (27 Stat. L., 236).

Note 15.—This provision is repeated from the naval appropriation acts of 1891, Mar. 2, ch. 494 (26 Stat. L., 815), and 1892, July 19, ch. 206 (27 Stat. L., 251).

Guarantee of bid.

No fees are chargeable against the Government for the service of obtaining a certificate of sufficiency of bondsmen. 19 A. G. Op., p. 181.

See note 16.

SEC. 3719. Every proposal for naval supplies invited by the Secretary of the Navy, under the preceding section, shall be accompanied by a written guarantee, signed by one or more responsible persons, to the effect that he or they undertake that the bidder, if his bid is accepted, will, at such time as may be prescribed by the Secretary of the Navy, give bond, with good and sufficient sureties, to furnish the supplies proposed; and no proposal shall be considered, unless accompanied by such guarantee. If, after the acceptance of a proposal, and a notification thereof to the bidder, he fails to give such bond within the time prescribed by the Secretary of the Navy, the Secretary shall proceed to contract with some other person for furnishing the supplies; and shall forthwith cause the difference between the amount contained in the proposal so guaranteed and the amount for which he may have contracted for furnishing the supplies, for the whole period of the proposal, to be charged up against the bidder and his guarantor; and the same may be immediately recovered by the United States, for the use of the Navy Department, in an action of debt against either or all of such persons.

Record of bid and report to Congress.

Mar. 3, 1843, v. 5, p. 617.

SEC. 3720. All such proposals for naval supplies shall be preserved and recorded, and reported by the Secretary of the Navy to Congress at the commencement of every regular session. The report shall contain a schedule embracing the offers by classes, indicating such as have been accepted. In case of a failure to supply the articles or to perform the work by the person entering into such contract, he and his sureties shall be liable for the forfeiture specified in such contract, as liquidated damages, to be sued for in the name of the United States.

Tobacco to be procured after advertisement. See act of March 3, 1881.

SEC. 3721. The provisions which require that supplies shall be purchased by the Secretary of the Navy from the lowest bidder, after advertisement, shall not apply to ordnance, gunpowder, or medicines, or the supplies which it may be necessary to purchase out of the United States for vessels on foreign stations, or bunting delivered for the use of the Navy, or tobacco, or butter or cheese destined for the use of the Navy, or things contraband of war. Contracts for butter and cheese for the use of the Navy may be made for periods longer than one year, if, in the opinion of the Secretary of the Navy, economy and the quality of the ration will be promoted thereby. The Secretary of the Navy may enter into contracts for tobacco from time to time, as the service requires, for a period not exceeding four years; and in making such contracts he shall not be restricted to the lowest bidder, unless, in his opinion, economy and the best interests of the service will be thereby promoted.

What bids may be rejected.

SEC. 3722. The chief of any Bureau of the Navy Department, in contracting for naval supplies, shall be at liberty to reject the offer of any person who, as principal or surety, has been a defaulter in any previous contract with the Note 16.—This opinion was rendered upon the law requiring the Secretary of the Navy to ascertain the sufficiency of sureties on bonds of pay-officers.

Navy Department. Parties who have made default as principals or sureties in any former contract shall not be received as sureties on other contracts; nor shall the co-partners of any firm be received as sureties for such firm or for each other; nor, in contracts with the same Bureau, shall one contractor be received as surety for another. Every contract shall require the delivery of a specified quantity, and no bids having nominal or fictitious prices shall be considered. If more than one bid be offered by any one party, by or in the name of his or their clerk, partner, or other person, all such bids may be rejected; and no person shall be received as a contractor who is not a manufacturer of, or regular dealer in, the articles which he offers to supply. All persons offering bids shall have the right to be present when the bids are opened and inspect the same.

This act was published as a part of General Order, No. 398, Aug. 6, 1892, by Acting Secretary James R. Soley.

That the service and employment of all laborers and mechanics who are now or may hereafter be employed by the Government of the United States, by the District of Columbia, or by any contractor or subcontractor upon any of the public works of the United States or of the said District of Columbia, is hereby limited and restricted to eight hours in any one calendar day, and it shall be unlawful for any officer of the United States Government or of the District of Columbia or any such contractor or subcontractor whose duty it shall be to employ, direct, or control the services of such laborers or mechanics to require or permit any such laborer or mechanic to work more than eight hours in any calendar day except in case of extraordinary emergency.

SEC. 2. That any officer or agent of the Government of the United States or of the District of Columbia, or any contractor or subcontractor whose duty it shall be to employ, direct, or control any laborer or mechanic employed upon any of the public works of the United States or of the District of Columbia who shall intentionally violate any provision of this act, shall be deemed guilty of a misdemeanor, and for each and every such offense shall, upon conviction, be punished by a fine not to exceed one thousand dollars or by imprisonment for not more than six months, or by both such fine and imprisonment, in the discretion of the court having jurisdiction thereof.

SEC. 3. The provisions of this act shall not be so construed as to in any manner apply to or affect contractors or subcontractors, or to limit the hours of daily service of laborers or mechanics engaged upon the public works of the United States or of the District of Columbia for which contracts have been entered into prior to the passage of this act.

See sec. 3737.

Note 21.—This section (3737) is intended simply for the benefit of the United States, which is not compelled to avail itself of a transfer by the contractor, but may recognize the same and accept and pay the assignee. (Ops., XVI, p. 278; XV, p. 236.)

Note 22.—Contracts of a personal nature, importing high trust and confidence in contractors, can not be assigned or transferred without the consent of the Department. (Op., X, p. 5.)

Note 23.—An assignment of contract, under act of July 17, 1862, is void, and passes no title, legal or equitable. An assignment of a claim for money due under a contract passes title to the money due, as though it were the sale of a chattel. (C. C., IX, p. 156; see also C. C., V, 504.)

contract or agreement made or entered into in behalf of the United States, by any officer or person authorized to make contracts on behalf of the United States. Every person who violates this section shall be deemed guilty of a misdemeanor, and shall be fined three thousand dollars. All contracts or agreements made in violation of this section shall be void; and whenever any sum of money is advanced on the part of the United States, in consideration of any such contract or agreement, it shall be forthwith repaid; and in case of refusal or delay to repay the same, when demanded, by the proper officer of the Department under whose authority such contract or agreement shall have been made or entered into, every person so refusing or delaying together with his surety or sureties, shall be forthwith prosecuted at law for the recovery of any such sum of money so advanced.

SEC. 3740. Nothing contained in the preceding section shall extend, or be construed to extend, to any contract or agreement, made or entered into, or accepted, by any incorporated company, where such contract or agreement is made for the general benefit of such incorporation or company; nor to the purchase or sale of bills of exchange or other property by any member of or delegate to Congress, where the same are ready for delivery, and payment therefor is made, at the time of making or entering into the contract or agreement.

SEC. 3741. In every such contract or agreement to be made or entered into, or accepted by or on behalf of the United States, there shall be inserted an express condition that no member of or delegate to Congress shall be admitted to any share or part of such contract or agreement, or to any benefit to arise thereupon.

That hereafter any person or persons entering into a formal contract with the United States for the construction of any public building, or the prosecution and completion of any public work or for repairs upon any public building or public work, shall be required before commencing such work to execute the usual penal (26) bond, with good and sufficient sureties, with the additional obligations that such contractor or contractors shall promptly make payments to all persons supplying him or them (27) labor and materials in the prosecution of the work provided for in such contract; and any person or persons making application therefor, and furnishing affidavit to the Department under the direction of which said work is being, or has been, prosecuted, that labor or materials for the prosecution of such work has been supplied by him or them, and payment for which has not been made, shall be furnished with a certified copy of said contract and bond, the standard measure of one hundred and twenty-eight cubic feet. The inspector, weigher, and measurer so appointed shall be entitled to receive from the vendors of fuel weighed and measured by him twenty cents for each ton of coal weighed, and nine cents for each cord of wood measured by him. Each load or parcel of wood or coal weighed and measured by him shall be accompanied by his certificate of the number of tons or pounds of coal and the number of cords or parts of cords of wood in each load or parcel.

Accounting officer to be notified. Ibid., s. 2.

SEC. 3712. The proper accounting officer of the Treasury shall be furnished with a copy of the appointment of each inspector, weigher, and measurer appointed under the preceding section.

No payment without certificate. Ibid.

SEC. 3713. It shall not be lawful for any accounting officer in the District of Columbia any money paid by him for purchase of anthracite or bituminous coal or for wood, unless the voucher therefor is accompanied by a certificate of the proper inspector, weigher, and measurer that the quantity paid for has been determined by such officer.

Mar. 2, 1895. Chapter 179, ss. 12-14. Coal and wood to be weighed, etc.

SEC. 3711. It shall not be lawful for any officer or person in the civil, military, or naval service of the United States in the District of Columbia to purchase anthracite or bituminous coal or wood for the public service except on condition that the same shall, before delivery, be inspected and weighed or measured by some competent person, to be appointed by the head of the Department or chief of the branch of the service for which the purchase is made from among the persons authorized to be employed in such Department or branch of the service:

Appointment of employees.

Provided, That the weigher and measurer of the Navy Department may be appointed outside of said Department, and that such weigher and measurer shall give bond and be paid as heretofore provided by law.

Exception for Navy Department.

Duties

The person appointed under this section shall ascertain that each ton of coal weighed by him shall consist of two thousand two hundred and forty pounds, and that each cord of wood to be so measured shall be of the standard measure of one hundred and twenty-eight cubic feet.

Certificate.

Each load or parcel of wood or coal weighed and measured by him shall be accompanied by his certificate of the number of tons or pounds of coal and the number of cords or parts of cords of wood in each load or parcel.

SEC. 5455. Every person who entices or procures, or attempts or endeavors to entice or procure, any soldier in the military service of the United States, or who has been recruited for such service, to desert therefrom, or who aids any such soldier in deserting or attempting to desert from such service, or who harbors, conceals, protects, or assists any such soldier who may have deserted from such service, knowing him to have deserted therefrom, or who refuses

Note 1.—The President may grant conditional pardon for desertion; may remit a part of the penalty or punishment without remitting the whole; may re-enfranchise without giving right to forfeited pay. (Op., XIV, 124.)

See sec. 5455.

If pay forfeited or a fine has passed into the Treasury, by a covering warrant or otherwise, neither can be released without authority of Congress. (Op., VIII, 281; XIV, 599; and XVI, 1.)

Desertion is a continuing offense. Limitation to trial begins to run from commencement of the offense, except where, by reason of "manifest impediment," the accused is not amenable to justice within two years from that time. In such a case it runs from the removal of the impediment. Continuing commission limited by the obligation to serve under engagement. When that ceases the commission terminates in cases not excepted. "Amenable" signifies within the reach and power of the military authorities to bring to trial. (Op., XV, p. 152, Taft, Sept. 1, 1876.)

Where forfeiture or loss of pay is made part of a sentence, in addition to confinement or suspension from duty, the former may be remitted by the proper authority, in whole or in part, without also remitting the latter. (Op., XV, p. 175, Taft, Nov. 9, 1876.)

Forfeiture by desertion does not include money of the deserter found in possession of or deposited with paymaster. (Op., XIII, p. 210, Hoar, Feb. 8, 1870.)

Government on his entire military record, and an authoritative declaration that he left the service in a status of honor. As such it relieves him from a charge of desertion appearing on the rolls. Does not restore pay and allowances forfeited by sentence of a military court-martial for desertion. (Court of Claims, VIII, 110; IX, 190, Wallace, XV, 34.) See articles 61 and 62 for the government of the Navy, p. 21.

A seaman charged before a court-martial with desertion may be found guilty of attempting to desert. (Howard, 20, p. 65.)

In a trial for theft and desertion, sentence and conviction disapproved and prisoner restored to duty. Action of reviewing officer in effect an acquittal by the court. No authority to withhold pay on account of alleged desertion. (Op., XIII, p. 459, Bristow, June 21, 1871.)

Note 1.—Congress did not intend by this clause to preclude the President from reappointing officers dismissed by sentence of court-martial to whom he has extended a pardon. Pardon purges the offense, but does not of itself restore lost position. (Op. XI, p. 19, Mar. 12, 1864.)

Note 2.—Where an act directed the Secretary of War to amend the record of an officer dismissed by court-martial, so that he should appear on the rolls and records as if he had been continuously in the service; Held, that it conferred on the President the power to appoint in the usual way. If so appointed, the commission should refer to the act, in a proper manner, under which the appointment was made, by nomination and confirmation of the Senate.—Op. XIV, 448, Williams, Aug. 13, 1874; but see Court of Claims, XIV, 673; XV, 22. See sec. 1441.

Note 3.—Congress, as a general rule, has authorized the President to restore officers to the retired list without requiring the advice and consent of the Senate. Where they have been reinstated to form a part of the active force of the Army, a different phraseology has been employed—requiring the advice and consent of the Senate. An officer dismissed by sentence of a court-martial can not, under section See sec. 1441.

Title 15, chap. 10. SEC. 1624, ART. 36. SEC. 1624, ART. 37. When any officer, dismissed by order of the President since 3d March, 1865, makes, in writing, an application for trial, setting forth, under oath that he has been wrongfully dismissed, the President shall, as soon as the necessities of the service may permit, convene a court-martial to try such officer on the charges on which he shall have been dismissed. And if such court-martial shall not be convened within six months from the presentation of such application for trial, or if such court, being convened, shall not award dismissal or death as the punishment of such officer, the order of dismissal by the President shall be void.

1228 R. S., be reinstated except by reappointment, confirmed by the Senate. This is a clear recognition that restoration of officers separated from the service under other circumstances, can be accomplished without confirmation of the Senate. The words "inferior officers" used in the Constitution, mean subordinate or inferior officers in whom, respectively, the power of appointment may be invested by Congress in the President, the courts of law, and the heads of Departments.—C. C., XIV, 573, Collin's Case. See sec. 1594, Retirement.

When the President is authorized by law to reinstate a discharged Army officer, he may do so without the advice and consent of the Senate. When he exercises the discretion vested in him by an act of Congress, of reinstating an officer, and expresses his will by an order to that effect, the officer acquires a vested right to the office. By antedating an appointment or commission he can not create a liability on the part of the Government, but the legislative branch of the Government can.—C. C., XV, 22, Collin's Case.

Note 4.—An officer, between date of dismissal and restoration, not demanding, in writing, as often as six months, a trial, when restored is not entitled to more than "pay as on leave for six months" from date of dismissal. (Op., XV, 569, Taft, July 21, 1876.)

See act of Aug. 5, 1882. Note 5.—After a sentence of dismissal from the service has been approved and carried into execution, the President can not reconsider his approval and revoke the sentence. SEC. 1624, ART. 10. a military or naval officer by the nomination of a successor. The confirmation and appointment of the latter vacates the office of the former. (Blake's Case, Supreme Court, Otto, 103, p. 227; also see Otto, 97, p. 426, Mimmack's Case, and Otto, 102, 426, McElrath's Case.)

So much of this section (1624) as relates to dismissal in time of peace did not take effect before August 20, 1866, on which day, in contemplation of law, the rebellion against the national authority was suppressed. (S. C., Otto, 102, p. 426.)

Not the effect of this act (sec. 1624) to withdraw the power of the President to supersede an officer by appointment, by and with the advice and consent of the Senate, of another. (Otto, 103, p. 226.)

Article 37, section 1624 (12 of act of Mar. 3, 1865, 13 Stat., 489), is constitutional and imperative. It provides, in certain contingencies, for the restoration of the officer to the service, and leaves the dismissal in full force if those contingencies do not happen. (Op., XII, p. 4, Stanbery, Aug. 6, 1866.)

The President in 1861 had the power to dismiss an officer from the Marine Corps. (Tyler's Case, Op., XV, p. 421, Jan. 8, 1878.)

Dismissal of an acting master, March, 1862, by the Secretary of the Navy, lawful. In the absence of legislation, the Secretary had a right to determine at what time an acting appointment should cease. (A. M. Smith's Case, Op., XV, p. 560, Apr. 25, 1876.)

The Secretary of the Navy had the power to dismiss an "acting gunner on temporary service" in the volunteer Navy. The power to appoint gunners to an undefined extent does not preclude the appointment of acting gunners also. (Soper's Case, Op., XV, p. 564, June 10, 1876.)

The seventeenth section of the act of July 12, 1862, chap. 200, v. 12, p. 594, authorized and requested the President to dismiss and discharge from the military service, either in the Army, Navy, Marine Corps, or volunteer force in the United States service, any officer for any cause which, in his judgment, either rendered such officer unsuitable for, or whose dismission would promote, the public service. This section was repealed by section 5 of an act approved July 13, 1866, chap. 176, v. 14, p. 90.

In a case where an officer was dismissed by the President, and the dismissal revoked in due form, no unreasonable time having elapsed, the vacancy not having been filled, and the rights of other parties not having intervened, the revocation presents only a case of Executive authority, which has repeatedly been exercised; but in view of late decisions the court gave judgment for the claimant in order that the case might go to the Supreme Court. (C. C., XVII, p. 344, Corson's Case, Dec., 1881, term.)

The President, by and with the advice and consent of the Senate, may, by re-appointment and commission, restore lost rank, including seniority, to an officer of the Army or Navy. Cases cited. (Op. VIII, 223 Cushing, Dec. 10, 1856.)

In the same way he can correct the date of a military appointment, or an error in the date of appointment, or an inadvertence to nominate an officer entitled to promotion by ten years' service. (Op. III, 307; VIII, 223.)

The right of a reinstated officer to pay during the time he was out of the service must depend on the will of Congress, as expressed in the act authorizing his reinstatement, and not upon the date of his commission. (C. C., XV, 41, Kilburn's Case.)

Commissions signed by his predecessor should be regarded by the President as conclusive evidence of the officers' right to the rank and authority given thereby. While their commissions stand the President should respect them, and in making promotions by seniority have regard for them. If wrong has been sustained, Congress can remedy it by a special relief act empowering the President. (Op. XVI, 583, Devens, Dec. 9, 1880.)

Note 6.—An offer to resign is revocable by the officer prior to its acceptance. After acceptance and before it has taken effect it may be modified or withdrawn entirely by the consent of both parties. Control over it, in point of duration, extends no further. (Op., XIV, p. 260, June 17, 1873; Op., XII, p. 555, Feb. 10, 1869.)

A resignation tendered to take effect on a future day, and placed in the hands of a party to be delivered to the President, can be recalled before delivery. Its subsequent delivery is not binding. (Op., XIII, p. 77, June 2, 1869.)

See sec. 1624.

A valid resignation of a military officer, followed by an unconditional acceptance of it, operates to remove the incumbent, and a new appointment is required to restore him to the office. (Op., XII, p. 555, Feb. 10, 1869.) But in cases where the officer was insane at time of resignation, his action was held to be a nullity and capable of being rectified. (Ops., III, p. 641, VI, p. 456, and X, p. 229.) If the vacancy has been properly filled, the acceptance can not be legally revoked. (Op., XV, p. 469, Mar. 22, 1878; Otto, 103, p. 227.)

A civil officer has a right to resign at his own pleasure, and it is only necessary

And after the number of officers in the said grades shall be reduced as above provided, the number in each grade shall not exceed the reduced number which is fixed by the provisions of this act for the several grades.

No officer reduced or dropped.

That no officer now in the service shall be reduced in rank or deprived of his commission by reason of any provision of this act reducing the number of officers in the several staff corps:

that it should be received by the Executive. Its acceptance or rejection by him is unimportant. (U. S. v. Wright, 1 McLean, 509.)

A resignation does not become operative until the officer is officially notified of the acceptance of the same. Mere acceptance, without notice, does not give effect to the resignation. It is not until due notice of the same is received that the officer is legally separated from the Army and made a civilian, and up to the date of such notice he is entitled to pay. Title 15, chap. 7. SEC. 1551. The Secretary of the Navy may cause persons in the naval service or Marine Corps, who become insane while in the service, to be placed in such hospital for the insane as, in his opinion, will be most convenient and best calculated to promise a restoration of reason. And he may pay to any such hospital, other than the Government Hospital for the Insane in the District of Columbia, the pay which may from time to time be due to such insane person, and he may, in addition thereto, pay to such institution, from the annual appropriation for the naval service, under the head of contingent enumerated, any deficiency of a reasonable expense, not exceeding one hundred dollars per annum.

Title 59, chap. 4. SEC. 4838. There shall be in the District of Columbia a Government Hospital for the insane, and its objects shall be the most humane care and enlightened curative treatment of the insane of the Army and Navy of the United States and of the District of Columbia.

SEC. 4843. The superintendent, upon the order of the Secretary of War, of the Secretary of the Navy, and of the Secretary of the Treasury, respectively, shall receive, and keep in custody until they are cured, or removed by the same authority which ordered their reception, insane persons of the following descriptions:

First. Insane persons belonging to the Army, Navy, Marine Corps, and revenue-cutter service.

Second. Civilians employed in the Quartermaster's and Subsistence Departments of the Army who may be, or may hereafter become, insane while in such employment.

Third. Men who, while in the service of the United States, in the Army, Navy, or Marine Corps, have been admitted to the hospital, and have been thereafter discharged from it on the supposition that they have recovered their reason, and have, within three years after such discharge, become again insane from causes existing at the time of such discharge, and have no adequate means of support.

Fourth. Indigent insane persons who have been in either of the said services and been discharged therefrom on account of disability arising from such insanity.

Fifth. Indigent insane persons who have become insane within three years after their discharge from such service, from causes which arose during and were produced by said service.

Said payments shall be made by the pension agent upon a certificate of the proper officer of the home that the pensioner is an inmate thereof on the day to which said pension is drawn. The treasurers of said home, respectively, shall give security, to the satisfaction of the managers of said home, for the payment and application by them of all arrears of pension and pension-moneys they may receive under the aforesaid provision. And section two of the act entitled "An act making appropriations for the payment of invalid and other pensions of the United States for the fiscal year ending June thirtieth, eighteen hundred and eighty-two, and for deficiencies, and for other purposes," approved February twenty-sixth, eighteen hundred and eighty-one, is hereby revived and continued in force.

Note 1.—Under the act of Feb. 26, 1881, the pensions are to be paid over to the treasurer, without deduction for fines or penalties. Any balance on discharge of inmate is to be paid over to him; in case of death, to his widow, children, or legal representatives.

SEC. 1176. That every soldier of the Union Army, or petty-officer, seaman, or marine in the naval service, who was ruptured while in the line of duty during the late war for the suppression of the rebellion, or who shall be so ruptured thereafter in any war, shall be entitled to receive a single or double truss of such style as may be designated by the Surgeon-General of the United States Army as best suited for such disability; and whenever the said truss or trusses so furnished shall become useless from wear, destruction, or loss, such soldier, petty-officer, seaman, or marine shall be supplied with another truss on making a like application as provided for in section two of the original act of which this is an amendment: Provided, That such application shall not be made more than once in two years and six months: And provided further, That sections two and three [secs. 1177 and 1178 R. S.] of the said act of May twenty-eighth, eighteen hundred and seventy-two, shall be construed so as to apply to petty-officers, seamen, and marines of the naval service, as well as to soldiers of the Army.

See sec. 1176.

Note 1.—It is left with the Surgeon-General of the Army to adopt one style, or different styles, keeping in view the selection of that which in his judgment is best adapted to the purpose for which intended. (Op., XIV, 72. July 30, 1872.)

Amended section.

SEC. 1177. Application for such truss shall be made by the ruptured soldier, to an examining surgeon for pensions, whose duty it shall be to examine the applicant, and when found to have a rupture or hernia, to prepare and forward to the Surgeon-General an application for such truss without charge to the soldier.

Application for trusses.

That section forty-seven hundred and eighty-seven of the Revised Statutes of the United States be amended by striking out the word "five" where it occurs therein, and inserting in lieu thereof the word "three" so that when amended said section will read as follows:

Mar. 3, 1891.

26 Stat. L., 1103. Supp. R. S., p. 947.
Substitute for R. S., sec. 4787.

Every officer, soldier, seaman, and marine who was disabled during the war for the suppression of the rebellion, in the military or naval service, and in the line of duty,

Artificial limbs, etc., to be furnished every three years.

Note 2.—Held by the War Department that desertion does not affect the rights of a person disabled, as this section indicates, to artificial limbs or apparatus, and that it might be properly construed to include the mechanics and laborers employed at the arsenals under Title XVII, R. S. (Winthrop's Digest, 122.)

The act of Aug. 15, 1876, v. 19, p. 203, allows commutation for an artificial limb or appliances every five years.

SEC. 4788. Every person entitled to the benefits of the preceding section may, if he so elects, receive, instead of such limb or apparatus, the money value thereof, at the following rates, namely: For artificial legs, seventy-five dollars; for arms, fifty dollars; for feet, fifty dollars; for apparatus for resection, fifty dollars.

Artificial limbs: For furnishing artificial limbs and apparatus, or commutation therefor, * * and hereafter in case of commutation the money shall be paid directly to the soldier, sailor, or marine, and no fee or compensation shall be allowed or paid to any agent or attorney. * *

SEC. 4789. The Surgeon-General shall certify to the Commissioner of Pensions a list of all soldiers who elect to receive money commutation instead of limbs or apparatus, with the amount due to each, and the Commissioner of Pensions shall cause the same to be paid to such soldiers in the same manner as pensions are paid.

SEC. 4790. Every person in the military or naval service who lost a limb during the war of the rebellion, or is entitled to the benefits of section forty-seven hundred and eighty-seven, but from the nature of his injury is not able to use an artificial limb, shall be entitled to the benefits of section forty-seven hundred and eighty-eight, and shall receive money commutation as therein provided.

SEC. 4791. The Secretary of War is authorized and directed to furnish to the persons embraced by the provisions of section forty-seven hundred and eighty-seven, transportation to and from their homes and the place where they may be required to go to obtain artificial limbs provided for them under authority of law. The transportation allowed for having artificial limbs fitted shall be furnished by the Quartermaster-General of the Army, the cost of which shall be refunded from the appropriations for invalid pensions.

SEC. 1369. All appointments in the Medical Corps shall be made by the President, by and with the advice and consent of the Senate.

SEC. 1370. No person shall be appointed assistant surgeon until he has been examined and approved by a board of naval surgeons, designated by the Secretary of the Navy; nor who is under twenty-one or over twenty-six years of age.

SEC. 1371. No person shall be appointed surgeon until he has served as an assistant surgeon at least two years, on board a public vessel of the United States at sea, nor until he has been examined and approved for such appointment, by a board of naval surgeons, designated by the Secretary of the Navy.

SEC. 1372. When any assistant surgeon was absent from the United States, on duty, at the time when others of his date were examined, he shall, if not rejected at a subsequent examination, be entitled to the same rank with them; and if, from any cause, his relative rank cannot be assigned to him, he shall retain his original position on the register.

Be it enacted, etc., That passed assistant surgeons (2) now borne upon the Navy Register shall be commissioned as such by the President, such commissions to bear the dates upon which said passed assistant surgeons, respectively, received their appointments as such;

and hereafter assistant surgeons shall be regularly promoted and commissioned as passed assistant surgeons, and passed assistant surgeons as surgeons, subject to such examinations as may be prescribed by the Secretary of the Navy;

Provided, however, That no examination of passed assistant surgeons shall be ordered until the expiration of six

Note 1.—The custom and practice of the Navy Department requiring competitive examination of assistant surgeons, and assigning them positions on the Navy Register in the order of relative merit as ascertained and reported by the board of examiners authorized by existing law and regulations, is not, under the present law, correct.

Having passed the necessary examination for promotion, the claim of * * * to be promoted according to seniority is, in my opinion, well founded. (Op., Feb. 25, 1881, Ames Case; Gen. Order 282.)

That such surgeons in the Navy not in line of promotion as may have been appointed to that position in accordance with a special act of Congress for meritorious services during yellow fever epidemics shall have all the benefits of their previous service in the same manner as if said appointments were a reentry into the Navy.

Note 4.—The words "after date of appointment," and "from such date," sec. 1556, fixing the annual pay of passed assistant surgeons of the Navy, refer not to the original entry of the officer into the service as an assistant surgeon, but to the notification by the Secretary of the Navy that he has passed his examination for promotion to the grade of surgeon, and will thereafter, until such promotion, be considered as a passed assistant surgeon. A passed assistant surgeoncy is an office, and the notification of the Secretary of the Navy is a valid appointment to it. (United States v. Moore, Otto, 95, 760.)

SEC. 12. That this act shall not apply to commissioned surgeons of the United States Army, Navy, or Marine-Hospital Service, nor to regularly licensed physicians and surgeons in actual consultation from other States or Territories, nor to regularly licensed physicians and surgeons actually called from other States or Territories to attend specified cases in the District of Columbia, nor to the treatment of any case of actual emergency, nor to the practice of massage or the so-called Swedish movement cure, nor to the use of ordinary domestic remedies without fee, gift, or consideration of any kind.

There shall be allowed at said Academy one naval cadet for every Member or Delegate of the House of Representatives, one for the District of Columbia, and ten appointed annually at large: Provided, however, That there shall not be at any time more in said Academy appointed at large than ten.

That section fifteen hundred and fourteen, chapter five, title fifteen of the Revised Statutes of the United States, is hereby amended so that it shall hereafter read:

The Secretary of the Navy shall, as soon after the fifth of March in each year as possible, notify in writing each Member and Delegate of the House of Representatives of any vacancy that may exist in his district.

The nomination of a candidate to fill said vacancy shall be made upon the recommendation of the Member or Delegate, if such recommendation is made by the first day of July of that year;

but if it is not made by that time, the Secretary of the Navy shall fill the vacancy by appointment of an actual resident of the district in which the vacancy exists, who shall have been for at least two years immediately preceding the date of his appointment an actual and bona fide resident of the district in which the vacancy exists and of the legal qualification under the law as now provided.

The candidate allowed for the District of Columbia, and all the candidates appointed at large, shall be selected by the President.

That every Representative or Delegate in Congress, whose district or Territory is now not represented at the Naval Academy by a cadet who was an actual resident of such district or Territory at the time of his appointment, shall be permitted and authorized to recommend a candidate for appointment as cadet at the Naval Academy of the United States, said recommendation to be made on or before the fourth day of March, eighteen hundred and ninety-five, and the Secretary of the Navy shall nominate such cadet so recommended for appointment to said Academy, subject to the qualifications now prescribed by law. Note 4.—Section 1515 is to be read as if the dates fixed by the regulations of the Academy for the examination of candidates for admission were inserted therein; and hence by the existing law the season for recommendations and nominations of naval cadets begins after the 5th of March and expires on the 22d of September in each year. (Op., XVI, p. 621.) This opinion was given in the case of a Member whose candidates, sent down in June and September, failed, and he wished to send another in January following. It was held that no nomination could be made until after the 5th of March.

Note 5.—A candidate under fourteen or over eighteen years of age is not between the two ages, and can not be appointed. (Op., X, p. 315, July 29, 1862. For further discussion of the subject of appointments see Op., X, pp. 46, 495; Op., XVI, p. 621.)

Note 6.—The naval appropriation act of March 8, 1883, provides for the actual and necessary traveling expenses of naval cadets while proceeding from their homes to the Naval Academy for examination and appointment as naval cadets. Such expenses are not allowed to those not appointed.

See traveling expenses, title Pay and Allowances.

Note 7.—Under section 1519 the Secretary of the Navy has no right to continue at the Academy cadets found at any examination deficient in their studies, without the recommendation of the Academic Board. (Op., XV, p. 634.)

By statutory definition, cadets are not to be included, in general, in legislation confined to "officers" of the Navy. (Idem.)

Cadets, after the four years' course, are not entirely emancipated from probationary study; they are students at sea. (Op., XVI, p. 296.)

SEC. 1521. When cadet midshipmen shall have passed successfully the graduating examination at the Academy, they shall receive appointments as midshipmen and shall take rank according to their proficiency as shown by the order of their merit at date of graduation.

That from and after the passage of this act all graduates of the Naval Academy who are assigned to the line of the Navy, on the successful completion of the six years course, shall be commissioned ensigns in the Navy.

That the grade of junior ensign in the Navy is hereby abolished and the junior ensigns now on the list shall be commissioned ensigns in the Navy: Provided, That nothing in this act shall be so construed as to increase the number of officers in the Navy now allowed by law.

That all acts and parts of acts inconsistent with the provisions of this act be and the same are hereby repealed.

Provided further, That in order to fill vacancies that may exist in the grade of ensign in the Navy and in the grade of assistant engineer in the Navy, the Secretary of the Navy shall, in case the number of vacancies in either of such grades exceeds the number of naval cadets in the line division or in the engineer division of the class of naval cadets finally graduated in the year eighteen hundred and ninety-four, or in any one year thereafter, select a number equal to such excess from the final graduates of said class in the engineer division or in the line division, as the case may require, who shall be reported as proficient and be recommended thereto by the Academic Board, and such final graduates shall be appointed to fill vacancies in the grade of ensign in the Navy or in the grade of assistant engineer in the Navy, respectively, and the naval cadets so appointed to fill vacancies in such grades shall take rank in those respective grades next after the naval cadets appointed from the line division or from the engineer division, as the case may be, to fill vacancies in those grades, but among themselves according to merit as determined by the Academic Board. * * *

Note 8.—Under the act of July 4, 1864, s. 5, v. 13, p. 393, the academic course of cadet engineers was two years, and by the act of 3 Mar., 1873, s. 1, v. 17, p. 555 the course of instruction was made four years, including "two years of service in naval steamers, in addition to the period at the Naval Academy now provided by law." An act approved Feb. 24, 1874, s. 2, v. 18, p. 17, provided that after the 30th of June, 1874, the course of instruction at the Naval Academy for cadet engineers should be four years, instead of two, the provision to first apply to the class of cadet engineers entering the Academy in the year 1874, and to all subsequent classes.

Note 9.—This section has been entirely altered by the act of August 5, 1882, as given in section 1512 above, and the act of Mar. 3, 1883, under "Line officers," changing the title of midshipman to that of ensign.

SEC. 1522. The Secretary of the Navy is authorized to make provision, by regulations issued by him, for educating at the Naval Academy, as naval constructors or steam engineers, such midshipmen and others as may show a peculiar aptitude therefor. He may, for this purpose, form a separate class at the Academy, to be styled cadet engineers, or otherwise afford to such persons all proper facilities for such a scientific mechanical education as will fit them for said professions.

That any cadet whose position in his class entitles him to be retained in the service may, upon his own application, be honorably discharged at the end of four years' course at the Naval Academy, with a proper certificate of graduation.

That the Secretary of the Navy may prescribe a special course of study and training at home or abroad for any naval cadet.

That so much of the act entitled "An act to authorize the Secretary of the Navy to provide for the education of naval constructors and steam-engineers, and for other purposes, approved July fourth, eighteen hundred and sixty-four," as provides that cadet-engineers, not to exceed fifty in number, shall be appointed by the Secretary of the Navy, is hereby repealed.

And every naval cadet or cadet engineer who has heretofore graduated or may hereafter graduate from the Naval Academy, and who has been or may hereafter be commissioned, within six months after such graduation, an officer in the Navy or Marine Corps of the United States, under the laws appointing such graduate to the Navy or Marine Corps, shall be allowed the pay of the grade in which he may be so commissioned from the date he takes rank as stated in his commission to the date of qualification and acceptance of his commission:

SEC. 1526. The Secretary of the Navy shall arrange the course of studies and the order of recitations at the Naval Academy so that the students in said institution shall not be required to pursue their studies on Sunday.

That the pay of naval cadets shall be that now allowed by law to cadet midshipmen.

SEC. 1577. Midshipmen and naval cadets in the Navy shall be entitled to one ration, or to commutation therefor.

In all cases when it shall come to the knowledge of the superintendent of the Naval Academy, at Annapolis, that any naval cadet has been guilty of the offense commonly known as hazing, it shall be the duty of said superintendent to order a court-martial, composed of not less than three commissioned officers, who shall minutely examine into all the facts and circumstances of the case and make a finding thereon; and any naval cadet found guilty of said offense by said court shall, upon recommendation of said court be dismissed; and such finding, when approved by said superintendent, shall be final; and the cadet so dismissed from said Naval Academy shall be forever ineligible to reappointment to said Naval Academy.

Note 13.—The three professors of mathematics for duty at the Naval Academy (ethics and English, Spanish, and drawing) should be commissioned as professors of mathematics, under this section, after passing the examination required by act of January 21, 1881. (Op. May 18, 1881, McVeagh.)

Note 14.—Cadet engineers who complete the six years' course, pass successfully, and are subsequently commissioned assistant engineers, to fill vacancies, are entitled to the pay of the latter grade from the date they take rank therein, when subsequent to the vacancies they are appointed to fill. The words "any officer of the Navy," act June 23, 1874, chap. 392, sec. 1, comprehend cadet engineers. They are officers within the meaning of sections 1557 and 1558, and of a class subject to examination, sec. 1562. The signification of the word "officer," art. 36, sec. 1624, as given in Op., XV, p. 635, has reference to the sense in which that word is used in said article, between which and the statutory provisions herein cited there is no connection. (Op. Apr. 10, 1882, Brewster.)

Note 15.—Although the title of midshipman has been abolished or merged in that of ensign, constituting a junior grade thereof, the latter continue entitled to a ration.

Note 16.—Finding approved by the superintendent final. Secretary of the Navy no power to review it—he can only proceed to execute the sentence. (Taft, Beale's Case, Nov. 20, 1876 [not printed].) 27 Stat. L., 340.
Supp. R.S. 1892-'95, p. 62.

Hours of labor limited to eight for laborers and mechanics on Government work.

See note 2.

That the service and employment of all laborers and mechanics who are now or may hereafter be employed by the Government of the United States, by the District of Columbia, or by any contractor or subcontractor upon any of the public works of the United States or of the said District of Columbia, is hereby limited and restricted to eight hours in any one calendar day, and it shall be unlawful for any officer of the United States Government or of the District of Columbia or any such contractor or subcontractor whose duty it shall be to employ, direct, or control the services of such laborers or mechanics to require or permit any such laborer or mechanic to work more than eight hours in any calendar day except in case of extraordinary emergency.

Punishment for violation by officer or contractor.

That any officer or agent of the Government of the United States or of the District of Columbia, or any contractor or subcontractor whose duty it shall be to employ; direct, or control any laborer or mechanic employed upon any of the public works of the United States or of the District of Columbia who shall intentionally violate any provision of this act, shall be deemed guilty of a misdemeanor, and for each and every such offense shall upon conviction be punished by a fine not to exceed one thousand dollars or by imprisonment for not more than six months, or by both such fine and imprisonment, in the discretion of the court having jurisdiction thereof.

Prior eight-hour laws.

Note 2.—By R. S., sec. 3738, "Eight hours shall constitute a day's work for all laborers, workmen and mechanics who may be employed by or on behalf of the Government of the United States." Decisions construing this provision are found in 94 U. S., 400; 96 U. S., 421. 1888, Mar. 30, ch. 47, par. 2 (1 Supp. R. S., 582), directs the rigid enforcement of the eight-hour law in the Government Printing Office. 1888, May 24, ch. 308 (1 Supp. R. S., 587), makes eight hours a day's work for letter carriers, with a provision for extra pay in case of employment a greater number of hours. For decisions under this act see 148 U. S., 124, 134. For construction of the act in the text see opinion of the Attorney-General, published in General Orders, No. 61, Headquarters of the Army, Adjutant-General's Office, Sept. 6, 1892. For review of "labor legislation," see 1888, June 13, ch. 389 (1 Supp. R. S., 590).

The provisions of this act shall not be so construed as to in any manner apply to or affect contractors or subcontractors, or to limit the hours of daily service of laborers or mechanics engaged upon the public works of the United States or of the District of Columbia for which contracts have been entered into prior to the passage of this act.

Existing contracts not affected.

That * * * * the rate of wages of the employes in the navy-yards shall conform, as nearly as is consistent with the public interest, with those of private establishments in the immediate vicinity of the respective yards, to be determined by the commandants of the navy-yards, subject to the approval and revision of the Secretary of the Navy.

SEC. 5386. Every person who, in any of the places mentioned in the preceding section, maliciously sets fire to, or burns, any arsenal, armory, magazine, rope-walk, ship-house, warehouse, block-house, or barrack, or any store-house, barn, or stable, not parcel of a dwelling-house, or any other building not mentioned in such section, or any vessel built, or begun to be built, or repairing, or any light-house, or beacon, or any timber, cables, rigging, or other materials for building, repairing, or fitting out vessels, or any pile of wood, boards, or other lumber, or any military, naval, or victualing stores, arms, or other munitions of war, shall be punished by a fine of not more than five thousand dollars, and by imprisonment at hard labor not more than ten years.

Arson of armory, arsenal, etc. Idem, s. 2.

SEC. 5387. Every person who maliciously sets on fire, or burns, or otherwise destroys, any vessel of war of the United States, afloat on the high seas, or in any arm of the sea, or in any river, haven, creek, basin, or bay within the admiralty jurisdiction of the United States, and out of the jurisdiction of any particular State, shall suffer death.

Arson of vessel of war. Idem, s. 11, p. 117.

No increase of the force at any navy-yard shall be made at any time within sixty days next before any election to take place for President of the United States, or member of Congress, except when the Secretary of the Navy shall certify that the needs of the public service make such increase necessary at that time, which certificate shall be immediately published when made.

SEC. 1378. All appointments in the Pay Corps shall be made by the President, by and with the advice and consent of the Senate.

SEC. 1379. No person shall be appointed assistant paymaster who is, at the time of such appointment, less than twenty-one or more than twenty-six years of age; nor until his physical, mental, and moral qualifications have been examined and approved by a board of paymasters appointed by the Secretary of the Navy, and according to such regulations as he may prescribe.

See sec. 1378.

Note 1.—Appointments to office can be made only by the Executive branch of the Government in the manner provided by the Constitution (Art. II, § 2), and not by Congressional enactment.—C. C., XV, 151, Wood's case.

See Medical Corps and Naval Construction, Division I.

It is necessary that the President should nominate, the Senate advise and consent, and that, in pursuance of such nomination and confirmation the appointment should actually be made. The nomination and confirmation do not divest the President of the power to withhold the appointment.—Op. IV, 31, 218. The appointment of a commissioned officer is not perfected, and is entirely within the power of the President until the commission is issued.—Op. IX, 297; XIII, 44; XIV, 344, C. C. V., 97.

When a commission has been signed by the President the appointment is complete, and the commission is complete when the seal of the United States has been affixed.—1 Cranch, Curtis' edition, 377, Marbury's case.

See also under Civil Service, Division III.

The Senate can not originate an appointment; its constitutional action is confined to a simple affirmation or rejection of the nomination, and it fails when they disagree. May suggest limitations or conditions, but can not vary the nomination. No appointment can be made except on the President's nomination agreed to without qualification or alteration.—Op., III, 189.

When a person appointed to an office refuses to accept the same, the successor is nominated in the place of the person who has declined, and not in place of the person who had been previously in office.—1 Cranch, Curtis' edition, 377.

Where an officer was of lawful age when nominated but was over age when confirmed, his commission can be issued to him. The Senate could have arrested it.—Op. X, 308, Bates, July 1, 1862.

Bonds to be filed with Secretary of the Treasury

Hereafter every officer required by law to take and approve official bonds shall cause the same to be examined at least once every two years for the purpose of ascertaining the sufficiency of the sureties thereon; and every officer having power to fix the amount of an official bond shall examine it to ascertain the sufficiency of the amount thereof and approve or fix said amount at least once in two years and as much oftener as he may deem it necessary.

Official bonds to be examined every two years.

Hereafter every officer whose duty it is to take and approve official bonds shall cause all such bonds to be renewed every four years after their dates, but he may require such bonds to be renewed or strengthened oftener if he deem such action necessary.

—to be renewed every four years.

—renewal waived, when.

In the discretion of such officer the requirement of a new bond may be waived for the period of service of a bonded officer after the expiration of a four-year term of service pending the appointment and qualification of his successor: Provided, That the nonperformance of any requirement of this section on the part of any official of the Government shall not be held to affect in any respect the liability of principal or sureties on any bond made or to be made to the United States:

Liability not affected.

—to continue until appointment etc., of successor.

Provided further, That the liability of the principal and sureties on all official bonds shall continue and cover the period of service ensuing until the appointment and qualification of the successor of the principal.

Bond not affected by a new commission.

Mar. 3, 1871, s. 6, v. 16, p. 536.
See note 2.

SEC. 1385. The issuing of a new appointment and commission to any officer of the Pay Corps shall not affect or annul any existing bond, but the same shall remain in force, and apply to such new appointment and commission.

Note 2.—An appointment by the President to the end of the next session of Congress is not continued by a new appointment and commission by and with the advice and consent of the Senate. The latter is a distinct appointment, and requires a new bond. Sureties on the first not released on account of failure of the Senate to confirm the second. (United States v. Kilpatrick, 9 Wheaton, 720; United States v. Spencer, 2d McLean, 265; Op., IV, p. 30, May 20, 1842.)

A bond is confined in its obligatory force to acts done whilst a commission has a legal continuance. (Op., XV, p. 214, cites 9 Wheaton, 734.)

A bond, to be accepted by the Government, ought to be executed by the obligees and not by their attorneys. (Op., IX, p. 128, Nov. 5, 1857.)

The Supreme Court has repeatedly decided that the sureties of a bonded officer are only responsible for the faithful performance of his duties for the legal term of his appointment. (Op., XI, p. 286, July 11, 1865.)

Bonds cover not merely duties imposed by existing law, but duties belonging to and naturally connected with the office, imposed by subsequent law, provided that the new duties have relation to such office. (United States v. Sanger, 15 Wallace, p. 112.)

A paymaster's bond takes effect from the date of its approval by the Secretary of the Navy. (See Op., XIV, p. 7, and 19 Howard, p. 73, as to when bonds go into effect.) Under sec. 1560, R. S., the pay of a bonded officer of the Navy commences on the day of the approval by the proper authority of his bond.

Duties imposed on an officer different in their nature from those which he was required to perform at the time his official bond was given do not render it void as an undertaking for the faithful performance of those which he at first assumed. (Otto, 97, p. 584.)

Judgment can not be rendered beyond the penalty to be discharged on the payment of the sum actually due. Can not exceed the penalty with interest from the breach. (United States v. Picketts, 2 Cranch, C. C., 553; Farrar v. United States, 5 Peters, 373.)

GENERAL INSTRUCTIONS.

A bond must bear date even with or prior to that of the affidavits of sureties and the certificate as to their sufficiency.

Seals of wafer or wax must be attached where indicated on the bond, opposite the places for the signatures of the principal and the sureties.

Two or more witnesses are required to each signature.

The sufficiency of the sureties must be certified to by a judge or clerk of a United States court or by a United States attorney, preferably for the district in which such sureties reside.

Pay officers will be careful to avoid erasures or alterations in any portion of the bond. The form should be neatly filled and the signatures legibly written.

INDIVIDUAL SURETIES.

A bond on which the sureties are individuals must be signed by not less than two sureties, one of whom, at least, must qualify in a sum, over and above all exemptions, debts, and legal liabilities, not less than the full amount of the bond; if there are but two sureties, the second must also qualify in like amount; or in lieu of a second surety for the whole amount, two or more individuals will be accepted, provided the aggregate amount for which they qualify be not less than the full amount of the bond. Each surety must make affidavit stating the value of his or her property over and above all exemptions, debts, and legal liabilities. In case a woman is offered as surety it should be stated whether she is single, married, or a widow, and if married or a widow an additional certificate will be required to the effect that such surety holds her property in her own right, and is competent under the laws of the State in which she resides to bind herself as surety in such case. The wife of the principal will not be accepted as surety.

CORPORATIONS AS SURETIES.

See note 1.

Note 1.—Pay does not include rations or subsistence. (Op., II, 420, 593.) The word "pay" in acts of Congress concerning compensation of officers of the Army, Navy, and Marine Corps does not embrace the emoluments or allowances which are given by law in the absence of a clearly expressed intention to that effect. ("Levant" Case Op., X, 284.) The word "emolument," in military statutes, includes every allowance or perquisite annexed to an office for the benefit of the officer, and by way of compensation for services. Quarters are so given, and whether in money or in kind, are none the less an emolument. Pay and emoluments include quarters. (Op., IX, 284.) "Compensation" is equivalent to the words "pay" or "salary;" does not include rations nor extra expenses. (Op., II, 593; III, 152.)

It is within the authority of Congress to reduce the pay or allowances of officers and soldiers at any time during their period of service or enlistment. It can not be done by Executive authority or military authority; nor can a soldier's pay be withheld except in pursuance of law or sentence. (Winthrop, 366.)

Where an act of Congress fixes the compensation of an officer of the Government it can neither be enlarged nor diminished by any regulation or order of the President or of a Department, unless the power to make the same is given by act of Congress. (Goldsborough v. United States, Taney, 80.)

An officer or soldier can not be dismissed, discharged, or mustered out as of a prior date with the effect of depriving him of pay accrued between that date and the date of the actual discharge, etc. (Winthrop's Digest, 362.)

It is not within the power of the executive department, or any branch of it, to reduce the pay of an officer of the Army. (Winthrop, p. 366; quotes 23 Wallace, 416.)

So long as a person is in the Army or the Navy he is entitled to receive the pay belonging to the position, unless he has forfeited it in accordance with the provisions of law. (Op., XIII, 104, June 16, 1869; Op., XV, 175, Nov. 9, 1876.)

An officer is entitled to the salary allowed by law, and is not limited to the amount appropriated by Congress. (C. C., I, 380.)

An officer's "pay account" is not commercial paper, but in its legal aspect a mere receipt. If assigned, and payment made to the assignee, the name of the latter on the back does not make him responsible to the paymaster as an indorser, on ascertaining that the officer has already drawn his pay for the month. (Winthrop's Digest, 361.)

A paymaster on shore duty at a navy-yard is not entitled to pay for sea duty, though required by the Secretary of the Navy, in addition to his regular duties, to take charge of the accounts of certain ironclads temporarily at anchor off the yard and in commission for sea service. (Carpenter's Case, C. C., XV, 247.)

Graduated pay of officers. (See Op., X, p. 97, Aug. 13; p. 101, Aug. 19, 1861; and p. 326, Aug. 28, 1862.)

- Grades in the Navy. In the Navy there are grades for duty, for honor, and for pay, some by name and others by description. A lieutenant has a grade of his class and also a grade in his class upon which his pay is fixed, depending upon length of service. A lieutenant retired in the first five years of service because not recommended for promotion, is entitled to one-half of his sea-pay at the time of retirement, and no more.
- Mar. 3, 1833. For the pay of * * * one hundred masters, the title of which grade is hereby changed to that of lieutenants.

SEC. 1560. The pay of an officer of the Navy, upon his original entry into the service, except where he is required to give an official bond, shall commence upon the date of his acceptance of his appointment; but where he is required to give such bond his pay shall commence upon the date of the approval of his bond by the proper authority. Commencement of pay, original entry. July 15, 1870, s. 7, v. 16, p. 333.

SEC. 1561. When an officer is promoted in course to fill a vacancy, and is in the performance of the duties of the higher grade from the date he is to take rank, he may be allowed the increased pay from such date. Commencement of pay of promoted officers. July 15, 1870, s. 7, v. 16, p. 333; June 5, 1872, s. 1, v. 17, p. 226. See June 22, 1874.

That on and after the passage of this act, any officer of the Navy who may be promoted in course to fill a vacancy in the next higher grade shall be entitled to the pay of the grade to which promoted from the date he takes rank therein, if it be subsequent to the vacancy he is appointed to fill. * * * Commencement of pay on promotion. June 22, 1874, v. 18, p. 191. See note under promotion. The act of June 22, 1874, here given, doubtless takes the place of sec. 1561.

SEC. 1562. If an officer of a class subject to examination before promotion shall be absent on duty, and by reason of such absence, or of other cause not involving fault on his part, shall not be examined at the time required by law or regulation, and shall afterward be examined and found qualified, the increased rate of pay to which his promotion would entitle him shall commence from the date when he would have been entitled to it had he been examined and found qualified at the time so required by law or regulation; and this rule shall apply to any cases of this description which may have heretofore occurred. And in every such case the period of service of the party, in the grade to which he was promoted, shall, in reference to the rate of his pay, be considered to have commenced from the date when he was so entitled to take rank. In case of delayed examination. July 15, 1870, s. 7, v. 16, p. 333. See June 22, 1874.

SEC. 1564. Any person performing the duties of paymaster, acting assistant paymaster, or assistant paymaster, in a ship at sea, or on a foreign station, or on the Pacific coast of the United States, by appointment of the senior officer present, in case of vacancy of such office, in accordance with the provisions of section thirteen hundred and eighty-one, and not otherwise, shall be entitled to receive the pay of such grade while so acting. SEC. 1568. Civilians appointed as storekeepers on foreign stations shall receive compensation for such services, at a rate not exceeding fifteen hundred dollars a year.

SEC. 1569. The pay to be allowed to petty officers, excepting mates and the pay and bounty upon enlistment of seamen, ordinary seamen, firemen, and coal-heavers, in the naval service, shall be fixed by the President: Provided, That the whole sum be given for the whole pay aforesaid, and for the pay of officers, and for the said bounties upon enlistments shall not exceed, for any one year, the amount which may, in such year, be appropriated for such purposes.

SEC. 1570. Every seaman, ordinary seaman, or landsman who performs the duty of a fireman or coal-heaver on board of any vessel of war shall be entitled to receive, in addition to his compensation as seaman, ordinary seaman, or landsman, a compensation at the rate of thirty-three cents a day for the time he is employed as fireman or coal-heaver.

SEC. 1572. All petty officers and persons of inferior ratings who are detained beyond the terms of service, according to the provisions of section fourteen hundred and twenty-two, or who, after the termination of their service, voluntarily re-enter, to serve until the return to an Atlantic port of the vessel to which they belong, and until their regular discharge therefrom, shall, for the time during which they are so detained or so serve beyond their original terms of service, receive an addition of one-fourth of their former pay.

SEC. 1573. If any seaman, ordinary seaman, landsman, fireman, coal-heaver, or boy, being honorably discharged, shall re-enlist for three years, within three months thereafter, he shall, on presenting his honorable discharge, or on accounting in a satisfactory manner for its loss, be entitled to pay, during the said three months, equal to that to which he would have been entitled if he had been employed in actual service.

That the benefits of honorable discharge as conferred by section fourteen hundred and twenty-six of the Revised Statutes, and of three months' pay upon reenlistment after honorable discharge as conferred by section fifteen hundred and seventy-three upon seamen, ordinary seamen, landsmen, firemen, coal heavers and boys, be, and the same are hereby, extended and made applicable to all enlisted persons in the Navy.

And all accounts of paymasters who have made payments to enlisted men, not of the classes named in sections fourteen hundred and twenty-six and fifteen hundred and seventy-three, Revised Statutes, as if they had been included in the provisions of said sections, shall be allowed and passed by the accounting officers of the Treasury as if they had been included in said sections.

SEC. 1574. When the crew of any vessel of the United States are separated from such vessel, by means of her wreck, loss, or destruction, the pay and emoluments of such of the officers and men as shall appear to the Secretary of the Navy, by the sentence of a court-martial or court of inquiry, or by other satisfactory evidence, to have done their utmost to preserve her, and, after said wreck, loss, or destruction, to have behaved themselves agreeably to the discipline of the Navy, shall go on and be paid them until their discharge or death.

Crews of wrecked or lost vessels.
July 17, 1862, s. 14, v. 12, p. 608.

SEC. 1575. The pay and emoluments of the officers and men of any vessel of the United States taken by an enemy who shall appear, by the sentence of a court-martial or otherwise, to have done their utmost to preserve and defend their vessel, and, after the taking thereof, to have behaved themselves agreeably to the discipline of the Navy, shall go on and be paid to them until their exchange, discharge, or death.

Crews of vessels taken by an enemy.
Idem.

SEC. 1576. Every assignment of wages due to persons enlisted in the naval service, and all powers of attorney, or other authority to draw, receipt for, or transfer the same, shall be void, unless attested by the commanding officer and paymaster. The assignment of wages must specify the precise time when they commence.

Assignments of wages.

SEC. 1588. The pay of all officers of the Navy who have been retired after forty-five years' service after reaching the age of sixteen years, or who have been or may be retired after forty years' service, upon their own application to the President, or on attaining the age of sixty-two years, or on account of incapacity resulting from long and faithful service, from wounds or injuries received in the line of duty, or from sickness or exposure therein, shall, when not on active duty, be equal to seventy-five per centum of the sea-pay provided by this chapter for the grade or rank which they held, respectively, at the time of their retirement. The pay of all other officers on the retired list shall, when not on active duty, be equal to one-half the sea-pay provided by this chapter for the grade or rank held by them, respectively, at the time of their retirement.

Pay of retired officers.

SEC. 1442. The Secretary of the Navy shall have authority to place on furlough any officer on the active list of the Navy.

SEC. 1557. Officers on furlough shall receive only one-half of the pay to which they would have been entitled if on leave of absence.

SEC. 1594. The President, by and with the advice and consent of the Senate, may transfer any officer on the retired list from the furlough to the retired-pay list.

Note 1.—When an officer is transferred, as authorized by this section, the causes for his retirement determine the rate of his pay under section 1588. An officer retired on furlough pay from causes not incident to the service can not be transferred to the 75 per cent pay list. If so transferred by nomination and confirmation, it would not be the duty of the accounting officer to pay him 75 per cent of sea pay. (Op., XVI, p. 23, Devens, May 29, 1878.)

Note 2.—An act approved January 30, 1875, v. 18, p. 304, allows difference of pay to certain officers, or their heirs, who were furloughed under the act of February 28, 1855, and subsequently restored to the active list.

Note 3.—Additional allowances for subsistence may be legally made to officers of the Army or Navy while employed on Coast Survey service. The word "pay" in section 4684, Coast Survey, Division III, refers to the pay proper of an officer. (Op., XV, p. 283, Devens, May 23, 1877.)

Note 2.—The act of July 31, 1894, was construed by the Attorney-General in an opinion rendered March 23, 1897, in which he held that the employment of a competent mathematician, who at the same time was a retired officer of the Navy, was not precluded by the act cited.

Note 3.—An officer who has been appointed to and is fully invested with two distinct offices may receive the compensation appropriated for each. Sections 1763, 1764, 1765 do not apply to such a case. It is for the appointing power to determine whether the party can properly and fully perform the duties of the two offices. (Op., XVI, 7, May 9, 1878. SEC. 2687. Collectors and all other officers of the customs, serving for a less period than a year, shall not be paid for the entire year, but shall be allowed in no case a greater than a pro rata of the maximum compensation of such officers respectively for the time only which they actually serve as such collectors or officers, whether the same be under one or more appointments, or before or after confirmation. And no collector or other officer shall, in any case, receive for his services, either as fees, salary, fines, penalties, forfeitures, or otherwise, for the time he may be in service, beyond the maximum pro rata rate provided by law. And this section shall be applied and enforced in regard to all officers, agents, and employés of the United States whomsoever, as well those whose compensation is determined by a commission on disbursements, not to exceed an annual maximum, as those paid by salary or otherwise.

Extra pay, Mexican war.

An act approved February 19, 1879, chap. 90, v. 20, p. 316, provides for three months' extra pay (removing limitations contained in the act of July 19, 1848) to those who served in the Army, Navy, Marine Corps, and Revenue Marine in the war with Mexico.

TRAVELING EXPENSES.

Sec. Act June 16, 1874. Actual expenses. Act June 30, 1876. Mileage. 1566. Allowance in foreign countries.

Sec. Act Jan. 18, 1875. Approval of Secretary required. 850. Clerks, etc., sent off as witnesses. — Traveling expenses of naval cadets.

June 16, 1874.

Traveling expenses.

Only actual traveling expenses shall be allowed to any person holding employment or appointment under the United States, and all allowances for mileages and transportation in excess of the amount actually paid are hereby declared illegal; and no credit shall be allowed to any of the disbursing officers of the United States for payment or allowances in violation of this provision.

So much of the act of June 16, 1874 [supra], "as is applicable to officers of the Navy so engaged, is hereby repealed: "And the sum of eight cents per mile shall be allowed such officers, while so engaged, in lieu of their actual expenses."

Officers of the Navy traveling abroad under orders hereafter issued shall travel by the most direct route, the occasion and necessity for such order to be certified by the officer issuing the same; and shall receive, in lieu of the mileage now allowed by law, only their actual and reasonable expenses, certified under their own signatures and approved by the Secretary of the Navy.

SEC. 1566. * * * And an allowance may be made to officers traveling in foreign countries under orders, for expenses of transportation of baggage necessarily incurred. And no officer shall be paid mileage, except for travel actually performed at his own expense and in obedience to orders.

For expenses and transportation of officers traveling under orders, * * * Provided, That no allowance shall be made in the settlement of any account for traveling expenses unless the same be incurred on the order of the Secretary of the Navy, or the allowance be approved by him. * *

SEC. 850. When any clerk or other officer of the United States is sent away from his place of business as a witness for the Government, his necessary expenses, stated in items and sworn to, in going, returning, and attendance on the court, shall be audited and paid; but no mileage, or other compensation in addition to his salary, shall in any case be allowed.

Note 1.—An act of Feb. 22, 1875, exempted attorneys, marshals, and clerks of the United States courts; the clause of June 16, 1875, was repeated March 3, 1875, with like exemption.

Note 2.—See Op., XVI, 147; XV, 311; XIV, 590, 681, 683; IX, 261, 411, 417; XIII, 526, as to traveling expenses, residence, etc. No mileage is allowed for travel abroad.

Note 3.—An officer of the Navy traveling abroad under orders is entitled under the act of August 5, 1882, to reimbursement for hotel expenses incurred at a foreign port while awaiting, in obedience to his orders, the arrival of the ship to which he has been ordered. (Compt. Dec., Vol. III, p. 785.)

Note 4.—The necessary expenses incurred by soldiers as witnesses for the Government allowable under section 850 may be paid by marshals upon proper proof thereof. (Op., XVI, 147.) Army officers and soldiers are entitled to receive their necessary expenses in going, returning, and attendance on the court, which must be stated in items and sworn to. They are not in such cases entitled to mileage or witness fees. The section embraces any person who is an employee of the United States, in however humble a capacity. (Op., XVI, 113.)

Idem, s. 1. [See post, June 18, 1878.]

SEC. 1493. No officer shall be promoted to a higher grade on the active list of the Navy, except in the case provided in the next section, until he has been examined by a board of naval surgeons and pronounced physically qualified to perform all his duties at sea.

That on and after the passage of this act, any officer of the Navy who may be promoted in course to fill a vacancy in the next higher grade shall be entitled to the pay of the grade to which promoted from the date he takes rank therein, if it be subsequent to the vacancy he is appointed to fill.

SEC. 1494. The provisions of the preceding section shall not exclude from the promotion to which he would otherwise be regularly entitled any officer in whose case such medical board may report that his physical disqualification was occasioned by wounds received in the line of his duty, and that such wounds do not incapacitate him for other duties in the grade to which he shall be promoted.

SEC. 1495. Officers subject to examination before promotion to a grade limited in number by law shall not be entitled to examination in such a sense as to give increase of pay until designated by the Secretary of the Navy to fill vacancies in the higher grade; and officers eligible for promotion to a grade not limited in number shall not be entitled to examination until ordered to present themselves for examination or until a class, in which they are included, has been so ordered by the Secretary of the Navy. [See secs. 1561 and 1562.]

SEC. 1496. No line officer below the grade of commodore, and no officer not of the line, shall be promoted to a higher grade on the active list of the Navy until his mental, moral, and professional fitness to perform all his duties at sea have been established to the satisfaction of a board of examining officers appointed by the President.

SEC. 1497. In time of peace no person shall be promoted from the list of commodores to the grade of rear-admiral, on the active list, until his mental, moral, and professional fitness to perform all his duties at sea has been established as provided in the preceding section.

SEC. 1498. Such examining board shall consist of not less than three officers, senior in rank to the officer to be examined.

SEC. 1499. Said board shall have power to take testimony and to examine all matter on the files and records of the Navy Department relating to any officer whose case may be considered by them. The witnesses, when present, shall be sworn by the president of the board.

Note 2.—The acceptance of a promotion in the Navy is not necessary to consummate the appointment of an officer to a higher grade. [Case of an officer who died before the appointment promoting him was received, and the accounting officers objected to crediting him with the pay of a higher grade.] (Op., XII, 229, Stanberry, Aug. 1, 1867.)

SEC. 1500. Any officer whose case is to be acted upon by such examining board shall have the right to be present, if he so desires, and to submit a statement of his case on oath.

Title 15, chap. 4.

Officer may be present and make statement.

Apr. 21, 1864, s. 3, v. 13, p. 53.

SEC. 1501. The statement of such officer, if made, and the testimony of the witnesses and his examination shall be recorded.

Record.
Idem.

SEC. 1502. Any matter on the files and records of the Navy Department, touching each case, which may, in the opinion of the board, be necessary to assist them in making up their judgment, shall, together with the whole record and finding, be presented to the President for his approval or disapproval of the finding.

Revision by the President.
Idem.

SEC. 1503. No officer shall be rejected until after such public examination of himself and of the records of the Navy Department in his case, unless he fails, after having been duly notified, to appear before said board.

No officer to be rejected without examination.

Idem.
See note 5.

SEC. 1504. Such examining board shall report their recommendation of any officer for promotion in the following form: "We hereby certify that _____ has the mental, moral, and professional qualifications to perform efficiently all the duties, both at sea and on shore, of the grade to which he is to be promoted, and recommend him for promotion."

Report of recommendation.

SEC. 1505. Any officer of the Navy on the active list below the grade of commander, who, upon examination for promotion, is not found professionally qualified, shall be suspended from promotion for one year, with corresponding loss of date when he shall be re-examined, and in case of his failure upon such re-examination he shall be dropped from the service.

Failing in examination.

July 15, 1870, s. 8, v. 16, p. 333.

See note 6.
See sec. 1447 and act Aug. 5, 1882.

That hereafter in the examination of officers in the Navy for promotion no fact which occurred prior to the last examination of the candidate whereby he was promoted, which has been enquired into and decided upon, shall be again enquired into, but such previous examination, if approved, shall be conclusive, unless such fact continuing shows the unfitness of the officer to perform all his duties at sea.

Note 5.—An officer was under an examination for promotion (secs. 1493 to 1505), and the examination was temporarily suspended and the officer granted permission to go home and be absent until notified to appear. He failed to receive the notice; the examination was resumed and concluded, the proceedings approved, and the officer retired. The vacancy not having been filled, and the rights of no other person having intervened: Held, That the action of the President could be revoked and the officer allowed a rehearing. (Op., XVI, 20, May 29, 1878, Tracy's Case.)

Note 6.—"Shall be suspended from promotion for one year, with corresponding loss of date," does not mean that the loss of date is to be contemporaneous with the term of suspension, but only that it shall agree therewith in point of duration. When an officer is so suspended, the loss of a year is to be reckoned from the occurrence of the vacancy, the date from which he would have taken rank had he been qualified; and the year of suspension from the approval of the President of the finding of the examining boards. While under suspension is ineligible to promotion, and no vacancy is to be kept open for him. The officers eligible during that period are entitled to fill the vacancies. The loss of date being one year, if found qualified, on a second examination, to fill a vacancy occurring after the period of suspension, he will be entitled, on promotion thereto, to take rank one year from the date of the vacancy which he would have originally filled. Will not be entitled to the pay of the higher grade from the ranking date in his commission. (Op., XVI, 587, Dec. 10, 1880. Published in Gen. Order 262.)

v. 20, p. 265.

SEC. 2. The President of the United States may, in any cases wherein the rule herein prescribed has been violated, order and direct the reexamination of the same.

Aug. 5, 1882.

Failure for misconduct.
Aug. 5, 1882,
See note 7.

Whenever on an inquiry had pursuant to law, concerning the fitness of an officer of the Navy for promotion, it shall appear that such officer is unfit to perform at sea the duties of the place to which it is proposed to promote him, by reason of drunkenness, or from any cause arising from his own misconduct, and having been informed of and heard upon the charges against him, he shall not be placed on the retired-list of the Navy, and if the finding of the board be approved by the President, he shall be discharged with not more than one year's pay.

See note 8.

SEC. 1506. Any officer of the Navy may, by and with the advice and consent of the Senate, be advanced, not exceeding thirty numbers in rank, for eminent and conspicuous conduct in battle or extraordinary heroism; and the rank of officers shall not be changed except in accordance with the provisions of existing law, and by and with the advice and consent of the Senate.

Jan. 24, 1865, s.
2, v. 13, p. 424.

SEC. 1507. Any officer who is nominated to a higher grade by the provisions of the preceding section, shall be promoted, notwithstanding the number of said grade may be full; but no further promotions shall take place in that grade, except for like cause, until the number is reduced to that provided by law.

Officers receiving thanks of Congress.

v. 13, p. 424; July 25, 1866, s. 1, v. 14,
p. 222.

SEC. 1508. Any line officer, whether of volunteers or of the regular Navy, may be advanced one grade, if, upon recommendation of the President by name, he receives the thanks of Congress for highly distinguished conduct in conflict with the enemy or for extraordinary heroism in the line of his profession.

Effect of vote of thanks.

res., s. 1, v. 16, p.
384.

SEC. 1509. A vote of thanks by Congress to any officer of the Navy shall be held to affect such officer only; and whenever, as an incident thereof, an officer who would otherwise be retired is retained on the active list, such retention shall not interfere with the regular promotion of others who would otherwise have been entitled by law to promotion.

Vacancies occasioned by death, etc., of officers,
thanked.
Idem.

SEC. 1510. No promotion shall be made to fill a vacancy occasioned by the final retirement, death, resignation, or dismissal of an officer who has received a vote of thanks,

Note 7.—“One year's pay” has been held by the accounting officers to mean one year's “leave” pay.

Note 8.—Congress leaves to the discretion of the President the determination of what acts of heroism should be recommended to the Senate for reward, and in providing that the Senate must advise and consent to the advancement has indicated the only forum which may inquire into the wisdom with which that discretion has been exercised. It is not within the power of a Secretary of the Navy to inquire into the acts of heroism which induced his predecessor and the President to make an advancement. Their action is conclusive on the executive department. (Op. Apr. 23, 1881, MacVeagh. Stevenson's Case.)

By advancement under section 1506 an ensign was promoted to master March 3, 1879, to take rank from November 27, 1877. Not having been “promoted in course to fill a vacancy,” not entitled to the pay of the higher grade, under section 1561 of the Revised Statutes, from the date he takes rank, but from the date of his appointment. (Op. Mar. 29, 1882, Brewster. Young's Case.)

The advancement of an officer under section 1506, when the advancement is confined to the same grade in which he already holds a commission, confers upon him no right to an increase of compensation over that which he is in receipt of in virtue of that commission. (Op., XIV, 547, Mar. 18, 1875. Billings's Case.)

unless the number of officers left in the grade where the vacancy occurs shall be less than the number authorized by law.

SEC. 1560. The pay of an officer of the Navy, upon his original entry into the service, except where he is required to give an official bond, shall commence upon the date of his acceptance of his appointment; but where he is required to give such bond his pay shall commence upon the date of the approval of his bond by the proper authority.

Title XV, chap. 8.

Commencement of pay, original entry.

July 15, 1870, s. 7, v. 16, p. 333.

SEC. 1561. When an officer is promoted in course to fill a vacancy, and is in the performance of the duties of the higher grade from the date he is to take rank, he may be allowed the increased pay from such date.

Commencement of pay of promoted officers.

July 15, 1870, s. 7, v. 16, p. 333;

June 5, 1872, s. 1, v. 17, p. 226.

See following act and note.

June 22, 1874.

That on and after the passage of this act, any officer of the Navy who may be promoted in course to fill a vacancy in the next higher grade shall be entitled to the pay of the grade to which promoted from the date he takes rank therein, if it be subsequent to the vacancy he is appointed to fill.

Commencement of pay on promotion.

See note 9.

SEC. 1562. If an officer of a class subject to examination before promotion shall be absent on duty, and by reason of such absence, or of other cause not involving fault on his part, shall not be examined at the time required by law or regulation, and shall afterward be examined and found qualified, the increased rate of pay to which his promotion would entitle him shall commence from the date when he would have been entitled to it had he been examined and found qualified at the time so required by law or regulation; and this rule shall apply to any cases of this description which may have heretofore occurred. And in every such case the period of service of the party, in the grade to which he was promoted, shall, in reference to the rate of his pay, be considered to have commenced from the date when he was so entitled to take rank.

Title XV, chap. 8.

In cases of delayed examinations.

July 15, 1870, s. 7, v. 16, p. 333.

See act July 22, 1874, and note, and sec. 1495.

Note 9.—Previous to the act of July 15, 1870, chapter 295, the increased pay of a promoted officer commenced from the date of the signing of his appointment to perform the duties of the higher grade, if before the date of his commission, or from the date of his commission if no appointment was previously given. The seventh section of that act provided that it should commence from the date of rank as stated in his commission. The act of June 5, 1872, substantially section 1561, provided that the promotion must have been in course to fill a vacancy, and the officer must have been in the performance of the duties of the higher grade from the date he takes rank. Under the act of June 22, 1874, which now regulates it, the promotion must have been in "course to fill a vacancy" to entitle an officer to the pay of the higher grade from the date he takes rank therein, which date must be subsequent to the vacancy he is appointed to fill.

Aid or executive.

Idem.

SEC. 1467. Line officers shall take rank in each grade according to the dates of their commissions.

SEC. 1468. Commanding officers of vessels of war and of naval stations shall take precedence over all officers placed under their command.

SEC. 1469. The Secretary of the Navy may, in his discretion, detail a line officer to act as the aid or executive of the commanding officer of a vessel of war or naval station, which officer shall, when not impracticable, be next in rank to said commanding officer. Such aid or executive shall, while executing the orders of the commanding officer on board the vessel or at the station, take precedence over all officers attached to the vessel or station. All orders of such aid or executive shall be regarded as proceeding from the commanding officer, and the aid or executive shall have no independent authority in consequence of such detail.

SEC. 1470. Staff officers, seniors to the officers so detailed, shall have the right to communicate directly with the commanding officer.

Rights of staff officers.
Idem.

SEC. 1471. The chiefs of the Bureau of Medicine and Surgery, Provisions and Clothing, Steam Engineering, and Construction and Repair shall have the relative rank of commodore while holding said position, and shall have, respectively, the title of Surgeon General, Paymaster-General, Engineer-in-Chief, and Chief Constructor.

Chiefs of bureaus.
Idem.
Title of Bureau changed to "Supplies and Accounts."
See sec. 1481.

SEC. 1472. When the office of chief of Bureau is filled by a line officer below the rank of commodore, said officer shall have the relative rank of commodore during the time he holds said office.

Chief of bureau, when below rank of commodore.
Idem.

SEC. 1473. Officers who have been or who shall be retired from the position of chiefs of the Bureau of Medicine and Surgery, of Provisions and Clothing, of Steam Engineering, or of Construction and Repair, by reason of age or length of service, shall have the relative rank of commodore.

Retired from position of chief of bureau.
Idem.
Title of Bureau of Provisions and Clothing changed to Supplies and Accounts.

SEC. 1474. Officers of the Medical Corps on the active list of the Navy shall have relative rank as follows:

Medical Corps.
Idem, s. 5, p. 535.

Medical directors, the relative rank of captain.

Medical inspectors, the relative rank of commander.

Surgeons, the relative rank of lieutenant-commander or lieutenant.

Passed assistant surgeons, the relative rank of lieutenant or master.

Lieutenant of the junior grade Mar. 3, 1883.

Assistant surgeons, the relative rank of master or ensign.

Lieutenant of junior grade Mar. 3, 1883.

SEC. 1475. Officers of the Pay Corps on the active list of the Navy shall have relative rank as follows:

Pay Corps.
Ibid., s. 6, p. 536.

Pay directors, the relative rank of captain.

See note 1.

Pay inspectors, the relative rank of commander.

Paymasters, the relative rank of lieutenant-commander or lieutenant.

Passed assistant paymasters, the relative rank of lieutenant or master.

Lieutenant of junior grade Mar. 3, 1883.

Assistant paymasters, the relative rank of master or ensign.

Lieutenant of junior grade Mar. 3, 1883.

SEC. 1476. Officers of the Engineer Corps on the active list shall have relative rank as follows:

Engineer Corps.
Ibid, s. 7, p. 536; Feb. 24, 1874, v. 18, p. 17; Mar. 3, 1883, 22 Stats. L., p. 472.

Of the chief engineers, ten shall have the relative rank of captain, fifteen that of commander, and forty-five that of lieutenant-commander or lieutenant.

Note 1.—Section 1475 does not give to a pay inspector in the Navy the grade of commander. It confers upon him the rank of commander by relation (only) to the rank of a line officer of that grade. The designation "pay inspector" expresses both title and grade in the Pay Corps. The commission of an officer as "pay inspector," "with the relative rank of commander," gives the appropriate title and grade of the officer named therein, and fully satisfies the requirement of section 1480, R. S. (Op., XVI, 414, Jan. 8, 1880, Devens.) [For a definition of the words "title," "grade," and "rank," see this opinion and C. C., XV, 151. The latter defines the rank of staff officers of the Navy as usually operative only in determining the relation of the different officers of the service to each other in matters of precedence, privilege, and the like, and is generally called "relative rank." Grade is a step or degree in either office or rank, and has reference to the divisions of the one or the other, or both, according to the connection in which the word is employed.]

See sec. 1390, Engineer Corps. Passed assistant engineers shall have the relative rank of lieutenant or master, and assistant engineers that of lieutenant of the junior grade or ensign.

Naval constructor. Mar. 3, 1871, s. 9, v. 16, p. 536. SEC. 1477. Of the naval constructors, two shall have the relative rank of captain, three of commander, and all others that of lieutenant-commander or lieutenant. Assistant naval constructors shall have the relative rank of lieutenant or master.

Civil engineers. Mar. 3, 1871, s. 9, v. 16, p. 536. SEC. 1478. Civil engineers shall have such relative rank as the President may fix.

General Order 263, Feb. 24, 1881. The President of the United States has this day, under the provisions of section 1478 of the Revised Statutes, conferred relative rank on Civil Engineers of the Navy, and fixed the same as follows:

One with the relative rank of captain.

Two with the relative rank of commander.

Three with the relative rank of lieutenant-commander.

Four with the relative rank of lieutenant.

Civil engineers will take precedence in their corps, and with other officers with whom they hold relative rank, in accordance with the law regulating precedence of officers of the Navy.

Chaplains. Mar. 3, 1871, s. 9, v. 16, p. 536. SEC. 1479. Chaplains shall have relative rank as follows: Four, the relative rank of captain; seven, that of commander; and not more than seven, that of lieutenant-commander or lieutenant.

Professors of mathematics. May 31, 1872, s. 1, v. 17, p. 192; Feb. 27, 1877, v. 19, p. 244. SEC. 1480. Professors of mathematics shall have relative rank as follows: Three, the relative rank of captain; four, that of commander; and five, that of lieutenant-commander or lieutenant.

16 A. G. op., p. 414. Sec sec. 1475. The grades established in the six preceding sections for the staff corps of the Navy shall be filled by appointment from the highest members in each corps, according to seniority; and new commissions shall be issued to the officers so appointed, in which the titles and grades established in said sections shall be inserted; and no existing commission shall be vacated in the said several staff corps, except by the issue of the new commissions required by the provisions of this section; and no officer shall be reduced in rank or lose seniority in his own corps by any change which may be required under the provisions of the said six preceding sections: Provided, That the issuing of a new appointment and commission to any officer of the Pay Corps under the provisions of this section shall not affect or annul any existing bond, but the same shall remain in force, and apply to such new appointment and commission.

When retired for age or length of service. Mar. 3, 1871, s. 11, v. 16, p. 537. SEC. 1481. Officers of the Medical, Pay, and Engineer Corps, chaplains, professors of mathematics, and constructors, who shall have served faithfully for forty-five years, shall, when retired, have the relative rank of commodore; and officers of these several corps who have been or shall be retired at the age of sixty-two years, before having served for forty-five years, but who shall have served faithfully until retired, shall, on the completion of forty years from their entry into the service, have the relative rank of commodore.

SEC. 1482. Staff-officers, who have been or shall be retired for causes incident to the service before arriving at sixty-two years of age, shall have the same rank on the retired list as pertained to their position on the active list.

Retired for causes incident to service.

SEC. 1456. No officer of the Navy shall be placed on the retired list because of misconduct; but he shall be brought to trial by court-martial for such misconduct.

Privileges and liabilities.
Jan. 16, 1857, s. 4, v. 11, p. 154; Aug. 3, 1861, ss. 22, 23, 24, v. 12, pp. 290, 291.
See notes 3, 4, and 5.

SEC. 1457. Officers retired from active service shall be placed on the retired list of officers of the grades to which they belonged respectively at the time of their retirement, and continue to be borne on the Navy Register. They shall be entitled to wear the uniform of their respective grades, and shall be subject to the rules and articles for the government of the Navy and to trial by general court-martial. The names of officers wholly retired from the service shall be omitted from the Navy Register.

Vacancies by retirement.
Aug. 3, 1861, s. 22, v. 12, p. 291; Dec. 21, 1861, s. 6, v. 12, p. 330.

SEC. 1458. The next officer in rank shall be promoted to the place of a retired officer, according to the established rules of the service; and the same rule of promotion shall be applied successively to the vacancies consequent upon the retirement of an officer.

Withdrawn from command.
Aug. 3, 1861, s. 22, v. 12, p. 290; Dec. 21, 1861, ss. 3, 4, v. 12, p. 329.
See note 6.
See Aug. 5, 1882.

SEC. 1459. Officers on the retired list shall be withdrawn from command, except in the case provided in sections fourteen hundred and sixty-three and fourteen hundred and sixty-four, and from the line of promotion on the active list.

Active duty.
Mar. 3, 1873, v. 17, p. 547. See note 3, Title "Dismissal and Resignation of Officers."

SEC. 1462. No officer on the retired list of the Navy shall be employed on active duty except in time of war.

Note 5.—An act of January 30, 1875, v. 18, p. 304, provided for difference of pay for certain officers dropped, retired, etc., under the act of February 28, 1855.

Note 4.—The appointment of a line officer of the Navy to be the chief of a bureau is an investiture of him with an additional office. While holding that office he has the relative rank of commodore, but remains in his lineal position in the Navy. The grade to which he belongs for the purposes of section 1457 is that which he holds in the Navy, and not that of the relative rank incidental to his temporary occupation of another and distinct office. (Op. July 8, 1881, MacVeagh. Whiting's Case. See also Op., X, p. 378.)

Retirement of officers.
C. C., Woods's Case, v. 18, p. 761.

Note 5.—Congress may retire an officer from active service and place him on the retired list with a rank different from that which attaches to his office by general laws, and may change the mere rank of an officer on the active or retired list at pleasure, without coming in conflict with the Constitution. (Decisions of the C. C., XV, p. 151, affirmed by Supreme Court.)

Note 6.—Sections 1460 and 1461, from the acts of July 16, 1862, s. 14, v. 12, p. 585; Aug. 15, 1876, v. 19, p. 204; July 25, 1866, s. 1, v. 14, p. 222; Jan. 16, 1857, ss. 4 and 11, p. 154; Jan. 30, 1875, v. 18, p. 304, and Mar. 2, 1867, s. 9, v. 14, p. 517, contained provisions for the promotion of officers on the retired list, under certain conditions. They were repealed or annulled by the act of Aug. 5, 1882, forbidding such promotion.

(1) That any retired officer of the Navy or Marine Corps may, on his own application, be detailed to service as a teacher or professor in any school or college, but while so serving such officer shall be allowed no additional compensation.

R. S., sec. 1462. —without additional compensation.

SEC. 1463. In time of war the President, by and with the advice and consent of the Senate, may detail officers on the retired list for the command of squadrons and single ships, when he believes that the good of the service requires that they shall be so placed in command.

Assigned to command of squadrons and ships.
Dec. 21, 1861, s. 3, v. 12, p. 329; Mar. 3, 1873, s. 1, v. 17, p. 547.

SEC. 1464. In making said details the President may select any officer not below the grade of commander and assign him to the command of a squadron, with the rank and title of "flag-officer;" and any officer so assigned shall have the same authority and receive the same obedience from the commanders of ships in his squadron holding commissions of an older date than his that he would be entitled to receive if his commission were the oldest.

Commanders of squadrons, from what grades selected.
Dec. 21, 1861, s. 4, v. 12, p. 329.

SEC. 1465. Retired officers so detailed for the command of squadrons and single ships may be restored to the active list, if, upon the recommendation of the President, they shall receive a vote of thanks of Congress for their services and gallantry in action against the enemy, and not otherwise.

When restored to active list.
Idem, s. 3.

SEC. 1473. Officers who shall have been, or who shall be, retired from the positions of chiefs of the Bureaus of Medicine and Surgery, of Provisions and Clothing, of Steam Engineering, or of Construction and Repair, by reason of age or length of service, shall have the relative rank of commodore.

When retired for causes incident to service.
Idem.

SEC. 1588. The pay of all officers of the Navy who have been retired after forty-five years' service after reaching the age of sixteen years, or who have been or may be retired after forty years' service, upon their own application to the President, or on attaining the age of sixty-two years, or on account of incapacity resulting from long and faithful service, from wounds or injuries received in the line of duty, or from sickness or exposure therein, shall, when not on active duty, be equal to seventy-five per centum of

The pay of all other officers on the retired list shall, when not on active duty, be equal to one-half the sea-pay provided by this chapter for the grade or rank held by them, respectively, at the time of their retirement.

Rear-admirals. SEC. 1589. Rear-admirals on the retired list of the Navy, who were retired as captains when the highest grade in the Navy was captain, at the age of sixty-two years, or after forty-five years' service, and who, after their retirement, were promoted to the grade of rear-admiral, and performed the duties of that grade in time of war, shall be considered as having been retired as rear-admirals.

Third assistant engineers. SEC. 1590. Officers who have been retired as third assistant engineers shall continue to receive pay at the rate of four hundred dollars a year.

SEC. 1591. No officer, heretofore or hereafter promoted upon the retired list, shall, in consequence of such promotion, be entitled to any increase of pay.

Hereafter there shall be no promotion or increase of pay in the retired list of the Navy but the rank and pay of officers on the retired list shall be the same that they are when such officers shall be retired.

SEC. 1592. Officers on the retired list, when on active duty, shall receive the full pay of their respective grades.

SEC. 1593. Officers placed on the retired list, on furlough pay, shall receive only one-half of the pay to which they would have been entitled if on leave of absence on the active list.

Officers retired on furlough pay. SEC. 1593. Officers placed on the retired list, on furlough pay, shall receive only one-half of the pay to which they would have been entitled if on leave of absence on the active list.

Note 7.—Sections 1588, 1590, and 1593, which contain provisions both of a general and special character prescribing the compensation of naval retired officers, and embracing within their scope all such officers, whether of the line or staff, superseded all provisions in force at the adoption of the Revised Statutes by which that compensation was previously regulated, and those sections thereafter furnished the only law upon the subject. (Op., XV, p. 316, Devens, June 18, 1877.)

Note 8.—The first clause of section 1588 simply limits its application to officers who, after having attained the age of sixteen years, render forty-five years service and are then retired. An officer entering the Navy at fifteen years of age, would have to serve forty-six years before becoming entitled to the benefits of the section.

Note 9.—The word "grade" in sec. 1588, R. S., refers to the divisions of officers into five-year periods of service. An officer retired in the third period of five years' service is entitled to 75 per cent of the sea pay of that pay grade, and not to the highest pay of a chief engineer who has served over twenty years. [Use of words "grade" and "rank" in the several statutes relative to the Navy is discussed in this opinion.]

Note 10.—Longevity pay for officers of the Navy was first established by law in C. C., v. 18, p. 1835. It was then allowed only to surgeons. Officers of the Navy on the retired list 111, 1883; Thorne are not entitled to increase of pay by reason of longevity while on that list. The ley's Case; also, periods of five years' service mentioned in R. S., sec. 1556, for increase of pay are p. 537, Brown's "grades" within the meaning of R. S., sec. 1588. Case.

On and after the first day of July, eighteen hundred and seventy-eight, there shall be no appointments made from civil life of secretaries or clerks to the Admiral, or Vice-Admirals, when on sea service, commanders of squadrons, or of clerks to commanders of vessels; and an officer not above the grade of lieutenant shall be detailed to perform the duties of secretary to the Admiral or Vice-Admiral, when on sea service, and one not above a lieutenant of the junior grade to perform the duties of clerk to a rear-admiral or commander, and one not above the grade of ensign to perform the duties of clerk to a captain, commander, or lieutenant-commander when afloat. * * *

Note 1.—The clerk of a paymaster in the Navy is subject to the jurisdiction of a court-martial, and may be arrested and tried for an offense committed while in the service, even after his connection with it has been legally severed. (Ex parte Bogart, 17 Int. Rev. Rec., 155.)

Under the act of Mar. 2, 1863, a paymaster's clerk is a person in the military service, and liable to trial by court-martial. (United States v. Bogart, 3 Benedict R., 257.)

A regularly appointed clerk of a paymaster in the Navy is a "person in the naval service of the United States" within the meaning of article 14, section 1624, of the Revised Statutes, and for a violation of its provisions is subject to be tried, convicted, and sentenced by a naval general court-martial. (Otto, S. C., 100, p. 13, Oct., 1879.) See same, case of Reed, paymaster's clerk, tried by court-martial, where, on habeas corpus, the Supreme Court decided that the court-martial had jurisdiction and was competent to pass the sentence of which he complained.

A paymaster's clerk in the Navy, regularly appointed, and assigned to duty on a receiving ship, is a person in the naval service of the United States, subject to be tried and convicted, and to be sentenced to imprisonment, by a general court-martial, for a violation of section 1624 of the Revised Statutes. Note 6.—United States courts can inquire into the validity of enlistments on habeas corpus, and thereupon discharge enlisted persons in proper cases. This power can not legally be exercised by State courts. (Winthrop's Digest, pp., 250, 280, with authorities given.) Subject discussed. (Also Op., XII, 259.)

It has generally been held that the enlistment of minors in the Navy, over 18, was legal. The circuit court of the United States, district of Massachusetts, however, January 30, 1883, ordered the discharge of a minor, basing its action on a decision of Judge Lowell in 1870, which was that Congress had the right to pass a law making legal the enlistment of a minor, but not having done so by explicit statute the common law of the State must rule—the services of a minor belonging to its legal guardian.

The United States are empowered to raise and maintain a Navy, and have a right to prescribe the rules and conditions under which voluntary or compulsory services are to be rendered by citizens. The periods at which persons reach their majority and become sui juris with respect to the ordinary affairs of life cannot abridge this power of the General Government. A minor over 18 years of age can, by enlistment, bind himself during his minority, and there is no reason why he cannot bind himself for a further period. A minor who, at the age of 19, enlisted in the Navy is bound by such enlistment, even though it extends beyond the date on which he becomes of age.

A. G. O. Apr. 16, 1896.

The executive department has discretionary authority to discharge before the term of service has expired, but has no power to vary the contract of enlistment. (Op., IV, 538; XV, 362.)

Enlistment "for three years or during the war" means three years from date of muster, if war should last so long, and if it should not, then until it should end. Reference to duration, a restriction, not an extension. Can not be legally retained over three years, although the war may extend beyond that period. (Winthrop, p. 252.) Refers to decision of supreme court of Pennsylvania and other authorities.

An alien can be enlisted in the naval service or the Marine Corps, and is bound the same as a citizen to serve for his term of enlistment. (Op., III, 671; IV, 350; VI, 474, 607.) A minor is not bound by his contract, although entered into with the consent of his guardian, after he becomes of age. (Op., IV, 350.)

gent boys to enlist in the United States Navy as provided by law, without making any charge therefor. * * *

SEC. 1421. Any person enlisted in the military service of the United States may, on application to the Navy Department, approved by the President, be transferred to the Navy or Marine Corps, to serve therein the residue of his term of enlistment, subject to the laws and regulations for the government of the Navy. But such transfer shall not release him from any indebtedness to the Government, nor, without the consent of the President, from any penalty incurred for a breach of military law.

SEC. 1422. That it shall be the duty of the commanding officer of any fleet, squadron, or vessel acting singly, when on service, to send to an Atlantic or to a Pacific port of the United States, as their enlistment may have occurred on either the Atlantic or Pacific coast of the United States, in some public or other vessel, all petty-officers and persons of inferior ratings desiring to go there at the expiration of their terms of enlistment, or as soon thereafter as may be, unless, in his opinion, the detention of such persons for a longer period should be essential to the public interests, in which case he may detain them, or any of them, until the vessel to which they belong shall return to such Atlantic or Pacific port. All persons enlisted without the limits of the United States may be discharged, on the expiration of their enlistment, either in a foreign port or in a port of the United States, or they may be detained as above provided beyond the term of their enlistment; and that all persons sent home, or detained by a commanding officer, according to the provisions of this act, shall be subject in all respect to the laws and regulations for the government of the Navy until their return to an Atlantic or Pacific port and their regular discharge; and all persons so detained by such officer, or re-entering to serve until the return to an Atlantic or Pacific port of the vessel to which they belong, shall in no case be held in service more than thirty days after their arrival in said port; and that all persons who shall be so detained beyond their terms of enlistment or who shall, after the termination of their enlistment, voluntarily re-enter to serve until the return to an Atlantic or Pacific port of the vessel to which they belong, and their regular discharge therefrom, shall receive for the time during which they are so detained, or shall so serve beyond their original terms of enlistment, an addition of one-fourth of their former pay: Provided, That the shipping-articles shall hereafter contain the substance of this section.

SEC. 1423. All persons sent home, or detained by a commanding officer, according to the provisions of the preceding section, shall be subject in all respects to the laws and regulations for the government of the Navy, until their return to an Atlantic port and their regular discharge.

Note 7.—Similar provisions occur in 1891, Mar. 3, ch. 546, par. 1 (1 Supp. R. S., 931). The introduction of the word "hereafter" determines the character of the legislation as general and permanent, as explained in note (9) to 1893, Feb. 27, ch. 168, par. 7, Supp. R. S. 1892-95, p. 93.

SEC. 1424. Persons so detained by a commanding officer, or re-entering to serve until the return to an Atlantic port of the vessel to which they belong, shall in no case be held in service more than thirty days after their arrival in said port.

The Secretary of the Navy shall require to accompany each bid or proposal a deposit in cash of not less than ten per centum of the amount of the offer or proposal, and also a bond, with two or more sureties to be approved by him, conditioned for the payment of the remaining ninety per centum of the amount of such offer or proposal within the time fixed in the advertisement. And in case default is made in the payment of the remaining ninety per centum, or any part thereof, the Secretary, within the prescribed time thereof, shall advertise and resell said vessel under the provisions of this act. And in that event said cash deposit of ten per centum shall be considered as forfeited to the Government, and shall be applied, first, to the payment of all costs and expenditures attending the advertisement and resale of said vessel; second, to the payment of the difference, if any, between the first and last sale of said vessel; and the balance, if any, shall be covered into the Treasury: Provided, however, That nothing herein contained shall be construed to prevent a suit upon said bond for breach of any of its conditions. Any vessel sold under the foregoing provisions shall be delivered to the purchaser upon the full payment to the Secretary of the Navy of the amount of such proposal or offer; and the net proceeds of such sale shall be covered into the Treasury. But no vessel of the Navy shall hereafter be sold in any other manner than herein provided, or for less than such appraised value, unless the President of the United States shall otherwise direct in writing. [In case any vessel now in process of construction in any navy-yard has been or shall be found to be unworthy of being completed, and has been and shall be condemned under the provisions of said act, and cannot properly be sold, and it becomes necessary to remove the same, the cost of such removal shall be paid out of the net proceeds derived from the sale of other vessels hereby authorized to be sold.] That no part of this sum [appropriation for preservation of vessels, etc.] shall be applied to the repairs of any wooden ship when the estimated cost of such repairs, to be appraised by a competent board of naval officers, shall exceed twenty per centum of the estimated cost, appraised in like manner, of a new ship of the same size and like material: Provided further, That nothing herein contained shall deprive the Secretary of the Navy of the authority to order repairs of ships damaged in foreign waters or on the high seas, so far as may be necessary to bring them home.

Condition.

Note 2.—In naval "parlance," "cruise" means the whole period between the time when a vessel goes to sea and when she returns to the place where her crew is paid off and she is put out of commission. (Op., IX, 375, July 27, 1859, Black.)

Government vessels are not required to employ and pay branch pilots upon entering the ports and harbors of the United States. The exemption extends to all public vessels, whether armed or not. (Op., IV, 532, Sept. 9, 1846, Mason.)

The penalties imposed by State laws for piloting vessels without due license from the State have no application to persons employed as pilots on board public vessels of the United States, the latter vessels being within the exclusive jurisdiction of the United States. (Op., XVI, 647, Oct. 22, 1879.)

The term "public vessels" does not apply to vessels of the Navy alone. Within the meaning of the inspection and navigation laws public vessels are those owned by the United States and those used by them for public purposes. Those laws warrant no distinction between public vessels under the control of the Navy Department and public vessels under the control of any other Department of the Government. Unlicensed pilots and engineers can be lawfully employed on them. (Op., XIII, p. 249, Hoar, June 1, 1870.)

Note 3.—The above act is regarded as applying to vessels of the Navy, and a report should be made as indicated, in case of loss or accident, to the collector, from whom the necessary blanks can be procured.

Note 4.—Where the fault is wholly on one side, the party in fault must bear his own loss, and compensate the other party, if such party have sustained any damage. If neither be in fault, neither is entitled to compensation from the other. If both are in fault, the damages will be divided. (Otto, S. C., 102, p. 203.)

Note 4.—It is not in the power of the Secretary [of War] to suspend the enlistment of a soldier, retaining the right to resume his proper control over him as an enlisted man at any definite or indefinite period. He may discharge him from the service according to the contract which is made by enlistment, but the right to suspend the contract does not exist upon the part of the Secretary, even with the consent of the soldier. To use the language of Attorney-General Clifford (Op. 4, 538), "The executive department has discretionary authority to discharge before the term of service has expired, but has no power to vary the contract of enlistment." (Op., XV, 362, Devens, Sept. 4, 1877.)

Note 5.—Enlisted men serving within the United States can be discharged by order of the commandant on expiration of enlistment, in pursuance of the sentence of a general or summary court-martial, or by reason of unfitness for service from causes properly ascertained. Special discharges are not issued by the commandant except in cases of urgent necessity, and when, in his opinion, such discharge will not be prejudicial to the interests of the service.

The regulations for the recruiting service of the Army are applied, as far as practicable, to the recruiting service of the Marine Corps. No person is enlisted or reenlisted other than as private, drummer, fifer, or apprentice. Marines will not be enlisted or discharged on foreign stations.

 For disability.
 Aug. 3, 1861, s. 16, v. 12, p. 289.

SEC. 1245. When any officer has become incapable of performing the duties of his office, he shall be either retired from active service, or wholly retired from the service, by the President, as hereinafter provided.

SEC. 1247. The members of said board shall be sworn in every case to discharge their duties honestly and impartially.

Board, and powers and duties of.

SEC. 1248. A retiring board may inquire into and determine the facts touching the nature and occasion of the disability of any officer who appears to be incapable of performing the duties of his office, and shall have such powers of a court-martial and of a court of inquiry as may be necessary for that purpose.

SEC. 1249. When the board finds an officer incapacitated for active service, it shall also find and report the cause which, in its judgment, has produced his incapacity, and whether such cause is an incident of service.

SEC. 1250. The proceedings and decision of the board shall be transmitted to the Secretary of War, and shall be laid by him before the President for his approval or disapproval and orders in the case.

SEC. 1251. When a retiring board finds that an officer is incapacitated for active service, and that his incapacity is the result of an incident of service, and such decision is approved by the President, said officer shall be retired from active service and placed on the list of retired officers.

Note 2.—See Titles "Line officers," "Engineer Corps," "Medical Corps," and "Pay Corps."

SEC. 1252. When the board finds that an officer is incapacitated for active service, and that his incapacity is not the result of any incident of service, and its decision is approved by the President, the officer shall be retired from active service, or wholly retired from the service, as the President may determine. The names of officers wholly retired from the service shall be omitted from the Army Register.

Officers entitled to a hearing.
Aug. 3, 1861, s. 17, v. 12, p. 290.

SEC. 1253. Except in cases where an officer may be retired by the President upon his own application, or by reason of his having served forty-five years, or of his being sixty-two years old, no officer shall be retired from active service, nor shall an officer, in any case, be wholly retired from the service, without a full and fair hearing before an Army retiring board, if, upon due summons, he demands it.

Rights and liabilities.
Aug. 3, 1861, s. 18, v. 12, p. 290.

SEC. 1256. Officers retired from active service shall be entitled to wear the uniform of the rank on which they may be retired. They shall continue to be borne on the Army Register, and shall be subject to the rules and articles of war, and to trial by general court-martial for any breach thereof.

Vacancies.
Ibid., s. 16.

SEC. 1257. When any officer in the line of promotion is retired from active service, the next officer in rank shall be promoted to his place, according to the established rules of the service; and the same rule of promotion shall be applied, successively, to the vacancies consequent upon such retirement.

Rank and pay under certain conditions.

That all officers of the Army who have been heretofore retired by reason of disability arising from wounds received in action shall be considered as retired upon the actual rank held by them, whether in the regular or volunteer service, at the time when such wound was received, and shall be borne on the retired list and receive pay hereafter

Note 3.—An officer of the Army who is "retired from active service" is still in the military service of the United States, and, in addition to the percentage of pay of the rank on which he was retired, is entitled to the 10 per cent allowed by R. S. 1262, 1263 for each term of five years' service. (Otto, 105, 244, Tyler v. U. S.; C. C., XVI, 223.)

accordingly; and this section shall be taken and construed to include those now borne on the retired list placed upon it on account of wounds received in action: Provided, That no part of the foregoing act shall apply to those officers who had been in service as commissioned officers twenty-five years at the date of their retirement; nor to those retired officers who had lost an arm or leg, or has an arm or leg permanently disabled by reason of resection, on account of wounds, or both eyes by reason of wounds received in battle; and every such officer now borne on the retired list shall be continued thereon notwithstanding the provisions of section two [one], chapter thirty-eight, act of March thirty, eighteen hundred and sixty-eight [§ 1223]: And be it also provided, That no retired officer shall be affected by this act, who has been retired or may hereafter be retired on the rank held by him at the time of his retirement; and that all acts or parts of acts inconsistent herewith be, and are hereby, repealed.

Note 4.—Under section 1253 an officer is entitled to appear before the board (with counsel, if desired), and to introduce testimony of his own, and cross-examine the witnesses examined by the board, including the medical members of the board who may have taken part in the medical examination and have stated or reported to the board the result of the same. If the officer does not elect to appear before the board when summoned, he waives the right to a hearing, and can not properly take exception to a conclusion arrived at in his absence. (Winthrop's Digest, p. 432.)

A retired officer in the Army may draw his pay as such, and may also draw the salary of a civil office which he may hold under the Government (not diplomatic or consular), assuming always that the duties of the civil office are performed under and by virtue of a commission appointing him to that office which he holds in addition to his rank as a retired officer. (Op., XV, p. 306, June 11, 1877, Devens. See Op., XV, p. 407, Dec. 11, 1877, on the subject of retired officers accepting positions in the diplomatic or consular service.)

The service only by a new appointment. He can not be reappointed to the retired list, but must first be appointed on the active list to a certain rank. None but a commissioned officer on the active list of the Army can be placed on the retired list. A civilian can not. (Winthrop's Digest, p. 433; Op., XIV, 506.)

The finding of a retiring board under sec. 1521 is in the nature of a recommendation, and until it is "approved by the President" no retirement can be ordered thereupon. (Winthrop, 431.) It does not affect the authority to retire, that the incapacity of the officer may have resulted from a wound received by him while in the volunteer service before entering the Regular Army. (Idem.)

Under section 1252 an officer may, in the discretion of the President, legally be retired by reason of incapacity resulting from habitual drunkenness. (Winthrop's Digest, p. 432.)

Under section 1275 an officer wholly retired is entitled to receive a sum equal to the total of one year's pay and all the pecuniary allowances of an officer of his rank. The fact of being under a sentence of suspension from rank and pay does not affect his right to receive such full sum upon the retirement. (Winthrop's Digest, 432.)

Held, that a retired officer of the Army, though not actively employed, was an "officer in the employment of the Government," in the sense of this statute. Sec. 1782, receiving compensation for services in matters in which the Government is interested. (Winthrop's Digest, p. 434.)

Held, that retired officers of the Army, though relieved in general from active military service, were nevertheless, as a part of the Army, properly exempt from the public obligations peculiar to civilians, and were, therefore, no more liable than officers on the active list to be required to serve on juries. The question, however, of exemption is one for the determination of the courts. Advised, in such a case, that the officer appear before the court, in compliance with the summons, and there urge to the judge the objection arising from his military status to his serving on a civil jury. (Winthrop's Digest, 433.)

Rations to marine officers. C. C., v. 18, p. 625. Reid's Case.

Note 1.—An officer in the Marine Corps, attached to a sea-going vessel, is not entitled to the ration allowed by R. S., sec. 1578, to a naval officer so attached; he is, by R. S., sec. 1612, subjected to the provisions of R. S., sec. 1269. The various statutes prior to the Revised Statutes regulating allowances of rations to officers of the Army, Navy, and Marine Corps are considered and examined in this opinion.

Note 2.—The same provision occurs in previous appropriation acts. See 1893, March 3, ch. 212, and 1894, July 26, ch. 165.

Note 3.—See 1893, March 3, ch. 212, par. 7, p. 131, for previous acts containing this provision. March 3, 1893, rations to enlisted men in the Army are fixed by R. S., sec. 1293, and 1892, July 16, ch. 195, par. 2, p. 37.

Note 3.—This act, taken in connection with section 24 of the act of July 15, 1870, continued to Army officers on leave of absence (during the period for which such leave may be granted them thereunder "without deduction of pay or allowances") quarters in kind, but it did not authorize an allowance of commutation therefor. [See next note.] (Op., XVI, p. 619, Jan. 16, 1879. Phillips.)

Where an officer, to whom leave of absence "without deduction of pay or allowances" has been granted, is at the time he takes his leave entitled to the allowance of commutation for quarters, this allowance must be deemed to be continued to him, by force of that provision, whilst he is on leave of absence, though for a period not exceeding that for which the leave was granted thereunder. (Op., XVI, p. 577; Nov. 15, 1880. Devens.)

Where a military officer is ordered to the headquarters of a department to await further orders, and pursuant to the order remains there for a long period performing no duty, he is nevertheless entitled to quarters or commutation of quarters. (C. C., XIV, p. 148. Lippitt v. U. S.)

All enlisted men mentioned in section twelve hundred and eighty, who, having been honorably discharged, have re-enlisted or shall re-enlist within one month thereafter, shall, after five years' service, including their first enlistment, be paid at the rate allowed in said section to those serving in the fifth year of their first enlistment: Provided, That one dollar per month shall be retained from the pay of the re-enlisted men, of whatever grade, named in section twelve hundred and eighty-one during the whole period of their re-enlistment, to be paid to the soldier on his discharge, but to be forfeited unless he shall have served honestly and faithfully to the date of discharge.

Note 1.—If an officer on leave of absence be ordered to temporary duty at a place where he happens to be, so that the order involves no traveling to the place of temporary duty, and he be kept there until after his leave of absence expires and then ordered to his proper station, he is not entitled to mileage under General Orders 97 of 1876. (C. C., XIV, 272, Barr v. U. S.)

Where an officer has received but not yet accepted leave of absence from the War Department, is ordered by his commanding officer to convey prisoners to another post, his leave of absence is to that extent suspended, and he is entitled to mileage from his post to the place of performance and back. (C. C., XV, 264, Andrew v. U. S.)

An officer's "station" means his permanent station, the place of performance of his military duties, and not a place to which he was temporarily ordered for a special duty and at which he accepted his leave of absence. An officer's station can not be changed by his being ordered to perform a temporary duty while on leave of absence. (Idem.)

SEC. 1284. Every soldier who, having been honorably discharged, re-enlists within one month thereafter, shall be further entitled, after five years' service, including his first enlistment, to receive, for the period of five years next thereafter, two dollars per month in addition to the ordinary pay of his grade; and for each successive period of five years of service, so long as he shall remain continuously in the Army, a further sum of one dollar per month. The past continuous service, of soldiers now in the Army, shall be taken into account, and shall entitle such soldier to additional pay according to this rule; but services rendered prior to August fourth, eighteen hundred and fifty-four, shall in no case be accounted as more than one enlistment.

SEC. 1285. A certificate of merit granted to a private soldier by the President for distinguished services shall entitle him to additional pay, at the rate of two dollars per month, while he remains continuously in the service; and such certificate of merit granted to a private soldier who served in the war with Mexico shall entitle him to such additional pay, although he may not have remained continuously in the service.

Note 2.—The tenth section of the act of March 3, 1875 (ch. 131, v. 18, p. 402), provides that the enlisted musicians of the band shall have the benefits as to pay, arising from re-enlistments and length of service, applicable to other enlisted men of the Army.

Note 3.—This section does not extend to one who was not in the discharge of his duties at the time of his capture, and who contributed to the disaster culpably. (C. C., IV, p. 209. Phelps's Case.)

The sentence of a court-martial, including a forfeiture of all pay due at the time of trial, or to become due thereafter, precludes an officer from a right to receive pay after trial and during his captivity, under the act of March 30, 1814 (sec. 1288, Rev. Stat.).

Note 4.—Held, That the provision in section 1291 that "no assignment of pay by a non-commissioned officer or private previous to his discharge shall be valid" does not preclude a soldier so situated as to be unable to receive his pay in person from giving an order to another person to receive and receipt for the same for him, and that a soldier in the custody of the civil authorities under a criminal charge might legally be paid the amount of pay due him upon an order given by him for the same to the attorney employed to defend him; also, that the pay due an insane officer or soldier might legally be rendered to a person duly appointed as his guardian under the State laws. That instead of forwarding to the accounting officers of the Treasury Department returns of public property entrusted to the possession of officers or agents, the Quartermaster-General, the Commissary-General of Subsistence, the Surgeon-General, the Chief of Engineers, the Chief of Ordnance,

Note 4.—Settlements made of the accounts of individuals by the accounting officers appointed by law, are final and conclusive so far as the Executive Departments are concerned. Aggrieved parties can apply to Congress. (Op., I, 624; II, 302; V, 176.)

Adjusted accounts should not, as a rule, be reopened without authority of law. (Op., II, 625, 640; III, 148, 461, 521; IV, 378; X, 231; XI, 129.)

If duly settled, adjusted, and closed by the proper officers, upon a full knowledge of all the facts, and no errors in calculation have been made, an account can not be reopened without express authority of law. (Op., XII, 386; Browning, Ap. 20, 1868; see also Op., IX, 505.)

According to the general practice of the Treasury, accounts are never closed; and in neither the legal nor mercantile sense of the term is an officer's account with the Treasury ever "finally adjusted." (C. C., XIV, 114.)

The accounting officers in settling accounts and claims have a right to adopt the report of a committee in Congress as establishing the principles which are to govern them in the examination thereof. A bill is considered part of a report, and its passage a virtual adoption thereof. The report is in the light of a preamble to the law. (Op., I, 596.)

There is a difference between the construction placed upon an act by individual members in debate and the opinion of the committee having the matter in charge. Proper to look into the report of the committee in giving construction to ambiguous language in an act. (Op., XIV, 624, Williams, Feb. 21, 1874.)

The rejection of a claim, in whole or in part, by the accounting officers leaves the party free to pursue his remedy at law, viz, an action in the Court of Claims, although he may have accepted the portion allowed. (C. C., XVII, 288.)

A pure matter of account belongs to the Department; does not belong to the Court of Claims until it is within the range of judicial cognizance. Accounting bureaus were organized to settle accounts; the Court of Claims was established to adjudicate claims. Unless a case becomes such as to "involve disputed facts or controverted questions of law," it is an account; when it does it is a claim. (C. C., V, 5, p. 293.)

which do not affect the validity of the voucher, but the officer's attention may be called to them. Whenever the errors have been corrected, or compensation has been made for deficient articles, and the action of the bureau chief is sustained or modified by the Secretary of War, the return will be regarded as settled and the officer who rendered the return will be notified accordingly.

III. If the necessary corrections in the return be not made within the prescribed time the facts will be reported to the Secretary of War. When it has been determined that the money value of the property for which an officer has failed to account shall be refunded to the United States, the facts will be certified to the proper accounting officer of the Treasury by the chief of bureau.

The provisions of the above act and regulations are applicable to all property returns rendered for any period of accountability subsequent to March 31, 1894.

Paragraphs 1327, 1328, 1329, 1330, 1332, and section 7, paragraph 1431, Army Regulations 1889, are hereby revoked.

See sec. 3673, July 31, 1894.

SEC. 273. It shall be the duty of the Comptroller of the Treasury:

First. To examine all accounts settled by the Second, Third, and Fourth Auditors, and certify the balances arising thereon to the Secretary of the Department in which the expenditure has been incurred.

Second. To countersign all warrants drawn by the Secretaries of War and of the Navy, which shall be warranted by law.

Third. To report to the Secretaries of War and of the Navy the official forms to be issued in the different offices for disbursing the public money in those Departments, and the manner and form of keeping and stating the accounts of the persons employed therein.

Fourth. To superintend the preservation of the public accounts subject to his revision.

Power of Second Comptroller as to arrears of pay.

July 4, 1864, s. 3, v. 13, p. 390.

SEC. 274. The Second Comptroller may prescribe rules to govern the payment of arrears of pay due to any petty officer, seaman, or other person not an officer, on board any vessel in the employ of the United States, which has been sunk or destroyed, in case of the death of such petty officer, seaman, or person, to the person designated by law to receive the same.

Fifth. The Fourth Auditor shall receive and examine all accounts accruing in the Navy Department or relative thereto, and all accounts relating to Navy pensions; and, after examination of such accounts, he shall certify the balances, and shall transmit such accounts, with the vouchers and certificate, to the Second Comptroller for his decision thereon.

1864, s. 2, v. 13, p. 223. See note 8.

Note 7.—Fractions of a day are not noticed for legal purposes. If the law authorizes a certain thing to be done within a certain number of days, the first day is excluded from the calculation. Divisions of a day excluded in public proceedings. (Op., IX, 132, Black, Mar. 10, 1858.) Whole quarter of a year means a whole fiscal quarter in accordance with the division of a year used in the Treasury Department from its organization. (Op., III, p. 156, Butler, Oct. 27, 1836.) Two years from and after the 4th of March, 1836, includes the 4th of March, 1838. (Op., III, p. 157, Butler, Nov. 3, 1836.) "From and after," "On and after," are equivalents of each other. (Op., XIV, p. 542, Williams, Mar. 10, 1875.)

Note 8.—"Settled," equivalent in meaning to "finally acted on." A certificate to the Department must be accompanied by the Auditor's action; need not be incorporated in the certificate. (Op., XV, 139, Taft, Aug. 2, 1876; see also 192.)

accounts of the same at the date of such loss, to assume the last quarterly return of the paymaster of any such vessel as the basis for the computation of the subsequent credits to those on board, to the date of such loss, if there be no official evidence to the contrary. Where such quarterly return has, from any cause, not been made, the accounting officers are authorized to adjust and settle such accounts on principles of equity and justice.

SEC. 288. The proper accounting officers of the Treasury Department are authorized, in settling the accounts of the petty officers, seamen, and others, not officers, on board of any vessel in the employ of the United States, which, by any casualty, or in action with the enemy, has been or may be sunk or otherwise destroyed, to allow and pay to each person, not an officer, employed on the vessel so sunk or destroyed, and whose personal effects have been lost, a sum not exceeding sixty dollars. as compensation for the loss of his personal effects.

Compensation for personal effects lost. Idem, s. 2.

SEC. 289. In case of the death of any such petty officer, seaman, or other person, not an officer, such payment shall be made to the widow, child or children; father, mother, or brothers and sisters jointly, following that order of preference; such credits and gratuity to be paid out of any money in the Treasury not otherwise appropriated.

Payment of accounts of deceased petty officers, seamen, etc., of lost vessel. Idem, s. 3. See note 1.

That the proper accounting officers of the Treasury be, and they are hereby, authorized and directed to examine into, ascertain, and determine the value of the private property belonging to officers, petty officers, seamen, and others in the naval service of the United States which has been or may hereafter be lost and destroyed in the naval service by shipwreck or other marine disaster, under the following circumstances:

and all losses that shall hereafter accrue shall be certified by the Secretary of the Treasury at the commencement of each regular session to the Speaker of the House of Representatives who shall lay the same before Congress for consideration, and shall be in full for all such loss or damage:

Report on future losses.

Note 1.—The "legal representatives" of deceased persons are generally their executors or their administrators, but may mean their heirs or next of kin. (Op., III, 29; VII, 60; XIV, 515; C. C., IV, 456; Wallace, XIII, 351.) To insert "marines" and to construe orphans to mean father or mother or brother or sister, would be legislation, not interpretation. (Op., VIII, 28, Aug. 8, 1856, Cushing, on the construction of relief acts.) Where money is due to the heirs of a deceased person and there is a dispute as to the legal descent, the latter question should be decided by the court rather than by the executive officers. (Op. V., 670, Jan. 28, 1853.)

Note 2.—This act makes provisions for the naval service somewhat similar to those made in regard to the Army by 1895, March 3, ch. 335 (1 Supp. R. S., 481).

Claims not to be reopened. Provided, That any claim which shall be presented and acted upon under authority of this Act shall be held as finally determined, and shall never thereafter be reopened or considered:

War losses. And provided further, That this Act shall not apply to losses sustained in time of war:

Limit of liability. And provided further, That the liability of the Government under this Act shall be limited to such articles of personal property as are required by the United States Naval Regulations, and in force at the time of loss or destruction, for such officers, petty officers, seamen, or others engaged in the public service, in the line of duty:

Amounts deducted. And provided further, That the amounts which have been paid to persons in the naval service under sections two hundred and eighty-eight, two hundred and eighty-nine, and two hundred and ninety of the Revised Statutes shall be deducted in the settlement of all claims under this Act:

R. S., secs. 288-290. And provided further, That the value of the article or articles lost or destroyed shall be their value at the date of loss or destruction:

Determining value. And provided further, That all claims now existing shall be presented within two years, and not after, from the passage of this Act; and all such claims hereafter arising be presented within two years from the occurrence of the loss or destruction.

To be presented in two years. That nothing in this Act shall be construed to authorize the reopening or payment of any claims for losses of private property on vessels sunk or otherwise destroyed prior to August twentieth, eighteen hundred and eighty-four.

Claims barred. SEC. 290. In case any officer of the Navy or Marine Corps on board a vessel in the employ of the United States which, by any casualty, or in action with the enemy, at any time since the nineteenth day of April, eighteen hundred and sixty-one, has been or may be sunk or destroyed, shall thereby have lost his personal effects, without negligence or want of skill or foresight on his part, the proper accounting officers are authorized, with the approval of the Secretary of the Navy, to allow to such officer a sum not exceeding the amount of his sea-pay for one month as compensation for such loss. But the accounting officers shall in all cases require a schedule and certificate from the officer making the claim for effects so lost.

Allowance for effects of officer of lost vessel. Apr. 6, 1866, s. 1, v. 14, p. 14. For continuation of pay to officers and crews of lost vessels, see secs. 1574 and 1575, Pay and Allowances, Division 1.

The head of each Department, in submitting to Congress his estimates of expenditures required in his Department during the year then approaching, shall designate not only the amount required to be appropriated for the next fiscal year, but also the amount of the outstanding appropriation, if there be any, which will probably be required for each particular item of expenditure.

SEC. 3666. The estimates for expenditures required by the Department of the Navy for the following purposes shall be given in detail, and the expenditures made under appropriations therefor shall be accounted for so as to show the disbursements of each Bureau under each respective appropriation:

First. Freight and transportation.

Second. Printing and stationery.

Third. Advertising in newspapers.

Fourth. Books, maps, models, and drawings.

Fifth. Purchase and repair of fire-engines and machinery.

Sixth. Repairs of and attending to steam-engine in navy-yards.

Seventh. Purchase and maintenance of horses and oxen, and driving teams.

Eighth. Carts, timber-wheels, and the purchase and repair of workmen's tools.

Ninth. Postage of public letters.

Tenth. Fuel, oil, and candles for navy-yards and shore-stations.

Eleventh. Pay of watchmen and incidental labor not chargeable to any other appropriation.

Twelfth. Transportation to, and labor attending the delivery of provisions and stores on foreign stations.

Thirteenth. Wharfage, dockage, and rent.

Fourteenth. Traveling expenses of officers and others under orders.

Fifteenth. Funeral expenses.

Sixteenth. Store and office rent, fuel, commissions, and pay of clerks to navy-agents and store-keepers.

Seventeenth. Flags, awnings, and packing-boxes.

Eighteenth. Premiums and other expenses of recruiting.

Nineteenth. Apprehending deserters.

Twentieth. Per-diem pay to persons attending courts-martial, courts of inquiry, and other services authorized by law.

Twentieth-first. Pilotage and towage of vessels, and assistance to vessels in distress.

Twentieth-second. Bills of health and quarantine expenses of vessels of the United States Navy in foreign ports.

Hereafter the estimates for pay of the Navy shall be submitted in the book of estimates in detailed classifications and paragraphs, after the manner above set forth.

priated.

That the Secretary of the Navy be, and he is hereby, authorized to issue his requisitions for advances to disbursing officers and agents of the Navy under a "General account of advances," not to exceed the total appropriation for the Navy, the amount so advanced to be exclusively used to pay current obligations upon proper vouchers and that "Pay of the Navy" shall hereafter be used only for its legitimate purpose, as provided by law.

SEC. 2. That the amount so advanced be charged to the proper, appropriations, and returned to "General account of advances" by pay and counter warrant; the said charge, however to particular appropriations, shall be limited to the amount appropriated to each.

SEC. 3. That the Fourth Auditor shall declare the sums due from the several special appropriations upon complete vouchers, as heretofore, according to law; and he shall adjust the said liabilities with the "General account of advances."

SEC. 3675. All warrants drawn by the Secretary of the Treasury, upon the Treasurer of the United States, shall specify the particular appropriation to which the same should be charged; and the moneys paid by virtue of such warrants shall, in conformity therewith, be charged to such appropriation in the books of the Secretary, First Comptroller, and Register.

SEC. 3676. All appropriations for specific, general, and contingent expenses of the Navy Department shall be under the control and expended by the direction of the Secretary of the Navy, and the appropriation for each Bureau shall be kept separate in the Treasury.

And hereafter the accounting officers of the Treasury are hereby authorized to credit appropriation "Pay miscellaneous," with all receipts for interest on the account of the Navy Department with the London fiscal agents, premiums arising from sales of bills of exchange, and from any appreciation in the value of foreign coin.

SEC. 3678. All sums appropriated for the various branches of expenditure in the public service shall be applied solely erly incurred within the year, and upon contracts made within the year, but not performed until later. Appropriations which in terms are for one year can not be used for payment of expenses not incurred in the year. Money can not be taken by counter requisition to settle old accounts. (Op., XIII, 289, July 27, 1870, Akerman.)

Note 3.—The Secretary of the Navy can draw on the contingent fund for purposes of a contingent character—that is, such as might or might not happen, and which Congress could not easily foresee, and therefore could not provide for definitely. (Op., I, 302, Wirt.)

The words "Contingent expenses," as used in the appropriation acts, mean such incidental, casual expenses as are necessary, or at least appropriate and convenient, in order to the performance of the duties required by law of the Department or the office for which the appropriation is made. (Op., XVI, 412, Devens, Dec. 19, 1879.)

The appropriations for "Contingent of the bureaus (Civil)" are merged with that for the Secretary's Office by legislative act approved March 3, 1883.

Damages occasioned by collision in which a naval vessel is at fault, even when occurring in foreign waters, are not a proper charge against the contingent fund or any other regular appropriation. Special authority of Congress must be obtained before payments on such account will be allowed by the accounting officers.

Note 4.—Section 3678 extends only to such cases as relate to "proceeds of sales"—receipts which are in the nature of revenue belonging to no appropriation, and not available for expenditure without authority from Congress. It does not prohibit one Department from supplying articles to another, and the transfer of appropriations to make reimbursements. (Op., Dec. 20, 1882, Brewster.)

Section 3678 makes unlawful the diversion of funds appropriated for one object of expenditure to another object of expenditure, and forbids an appropriation for any purpose to be thus enlarged beyond the amount thereof, as fixed by Congress. The furnishing of articles by one Department to another, and subsequent reimbursements by transfer of appropriation, not a diversion or an enlargement contemplated by this section. SEC. 3691. All balances of appropriations which shall have remained on the books of the Treasury, without being drawn against in the settlement of accounts, for two years from the date of the last appropriation made by law, shall be reported by the Secretary of the Treasury to the Auditor of the Treasury, whose duty it is to settle accounts thereunder, and the Auditor shall examine the books of his Office, and certify to the Secretary whether such balances will be required in the settlement of any accounts pending in his Office; and if it appears that such balances will not be required for this purpose, then the Secretary may include such balances in his surplus-fund warrant, whether the head of the proper Department shall have certified that it may be carried into the general Treasury or not. But no appropriation for the payment of the interest or principal of the public debt, or to which a longer duration is given by law, shall be thus treated.

July 26, 1886.

All balances of moneys appropriated for the pay of the Navy or pay of the Marine Corps, for any year existing after the accounts for said year shall have been settled shall be covered into the Treasury.

From and after the passage of this act, it shall be the duty of the Secretary of the Treasury to transmit to Congress, annually, a tabular statement showing in detail the receipts and expenditures in the naval service under each appropriation, as made up and determined by the proper officers of the Treasury Department, upon the accounts of disbursing officers rendered for settlement.

June 19, 1878.

Tabular statement of Navy appropriations and expenditures.

There shall be appended to this statement an account of balances in the hands of disbursing agents at the close of each fiscal year, and a report of any amounts lost or unaccounted for by voucher.

Statement of balances in hands of the disbursing officers, and amounts lost.
June 19, 1878, ch. 312, ss. 1, 2, v. 20, p. 167.

Note 6.—This section was adopted, after the fullest consideration by Congress, expressly to cut off the payment of accrued claims by covering into the Treasury, after two years, the balance of the appropriation from which they might have been paid. The plain purpose of this act was to confine the officers of the Government to the allowance and payment of liabilities within three fiscal years. Decision of the Secretary of the Treasury, April 20, 1877. The use of appropriations is discussed in this decision.

Note 1.—No allowance can be made for any commission or inquiry, except military or naval, until special appropriations are made by Congress for the purpose. (Op., IV, 106, Oct. 25, 1842, Legare.)

An Executive Department being charged with the duty of seeing that the laws are faithfully executed, has authority to appoint commissioners or agents to make investigations required by acts or resolutions of Congress, but it can not pay them except from an appropriation for that purpose. (Op., IV, 248, Nelson, Sept. 21, 1843.)

An authority of a special agent appointed to do a particular act must be limited to that act and to such acts as are necessary to the performance of it. (Op., XI, 521.)

The Government is not bound by the act or declaration of its agent unless it manifestly appears that he acted within the scope of his authority, or was employed in his capacity as a public agent to do the act or make the declaration for it. (Otto, 93, p. 247. See C. C., II, 599; IV, 401, and VII, 65, and Wallace, VII, 666, as to the power of agents.)

SEC. 1753. The President is authorized to prescribe such regulations for the admission of persons into the civil service of the United States as may best promote the efficiency thereof, and ascertain the fitness of each candidate in respect to age, health, character, knowledge, and ability for the branch of service into which he seeks to enter; and for this purpose he may employ suitable persons to conduct such inquiries, and may prescribe their duties, and establish regulations for the conduct of persons who may receive appointments in the civil service.

President to regulate admissions to the civil service. Mar. 3, 1871, a. 9, v. 16, p. 514.

The President is authorized to appoint, by and with the advice and consent of the Senate, three persons, not more than two of whom shall be adherents of the same party, as Civil Service Commissioners, and said three commissioners shall constitute the United States Civil Service Commission. Said commissioners shall hold no other official place under the United States.

Jan. 16, 1883.

22 Stat. L., 403. Appointment of Civil Service Commissioners.

The President may remove any commissioner; and any vacancy in the position of commissioner shall be so filled by the President, by and with the advice and consent of the Senate, as to conform to said conditions for the first selection of commissioners.

The commissioners shall each receive a salary of three thousand five hundred dollars a year. And each of said commissioners shall be paid his necessary traveling expenses incurred in the discharge of his duty as a commissioner.

Salary and expenses.

SEC. 2. That it shall be the duty of said commissioners:

Duty of the commissioners.

FIRST. To aid the President, as he may request, in preparing suitable rules for carrying this act into effect, and when said rules shall have been promulgated it shall be the duty of all officers of the United States in the Departments and offices to which any such rules may relate to aid, in all proper ways, in carrying said rules, and any modifications thereof, into effect.

SECOND. And, among other things, said rules shall provide and declare, as nearly as the conditions of good administration will warrant, as follows:

Rules for civil service act.

First, for open, competitive examinations for testing the fitness of applicants for the public service now classified or

Note 4.—Civil officers are usually divided into three classes: political, judicial and ministerial. But persons actually and properly employed in the Executive Departments or in Bureaus or Divisions thereof, by an officer charged with that duty and authorized by law to fix their compensation, are persons in the civil service. (Wallace, XIII, 568; C. C., VII, 290.)

Laborers, mechanics, machinists, etc., in navy-yards, paid by the day, are civil employees within the meaning of the 20 per cent acts. Printers paid by the em or note engravers by the pièce are not. (Wallace, XX, 179; C. C., IX, 104.)

to be classified hereunder. Such examinations shall be practical in their character, and so far as may be shall relate to those matters which will fairly test the relative capacity and fitness of the persons examined to discharge the duties of the service into which they seek to be appointed.

Second, that all the offices, places, and employments so arranged or to be arranged in classes shall be filled by selections according to grade from among those graded highest as the results of such competitive examinations.

Third, appointments to the public service aforesaid in the Departments at Washington shall be apportioned among the several States and Territories and the District of Columbia upon the basis of population as ascertained at the last preceding census. Every application for an examination shall contain, among other things, a statement, under oath, setting forth his or her actual bona fide residence at the time of making the application, as well as how long he or she has been a resident of such place.

Fourth, that there shall be a period of probation before any absolute appointment or employment aforesaid.

Fifth, that no person in the public service is for that reason under any obligations to contribute to any political fund, or to render any political service, and that he will not be removed or otherwise prejudiced for refusing to do so.

Sixth, that no person in said service has any right to use his official authority or influence to coerce the political action of any person or body.

Seventh, there shall be non-competitive examinations in all proper cases before the commission, when competent persons do not compete, after notice has been given of the existence of the vacancy, under such rules as may be prescribed by the commissioners as to the manner of giving notice.

Eighth, that notice shall be given in writing by the appointing power to said commission of the persons selected for appointment or employment from among those who have been examined, of the place of residence of such persons, of the rejection of any such persons after probation, of transfers, resignations, and removals, and of the date thereof, and a record of the same shall be kept by said commission. And any necessary exceptions from said eight fundamental provisions of the rules shall be set forth in connection with such rules, and the reasons therefor shall be stated in the annual reports of the commission.

THIRD. Said commission shall, subject to the rules that may be made by the President, make regulations for, and have control of, such examinations, and, through its members or the examiners, it shall supervise and preserve the records of the same; and said commission shall keep minutes of its own proceedings.

FOURTH. Said commission may make investigations concerning the facts, and may report upon all matters touching the enforcement and effects of said rules and regulations, and concerning the action of any examiner or board of examiners hereinafter provided for, and its own subordinates, and those in the public service, in respect to the execution of this act.

FIFTH. Said commission shall make an annual report to the President for transmission to Congress, showing its own action, the rules and regulations and the exceptions thereto in force, the practical effects thereof, and any suggestions it may approve for the more effectual accomplishment of the purposes of this act.

SEC. 3. * * * The commission shall, at Washington, and in one or more places in each State and Territory where examinations are to take place, designate and select a suitable number of persons, not less than three, in the official service of the United States, residing in said State or Territory, after consulting the head of the Department or office in which such persons serve, to be members of boards of examiners, and may at any time substitute any other person in said service living in such State or Territory in the place of any one so selected. Such boards of examiners shall be so located as to make it reasonably convenient and inexpensive for applicants to attend before them; and where there are persons to be examined in any State or Territory, examinations shall be held therein at least twice in each year. It shall be the duty of the collector, postmaster, and other officers of the United States, at any place outside of the District of Columbia where examinations are directed by the President or by said board to be held, to allow the reasonable use of the public buildings for holding such examinations, and in all proper ways to facilitate the same.

Places of meeting and boards of examiners.

* * * * *
SEC. 5. That any said commissioner, examiner, copyist, or messenger, or any person in the public service who shall willfully and corruptly, by himself or in co-operation with one or more other persons, defeat, deceive, or obstruct any person in respect of his or her right of examination according to any such rules or regulations, or who shall willfully, corruptly, and falsely mark, grade, estimate, or report upon the examination or proper standing of any person examined hereunder, or aid in so doing, or who shall willfully and corruptly make any false representations concerning the same or concerning the person examined, or who shall willfully and corruptly furnish to any person any special or secret information for the purpose of either improving or injuring the prospects or chances of any person so examined, or to be examined, being appointed, employed, or promoted, shall for each such offense be deemed guilty of a misdemeanor, and upon conviction thereof, shall be punished by a fine of not less than one hundred dollars, nor more than one thousand dollars, or by imprisonment not less than ten days, nor more than one year, or by both such fine and imprisonment.

Penalty for corruptly defeating the objects of the commission.

SEC. 6. * * * Third. That from time to time each of the heads of Departments mentioned in the one hundred and fifty-eighth section of the Revised Statutes [the 7 principal Departments] and each head of an office, Revision, classification, and arrangement of clerks by the heads of Departments.

shall, on the direction of the President, and for facilitating the execution of this act, respectively revise any then existing classification or arrangement of those in their respective Departments and offices, and shall, for the purposes of the examination herein provided for, include in one or more of such classes, so far as practicable, subordinate places, clerks, and officers in the public service pertaining to their respective Departments not before classified for examination.

Persons subject to and exempt from the rules.

SEC. 7. That after the expiration of six months from the passage of this act no officer or clerk shall be appointed, and no person shall be employed to enter or be promoted in either of the said classes now existing, or that may be arranged hereunder pursuant to said rules, until he has passed an examination, or is shown to be specially exempted from such examination in conformity herewith. But nothing herein contained shall be construed to take from those honorably discharged from the military or naval service any preference conferred by the seventeen hundred and fifty-fourth section of the Revised Statutes, nor to take from the President any authority not inconsistent with this act conferred by the seventeen hundred and fifty-third section of said statutes; nor shall any officer not in the executive branch of the Government, or any person merely employed as a laborer or workman, be required to be classified hereunder; nor, unless by direction of the Senate, shall any person who has been nominated for confirmation by the Senate, be required to be classified or to pass an examination.

Habitual use of intoxicating beverages a bar against appointment.

SEC. 8. That no person habitually using intoxicating beverages to excess shall be appointed to, or retained in, any office, appointment, or employment to which the provisions of this act are applicable.

Not more than two of a family eligible.

SEC. 9. That whenever there are already two or more members of a family in the public service in the grades covered by this act, no other member of such family shall be eligible to appointment to any of said grades.

Recommendations of Congressmen not to be received, except, etc.

That no Senator, or Representative, or Territorial Delegate of the Congress, or Senator, Representative, or Delegate elect, or any officer or employee of either of said houses, and no executive, judicial, military, or naval officer of the United States, and no clerk or employee of any department, branch or bureau of the executive, judicial, or military or naval service of the United States, shall, directly or indirectly, solicit or receive, or be in any manner concerned in soliciting or receiving, any assessment, subscription, or contribution for any political purpose whatever, from any officer, clerk, or employee of the United States, or any department, branch, or bureau thereof, or from any person receiving any salary or compensation from moneys derived from the Treasury of the United States.

SEC. 12. That no person shall, in any room or building occupied in the discharge of official duties by any officer or employee of the United States mentioned in this act, or in any navy-yard, fort, or arsenal, solicit in any manner whatever, or receive any contribution of money or any other thing of value for any political purpose whatever.

—nor received in public offices.

SEC. 13. No officer or employee of the United States mentioned in this act shall discharge, or promote, or degrade, or in manner change the official rank or compensation of any other officer or employee, or promise or threaten so to do, for giving or withholding or neglecting to make any contribution of money or other valuable thing for any political purpose.

Immunity from official proscription, etc.

SEC. 14. That no officer, clerk, or other person in the service of the United States shall, directly or indirectly, give or hand over to any other officer, clerk, or person in the service of the United States, or to any Senator or Member of the House of Representatives, or Territorial Delegate, any money or other valuable thing on account of or to be applied to the promotion of any political object whatever.

Giving money, etc., to officials for political purposes prohibited. 106 U. S., 371.

SEC. 15. That any person who shall be guilty of violating any provision of the four foregoing sections shall be deemed guilty of a misdemeanor, and shall, on conviction thereof, be punished by a fine not exceeding five thousand dollars, or by imprisonment for a term not exceeding three years, or by such fine and imprisonment both, in the discretion of the court.

Penalty.

granted by the heads thereof, which shall not exceed thirty days in any one year, except in case of sickness, shall be without pay.

SEC. 5. That all acts or parts of acts inconsistent or in conflict with the provisions of this act are hereby repealed.

Mar. 3, 1893, sec. 5, Supp. R. S. 1893-1895.

Seven hours of labor required of clerks in Departments.

20 A. G. Op., p. 607.

That on and after July first, eighteen hundred and ninety-three, it shall be the duty of the heads of the several Executive Departments, in the interest of the public service, to require of all clerks and other employes of whatever grade or class, in their respective departments, not less than seven hours of labor each day, except Sundays and days declared public holidays by law or executive order:

Mar. 3, 1883, ch. 128, sec. 4 (1 Supp. R. S., 409).

May be extended or limited.

Provided, That the heads of the Department may by special order, stating the reason, further extend or limit the hours of service of any clerk or employe in their Departments, respectively; but in case of an extension it shall be without additional compensation:

Annual and sick leave with pay.

And provided further, That the head of any Department may grant thirty days annual and thirty days sick leave with pay in any one year, to each clerk or employe, the sick leave to be allowed in cases of personal illness only, or where some member of the immediate family is afflicted with a contagious disease, and requires the care and attendance of such employe, or where his or her presence in the Department would jeopardize the health of fellow clerks:

Extension of sick leave; limit.

And be it further provided, That in exceptional and meritorious cases, where to limit such sick leave would work peculiar hardship, it may be extended, in the discretion of the head of the Department, with pay not exceeding sixty days in any one case or in any one calendar year.

Pay to stop at expiration of granted leave.

This section shall not be construed to mean that so long as a clerk or employe is borne upon the rolls of the Department in excess of the time herein provided for or granted, that he or she shall be entitled to pay during the period of such excessive absence, but that the pay shall stop upon the expiration of the granted leave.

Repeal.

Chief clerks to supervise subordinate clerks
Aug. 26, 1842, s.
13, p. 525.

SEC. 173. Each chief clerk in the several Departments, and Bureaus, and other offices connected with the Departments, shall supervise, under the direction of his immediate superior, the duties of the other clerks therein, and see that they are faithfully performed.

Chief clerks to distribute duties, etc.

Idem.

SEC. 174. Each chief clerk shall take care, from time to time, that the duties of the other clerks are distributed with equality and uniformity, according to the nature of the case. He shall revise such distribution from time to time, for the purpose of correcting any tendency to undue accumulation or reduction of duties, whether arising from individual negligence or incapacity, or from increase or diminution of particular kinds of business. And he shall report monthly to his superior officer any existing defect that he may be aware of in the arrangement or dispatch of business.

Duty of chief on receipt of report.

Idem.

SEC. 175. Each head of a Department, chief of a Bureau, or other superior officer, shall, upon receiving each monthly report of his chief clerk, rendered pursuant to the preceding section, examine the facts stated therein, and take such measures, in the exercise of the powers conferred upon him by law, as may be necessary and proper to amend any existing defects in the arrangement or dispatch of business disclosed by such report.

tendent of State,
War, and Navy Department building, under

SEC. 176. The disbursing clerks authorized by law in the several Departments shall be appointed by the heads of the respective Departments, from clerks of the fourth class; and shall each give a bond to the United States for the faithful discharge of the duties of his office according to law in such amount as shall be directed by the Secretary of the Treasury, and with sureties to the satisfaction of the Solicitor of the Treasury; and shall from time to time renew, strengthen, and increase his official bond, as the Secretary of the Treasury may direct. Each disbursing clerk, except the disbursing clerk of the Treasury Department, must, when directed so to do by the head of the Department, superintend the building occupied by his Department. Each disbursing clerk is entitled to receive, in compensation for his services in disbursing, such sum in addition to his salary as a clerk of the fourth class as shall make his whole annual compensation two thousand dollars a year.

SEC. 194. The head of each Department shall make an annual report to Congress of the names of the clerks and other persons that have been employed in his Department and the offices thereof; stating the time that each clerk or other person was actually employed, and the sums paid to each; also, whether they have been usefully employed; whether the services of any of them can be dispensed with without detriment to the public service, and whether the removal of any individuals, and the appointment of others in their stead, is required for the better dispatch of business.

Report of clerks employed. Aug. 26, 1842 s. 11, v. 5, p. 525.

SEC. 195. Except where a different time is expressly prescribed by law, the various annual reports required to be submitted to Congress by the heads of Departments shall be made at the commencement of each regular session and shall embrace the transactions of the preceding year.

Time of submitting annual reports. Various acts of Congress.

SEC. 198. The head of each Department shall, as soon as practicable after the first day in July in each year in which a new Congress is to assemble, cause to be filed in the Department of the Interior a full and complete list of all officers, agents, clerks, and employees employed in his Department, or in any of the offices or Bureaus connected therewith. He shall include in such list all the statistics peculiar to his Department required to enable the Secretary of the Interior to prepare the Biennial Register.

SEC. 1787. Every person who knowingly accepts or holds any office under the United States, or any State, to which he is ineligible under the third section of the fourteenth article of amendment of the Constitution, or who attempts to hold or exercise the duties of any such office, shall be deemed guilty of a misdemeanor, and shall be imprisoned not more than one year, or fined not more than one thousand dollars, or both.

Note 3.—Functionaries of the Government in all of its Departments, civil or military, supreme or subordinate, general or provincial, political or municipal, are undoubtedly public officers. (Op., VIII, 107, Cushing, Sept. 30, 1856.)

No public officer has authority to enter into a submission on behalf of the United States which will be binding, unless the power be given by statute. (U. S. v. Ames, 1 Woodbury & Miuot, p. 76, B. F. D.)

The acts of a public officer, on public matters within his jurisdiction and where he has a discretion, are presumed to be legal until the contrary be shown. (Miller v. Dinsman, 7 Howard, p. 89, B. F. D.)

Where a particular authority is confided to a public officer, to be exercised in his discretion, upon an examination of facts, of which he is the appropriate judge, his decision thereon, in the absence of any controlling provision, is absolutely final. (Allen v. Blunt, 3 Story's Reports, 742, B. F. D.)

The executive officers of the Government are personally liable at law for damages, in the ordinary form of action, for illegal official ministerial acts or omissions, to the injury of an individual. (Brightley Federal Digest, p. 597. Cites authorities.)

A public officer, sued for an illegal act, can not justify under the instructions of the head of an Executive Department.

An officer is responsible in damages for an illegal act done under instructions of a superior, but the Government is bound to indemnify him.

Where a statute imposes a particular duty upon an executive officer and he has acted (performed his duty according to the understanding of the statute), there is no appeal from his action to the President or to any other executive officer, unless such appeal is provided for by law. (Op., XVI, 317, Devens, May 2, 1879.)

Usages have been established in every Department of the Government, which have become a kind of common law, and regulate the rights and duties of those who act within their respective limits. And no such change of usage can have a retrospective effect, but must be limited to the future. Usage can not alter the law, but it is evidence of the construction given to it, and must be considered binding on past transactions. (VII, Peters, 1-14, cited by Cushing; Op., VIII, 7.)

An Executive Department has no right to omit or delay the discharge of the duties imposed upon it by law, at the request of a committee of a House of Congress; it can only pay attention to such a request when it affects a discretionary power. (Op., XIII, 113, Hoar, June 22, 1869.)

No process issued under the authority of a State government can obstruct, directly, or indirectly, the operations of the Government of the United States. (Op., XV, 524.)

Where an officer of the United States is acting for the Government in any transaction, the benefits of which are to the Government, or where the end is to protect the interests of the Government, there seems to be good ground why the Government should interpose and assume his defense in case he is sued on account of such proceedings. (Op., XIV, 189, Williams, 20 Feb., 1873.)

The orders of the head of an Executive Department, in reference to matters within its general supervision and control, are in contemplation of law those of the President, and have the same binding effect. (Otto, 101, p. 755; Wolsey v. Chapman, see 13 Peters, 498; Wilcox v. Jackson; also Op., IX, 463, and XI, 400.)

It is a settled rule of administrative practice that the official acts of a previous administration are to be considered by its successors as final so far as the Executive is concerned. (Op., XV, 208.) The Secretary of the Interior should not review the decision of his predecessor, no new facts having been presented. Principle of res adjudicata applies. (Op., XV, 315, Devens; see also Op., VIII, 214, and V, 29.) The well-considered decision of the head of a Department ought only to be reversed upon clear evidence of mistake or wrong. (Op., X, 63.)

Congress, in case of appointments, may provide that certain acts shall be done by the appointee before he shall enter on the possession of his office under his appointment. These acts then become conditions precedent to the complete investiture of the office. (U. S. v. LeBaron, 19 Howard, 78.)

In a matter which the law confides to the pure discretion of the Executive, the decision by the President or the proper head of the Department, of any question of fact involved, is conclusive and is not subject to revision by any authority in the United States. (Op., VI, 226, Cushing, Nov. 23, 1853.)

The lawful will of the President may be announced and an act in the authority of the President be performed, not only by a head of a Department, but in the second or other degree of delegation by some officer subordinate to such head. (Op., VII, 453, Cushing, Aug. 31, 1855. See this opinion for a full discussion of the relation of the President to the Executive Departments.)

A public officer is not liable to an action for an honest mistake made in a matter where he was obliged to exercise his judgment, though an individual may thereby suffer. (Kendall v. Stokes, 3 Howard, 87. B. F. D.)

The power of pardon, conferred by the Constitution on the President, is unlimited except in case of impeachment. It extends to every offense known to the law, and may be exercised at any time after its commission, either before legal proceedings are taken or during their pendency, or after conviction and judgment. The power is not subject to legislative control. A pardon reaches the punishment prescribed for the offense and the guilt of the offender. If granted before conviction it pre-

There is only this limitation to its operation—it does not restore offices forfeited or property or interests vested in others in consequence of the conviction and judgment. (S. C., Wallace, 4, p. 334, Dec., 1866.)

Fines and penalties, where they have not been actually covered into the Treasury, are restorable under a full pardon. (Op., XVI, p. 3, Apr. 29, 1878, Devens. See also Op., XIV, June 28, 1872, Williams; XII, 81, Stanbery; VIII, p. 281, Cushing; Holt's Digest, p. 261.)

The pardon of a deceased officer or soldier is impracticable for the reason that it is essential to the validity of a pardon that it should be accepted. A pardon, like a deed, must be delivered to and accepted by the party to whom it is granted in order to be valid. (Holt's Digest, p. 262, cites U. S. v. Wilson, 7 Peters, 150.)

A remission of the penalty by a pardon by the President will restore an officer whose rank has been reduced by sentence of a court-martial to his former relative rank according to the date of his commission. [Case of an officer reduced in rank by having his name placed lower down on the list of officers of the same grade. The officer loses such opportunities for promotion as may in the meantime have occurred.] (Op., XII, p. 547, Jan. 22, 1869, Evarts.)

The pardoning power of the President can not reach an executed sentence which has been regularly imposed by a competent court. When a sentence has been executed in part he can remit the remainder. (Holt's Digest, p. 260.)

For a statement of the principal grounds on which the Judge-Advocate-General of the Army has favored pardon or remission of the unexpired punishments of soldiers, see Winthrop's Digest, pages 359-360.

An application for a pardon was addressed to the President and referred to the War Department. The latter asked the opinion of the Attorney-General on the subject, who declined to give it, as it would only be advising the Secretary of War what to advise the President. (Op., XIV, p. 20, Mar. 23, 1872, Williams.)

The general power of pardoning by the President includes the power of pardoning conditionally, or of commuting to a milder punishment that which has been adjudged against the offender. The commutation of the President is but a conditional pardon, and that the President may grant such a conditional pardon has been always recognized and decided. (Op., V, 368, May 10, 1851, Crittenden, cites U. S. v. Wilson 7 Peters, 153.)

Note 1.—Where the law imposes on officers the examination and settlement of claims, it gives them the authority to require that the claim shall be established, or supported at least, by oaths of witnesses. (Op., XIV, Williams, July 23, 1874.)

Note 2.—Under sec. 848, R. S., for each day's attendance in court or before any officer, pursuant to law, a witness is allowed one dollar and fifty cents, and five cents a mile for going from his place of residence to the place of trial or hearing, and five cents a mile for returning. When subpœnaed in more than one cause between the same parties, at the same court, only one travel fee and one per diem compensation for attendance shall be allowed. If any witness, after being duly served with such subpœna, neglects or refuses to appear, or, appearing, refuses to testify, the judge of the district in which the subpœna issued may proceed, upon proper process, to enforce obedience to the subpœna, or to punish the disobedience, in like manner as any court of the United States may do in case of process of subpœna ad testificandum issued by such court.

Whenever any head of a Department or Bureau having made application pursuant to section one hundred and eighty-four, for a subpœna to procure the attendance of a witness to be examined, is of opinion that the interests of the United States require the attendance of counsel at the examination, or require legal investigation of any claim pending in his Department or Bureau, he shall give notice thereof to the Attorney-General, and of all facts necessary to enable the Attorney-General to furnish proper professional service in attending such examination, or making such investigation, and it shall be the duty of the Attorney-General to provide for such service.

See note 4.

SEC. 236. All claims and demands whatever by the United States, or against them, and all accounts whatever in which the United States are concerned, either as debtors or as creditors, shall be settled and adjusted in the Department of the Treasury.

Note 3.—By the act of July 11, 1864, a member of Congress elect is, previous to as well as after taking the oath of office, debarred from acting as counsel for parties, and from prosecuting claims against the Government before any Department, court-martial, bureau, office, or any civil, naval, or military commission, if he has received, or has agreed to receive any compensation whatever, directly or indirectly, therefor. (Op., XIV, 133, Williams, Nov. 2, 1872.)

Note 4.—Services voluntarily rendered, however valuable, and however strongly they may appeal to the liberality and equity of the Government, can not be said to give the party who renders them a legal right to compensation. The person must have been duly appointed to some office, or duly employed in some duty recognized by law. (Op., III, 357, Butler, Aug. 13, 1838.)

Services voluntarily performed without contract for compensation create no legal liability. (C. C., XIII.)

An agent who received payment on a claim in good faith and paid it over to his principal before informed of a mistake made, is not liable. The principal is liable either at the suit of the rightful claimant or of the United States. The officer of the Treasury who made the mistake is legally chargeable with the amount, to be passed to his credit on recovering the money. The rightful owner does not lose his right to be paid out of any moneys in the Treasury not otherwise appropriated, as the law authorized. (Op., XVI, 193, Devens, Oct. 23, 1878; see also Op., IV, 298, 307; V, 183.)

Claims against the Government which are disputed by the officers authorized to adjust such accounts may be compromised. If the claimant voluntarily enters into such a compromise, accepting a smaller sum than his demand and giving a receipt in full for the whole, he is bound by the adjustment. (C. C., v. 8, p. 134, Sweney's Case.)

Where Congress appropriated a certain sum to pay a claimant, and the head of a Department found a less sum due and paid the latter, the appropriation was exhausted when the amount awarded was paid. A succeeding Secretary has no jurisdiction to award claimant an additional sum. (Op., IX, 451, Black, July 20, 1860; see also Op., X, 238, Bates, Apr. 29, 1862.)

If funds to pay a claim are sent at request of claimant, by express, the claim is

SEC. 3469. Upon a report by a district attorney, or any special attorney or agent having charge of any claim in favor of the United States, showing in detail the condition of such claim, and the terms upon which the same may be compromised, and recommending that it be compromised upon the terms so offered, and upon the recommendation of the Solicitor of the Treasury, the Secretary of the Treasury is authorized to compromise such claim accordingly. But the provisions of this section shall not apply to any claim arising under the postal laws.

SEC. 3477. All transfers and assignments made of any claim upon the United States, or of any part or share thereof, or interest therein, whether absolute or conditional, and whatever may be the consideration therefor, and all powers of attorney, orders, or other authorities for receiving payment of any such claim, or of any part or share thereof, shall be absolutely null and void, unless they are freely made and executed in the presence of at least two attesting witnesses, after the allowance of such a claim, the ascertainment of the amount due, and the issuing of a warrant for the payment thereof. Such transfers, assignments, and powers of attorney, must recite the warrant for payment, and must be acknowledged by the person making them, before an officer having authority to take acknowledgments of deeds, and shall be certified by the officer; and it must appear by the certificate that the officer, at the time of the acknowledgment, read and fully explained the transfer, assignment, or warrant of attorney to the person acknowledging the same.

thereby discharged, whether the funds were received or not. If sent by draft, at his request, claim subsists, unless draft has been paid [to proper party]. A disbursing agent remitting funds due claimant, to his attorney, under instructions from the attorney, given without the knowledge or consent of the claimant, which were not paid over, would be liable to the Government and the Government to the claimant. (Op., XIV, 485, Williams, Oct. 29, 1874.)

Where Congress directs the "adjustment and settlement" of a claim "according to the rules and regulations heretofore adopted by the United States in the settlement of like cases," and it appears that Congress has generally given interest in like cases, it will be allowed. (C. C., X, p. 231. Affirmed by Supreme Court.)

It is a general rule, founded upon sound principles and uniformly adhered to in the administration of the Government, that the Executive Departments neither allow nor charge interest to parties in account with the United States, excepting by virtue of express agreement or in pursuance of some special provision of law. (Holt's Digest, p. 204.)

Interest can not be allowed except "upon a contract expressly stipulating for the payment of interest." (C. C., I, p. 220.) As to interest, see Op., IV, 14, 79, 136; V, 105, 138.

Note 5.—Under section 3469, the Solicitor of the Treasury may properly recommend the acceptance of a compromise offered in discharge of a claim of the United States before payment, where the district attorney advises acceptance upon the ground that, from want of evidence to establish the facts on which a verdict must depend, he doubts his ability to obtain a judgment, even though the defendant is able to pay the amount of the claim. (Op., XVI, 259, Devens, Jan. 30, 1879.)

This section was intended to provide for compromising claims in favor of the United States which are of a personal character; does not extend to claims to real property to which the United States asserts ownership and has a record title. (Op., XVI, 385, Devens, Oct. 1, 1879.)

It does not confer upon the Solicitor of the Treasury a discretion to recommend for compromise cases in which the claim is entirely solvent, but where circumstances of hardship, etc., exist. (Op., XVI, 617, Phillips, Jan. 8, 1879.)

Note 6.—Though the assignment of a claim against the Government be void under section 3477, Revised Statutes, yet if the Treasury recognizes the assignment and pays the amount found due on an accounting to the assignee, an action will not lie to recover it back. (C. C., XIII, 292.) [See in this opinion a statement as to the manner in which accounts and claims against the Government are settled by the accounting officers.]

This section, 3477, not only extends to claims which are to be paid by Treasury warrants, but extends to those which relate to claims otherwise payable. (Op., XVI, 261, Devens, Feb. 7, 1879.)

SEC. 3479. The oath provided for in the preceding section may be taken before any justice of the peace, notary public, or other person who is legally authorized to administer an oath in the State or district where the same may be administered.

SEC. 3480. It shall be unlawful for any officer to pay any account, claim, or demand against the United States which accrued or existed prior to the thirteenth day of April, eighteen hundred and sixty-one, in favor of any person who promoted, encouraged, or in any manner sustained the late rebellion, or in favor of any person who during such rebellion was not known to be opposed thereto, and distinctly in favor of its suppression; and no pardon heretofore granted, or hereafter to be granted, shall authorize the payment of such account, claim, or demand, until this section is modified or repealed. But this section shall not be construed to prohibit the payment of claims founded upon contracts made by any of the Departments, where such claims were assigned or contracted to be assigned prior to the first day of April, eighteen hundred and sixty-one, to the creditors of such contractors, loyal citizens of loyal States, in payment of debts incurred prior to the first day of March, eighteen hundred and sixty-one.

The revocation of a power of attorney can only be affected by notice to the agent. Notice to a third party, without notice to the agent, leaves the power in force. (C. C., VII, 535.)

A power of attorney not given on account of any valuable consideration paid to the principal may be revoked before the exercise of authority under it. (Op., IX, 128.)

Where a letter of attorney forms part of a contract, and is security for money, or for the performance of any act which is deemed valuable, it is generally made irrevocable in terms, or, if not so, it is deemed irrevocable in law. If a power of attorney be coupled with an "interest" it survives the person giving it and may be executed after his death. (VIII Wheaton, 203; see Op., VII, 35.)

A naked power of attorney is revocable at the will of him who gave it, although the writing should say it was irrevocable. (Op., VII, 38.)

See Op., XI, 7, where it was held that, although an agent, under a power to prosecute, demand, recover, and receive a claim, did prosecute it to the award, and another was appointed to collect, the installment could be paid to the latter—the power of the former not having been coupled with an interest.

Note 7.—It is competent to the head of a Department, as a measure for the protection of the public interests committed to his charge, to decline to recognize, or to suspend, the transaction of business with an agent or attorney for frauds and fraudulent practices attempted or committed by him in the prosecution of claims before the Department, and whose character is such that a reasonable degree of confidence can not be placed in his integrity and honesty in dealing with the Government. (Op., XIII, 150, Hoar, Oct. 4, 1869.)

Note 8.—This section applies only to claims that accrued or existed prior to April 13, 1861. It does not apply to claims in favor of corporations aggregate. (Op., XIII, 398, Mar. 29, 1871, Akerman.)

But if such plaintiff, or claimant, denies his indebtedness to the United States, or refuses to consent to the set-off, then the Secretary shall withhold payment of such further amount of such judgment, or claim, as in his opinion will be sufficient to cover all legal charges and costs in prosecuting the debt of the United States to final judgment. Evidence to be furnished by the Departments in suits pending in the Court of Claims. June 25, 1868, s. 6, v. 15, p. 76. See note 2.

SEC. 188. In all suits brought against the United States in the Court of Claims founded upon any contract, agreement, or transaction with any Department, or any Bureau, officer, or agent of a Department, or where the matter or thing on which the claim is based has been passed upon and decided by any Department, Bureau, or officer authorized to adjust it, the Attorney-General shall transmit to such Department, Bureau, or officer, a printed copy of the petition filed by the claimant, with a request that the Department, Bureau, or officer, shall furnish to the Attorney-General all facts, circumstances, and evidence touching the claim in the possession or knowledge of the Department, Bureau, or officer. Such Department, Bureau, or officer shall, without delay, and within a reasonable time, furnish Retired officers Note 1.—A retired officer of the Army is an "officer of the United States" within not to act as the meaning of R. S., sec. 5498, which prohibits, under penalty of fine or imprisonment, or both, every such officer from acting as an agent or attorney for prosecuting any claim against the United States, &c. To appear and argue a case for a claimant would be to support a claim against the United States, and would subject the officer to penalty prescribed by statute.

Note 2.—The head of a Department is not at liberty to furnish to the Court of Claims, on a call from that court, information or papers, when to do so would, in his opinion, be injurious to the public interest. A return setting forth such opinion would in all cases be a sufficient answer to the rule. (Op., XIII, 539, Akerman, Nov. 24, 1871.)

the Attorney-General with a full statement, in writing, of all such facts, information, and proofs. The statement shall contain a reference to or description of all such official documents or papers, if any, as may furnish proof of facts referred to in it, or may be necessary and proper for the defense of the United States against the claim, mentioning the Department, office, or place where the same is kept or may be procured. If the claim has been passed upon and decided by the Department, Bureau, or officer, the statement shall succinctly state the reasons and principles upon which such decision was based. In all cases where such decision was founded upon any act of Congress, or upon any section or clause of such act, the same shall be cited specifically; and if any previous interpretation or construction has been given to such act, section, or clause by the Department, Bureau, or officer, the same shall be set forth succinctly in the statement, and a copy of the opinion filed, if any, shall be annexed to it. Where any decision in the case has been based upon any regulation of a Department, or where such regulation has, in the opinion of the Department, Bureau, or officer transmitting such statement, any bearing upon the claim in suit, the same shall be distinctly quoted at length in the statement. But where more than one case, or a class of cases, is pending, the defense to which rests upon the same facts, circumstances, and proofs, the Department, Bureau, or officer shall only be required to certify and transmit one statement of the same, and such statement shall be held to apply to all such cases, as if made out, certified, and transmitted in each case respectively.

SEC. 1059. The Court of Claims shall have jurisdiction to hear and determine the following matters: Title 13, chap. 21.

First. All claims founded upon any law of Congress, or upon any regulation of an Executive Department, or upon any contract, expressed or implied, with the Government of the United States, and all claims which may be referred to it by either House of Congress.

SEC. 1061. Upon the trial of any cause in which any set-off, counter-claim, claim for damages, or other demand is set up on the part of the Government against any person making claim against the Government in said court, the court shall hear and determine such claim or demand both for and against the Government and claimant; and if upon the whole case it finds that the claimant is indebted to the Government, it shall render judgment to that effect, and such judgment shall be final, with the right of appeal, as in other cases provided for by law. Any transcript of such judgment, filed in the clerk's office of any district or circuit court, shall be entered upon the records thereof, and shall thereby become and be a judgment of such court and be enforced as other judgments in such courts are enforced.

Note 1.—The head of a Department may refer a claim direct to the Court of Claims, and he does not waive his right to send a claim there by allowing it in the first instance to be passed upon by the accounting officers of the Treasury. (C. C., V, p. 64.)

The head of a Department may transmit a claim to the Court of Claims under section 1063, R. S., after the Auditor and Comptroller of the Treasury have settled it and certified a balance due the claimant. (C. C., XII, 319.)

The head of an Executive Department can not transmit a claim to the Court of Claims under section 1063, on the ground that it involves disputed facts or controverted questions of law, if he is forbidden by law to pay the claim. (C. C., XV, 414.)

versy exceeds three thousand dollars, or where the decision will affect a class of cases, or furnish a precedent for the future action of any Executive Department in the adjustment of a class of cases, without regard to the amount involved in the particular case, or where any authority, right, privilege, or exemption is claimed or denied under the Constitution of the United States, the head of such Department may cause such claim, with all the vouchers, papers, proofs, and documents pertaining thereto, to be transmitted to the Court of Claims, and the same shall be there proceeded in as if originally commenced by the voluntary action of the claimant; and the Secretary of the Treasury may, upon the certificate of any Auditor or Comptroller of the Treasury, direct any account, matter, or claim, of the character, amount, or class described in this section, to be transmitted, with all the vouchers, papers, documents, and proofs pertaining thereto, to the said court, for trial and adjudication: Provided, That no case shall be referred by any head of a Department unless it belongs to one of the several classes of cases which, by reason of the subject-matter and character, the said court might, under existing laws, take jurisdiction of on such voluntary action of the claimant.

See act Mar. 3, 1863.

SEC. 1064. All cases transmitted by the head of any Department, or upon the certificate of any Auditor or Comptroller, according to the provisions of the preceding section, shall be proceeded in as other cases pending in the Court of Claims, and shall, in all respects, be subject to the same rules and regulations.

Procedure in cases transmitted by Departments. June 25, 1868, s. 7, v. 15, p. 76.

SEC. 1065. The amount of any final judgment or decree rendered in favor of the claimant, in any case transmitted to the Court of Claims under the two preceding sections, shall be paid out of any specific appropriation applicable to the case, if any such there be; and where no such appropriation exists, the judgment or decree shall be paid in the same manner as other judgments of the said court.

SEC. 1067. No person shall file or prosecute in the Court of Claims, or in the Supreme Court on appeal therefrom, any claim for or in respect of which he or any assignee of his has pending in any other court any suit or process against any person who, at the time when the cause of action alleged in such suit or process arose, was, in respect thereto, acting or professing to act, mediately or immediately, under the authority of the United States.

Claims pending in other courts not to be prosecuted in Court of Claims. June 25, 1868, s. 7, v. 15, p. 677.

SEC. 1069. Every claim against the United States, cognizable by the Court of Claims, shall be forever barred unless the petition setting forth a statement thereof is filed in the court, or transmitted to it by the Secretary of the Senate or the Clerk of the House of Representatives as provided by law, within six years after the claim first accrues: Provided, That the claims of married women first accrued during marriage, of persons under the age of Limitation. Mar. 3, 1863, s. 10, v. 12, p. 767. See note 1.

Note 1.—The statute of limitations prescribed by the amended Court of Claims act (Mar. 13, 1863, 12 Stat. L., 765, § 10) does not extend to claims in the Executive Departments. (C. C., XIV, 149.)

v. 12, p. 767.

SEC. 1072. The claimant shall, in all cases, fully set forth in his petition the claim, the action thereon in Congress, or by any of the Departments, if such action has been had; what persons are owners thereof or interested therein, when and upon what consideration such persons became so interested; that no assignment or transfer of said claim, or of any part thereof or interest therein, has been made, except as stated in the petition; that said claimant is justly entitled to the amount therein claimed from the United States, after allowing all just credits and offsets; that the claimant, and, where the claim has been assigned, the original and every prior owner thereof, if a citizen, has at all times borne true allegiance to the Government of the United States, and, whether a citizen or not, has not in any way voluntarily aided, abetted, or given encouragement to rebellion against the said Government, and that he believes the facts as stated in the said petition to be true. And the said petition shall be verified by the affidavit of the claimant, his agent, or attorney.

Petition dismissed, if issue found against claimant as to allegiance, etc.

Burden of proof and evidence as to loyalty.

June 25, 1868, s. 3, v. 15, p. 75.

SEC. 1073. The said allegations as to true allegiance and voluntary aiding, abetting, or giving encouragement to rebellion against the Government may be traversed by the Government, and if on the trial such issues shall be decided against the claimant, his petition shall be dismissed.

SEC. 1074. Whenever it is material in any claim to ascertain whether any person did or did not give any aid or comfort to the late rebellion, the claimant asserting the loyalty of any such person to the United States during such rebellion shall be required to prove affirmatively that such person did, during said rebellion, consistently adhere to the United States, and did give no aid or comfort to persons engaged in said rebellion; and the voluntary residence of any such person in any place where, at any time during such residence, the rebel force or organization held sway, shall be prima-facie evidence that such person did give aid and comfort to said rebellion and to the persons engaged therein.

Power to call upon Departments for information.

Feb. 24, 1855, s. 11, v. 10, p. 614.

SEC. 1076. The said court shall have power to call upon any of the Departments for any information or papers it may deem necessary, and shall have the use of all recorded and printed reports made by the committees of each House of Congress, when deemed necessary in the prosecution of its business. But the head of any Department may refuse and omit to comply with any call for information or papers when, in his opinion, such compliance would be injurious to the public interest.

SEC. 1086. Any person who corruptly practices or attempts to practice any fraud against the United States in the proof, statement, establishment, or allowance of any claim, or of any part of any claim against the United States, shall ipso facto forfeit the same to the Government; and it shall be the duty of the Court of Claims, in such cases, to find specifically that such fraud was practiced or attempted to be practiced, and thereupon to give judgment that such claim is forfeited to the Government, and that the claimant be forever barred from prosecuting the same.

No claim shall hereafter be allowed * * * by the Court of Claims * * * to any person, where such claimant, or those under whom he claims, shall wilfully, knowingly, and with intent to defraud the United States, have claimed more than was justly due in respect of such claim or presented any false evidence to Congress, or to any Department or court, in support thereof.

Mar. 3, 1883.

Stat. L., 1881-1883, v. 22. *
Reference of claims pending before Congress.

That whenever a claim or matter is pending before any committee of the Senate or House of Representatives, or before either House of Congress, which involves the investigation and determination of facts, the committee or house may cause the same, with the vouchers, papers, proofs, and documents pertaining thereto, to be transmitted to the Court of Claims of the United States, and the same shall there be proceeded in under such rules as the court may adopt. When the facts shall have been found, the court shall not enter judgment thereon, but shall report the same to the committee or to the house by which the case was transmitted for its consideration.

Reference of claims pending with Executive Departments.

SEC. 2. That when a claim or matter is pending in any of the Executive Departments which may involve controverted questions of fact or law, the head of such Department may transmit the same, with the vouchers, papers, proofs, and documents pertaining thereto, to said court, and the same shall be there proceeded in under such rules as the court may adopt. When the facts and conclusions of law shall have been found, the court shall not enter judgment thereon, but shall report its findings and opinions to the Department by which it was transmitted for its guidance and action.

Claims not within the jurisdiction of the court.

SEC. 3. The jurisdiction of said court shall not extend to or include any claim against the United States growing out of the destruction or damage to property by the Army or Navy during the war for the suppression of the rebellion, or for the use and occupation of real estate by any part of the military or naval forces of the United States in the operations of said forces during the said war at the seat of war; nor shall the said court have jurisdiction of any claim against the United States which is now barred by virtue of the provisions of any law of the United States.

Claims for supplies, etc., furnished for the suppression of the rebellion.

SEC. 4. In any case of a claim for supplies or stores taken by or furnished to any part of military or naval forces of the United States for their use during the late war for the suppression of the rebellion, the petition shall aver that the person who furnished such supplies or stores, or from whom such supplies or stores were taken, did not give any aid or comfort to said rebellion, but was throughout that war loyal to the Government of the United States, and the fact of such loyalty shall be a jurisdictional fact; and unless the said court shall, on a preliminary inquiry, find that the person who furnished such supplies or stores, or from whom the same were taken as aforesaid, was loyal to the Government of the United States throughout said war, the court shall not have jurisdiction of such cause, and the same shall, without further proceedings, be dismissed.

SEC. 5. That the Attorney-General, or his assistants, under his direction, shall appear for the defense and protection of the interests of the United States in all cases which may be transmitted to the Court of Claims under this act, with the same power to interpose counter-claims, offsets, defenses for fraud practiced or attempted to be practiced by claimants, and other defenses, in like manner as he is now required to defend the United States in said court.

Defense, etc., for the United States.

SEC. 6. That in the trial of such cases no person shall be excluded as a witness because he or she is a party to or interested in the same.

Parties interested may testify. 1

SEC. 7. That reports of the Court of Claims to Congress under this act, if not finally acted upon during the session at which they are reported, shall be continued from session to session and from Congress to Congress until the same shall be finally acted upon.

Note 1.—The naval appropriation act of August 5, 1882, forbids paying from the contingent fund of the Navy for personal services in the Navy Department or any of its subordinate bureaus or offices in the District of Columbia.

Note 2.—The Secretary of the Navy can draw on the contingent fund for purposes of a contingent character—that is, such as might or might not happen, and which Congress could not easily foresee, and therefore could not provide for definitely. (Op., I, 302, Wirt.)

The words "contingent expenses," as used in the appropriation acts, mean such incidental, casual expenses as are necessary, or at least appropriate and convenient, in order to the performance of the duties required by law of the Department or the office for which the appropriation is made. SEC. 3466. Whenever any person indebted to the United States is insolvent, or whenever the estate of any deceased debtor, in the hands of the executors or administrators, is insufficient to pay all the debts due from the deceased, the debts due to the United States shall be first satisfied; and the priority hereby established shall extend as well to cases which a debtor, not having sufficient property to pay all his debts, makes a voluntary assignment thereof, or in which the estate and effects of an absconding, concealed, or absent debtor are attached by process of law, as to cases in which an act of bankruptcy is committed.

SEC. 3467. Every executor, administrator, or assignee, or other person, who pays any debt due by the person or estate from whom or for which he acts, before he satisfies and pays the debts due to the United States from such person or estate, shall become answerable in his own person and estate for the debts so due to the United States, or for so much thereof as may remain due and unpaid.

SEC. 3468. Whenever the principal in any bond given to the United States is insolvent, or whenever, such principal being deceased, his estate and effects which come to the hands of his executor, administrator, or assignee, are insufficient for the payment of his debts, and, in either of such cases, any surety on the bond, or the executor, administrator, or assignee of such surety pays to the United States the money due upon such bond, such surety, his executor, administrator, or assignee, shall have the like priority for the recovery and receipt of the moneys out of the estate and effects of such insolvent or deceased principal as is secured to the United States; and may bring and maintain a suit upon the bond, in law or equity, in his own name, for the recovery of all moneys paid thereon.

SEC. 3469. At every sale, on execution, at the suit of the United States, of lands or tenements of a debtor, the United States may, by such agent as the Solicitor of the Treasury shall appoint, become the purchaser thereof; but in no case shall the agent bid in behalf of the United States a greater amount than that of the judgment for which such estate may be exposed to sale, and the costs. Whenever such purchase is made, the marshal of the district in which the sale is held shall make all needful conveyances, assignments, or transfers to the United States.

Mar. 3, 1875.

Amount of debt due U. S. to be withheld by Secretary of Treasury in paying judgments, etc. of debtor against U. S.

That when any final judgment recovered against the United States or other claim duly allowed by legal authority, shall be presented to the Secretary of the Treasury for payment, and the plaintiff or claimant therein shall be indebted to the United States in any manner, whether as principal or surety, it shall be the duty of the Secretary to withhold payment of an amount of such judgment or claim equal to the debt thus due to the United States; and if such plaintiff or claimant assents to such set off, and discharges his judgment or an amount thereof equal to said debt or claim, the Secretary shall execute a discharge of the debt due from the plaintiff to the United States.

Secretary to execute discharge, when.

But if such plaintiff, or claimant, denies his indebtedness to the United States, or refuses to consent to the set-off, then the Secretary shall withhold payment of such further amount of such judgment, or claim, as in his opinion will be sufficient to cover all legal charges and costs in prosecuting the debt of the United States to final judgment.

Aug. 26, 1842, s. 6, v. 5, p. 536;
June 22, 1860, s. 3, v. 12, p. 83.

Title 15, chap. 7. SEC. 1550. No person shall be employed or continued abroad, to receive and pay money for the use of the naval service on foreign stations, whether under contract or otherwise, who has not been, or shall not be, appointed by and with the advice and consent of the Senate.

Title 15, chap. 8. SEC. 1563. The President of the United States may direct such advances, as he may deem necessary and proper, to such persons in the naval service as may be employed on distant stations where the discharge of the pay and emoluments to which they are entitled cannot be regularly effected.

Title 19. SEC. 1766. No money shall be paid to any person for his compensation who is in arrears to the United States, until he has accounted for and paid into the Treasury all sums for which he may be liable. In all cases where the pay or salary of any person is withheld in pursuance of this section, the accounting officers of the Treasury, if required to do so by the party, his agent or attorney, shall report forthwith to the Solicitor of the Treasury the balance due; and the Solicitor shall, within sixty days thereafter, order suit to be commenced against such delinquent and his sureties.

SEC. 1788. Every officer of the United States concerned in the disbursement of the revenues thereof who carries on any trade or business in the funds or debts of the United States, or of any State, or in any public property of either, shall be deemed guilty of a misdemeanor, and punished by a fine of three thousand dollars, and shall, upon conviction, be removed from office, and forever thereafter be incapable of holding any office under the United States.

Title 40. SEC. 3614. Whenever it becomes necessary for the head of any Department or office to employ special agents, other than officers of the Army or Navy, who may be charged with the disbursement of public moneys, such agent shall, before entering upon duty, give bond in such form and with such security as the head of the Department or office employing them may approve.

Note 1.—The phrase "who is in arrears to the United States" seems to apply materially and properly only to persons who, having previous transactions of a pecuniary nature with the Government, are found, upon the settlement of those transactions, to be in arrears to the Government by holding in their hands public moneys which they are to refund. (Op., I, 676, Wirt, July 22, 1824; III, 52, Butler, Mar. 21, 1836.) Pay of officers, ascertained to be in default, can be withheld where the time for the accounting duly has actually passed—not otherwise. (Op., IV, 33, May 24, 1842, Legare.)

"Pay," "salary," or "compensation" are synonymous terms, under the act of January 25, 1828, authorizing the withholding of the pay of persons in arrears. The authority does not extend to rations. (Op., II, 420.) "Extra pay," which is not pay proper, can not be withheld. (Op., II, 593.)

The officers of the Treasury are authorized to withhold the pay of officers of the Government who are ascertained to be defaulters, where the time for accounting has actually passed, but not otherwise. "Forthwith" is equivalent to "without unnecessary delay." (Op., IV, 33, Legare, May 24, 1842.)

It is the duty of disbursing officers to repay funds remaining in hand when the time for them to go to the surplus fund arrives. Certificates issued previous to that time, upon claims definitely ascertained, may be paid out of these appropriations, even though the time has passed for them to go to the surplus fund, if the disbursing officer has any of the appropriation in his hands. For what period and to what amount such officers should be allowed to retain funds in their hands for that purpose is a matter of administration falling within the province of the Secretary of the Treasury to regulate. (Op., XV, 357, Devens, Aug. 10, 1877.)

The words "expenditures incurred" do not mean liabilities incurred. To incur an expenditure is to make a payment—to expend money. To incur liability and to incur an expenditure are two different and distinct things; and while the word incur is not frequently used in connection with expenditure, yet when used it means an expenditure actually made. (Op., XIV, 128, Williams, Sept. 17, 1878.)

SEC. 3620. It shall be the duty of every disbursing officer having any public money intrusted to him for disbursement, to deposit the same with the Treasurer or some one of the assistant treasurers of the United States, and to draw for the same only as it may be required for payments to be made by him in pursuance of law and draw for the same only in favor of the persons to whom payment is made; and all transfers from the Treasurer of the United States to a disbursing officer shall be by draft or warrant on the Treasury or an assistant treasurer of the United States. In places, however, where there is no treasurer or assistant treasurer, the Secretary of the Treasury may, when he deems it essential to the public interest, specially authorize in writing the deposit of such public money in any other public depository, or, in writing, authorize the same to be kept in any other manner, and under such rules and regulations as he may deem most safe and effectual to facilitate the payments to public creditors.

SEC. 3622. Every officer or agent of the United States who receives public money which he is not authorized to retain as salary, pay, or emolument, shall render his accounts monthly. Such accounts, with the vouchers necessary to the correct and prompt settlement thereof, shall be sent by mail, or otherwise, to the Bureau to which they pertain, within ten days after the expiration of each successive month, and, after examination there, shall be passed to the proper accounting officer of the Treasury for settlement. Disbursing officers of the Navy shall, however, render their accounts and vouchers direct to the proper accounting officer of the Treasury. In case of the non-receipt at the Treasury, or proper Bureau, of any accounts within a reasonable and proper time thereafter, the officer whose accounts are in default shall be required to furnish satisfactory evidence of having complied with the provi-

See sec. 5491.

Note 1.—If a disbursing officer in good faith deposits public money in a designated depository, loss of the moneys through failure of the bank can not be imputed to the fault or negligence of the officer. So long as the Government holds him responsible and does not bring suit, so long he has the right to petition the Court of Claims for relief. (C. C., XVII, 189.)

Note 2.—Money in the hands of a disbursing officer of the United States due and payable by him to a private person can not be attached by process out of the State courts. (4 Howard, 20.) It is not competent to the State courts to enjoin officers of the Executive Departments from executing the lawful orders thereof, whether they concern the payment of money for the performance of contracts with the United States or any other matter. (Op., XVI, 257, Devens, Jan. 29, 1879.)

The Supreme Court has repeatedly decided that the courts have no jurisdiction or authority over the moneys of the Government in the hands of its agents, and that such moneys can not be enjoined or controlled by a mandamus. (Op., VII, 81, Cushing, Mar. 29, 1855.) Not subject to attachment at the suit of creditors of the parties to whom such money is due. (Op., XIII, Akerman, Jan. 7, 1872; see also Op., X, 120.)

DECISIONS OF AUDITORS.

Note 3.—It is no part of the duties of the Auditors (except the Sixth Auditor) to make decisions binding in any way upon anybody, and their opinions and decisions upon controverted questions, if they choose to give them, have no official determining force. sions of this section. The Secretary of the Treasury may, if in his opinion the circumstances of the case justify and require it, extend the time hereinbefore prescribed for the rendition of accounts. Nothing herein contained shall, however, be construed to restrain the heads of any of the Departments from requiring such other returns or reports from the officer or agent, subject to the control of such heads of Departments, as the public interest may require.

Delays in transmitting accounts to Auditor.

SEC. 12. All monthly accounts shall be mailed or otherwise sent to the proper officer at Washington within ten days after the end of the month to which they relate, and quarterly and other accounts within twenty days after the period to which they relate, and shall be transmitted to and received by the Auditors within twenty days of their actual receipt at the proper office in Washington in the case of monthly, and sixty days in the case of quarterly and other accounts.

Should there be any delinquency in this regard at the time of the receipt by the Auditor of a requisition for an advance of money, he shall disapprove the requisition, which he may also do for other reasons arising out of the condition of the officer's accounts for whom the advance is requested;

but the Secretary of the Treasury may overrule the Auditor's decision as to the sufficiency of these latter reasons:

Provided, That the Secretary of the Treasury shall prescribe suitable rules and regulations, and may make orders in particular cases, relaxing the requirement of mailing or otherwise sending accounts, as aforesaid, within ten or twenty days, or waiving delinquency, in such cases only in which there is, or is likely to be, a manifest physical difficulty in complying with the same, it being the purpose of this provision to require the prompt rendition of accounts without regard to the mere convenience of the officers, and to forbid the advance of money to those delinquent in rendering them:

Provided further, That should there be a delay in the administrative Departments beyond the aforesaid twenty or sixty days in transmitting accounts, an order of the President in the particular case shall be necessary to authorize the advance of money requested:

Note 1.—This section is a substitute for parts of R. S., sec. 3622. A portion of that section is expressly repealed at the close of this section 12. See penalty for failure to render accounts, R. S., sec. 5491, and rule as to manner of keeping accounts R. S., sec. 3623.

Note 2.—By letter of September 29, 1894, to the Secretary of the Interior, the Secretary of the Treasury made the following order under this provision:

"You are respectfully requested to notify the proper officer of your Department that in accordance with authority contained in section 12 of the 'Act making appropriations for the legislative, executive, and judicial expenses of the Government for the fiscal year ending June 30, 1895, and for other purposes,' which provides that the Secretary of the Treasury * * * 'may make orders in particular cases, relaxing the requirements of mailing or otherwise sending accounts, as aforesaid, within ten or twenty days, or waiving delinquency, in such cases only in which there is, or is likely to be, a manifest physical difficulty in complying with the same,' * * * the requirements of Department circular No. 114 are hereby modified so far as relates to rendition of accounts of pension agents for the same months in which the quarterly payments at their agencies fall due and the period for the rendition of such accounts is hereby extended to twenty-five days after the close of the month to which they relate, there being a manifest difficulty in rendering such accounts within the ten days prescribed by section 12 of the act of July 31, 1894."

The Secretary of the Treasury shall, on the first Monday of January in each year, make report to Congress of such officers as are then delinquent in the rendering of their accounts or in the payment of balances found due from them for the last preceding fiscal year.

Annual report of delinquencies.

Sections two hundred and fifty and two hundred and seventy-two of the Revised Statutes are repealed.

Repeal of R. S., secs. 250, 272.

Section thirty-six hundred and twenty-two of the Revised Statutes is amended by striking therefrom the following words:

"The Secretary of the Treasury may, if in his opinion the circumstances of the case justify and require it, extend the time hereinbefore prescribed for the rendition of accounts."

which may then have been outstanding and unpaid for three years, and more, stating fully in such report the name of the payee, for what purpose each check was given, the office on which drawn, the number of the voucher received therefor, the date, number, and amount for which it was drawn, and, when known, the residence of the payee.

Title 40.

Regulations for presentation of drafts.

Aug. 6, 1846, s. 31, v. 9, p. 65.
See secs. 5495, 5496. Disbursing Officers.

SEC. 3645. It shall be the duty of the Secretary of the Treasury to issue and publish regulations to enforce the speedy presentation of all Government drafts, for payment, at the place where payable, and to prescribe the time, according to the different distances of the depositaries from the seat of Government, within which all drafts upon them, respectively, shall be presented for payment; and, in default of such presentation, to direct any other mode and place of payment which he may deem proper; but, in all these regulations and directions, it shall be his duty to guard, as far as may be, against those drafts being used or thrown into circulation as a paper currency or a medium of exchange.

Duplicates for lost or stolen checks authorized.

Feb. 2, 1872, s. 1, v. 17, p. 29.

SEC. 3646. Whenever any original check is lost, stolen, or destroyed, disbursing officers and agents of the United States are authorized, after the expiration of six months, and within three years from the date of such check, to issue a duplicate check; and the Treasurer, assistant treasurers, and designated depositaries of the United States are directed to pay such duplicate checks, upon notice and proof of the loss of the original checks, under such regulations in regard to their issue and payment, and upon the execution of such bonds, with sureties, to indemnify the United States, as the Secretary of the Treasury shall prescribe. This section shall not apply to any check exceeding in amount the sum of one thousand dollars.

Duplicate check when officer who issued is dead.

Ibid., s. 2.

SEC. 3647. In case the disbursing officer or agent by whom such lost, destroyed, or stolen original check was issued, is dead, or no longer in the service of the United States, it shall be the duty of the proper accounting officer, under such regulations as the Secretary of the Treasury shall prescribe, to state an account in favor of the owner of such original check for the amount thereof, and to charge such amount to the account of such officer or agent.

Exchange of funds restricted.

Aug. 6, 1846, s. 20, v. 9, p. 64; July 11, 1862, s. 1, v. 12, p. 532; Feb. 22, 1862, s. 1, v. 12, p. 345; June 3, 1864, s. 23, v. 13, p. 106; Mar. 3, 1863, s. 3, v. 12, p. 610.

SEC. 3651. No exchange of funds shall be made by any disbursing officer or agent of the Government, of any grade or denomination whatsoever, or connected with any branch of the public service, other than an exchange for gold, silver, United States notes, and national-bank notes; and every such disbursing officer, when the means for his disbursements are furnished to him in gold, silver, United States notes, or national-bank notes, shall make his payments in the moneys so furnished; or when they are furnished to him in drafts, shall cause those drafts to be presented at their place of payment, and properly paid according to law, and shall make his payments in the money so received for the drafts furnished, unless, in either case, he can exchange the means in his hands for gold and silver at par. And it shall be the duty of the head of the proper Department immediately to suspend from duty any disbursing officer or agent who violates the provisions of this section, and forthwith to report the name of the officer or agent to the President, with the fact of the violation, and all the circumstances accompanying the same, and within the knowledge of the Secretary, to the end that such officer or agent may be promptly removed from office, or restored to his trust and the performance of his duties, as the President may deem just and proper.

SEC. 3652. No officer of the United States shall, either directly or indirectly, sell or dispose of to any person, for a premium, any Treasury note, draft, warrant, or other public security, not his private property, or sell or dispose of the avails or proceeds of such note, draft, warrant, or security, in his hands for disbursement, without making return of such premium, and accounting therefor by charging the same in his accounts to the credit of the United States; and any officer violating this section shall be forthwith dismissed from office.

Premiums on sales of public moneys to be accounted for. Aug. 6, 1846, s. 21, v. 9, p. 65. See note 1.

Note 1.—Approved bills or accounts or vouchers are not in any proper sense negotiable paper. The Government would not be required to pay to party to whom they were assigned, if it had itself an equitable claim against the contractor; nor if satisfied that the account had been erroneously approved. Section 3477, R. S., regulates the manner of paying assigned bills, etc. That statute is of universal application. The Department can reissue an approved account in favor of contractor. [Case of bills made out in favor of broker instead of contractors, and assigned by former.] (Op., XVI, 191, Devens, Oct. 23, 1878.)

The protection which commercial usage throws around negotiable paper can not be used to establish the authority of an agent who issued it. Whenever negotiable paper is found in market upon which the Government is apparently a party, the purchaser must, at his peril, see that the officer who indorsed or accepted it had authority to bind the Government. (C. C., VII, 65; Wallace, VII, 666.)

Acceptance of payment in one kind of money (Treasury notes) is a waiver of a claim, antecedently asserted for gold. It discharges the debt independently of the question whether paper money is a legal tender. (C. C., VI, 216.)

There is no objection in point of law, to the indorsement of a bill of exchange, under authority derived from a power of attorney. (Op., I, 188.)

Where an officer is authorized to pay money at a distant point, he may transmit it by drafts. (7 Wallace, p. 466; C. C., VII, p. 65.)

Checks given by paymasters are valid obligations of the Government, although dishonored for want of funds to the credit of the officers who issued them. (Op., XI, 216, Speed, Apr. 22, 1865; see also, XI, p. 156.)

It does not follow that because an officer may lawfully issue bills of exchange for some purpose, he can in that mode bind the Government in other cases where he has no such authority. (7 Wallace, 666.)

Whenever the United States Government, through their authorized officer, accept a bill of exchange, they are bound for its payment to a bona fide holder for value, whatever may have been the equities as between them and the drawer. (U. S. v. Bank Metropolis, XV, Peters, 377.)

Whether checks shall be made payable only to the person entitled to the money, or "to bearer" or "to order," is a matter to be regulated entirely by the Treasury Department. The only imperative requisition is that the check shall be drawn only in favor of the person to whom the payment is to be made. (Op., XV, 288, June 4, 1877, Devens.)

It is competent for the Secretary of the Treasury to permit disbursing officers to draw checks payable to themselves or bearer or order for such amounts as may be necessary to make payments of small amounts, to make payments at a distance from a depository, or to make payments of fixed salaries as now authorized by Department regulations of August 24, 1876, provided, always, that such checks bear indorsed upon them the names of the persons to whom the amounts are to be paid, or the claim upon which they are to be paid, or are accompanied by a list or schedule, made a part of the check, containing the same information. (Op., XV, 303, June 8, 1877, Devens.)

Title 37.

Gold coins of the United States and their weight.
Feb. 12, 1873, s. 14, v. 17, p. 426.

SEC. 3511. The gold coins of the United States shall be a one-dollar piece, which, at the standard weight of twenty-five and eight-tenths grains, shall be the unit of value; a quarter-eagle, or two and a half dollar piece; a three-dollar piece; a half-eagle, or five-dollar piece; an eagle, or ten-dollar piece; and a double-eagle, or twenty-dollar piece. And the standard weight of the gold dollar shall be twenty-five and eight-tenths grains; of the quarter-eagle, or two and a half dollar piece, sixty-four and a half grains; of the three-dollar piece, seventy-seven and four-tenths grains; of the half-eagle, or five-dollar piece, one hundred and twenty-nine grains; of the eagle, or ten-dollar piece, two hundred and fifty-eight grains; of the double-eagle, or twenty-dollar piece, five hundred and sixteen grains.

Silvercoins and their weight.
Ibid., s. 15.

SEC. 3513. The silver coins of the United States shall be a trade-dollar, a half-dollar, or fifty-cent piece, a quarter dollar, or twenty-five cent piece, a dime, or ten-cent piece; and the weight of the trade-dollar shall be four hundred and twenty grains troy; the weight of the half-dollar shall be twelve grams and one-half of a gram; the quarter-dollar and the dime shall be, respectively, one-half and one-fifth of the weight of said half-dollar.

Standard for gold and silver coins.
Feb. 12, 1873, s. 13, v. 17, p. 426.
See sec. 5460, R. S.

SEC. 3514. The standard for both gold and silver coins of the United States shall be such that of one thousand parts by weight nine hundred shall be of pure metal and one hundred of alloy. The alloy of the silver coins shall be of copper. The alloy of the gold coins shall be of copper, or of copper and silver; but the silver shall in no case exceed one-tenth of the whole alloy.

Minor coins; their weight and alloy.
Ibid., s. 16.

SEC. 3515. The minor coins of the United States shall be a five-cent piece, a three-cent piece, and a one-cent piece. The alloy for the five and three-cent pieces shall be of copper and nickel, to be composed of three-fourths copper and one-fourth nickel. The alloy of the one-cent piece shall be ninety-five per centum of copper and five per centum of tin and zinc, in such proportions as shall be determined by the Director of the Mint. The weight of the piece of five cents shall be seventy-seven and sixteen hundredths grains troy; of the three-cent piece, thirty grains; and of the one-cent piece, forty-eight grains.

Inscriptions upon coins.

SEC. 3517. Upon the coins there shall be the following devices and legends: Upon one side there shall be an impression emblematic of liberty, with an inscription of the word "Liberty" and the year of the coinage, and upon the reverse shall be the figure or representation of an eagle, with the inscriptions "United States of America" and "E Pluribus Unum," and a designation of the value of the coin; but on the gold dollar and three-dollar piece, the dime, five, three, and one cent piece, the figure of the eagle shall be omitted; and on the reverse of the silver trade-dollar the weight and the fineness of the coin shall be inscribed.

Ibid., s. 18.

SEC. 3535. In adjusting the weights of the gold coins, the following deviation shall not be exceeded in any single piece: In the double-eagle and the eagle, one-half of a grain; in the half-eagle, the three-dollar piece, the quarter-eagle, and the one-dollar piece, one-fourth of a grain. And in weighing a number of pieces together, when delivered by the coiner to the superintendent, and by the superintendent to the depositor, the deviation from the standard weight shall not exceed one hundredth of an ounce in five thousand dollars in double-eagles, eagles, half-eagles, or quarter-eagles, in one thousand three-dollar pieces, and in one thousand one-dollar pieces.

Deviations allowed in adjusting weights of gold coins.
Ibid., s. 36.

SEC. 3536. In adjusting the weight of the silver coins the following deviations shall not be exceeded in any single piece: In the dollar, the half and quarter dollar, and in the dime, one and one-half grains. And in weighing a large number of pieces together, when delivered by the coiner to the superintendent, and by the superintendent to the depositor, the deviations from the standard weight shall not exceed two-hundredths of an ounce in one thousand dollars, half-dollars, or quarter-dollars, and one-hundredth of an ounce in one thousand dimes.

Of silver coins.
Ibid., s. 37.

SEC. 3537. In adjusting the weight of the minor coins provided by this Title, there shall be no greater deviation allowed than three grains for the five-cent piece and two grains for the three and one cent pieces.

Of minor coins.
Ibid., s. 38.

SEC. 3585. The gold coins of the United States shall be a legal tender in all payments at their nominal value when not below the standard weight and limit of tolerance provided by law for the single piece, and, when reduced in weight below such standard and tolerance, shall be a legal tender at valuation in proportion to their actual weight.

Title 39.
Gold coins of the United States.
Ibid., s. 14.

The holder of any of the silver coins of the United States of smaller denomination than one dollar may, on presentation of the same in sums of twenty dollars, or any multiple thereof, at the office of the Treasurer or any assistant treasurer of the United States, receive therefor lawful money of the United States.

Exchange of silver coins.
June 9, 1879, s. 1, v. 21, p. 7.
See note 1.

Note 1 (May 2, 1878).—Coinage of the twenty-cent piece of silver authorized by the act of March 3, 1875, prohibited.

By the act of July 22, 1876 (v. 19, p. 215), the trade dollar is not thereafter to be a legal tender.

An act of February 28, 1878 (v. 20, p. 25), provides for the coinage at the mints of United States silver dollars of the weight of four hundred and twelve and a half grains troy of standard silver as provided in the act of January 18, 1837, which, with the silver dollars of that weight and fineness theretofore coined by the United States, shall be a legal tender at their nominal value for all debts and dues, public and private, except where otherwise expressly stipulated in the contract.

Idem, s. 3.

The present silver coins of the United States of smaller denominations than one dollar shall hereafter be a legal tender in all sums not exceeding ten dollars in full payment of all dues, public and private.

Became a law without the President's approval, June 5, 1896.

Mar. 28, 1896.

29 Stat. L., 75.
Supp. R. S., v. 2, p. 454.

For an assistant Secretary of the Navy, to be appointed, from civil life, by the President, by and with the advice and consent of the Senate, who shall receive a compensation, at the rate of four thousand five hundred dollars per annum.

Assistant Secretary of the Navy, who shall hereafter perform such duties as may be prescribed by the Secretary of the Navy or required by law.

That the President of the United States be, and he is hereby, authorized to appoint, for the term of four years, by and with the advice and consent of the Senate, from the officers of the Navy or the Marine Corps, a judge-advocate-general of the Navy, with the rank, pay, and allowances of a captain in the Navy or a colonel in the Marine Corps, as the case may be.

And the office of the said judge-advocate-general shall be in the Navy Department, where he shall, under the direction of the Secretary of the Navy, receive, revise, and have recorded the proceedings of all courts-martial, courts of inquiry, and boards for the examination of officers for retirement and promotion in the naval service, and perform such other duties as have heretofore been performed by the solicitor and naval judge-advocate-general.

That the Act "to authorize the President to appoint an officer of the Navy or the Marine Corps to perform the duties of solicitor and judge-advocate-general, and so forth, and to fix the rank and pay of such officer," approved June eighth, eighteen hundred and eighty, is hereby amended by inserting in said Act in lieu of the words "with the rank, pay, and allowances of a captain in the Navy, or a colonel in the Marine Corps, as the case may be," the words "with the rank and highest pay of a captain [in] the Navy, or the rank, pay, and allowances of a colonel in the Marine Corps, as the case may be:"

Provided, That this amendment shall take effect from July nineteenth, eighteen hundred and ninety-two, the date on which the present incumbent entered on duty, and that the amount herein appropriated shall be payable from the appropriation "Pay of the Navy."

That hereafter the commissions of all officers under the direction and control of the Secretary of the Treasury, the Secretary of War, the Secretary of the Navy, and the Note 1.—R. S., § 1794, required all civil commissions for Presidential appointments to be made out and recorded in the Department of State.

The act in the text, together with those of 1874, March 18, ch. 57 (1 Supp. R. S., 5), relating to the Post-Office Department; 1875, March 3, ch. 131, § 14 (1 Supp. R. S., 78), relating to the Department of the Interior; and 1888, Aug. 8, ch. 786 (1 Supp. R. amended.

Of the Official Register three thousand copies shall be printed and bound, which shall be distributed as follows: To the President of the United States, four copies, one copy of which shall be for the library of the Executive Mansion; to the Vice-President of the United States, two copies; to each Senator, Representative, and Delegate in Congress, one copy; to the Secretary and Sergeant-at-Arms of the Senate, to the Clerk and Sergeant-at-Arms of the House, one copy each; to the library of the Senate, ten copies; to the library of the House of Representatives, ten copies; to the Library of Congress, twenty-five copies; to the Department of State, one hundred copies; to the Treasury Department, one hundred and fifty copies; to the War Department, fifty copies; to the Navy Department, twenty copies. * * *

R. S., sec. 490,
p. 81, amended.

Copies of the specifications and drawings of each patent issued, bound in monthly volumes, one copy for each of the Executive Departments of the Government, one copy to be placed for free public inspection in each capitol of every State and Territory, one for the like purpose in the clerk's office of the district court of each judicial district of the United States, except when such offices are located in State or Territorial capitols, and one in the Library of Congress, which copies shall be certified under the hand of the Commissioner and seal of the Patent Office, and shall not be taken from the depositories for any other purpose than to be used as evidence; also one hundred additional copies of the same, for sale by him at a price to be fixed by the Secretary of the Interior. The "usual number" shall not be printed.

Inserting
forbidden.

No report, document, or publication of any kind distributed by or from an Executive Department or bureau of the Government shall contain any notice that the same is sent with "the compliments" of an officer of the Government, or with any special notice that it is so sent, except that notice that it has been sent, with a request for an acknowledgment of its receipt, may be given.

SEC. 74. Government publications furnished to judicial and executive officers of the United States for their official use shall not become the property of these officers, but on the expiration of their official term shall be by them delivered to their successors in office and all Government publications delivered to designated depositories or other libraries shall be for public use without charge.

Publications to officials.

SEC. 75. Documents and reports may be furnished to foreign legations to the United States upon request specifying those desired and requisition made upon the Public Printer by the Secretary of State: Provided, That such gratuitous distribution shall only be made to legations whose Governments furnish to legations from the United States copies of their printed and legislative documents desired.

p. 911, amended.

SEC. 77. The Secretary of the Navy is authorized to cause to be prepared at the Hydrographic Office attached to the Bureau of Navigation, in the Navy Department, maps, charts, and nautical books relating to and required in navigation, and to publish and furnish them to navigators at the cost of printing and paper, and to purchase the plates and copyrights of such existing maps, charts, navigators' sailing directions and instructions as he may consider necessary and when he may deem it expedient to do so, and under such regulations and instructions as he may prescribe.

Hydrographic Office charts, etc.
R. S., sec. 432,
p. 72.

All maps which may be received from the sale of maps, charts, and nautical books shall be paid by the Secretary of the Navy into the Treasury of the United States, to be used in the further preparation and publication of maps, charts, navigators' sailing directions, and instructions for the use of seamen, to be sold at the cost of printing and paper.

Receipts from sales.
R. S., sec. 433,
p. 72, amended.

SEC. 78. All appropriations made for the preparation or publication of foreign hydrographic surveys shall only be applicable to their object, upon the approval by the Secretary of the Navy, after a report from three competent naval officers to the effect that the original data for proposed charts are such as to justify their publication; and it is hereby made the duty of the Secretary of the Navy to Binding.

SEC. 81. Every public document of sufficient size on any one subject shall be bound separately, and receive the title suggested by the subject of the volume, which shall be the chief title, and the classification of the volume shall be placed on the back at the bottom, as simply indicating its classification and not as a part of the title.

Classification of documents.

The executive and miscellaneous documents and the reports of each House of Congress shall be designated as "House Documents," "Senate Documents," "House Reports," "Senate Reports," thus making two classes for each House, and each volume shall receive the title suggested by its subject matter clearly placed upon its back.

Bills and resolutions, bound sets.

SEC. 82. The Public Printer shall bind four sets of Senate and House of Representatives bills, joint and concurrent resolutions of each Congress, two for the Senate and two for the House, to be furnished him from the files of the Senate and House document room, the volumes when bound to be kept there for reference.

Committee reports.

SEC. 83. The Secretary of the Senate and Clerk of the House shall procure and file for the use of their respective Houses copies of all reports made by committees, and they are hereby directed at the close of each session of Congress to cause such reports to be indexed and bound, one copy to be deposited in the library of each House and one copy in the room of the committee from which the reports emanate.

Binding bonds, etc.
R. S., sec. 3787,
p. 744.

SEC. 84. Registered bonds and written records may be bound at the Treasury Department.

Franking documents.

SEC. 85. The Vice-President, Senators, Representatives, and Delegates in Congress, the Secretary of the Senate, and Clerk of the House of Representatives may send and receive through the mail all public documents printed by order of Congress; and the name of the Vice-President, Senator, Representative, Delegate, Secretary of the Senate, and Clerk of the House shall be written thereon, with the proper designation of the office he holds; and the provisions of this section shall apply to each of the persons named therein until the first day of December following the expiration of their respective terms of office.

Correspondence, etc., free.

The Vice-President, members and members-elect of and Delegates and Delegates-elect to Congress shall have the privilege of sending free through the mails, and under their frank, any mail matter to any Government official or to any person, correspondence, not exceeding one ounce in weight, upon official or departmental business.

SEC. 86. No printing or binding shall be done at the Government Printing Office unless authorized by law. Binding for the Departments of the Government shall be done in plain sheep or cloth, except that record and account books may be bound in Russia leather, sheep fleshers, and skivers, when authorized by the head of a Department: Provided, The libraries of the several Departments, the Library of Congress, the libraries of the Surgeon-General's Office, the Patent Office, and the Naval Observatory may have books for the exclusive use of said libraries bound in half Turkey, or material no more expensive.

Work must be authorized.

SEC. 91. The annual reports of executive officers shall be printed in the same type and form as the report of the head of the Department which it accompanies, unless otherwise ordered by the Joint Committee on Printing.

Departmental distribution.

SEC. 92. Government publications printed for or received by the Executive Departments, whether for official use or for distribution, shall be distributed by a competent person detailed to such duty in each Department by the head thereof. He shall keep an account in detail of all publications received and distributed by him. He shall prevent duplication, and make detailed report to the head of the Department, who shall transmit the same annually to Congress.

Work for Departments, etc.

SEC. 93. When any Department, the Supreme Court, the Court of Claims, or the Library of Congress shall require printing or binding to be done, it shall be on certificate that such work be necessary for the public service; whereupon the Public Printer shall furnish an estimate of the cost by the principal items for such printing or binding so called for, after which requisitions shall be made upon him therefor by the head of such Department, the Clerk of the Supreme Court, Chief Justice of the Court of Claims, or the Librarian of Congress; and the Public Printer shall place the cost thereof to the debit of such Department in its annual appropriation for printing and binding.

SEC. 882. Copies of any books, records, papers, or documents in any of the Executive Departments, authenticated under the seals of such Departments, respectively, shall be admitted in evidence equally with the originals thereof.

SEC. 883. Copies of any documents, records, books, or papers in the office of the Solicitor of the Treasury, certified by him under the seal of his office, or, when his office is vacant, by the officer acting as Solicitor for the time, shall be evidence equally with the originals.

SEC. 886. When suit is brought in any case of delinquency of a revenue officer, or other person accountable for public money, a transcript from the books and proceedings of the Treasury Department, certified by the Register and authenticated under the Seal of the Department, or, when the suit involves the accounts of the War or Navy Departments, certified by the Auditors respectively charged with the examination of those accounts, and authenticated under the seal of the Treasury Department, shall be admitted in evidence.

Note 1.—The heads of the Departments are not bound to produce papers or disclose information communicated to them where, in their judgment, the disclosures would, on public considerations, be inexpedient. (Op., XI, 137, Speed.)

In general, only such communications as are made in the course of their official duties by the persons making them come within the rule of privileged communications, and are confidential under all circumstances. Other cases may occur (stated in this opinion) in which a Department would be justified in representing to a court that upon public considerations it declined to furnish such communications. (Op., XV, 415, Devens, Dec. 17, 1877. See also XV, 378.)

In furnishing copies a distinction will properly be made between documents in the nature of permanent records, such as general or special orders, muster rolls, discharges of soldiers, commissions of officers, &c., and the reports and communications of officers addressed to military superiors or to the Secretary of War in the line of their official duty. The latter are generally regarded as privileged communications which even the courts, on grounds of public policy, will in general hold to be incompetent testimony, and of which they will refuse to require the production in evidence. (Winthrop's Digest, p. 350.)

An official memorandum indorsed on an account as a direction to his subordinates by the head of a Department is not a matter of record of which the public or persons dealing with the Department must take notice. (C. C., XIII, 72.)

All collections of natural history and the like, and all field notes and other like local information, taken or obtained by any public officer, civil or military, in the line of his duty, belong to the Government. They may lawfully make collections and take notes for their own use, provided the same be done without neglect of public duty or expense to the Government, and provided also that it be done without violation of superior order in their respective Departments. (Op., VI, 599, Cushing, 24 June, 1854.)

The records of an Executive Department need not be produced in evidence in court, but their contents may be shown by authenticated copies. (C. C., II, 451. Nock's case. But see Op.)

A party can not, by replevin, take papers from the public archives on the allegation of their being private property, by a writ against the head of a Department or other public officer. The archives are in the possession of the United States. (Op., VI, 8, Cushing, March 25, 1853.)

Recommendations for office are not papers or documents required to be kept by the Departments in which they are deposited—filed for the convenience of applicants who are allowed to withdraw them whenever they desire to do so. Such applicants can properly be permitted to see objections that may have been filed against themselves (subject to the limitation, however, that the permission should only be given where the communication is not in its nature privileged) in order that they may, if possible, answer or remove them. The files of the Departments ought not to be submitted to a search, upon the application of a newspaper, with a view to ascertain what persons have been recommended for office by a certain Senator and Representative in Congress. Copies of such papers should not be furnished unless the applicant appears himself to have been directly affected by the writing of a letter of which he demands a copy. (Op., 342, Devens, July 28, 1877.)

Note 2.—The account of a delinquent officer, as finally adjusted by the accounting officers, is not admissible as evidence under sec. 886, R. S., unless it be certified and authenticated to be a transcript from the books and proceedings of that Department. A certificate that the transcript annexed is a copy of the original on file is the form used in reference to mere copies of bonds, contracts, or other papers connected with the final adjustment. (Otto, 102, 548.)

ted as evidence, and the court trying the cause shall be authorized to grant judgment and award execution accordingly. And all copies of bonds, contracts, or other papers relating to, or connected with, the settlement of any account between the United States and an individual, when certified by the Register, or by such Auditor, as the case may be, to be true copies of the originals on file, and authenticated under the seal of the Department, may be annexed to such transcripts, and shall have equal validity, and be entitled to the same degree of credit which would be due to the original papers if produced and authenticated in court: Provided, That where suit is brought upon a bond or other sealed instrument, and the defendant pleads "non est factum," or makes his motion to the court, verifying such plea or motion by his oath, the court may take the same into consideration, and, if it appears to be necessary for the attainment of justice, may require the production of the original bond, contract, or other paper specified in such affidavit.

SEC. 887. Upon the trial of any indictment against any person for embezzling public moneys, it shall be sufficient evidence, for the purpose of showing a balance against such person, to produce a transcript from the books and proceedings of the Treasury Department, as provided by the preceding section.

SEC. 888. A copy of any return of a contract returned and filed in the returns-office of the Department of the Interior, as provided by law, when certified by the clerk of the said office to be full and complete, and when authenticated by the seal of the Department, shall be evidence in any prosecution against any officer for falsely and corruptly swearing to the affidavit required by law to be made by such officer in making his return of any contract, as required by law, to said returns-office.

SEC. 896. Copies of all official documents and papers in the office of any consul, vice-consul, or commercial agent of the United States, and of all official entries in the books or records of any such office, certified under the hand and seal of such officer, shall be admitted in evidence in the courts of the United States.

SEC. 908. The edition of the laws and treaties of the United States, published by Little & Brown, shall be competent evidence of the several public and private acts of Congress, and of the several treaties therein contained, in all the courts of law and equity and of maritime jurisdiction, and in all the tribunals and public offices of the United States, and of the several States, without any further proof or authentication thereof.

SEC. 1778. In all cases in which, under the laws of the United States, oaths or acknowledgments may now be taken or made before any justice of the peace of any State or Territory, or in the District of Columbia, they may hereafter be also taken or made by before any notary public duly appointed in any State, district, or Territory, or any of the SEC. 355. No public money shall be expended upon any site or land purchased by the United States for the purposes of erecting thereon any armory, arsenal, fort, fortification, navy-yard, custom-house, light-house, or other public building, of any kind whatever, until the written opinion of the Attorney-General shall be had in favor of the validity of the title, nor until the consent of the legislature of the State in which the land or site may be, to such purchase, has been given. The district attorneys of the United States, upon the application of the Attorney-General, shall furnish any assistance or information in their power in relation to the titles of the public property lying within their respective districts. And the Secretaries of the Departments, upon the application of the Attorney-General, shall procure any additional evidence of title which he may deem necessary, and which may not be in the possession of the officers of the Government, and the expense of procuring it shall be paid out of the appropriations made for the contingencies of the Departments respectively.

SEC. 1838. The President of the United States is authorized to procure the assent of the legislature of any State, within which any purchase of land has been made for the erection of forts, magazines, arsenals, dock-yards, and other needful buildings, without such consent having been obtained.

SEC. 3733. No contract shall be entered into for the erection, repair, or furnishing, of any public building, or for any public improvement which shall bind the Government to pay a larger sum of money than the amount in the Treasury appropriated for the specific purpose.

SEC. 3734. Before any new buildings for the use of the United States are commenced, the plans and full estimates therefor shall be prepared and approved by the Secretary of the Treasury, the Postmaster-General, and the Secretary of the Interior; and the cost of each building shall not exceed the amount of such estimate.

SEC. 3736. No land shall be purchased on account of the United States, except under a law authorizing such purchase.

That in every case in which the Secretary of the Treasury or any other officer of the Government has been, or hereafter shall be, authorized to procure real estate for the erection of a public building or for other public uses he shall be, and hereby is, authorized to acquire the same for the United

SEC. 5503. Every officer of the Government who knowingly contracts for the erection, repair, or furnishing of any public building, or for any public improvement, to pay a larger amount than the specific sum appropriated for such purpose, shall be punished by imprisonment not less than six months nor more than two years, and shall pay a fine of two thousand dollars.

Note 2.—In addition to this act the following others appear to be in force authorizing or regulating the taking of private property for public use:

Revised Statutes, §§ 4870-4872, authorizing the Secretary of War to purchase land for national cemeteries, or obtain the same by appraisement and payment, after application to the proper circuit or district court.

1875, March 3, ch. 130, par. 2, ante, p. 72, authorizing the Secretary of the Treasury to acquire, by donation or purchase, the right to occupy sites for life-saving stations, &c.

1883, March 3, ch. 143, par. 1, ante, p. 420, authorizing the Secretary of the Treasury to acquire land for public buildings and light-houses by private purchase or condemnation, and to defray the expenses incident to the procuring of sites from the appropriations for the construction of the buildings. (See 18 Opins., 174, 484.)

1888, April 24, ch. 194, ante, p. 584, authorizing the Secretary of War to cause proceedings to be instituted for the condemnation of any land, right of way, or material required for the improvement of rivers and harbors, or in his discretion to purchase the same or accept donations of lands or materials.

1889, March 2, ch. 370, par. 4, post, p. 677, prohibiting the Commissioners of the District of Columbia from employing agents in making purchases of school sites, &c., in certain cases.

1890, August 6, ch. 724, par. 4, post, p. 777, extending to the Commissioners of the District of Columbia the powers conferred on the officers of the United States by the act in the text, and regulating the preparation of plans, &c., for the buildings.

1890, August 18, ch. 797, post, p. 780, authorizing the Secretary of War to cause proceedings to be instituted for the condemnation of any land or right pertaining thereto, for fortifications and coast defenses, or to purchase the same or accept donations of such lands or rights. (See 45 Fed. Rep., 546.)

1890, August 30, ch. 837, §§ 2, 3, post, p. 793, which, after providing for the acquisition of land by purchase or condemnation for the purposes of the Government Printing Office, directs that hereafter the same provisions shall apply to all cases of the taking of property in the District of Columbia for public use.

Previous to the passage of the last-named act the proceedings in the District in taking private property for public use had not been uniform. In increasing the water supply, for instance, three appraisers were to be appointed, but the owner, if dissatisfied with their valuation, might apply to the Court of Claims, (22 Stat. L., 163, 169); while on the other hand the proceedings in the acquisition of land for the Library of Congress were to be conducted (24 Stat. L., 12, 13.) "in the manner provided with reference to the taking of land for highways in the District of Columbia," the provisions as to which are contained in R. S. of D. C., §§ 252-265.

On the construction of the act in the text, see 45 Fed. Rep., 396, 19 Opins., 673. As to how far these acts are only declaratory of powers already possessed by the officers named, see 91 U. S. 367; 16 Opins., 329; 17 Opins., 509; 18 Opins., 352. As to damages recoverable in such cases, see 25 C. Cls., 87, 277, 329.

Note 3.—The Government can purchase land in a State without the consent of the legislature, but can not without that consent exercise exclusive jurisdiction. The joint resolutions of September 11, 1341 (Stat. L., v. 5, p. 468), do not forbid the payment of the purchase money of any site for the purpose of erecting buildings before the consent of the legislature is obtained, but prohibit the expenditure of public money upon improvements before such consent. to a consent, any exceptions, reservations, or qualifications contained in the act are void. (Op., X, 35, May 6, 1861, Bates. See also Op., XV, 212, Devens, Mar. 27, 1877.)

A purchase of land by the Executive without the authority of law is an illegal act. (Op., XI, 201, Speed, Apr. 20, 1865.)

Where a contract is made for the purchase of property for Government purposes, and the head of a Department refuses to take it, the Attorney-General declaring the title defective, the contract is at an end. A succeeding Secretary can not reconsider except upon new evidence, etc. (Op., IX, 100, Black, Sept. 26, 1857.)

Compensation to district attorneys for examining titles proper. The amount may be agreed on in advance or fixed after the work is completed. (Op., XI, 433, Speed, May 8, 1876. See also Op., XIII, 15.)

The discretion given in an act to acquire by purchase or condemnation a lot of land for a public building does not extend to "acquisition" of adjoining land. Authority to purchase in the act does not include authority to acquire by condemnation. In statutes, generally, the word purchase is employed in a sense not technical, only as acquisition by agreement with and conveyance from the owners without governmental interference. (Op., XVI, 226, Devens, May 14, 1879.) But this opinion was rendered before the passage of the act of Aug. 1, 1888, ante; under which authority to purchase real estate for the Government carries with it authority to condemn.

The United States can not accept a cession of jurisdiction from a State coupled with a condition that crimes committed within the limits of the jurisdiction ceded shall continue to be punished by the courts of the State. (Op., VIII, 419, Cushing.)

See Op., IX, 528, and the Regulations of the Department of Justice, published in General Orders, War Department, May 13, 1881, concerning examination and evidence of titles of lands to be conveyed to the United States.

The act of a legislature of a State giving consent to the purchase of site for naval purposes is sufficient authority for the expenditure of money in its purchase, if the title is certified to. (Op., IX, 129, Black, Nov. 23, 1877.) It is such a cession of jurisdiction that is contemplated by the joint resolution of September 11, 1848. (Op., IX, p. 263.)

The term purchase embraces any mode of acquiring property other than by descent. The Secretary of War can not accept a gift of land or interest in land, for any use or purpose, independently of statute authority. Public money can not be expended for the erection of a public building upon land donated to the United States, until the Attorney-General has passed the title and the legislature of the State granted jurisdiction. (Winthrop's Digest, 406. See also this Digest for other important decisions and rulings on the subject of public lands and property; and against the power of the heads of the executive departments to lease, give away, or dispose in any manner of such land or property without authority of Congress. See also Op., IV, 480.)

Where land is donated to the United States for a site for a public building, for which an appropriation was made by Congress: Held, That the consent of the legislature of the State to the grant is required before any part of the appropriation can be lawfully expended in the erection of the building. (Op., XVI, 414, Devens, Jan. 7, 1880.)

Lands purchased and reserved by the United States for light-house, barracks, navy-yards, and other like purposes are not included in the designation of "public lands." Lands so purchased or reserved are in law and in fact severed from the public domain, and no subsequent law or warrant authorizing the appropriation of "public lands" would be construed to embrace land so purchased or reserved. (Op., V, 578, Aug. 1, 1852, Crittenden.)

An act appropriating for a movable dam impliedly authorizes the purchase with the approval of the Secretary of War, of such land as is necessary for the construction of the dam. Payment of the purchase money may be made though the legislature of the State has not consented to the purchase. Expenditures for structures or improvements can not be made upon land already purchased until the consent of the State is obtained. (Op., XV, p. 212, Devens, Mar. 27, 1877.)

Flow of water to be shut off. [Sundry civil act.]

And hereafter no money shall be paid nor contracts made for payment for any site for a public building in excess of the amount specifically appropriated therefor; and no money shall be expended upon any public building on which work has not yet been actually begun until after drawings and specifications together with detailed estimates of the cost thereof, shall have been made by the Supervising Architect of the Treasury Department, and said plans and estimates shall have been approved by the Secretary of the Treasury, Secretary of the Interior, and the Postmaster-General; and all appropriations made for the construction of such building shall be expended within the limitations of the act authorizing the same or limiting the cost thereof; and no change of said plan involving an increase of expense exceeding ten per centum of the amount to which said building was limited shall be allowed or paid by any officer of the Government without the special authority of Congress.

Mar. 3, 1875.

Ch. 130, v. 18, p. 395. Payments, contracts, etc., for public buildings. See note 1.

Note 1.—The Secretary of the Navy has no authority to grant permission to a city to extend a sewer through the public grounds so as to confer any legal title or right upon the city to maintain the sewer through the grounds. A mere license for the use of the premises is revocable at all times. A legal right to construct and maintain a sewer would have to be granted by Congress. (Op., XVI, 152, Oct. 1, 1878, Devens.)

Territory over which exclusive jurisdiction has been ceded to the United States is subject only to the laws of Congress. Where land is granted by a State to the General Government, reserving a concurrent jurisdiction in executing process within for offenses committed without such tract, the United States have exclusive jurisdiction of offenses committed within the ceded territory. The purchase of land by the General Government for public purposes within the territorial limits of a State, does not, of itself, oust the State jurisdiction therein. Exclusive jurisdiction is the necessary attendant on exclusive legislation. When, therefore, a State legislature has given its consent to a purchase of land by the General Government for the purposes enumerated in the Constitution, the State jurisdiction is completely ousted. (Brightley's Federal Digest, pp. 147, 148, giving numerous authorities and decisions of the courts.)

An officer in command of a military post has the right to protect it by force from occupation or injury at the hands of trespassers. One caution should be observed, however, that in executing this duty there should be no unnecessary or wanton harm done either to persons or property. (Op., IX, 476, Black, Sept. 24, 1860.)

Where the Government executes a lease with a full knowledge of the condition of the building leased and with no agreement that the lessor shall make repairs it can not make them at his expense. (C. C., IV, 526.)

Premises occupied by the Government under an implied lease; claim presented, which is reduced and paid, owner accepting and receipting without protest. He is excluded from afterward seeking to recover the difference. (C. C., VIII, 521.) Where there is an express agreement to repair, tenant is liable for loss by accidental fire. Liability attaches although there be no express covenant as to fire. Otherwise where there is no agreement to keep in repair (C. C., IX, 479). Premises rented at a specific rate per month, after expiration of a year lessee notified lessor that the rent must be reduced. The lessor allows the lessee to continue, receiving monthly rent at the reduced rate and giving receipts therefor in full. He thereby consents to change in the original contract (C. C., V, 508.)

Where the President has given permission to a railroad or a telegraph company to run lines through the public property, the license is revocable at his pleasure. (Op., XVI, 205, Devens, Nov. 22, 1878.)

Persons who reside on lands purchased by or ceded to the United States, forts and arsenals, and where there is no other reservation or jurisdiction to the State than that of a right to serve civil and criminal process on such lands, are not entitled to the benefits of common schools for their children in the towns in which the lands are situated; nor are they liable to be assessed for their polls and estates to State, county, and town taxes in such towns; nor do they gain a settlement in such towns for themselves or their children by a residence for any length of time on such lands; nor do they acquire by residing on such lands any elective franchise as inhabitants of such towns. SEC. 3. That in all cases of receiving on board of any scows or boats such forbidden matter or substance as herein described, it shall be the duty of the owner or master, or person acting in such capacity, on board of such scows or boats, before proceeding to take or tow the same to the place of deposit, to apply for and obtain from the supervisor of the harbor appointed hereunder a permit defining the precise limits within which the discharge of such scows or boats may be made;

 permit, a misdemeanor.
 19 Opins., 317.

And any deviation from such dumping or discharging place specified in such permit shall be a misdemeanor within the meaning of this act; and the master and engineer, or person or persons acting in such capacity, on board of any tow-boat towing such scows or boats, shall be equally guilty of such offense with the master or person acting in the capacity of master of the scow, and be liable to equal punishment.

Disposal of dredged matter.

SEC. 4. That all mud, dirt, sand, dredgings, and material of every kind and description whatever taken, dredged, or excavated from any slip, basin, or shoal in the harbor of

New York, or the waters adjacent or tributary thereto, and placed on any boat, scow, or vessel for the purpose of being taken or towed upon the waters of the harbor of New York to a place of deposit, shall be deposited and discharged at such place or within such limits as shall be defined and specified by the supervisor of the harbor, as in the third section of this act prescribed, and not otherwise.

Every person, firm, or corporation being the owner of any slip, basin, or shoal, from which such mud, dirt, sand, dredgings, and material shall be taken, dredged, or excavated, and every person, firm, or corporation in any manner engaged in the work of dredging or excavating any such slip, basin, or shoal, or of removing such mud, dirt, sand, or dredgings therefrom, shall severally be responsible for the deposit and discharge of all such mud, dirt, sand, or dredgings at such place or within such limits so defined and prescribed by said supervisor of the harbor; and for every violation of the provisions of this section the person offending shall be guilty of an offense against this act, and shall be punished by a fine equal to the sum of five dollars for every cubic yard of mud, dirt, sand, dredgings, or material not deposited or discharged as required by this section.

Any boat or vessel used or employed in violating any provision of this act, shall be liable to the pecuniary penalties imposed thereby, and may be proceeded against, summarily by way of libel in any district court of the United States, having jurisdiction thereof. Legal proceedings.

SEC. 5. That a line officer of the Navy shall be designated by the President of the United States as supervisor of the harbor, to act under the direction of the Secretary of War in enforcing the provisions of this act, and in detecting offenders against the same. This officer shall receive the sea-pay of his grade, and shall have personal charge and supervision under the Secretary of War, and shall direct the patrol boats and other means to detect and bring to punishment offenders against the provisions of this act. Line officer of Navy to be appointed supervisor of harbor. See "Line officers" of the Navy," sec. 1362.

Such appraisal shall be made by boards of officers of the Navy to be designated by the Secretary; and all such stores and supplies as shall be found by boards of appraisers to be unserviceable for use in the Navy, shall be condemned and sold in the manner hereinafter provided for the sale of old Appraisers.

Duty of Secretary of the Treasury.

Duty of the Secretary of War.

Note 1.—Sec. 3755 of the Revised Statutes (resolution of June 21, 1870, v. 16, p. 380) authorizes the Secretary of the Treasury to make such contracts and provisions as he may deem for the interest of the Government for the preservation, sale, or collection of any property, or the proceeds thereof, which may have been wrecked, abandoned, or become derelict, being within the jurisdiction of the United States, and which ought to come to the United States, * * * [But see following.]

An act approved June 14, 1880 (sec. 4, chap. 211, v. 21, p. 197), provides that "whenever hereafter the navigation of any river, lake, harbor, bay, or other navigable water of the United States, shall be obstructed or endangered by any sunken vessel or water-craft, it shall be the duty of the Secretary of War, upon satisfactory information thereof, to cause reasonable notice of not less than thirty days to be given, personally or by publication at least once a week in the newspaper published nearest the locality of such sunken vessel or craft, to all persons interested in such vessel or craft, or in the cargo thereof, of the purpose of said Secretary, unless such vessel or craft shall be removed as soon thereafter as practicable by the parties interested therein, to cause the same to be removed." If not removed, the Secretary treats the same as abandoned and derelict, and proceeds to remove it, sells it to the highest bidder for cash, after due notice, and deposits the proceeds in the Treasury to the credit of a fund for the removal of such obstructions to navigation. The provisions of this act apply to all such wrecks whether removed under this or any other act of Congress.

An act of August 2, 1882 (chap. 375, v. 22, p. 208), enlarges the power given the Secretary of War by the act of June 14, 1880, so that he may, in his discretion, sell and dispose of any such vessel, or cargo, or property therein, before the raising or removal thereof.

materials, and the proceeds thereof, after deducting the cost of such appraisal, condemnation, and sale, shall be paid into the Treasury. And no old material of the Navy shall hereafter be sold or exchanged by the Secretary of the Navy, or by any officer of the Navy, which can be profitably used by reworking or otherwise in the construction or repair of vessels, their machinery, armor, armament, or equipment; but the same shall be stored and preserved for future use. And when any such old material cannot be profitably used as aforesaid, the same shall be appraised and sold at public auction after public notice and advertisement shall have been given according to law under such rules and regulations and in such manner as the said Secretary may direct. The net proceeds arising from the sales of such old materials shall be paid into the Treasury. It shall be the duty of the Secretary of the Navy annually to report in detail to Congress, in his annual report, the proceeds of all sales of materials, stores, and supplies, made under the provisions of this act, and the expenses attending such sales.

Accrued rights reserved.

SEC. 5597. The repeal of the several acts embraced in said revision, shall not affect any act done, or any right accruing or accrued, or any suit or proceeding had or commenced in any civil cause before the said repeal, but all rights and liabilities under said acts shall continue, and may be enforced in the same manner, as if said repeal had not been made; nor shall said repeal, in any manner affect the right to any office, or change the term or tenure thereof.

Prosecutions and punishments.

SEC. 5598. All offenses committed, and all penalties or forfeitures incurred under any statute embraced in said revision prior to said repeal, may be prosecuted and punished in the same manner and with the same effect, as if said repeal had not been made.

Acts of limitation.

SEC. 5599. All acts of limitation, whether applicable to civil causes and proceedings, or to the prosecution of offenses, or for the recovery of penalties or forfeitures, embraced in said revision and covered by said repeal, shall not be affected thereby, but all suits, proceedings or prosecutions, whether civil or criminal, for causes arising, or acts done or committed prior to said repeal, may be commenced and prosecuted within the same time as if said repeal had not been made.

SEC. 5600. The arrangement and classification of the several sections of the revision have been made for the purpose of a more convenient and orderly arrangement of the same, and therefore no inference or presumption of a legislative construction is to be drawn by reason of the Title, under which any particular section is placed.

Arrangement and classification of sections.

SEC. 5601. The enactment of the said revision is not to affect or repeal any act of Congress passed since the 1st day of December, one thousand eight hundred and seventy-three, and all acts passed since that date are to have full effect as if passed after the enactment of this revision, and so far as such acts vary from, or conflict with any provision contained in said revision, they are to have effect as subsequent statutes, and as repealing any portion of the revision inconsistent therewith.

Acts passed since Dec. 1, 1873, not affected. June 22, 1874.

SEC. 204. Whenever a bill, order, resolution or vote of the Senate and House of Representatives, having been approved by the President, or not having been returned by him with his objections, becomes a law or takes effect, it shall forthwith be received by the Secretary of State from the President; and whenever a bill, order, resolution, or vote is returned by the President with his objections, and, on being reconsidered, is agreed to be passed, and is approved by two-thirds of both Houses of Congress, and thereby becomes a law or takes effect, it shall be received by the Secretary of State from the President of the Senate, or Speaker of the House of Representatives in whichsoever House it shall last have been so approved, and he shall carefully preserve the originals.

U. S. Statutes sold by Supt. Documents.
See p. 238.

SEC. 4. Hereafter the Secretary of State shall cause to be delivered to the Superintendent of Documents the Revised Statutes, supplements thereto, session laws, and Statutes at Large, to supply deficiencies, and to be sold by him under the provisions of section sixty-one of the Act approved January twelfth, eighteen hundred and ninety-five, entitled "An Act providing for the public printing and binding and distribution of public documents."

[The statutes of the United States are edited, printed, stereotyped and distributed, in accordance with law, under the direction of the Secretary of State. They are sold at the cost of the paper, presswork, and binding, with ten per cent added thereto, to any person applying for the same.]

Under section 8 of the act of Congress approved June 20, 1874, vol. 18, p. 113, the printed copies of the acts of Congress, as edited and

Note 1.—Whenever a power is given by a statute everything necessary to the making of it effectual or requisite to attain the end is implied. (1 Kent's Com., 464; Quoted in Op., XV, p. 213.)

Where power is given by a statute to public officers in permissive language, as they "may if deemed advisable" do certain thing, the language used will be regarded as peremptory when the public interests or individual rights require that it should be. (Wallace, S. C., IV, p. 709.)

Where a statute imposes a particular duty on an executive officer and he has acted (performing the duty to his understanding of the statute) there is no appeal from his action to the President or to any other executive officer, unless such appeal is provided for by law. (Op., XVI, 317, Devens, May 2, 1879.)

When the intent and meaning of a statute is expressly declared by a provision therein, to carry out that intent all other parts of the act must yield. A proviso in an act "repugnant to the purview thereof is not void, but stands as the last expression of the legislative will." (Op., XV, p. 74. Quotes Farmers' Bank v. Hale, 59 N. Y., 53.)

A general repealing clause, such as is often introduced at the close of enactments, may make the legislative intent clearer, but it is not necessary to give effect to the legislation otherwise expressed. (C. C., XX, 323. Fisher's case.)

A later statute, in the affirmative and general, does not take away a former act which is particular and special. Sundry cases cited. (Op., VI, p. 45, Cushing.)

An earlier law is never to be taken as repealed by a later, without words to that effect, unless they be so inconsistent that both cannot stand together. (Op., IX, p. 48, Black.) The earlier is never abrogated by the later unless the two are so flatly repugnant that they can not possibly stand together. Any reasonable interpretation is to be adopted which may be necessary to prevent one from interfering with the other. (Idem, p. 122.)

No statute, however positive in terms, is to be construed as designed to interfere with existing rights of action or vested rights unless the intention that it should so operate is expressly declared or necessarily implied. (C. C., IX, p. 106, S. C., Wallace, XX, p. 179.)

A statute may not be repealed, yet its subject-matter may expire and the act become inoperative. (C. C., III, 152, Wallace, 62.)

In all statute law, the particular provision, especially whenever subsequent, restrains and modifies the general. (Op., IV, p. 182.)

In construing statutes aid may be derived from attention to the state of things as it appeared to the legislature when the statute was enacted. (S. C., Otto, 99, p. 48.)

The principle is well settled that statutes are to be construed as operative prospectively only, unless their language clearly and imperatively demands that retrospective effect shall be given them. (Op., XV, pp. 222, 259.) A retroactive effect, especially when it would be a violation of contracts, is not to be given to the words of a statute unless they are too express to admit of any other interpretation. (Op., IV, p. 141.)

No effect can be given by the judiciary to an act of Congress which seeks to declare retrospectively the legal effect to be given to other statutes. (C. C., VII, 109 Wallace, VIII, 330.)

Every law is presumed to be prospective in its operation unless the contrary clearly appears. (Op., XV, 183.)

printed and issued under the direction of the Secretary of State, are "legal evidence of the laws and treaties therein contained, in all the courts of the United States and of the several States therein."

The sixth section of the act of Congress approved June 20, 1874, provides for the distribution to the Navy Department, including those for the use of the officers of the Navy, of one hundred copies of the pamphlet edition of the acts and resolves of Congress at the close of each session; and the seventh section of the same act provides for distribution of the bound copies of the Statutes at Large for each Congress as follows: "To the Navy Department, including a copy for the library at the Naval Academy at Annapolis, a copy for the library of each navy-yard in the United States, a copy for the library of the Brooklyn Naval Lyceum, and a copy for the library of the Naval Institute at Charlestown, Mass., sixty-five copies." * * *

Joint Resolution No. 22, approved May 22, 1878, v. 20, p. 251, provided for the distribution of the second edition of the Revised Statutes recently printed: To the "Navy Department, including three copies for the library of the Naval Academy at Annapolis, a copy for the library of each navy-yard in the United States, a copy for the Brooklyn Naval Lyceum, and a copy for the library of the Naval Institute at Charlestown, Mass., seventy copies."

Joint Resolution No. 44, approved June 7, 1880, v. 21, p. 308, provides for the publication, sale, and distribution of a "supplement to the Revised Statutes." This supplement is "to be taken to be prima facie evidence of the laws therein contained in all the courts of the United States and of the several States and Territories therein; but shall not preclude reference to, nor control, in case of any discrepancy, the effect of any original act as passed by Congress: Provided, That nothing herein contained shall be construed to change or alter any existing law."

The acts approved March 2, 1877, chap. 82, s. 4, v. 19, p. 268, and March 9, 1878, chap. 26, v. 20, p. 27, provide that after the second edition of the Revised Statutes is certified to under the seal of the Secretary of State and when printed and promulgated "shall be legal evidence of the laws therein contained, in all the courts of the United States, and of the several States and Territories, but shall not preclude reference to, nor control, in case of any discrepancy, the effect of any original act as passed by Congress since the first day of December, eighteen hundred and seventy-three."]

Note 1.—Sections 1781 and 1782 make it illegal for an officer of the United States to have that sort of connection with a Government contract which an agent, attorney, or solicitor assumes when he procures or aids to procure such contract for another, and when he prosecutes for another against the Government any claim founded upon a Government contract. They forbid also, the receiving by officers, for such services, any compensation, including that of an interest in the contract. (Op., XIV, 463, Oct. 29, 1874, Williams.)

SEC. 1782. No Senator, Representative, or Delegate, after his election and during his continuance in office, and no head of a Department, or other officer or clerk in the employ of the Government, shall receive or agree to receive any compensation whatever, directly or indirectly, for any services rendered, or to be rendered, to any person, either by himself or another, in relation to any proceeding, contract, claim, controversy, charge, accusation, arrest, or other matter or thing in which the United States is a party, or directly or indirectly interested, before any Department, court-martial, Bureau, officer, or any civil, military, or naval commission whatever. Every person offending against this section shall be deemed guilty of a misdemeanor, and shall be imprisoned not more than two years, and fined not more than ten thousand dollars, and shall, moreover, by conviction therefor, be rendered forever thereafter incapable of holding any office of honor, trust, or profit under the Government of the United States.

As to bounty for the capture of vessels engaged in the slave trade with Africans on board, see under Slave Trade.
See note 1.

SEC. 4635. A bounty shall be paid by the United States for each person on board any ship or vessel of war belonging to an enemy at the commencement of an engagement, which is sunk or otherwise destroyed in such engagement by any ship or vessel belonging to the United States or which it may be necessary to destroy in consequence of injuries sustained in action, of one hundred dollars, if the enemy's vessel was of inferior force, and of two hundred dollars, if of equal or superior force, to be divided among the officers and crew in the same manner as prize-money; and when the actual number of men on board any such vessel cannot be satisfactorily ascertained, it shall be estimated according to the complement allowed to vessels of its class in the Navy of the United States; and there shall be paid as bounty to the captors of any vessel of war captured from an enemy, which they may be instructed to destroy, or which is immediately destroyed for the public interest, but not in consequence of injuries received in action, fifty dollars for every person who shall be on board at the time of such capture.

Note 1.—The term "allowances," when employed in a general sense, has been regarded as including bounty. Thus, see XIII, Op., 197, where it is held that the general forfeiture of pay and allowances due at the date of offense, imposed upon deserters by paragraph 1358, Army Regulations, embraced instalments of bounty due at the time of the desertion; also United States v. Landers, 2 Otto, 77, where the court goes so far as to hold that a forfeiture of "pay and allowances" imposed by sentence, includes bounty. (Winthrop's Digest, p. 132.)

Service rendered since the 3d of March, 1855, including the late rebellion, does not entitle to bounty lands. Only one warrant for one hundred and sixty acres can issue to a soldier for any and all service.

Where service has been rendered by a substitute, he is the person entitled to bounty land, and not his employer.

Applications for bounty-land warrants must be made to the Commissioner of Pensions; correspondence in relation to bounty in money should be addressed to the Second Auditor of the Treasury. (Pension Office Decisions.)

Officers and privates dismissed the service without trial, and remanded to the service, by the President, but who, not receiving the order of the President, did not return to the service, are, notwithstanding, entitled to bounty land. (Pension Office Decisions.)

Where any portion of the Marine Corps in the several wars referred to in the act of September 28, 1850, was embodied with the Army in the field and performed service as a part of the Army, it is entitled to bounty land. (Idem.)

The word "service" in bounty-land acts refers to that of the soldier, not of his company.

Claim of a soldier can be valid only on one of the following conditions: 1. Must have been regularly mustered into the United States service. 2. That the services were paid for by the United States. 3. That he served with the armed forces of the United States, subject to the military orders of a United States officer. (Idem.)

The entire portion of the Marine Corps, whether they served on shipboard or land on the Mexican coast or in the interior, in the Mexican war, are to be considered within the true meaning of the resolution of the 10th of August, 1848, as having "served with the Army in the war with Mexico," and entitled to the bounty land and other remuneration which that resolution provides. But in awarding it to such as received prize money, such money should, in the account, be carried to the credit of the Government. (Op., 5, p. 155, Sept. 17, 1849, Johnson.)

Under the act of March 3, 1855, and sections 2425 to 2429, R. S., members of the Marine Corps and their representatives would be entitled to bounty land without relinquishing or returning prize money, etc. (Pension Office Decisions.)

Not entitled to bounty land for service in a United States ship not engaged in the Mexican war; nor for service during the war in a war vessel on the coast of Africa. (Idem.)

Pardon by the President for participation in the late rebellion does not authorize the allowance of bounty land, the right to which is the subject of a claim against the Government and is governed by the provisions of the joint resolution of March 2, 1867. (Pension Office Decisions.)

Sec. 4642. All ransom money, salvage, bounty, or proceeds of condemned property accruing or awarded to any vessel of the Navy shall be distributed and paid to the officers and men entitled thereto, in the same manner as prize-money, under the direction of the Secretary of the Navy.

Distribution of bounty, etc.

Sec. 4643. Every assignment of prize or bounty money due to enlisted persons in the naval service, and all powers of attorney or other authority, to draw, receipt for, or transfer the same shall be void unless the same be attested by the captain or other commanding officer, and the paymaster.

Assignments of prize money and bounty.

[By s. 3689 of the R. S., "bounty to soldiers" is a permanent annual appropriation.]

SEC. 4723. All colored persons who enlisted in the Army during the war of the rebellion, and who are now prohibited from receiving bounty and pension on account of being borne on the rolls of their regiments as "slaves," shall be placed on the same footing, as to bounty and pension, as though they had not been slaves at the date of their enlistment.

Bounty for enlisting.
S. 1, v. 13, p. 379.
See note 2.

Note 1.—The foregoing act repeals the joint resolution of February 24, 1864, conferring on seamen and ordinary seamen a bounty equal to three months pay on their enlisting in the Navy.

Note 2.—April 22, 1872, chap. 114, v. 17, p. 55, authorizes $100 bounty to all volunteers who enlisted prior to July 22, 1861, for three years, and were mustered into service before August 6, 1861, if they were honorably discharged and had not received the same for such service.

Two and three years' men who enlisted between April 12, 1861, and December 24, 1863, or between April 1, 1864, and July 18, 1864, are entitled to $100 bounty under act of July 22, 1861, chap. 9, v. 12, p. 270, provided they served two years or more as enlisted men, or were honorably discharged as such on account of wounds received in line of duty before two years' service. If discharged before serving two years, and died before July 28, 1866, of disease contracted in the service, his heirs are entitled to the additional bounty under act of July 28, 1866, chap. 296, v. 14, p. 322. If a soldier died in the service, his heirs became entitled to any bounty to which the soldier would have been entitled under his contract.

The act of July 28, 1866, gave an additional bounty of $100 to men who enlisted and served for three years from April 19, 1861, and $50 to those who enlisted and served for two years from April 14, 1861. Not given to any one if the soldier was entitled to receive, at any time, a greater bounty than $100 under any other act or acts.

Drafted men, enrolled from March 3, 1863, to September 5, 1864, for three years, or men who, from March 3, 1863, to September 5, 1864, enlisted for three years as substitutes for drafted men, are only entitled by act of March 3, 1863, to $100 bounty, if they served two years or more, or were discharged by reason of wounds received in line of duty before two years' service. Neither they nor their heirs are entitled to additional bounty under act of July 28, 1866.

Under the act of July 4, 1864, v. 13, p. 379, if discharged "because of wounds received in the line of duty," the volunteer became entitled to the full amount of bounty therein provided; but if discharged "because of services no longer required," or by "close of war," he has no claim for balance of bounty.

All soldiers discharged by reason of wounds received in battle, or in line of duty, are entitled by acts of March 3, 1863, March 3, 1865, and joint resolution of April 12, 1866, to receive the same bounty they would have received had they served their full term of enlistment. The word wound is held to mean injury from violence received in line of duty. Bounty depends upon being discharged by reason of the wound.

No bounty is paid for enlistments made before April 12, 1861, nor for 100 days, or three, six, and nine months' men; nor for one year's men enlisting prior to July 18, 1864; nor to volunteers who enlisted after April 30, 1865. (From circular of Second Auditor, March 3, 1880.)

The same bounties (as to the duration of enlistment, amounts and modes of payment) are to be paid to "persons" of all grades who have, since the 1st of July, 1864, and if for a term of three years, unless sooner discharged, a bounty of three hundred dollars; one-third of which bounty shall be paid to the soldier at the time of his being mustered into the service, one-third at the expiration of one-half of his term of service, and one-third at the expiration of his term of service. And in case of his death while in service, the residue of his bounty unpaid shall be paid to his widow, if he shall have left a widow; if not, to his children, or if there be none, to his mother, if she be a widow.

[An act, approved March 3, 1865, chap. 124, s. 5, v. 13, p. 539, provides that no person appointed or rated an officer or clerk in the Navy, shall receive any bounty while holding such appointment.]

Title 56.

Mode of conducting surveys.
Mar. 3, 1843, s. 1, v. 5, p. 640.

SEC. 4683. All appropriations made for the work of surveying the coast of the United States shall be expended in accordance with the plan of reorganizing the mode of executing the survey which has been submitted to the President by a board of officers organized under the act of March three, eighteen hundred and forty-three, chapter one hundred.

Employment of officers of Army and Navy.
Ibid.
19 A. G. Op., p. 182.

SEC. 4684. The President shall carry into effect the plan of the board, as agreed upon by a majority of its members; and shall cause to be employed as many officers of the Army and Navy of the United States as will be compatible with the successful prosecution of the work; the officers of the Navy to be employed on the hydrographical parts, and the officers of the Army on the topographical parts of the work; and no officer of the Army or Navy shall receive any extra pay out of any appropriations for surveys.

Power to use books, etc., and to employ persons.
July 10, 1832, s. 2, v. 4, p. 571.

SEC. 4685. The President is authorized, in executing the provisions of this Title, to use all maps, charts, books, instruments, and apparatus belonging to the United States, and to direct where the same shall be deposited, and to employ all persons in the land or naval service of the United States, enlisted, or who may thereafter enlist, into the Navy or Marine Corps of the United States.

Enlisted men advanced after enlistment to any higher grade or rating do not thereby forfeit their right to any future instalment of bounty. (Fourth Auditor, Rules 1864.)

Where a soldier was enlisted in the Army as a volunteer in December, 1861, for three years, but afterward, and before the expiration of his term of enlistment, was voluntarily transferred to the naval service, in which he served out the remainder of his term: Held, That he is not entitled to the additional bounty provided by the act of July 28, 1866, chap. 296. (Op., XIV, 223, April 23, 1873, Williams.)

Where a soldier deserted, subsequently surrendered himself, was restored to duty, and finally "honorably discharged," the fact of the mark of desertion standing against him is no impediment to his receiving bounty (Kelly's case, Supreme Court, 15 Wallace, p. 34.) SEC. 4688. The Secretary of the Treasury may make such allowances to the officers and men of the Army and Navy, while employed on Coast Survey service, for subsistence, in addition to their compensation, as he may deem necessary, not exceeding the sum authorized by the Treasury regulation of the eleventh day of May, eighteen hundred and forty-four.

Allowance for subsistence.
June 12, 1858, s. 1, v. 11, pp. 319, 320.
See note to this section, Division I, "Pay and allowances."

Nor shall there hereafter be made any allowance for subsistence to officers of the Navy attached to the Coast and Geodetic Survey, except that when officers are detached to do work away from their vessels under circumstances involving them in extra expenditures, the Superintendent may allow to any such officer subsistence at a rate not exceeding one dollar per day for the period actually covered by such duty away from such vessel.

Be it enacted by the Senate and House of Representatives of the United States of America in Congress assembled, That the following regulations for preventing collisions at sea shall be followed by all public and private vessels of the United States upon the high seas and in all waters connected therewith, navigable by sea-going vessels.

Preliminary.

In the following rules every steam-vessel which is under sail and not under steam is to be considered a sailing-vessel, and every vessel under steam, whether under sail or not, is to be considered a steam-vessel.

The word "steam-vessel" shall include any vessel propelled by machinery.

A vessel is "under way" within the meaning of these rules when she is not at anchor, or made fast to the shore, or aground.

Aug. 19, 1890, regulations for preventing collisions at sea, as amended by the acts of May 28, 1894, Aug. 13, 1894, and June 10, 1896, and proclaimed by the President of the United States to take effect July 1, 1897.

RULES CONCERNING LIGHTS, AND SO FORTH.

The word "visible" in these rules when applied to lights shall mean visible on a dark night with a clear atmosphere.

ARTICLE 1. The rules concerning lights shall be complied with in all weathers from sunset to sunrise, and during such time no other lights which may be mistaken for the prescribed lights shall be exhibited.

Material changes from former acts indicated by italics. See notes 1 and 2.

ART. 2. A steam-vessel when under way shall carry—(a) On or in front of the foremast, or if a vessel without a foremast, then in the fore part of the vessel, at a height above the hull of not less than twenty feet, and if the breadth of the vessel exceeds twenty feet, then at a height above the hull not less than such breadth, so, however, that the light need not be carried at a greater height above the hull than forty feet, a bright white light, so constructed as to show an unbroken light over an arc of the horizon of twenty points of the compass, so fixed as to throw the light ten points on each side of the vessel, namely, from right ahead to two points abaft the beam on either side, and of such a character as to be visible at a distance of at least five miles.

(b) On the starboard side a green light so constructed as to show an unbroken light over an arc of the horizon of ten

Note 1.—The attention of all persons concerned is invited to the changes in the rules relating to lights, steering and sailing, etc., embodied in the act, as amended, to adopt regulations for preventing collisions at sea, approved August 19, 1890, and proclaimed by the President, to take effect July 1, 1897.

On and after July 1, 1897, these rules are to be followed by all public and private vessels of the United States upon the high seas and in all waters connected therewith navigable by sea-going vessels, except upon harbors, rivers, and inland waters, and upon the Great Lakes and their tributary waters as far east as Montreal.

Material changes from former acts are indicated by italics.

Amendments to the act are shown by a statement of the date of the passage of the amendment.

Article 9 of the act, relating to fishing vessels, was repealed May 28, 1894, and Congress by an act approved August 13, 1894, reenacted article 10 of the International Regulations of 1885, now in force, so far as said article relates to lights for fishing vessels. It is inserted, therefore, in place of article 9, repealed, of the act of August 19, 1890.

The laws to prevent collisions upon the harbors, rivers, and inland waters of the United States and those relating to the Great Lakes follow.

Note 2.—Regulations for preventing collisions at sea were adopted by act of 1885, March 3, ch. 354 (33 Stat. L., 438), modifying R. S., sec. 4253.

By act of 1890, Aug. 19, ch. 802 (1 Supp. R. S., 781), new regulations were substituted. These are amended by the above act of 1894.

When act takes effect.

By sec. 3 of the act of 1890 (1 Supp. R. S., 789), the act was not to take effect until a time to be fixed by proclamation of the President. The proclamation of the President was issued on July 13, 1894 (28 Stat. L., p. 1250), fixing the first day of March, 1895, as the day on which the act of 1890, as amended by the above act of 1894, is to take effect.

But by 1895, Feb. 23, ch. 127, and proclamation issued in accordance therewith, the taking effect of the act of 1890 is postponed to a date to be hereafter fixed by the President. (See, as to lights on fishing vessels, 1894, Aug. 13, ch. 284, and note.)

points of the compass, so fixed as to throw the light from right ahead to two points abaft the beam on the starboard side, and of such a character as to be visible at a distance of at least two miles.

(c) On the port side a red light so constructed as to show an unbroken light over an arc of the horizon of ten points of the compass, so fixed as to throw the light from right ahead to two points abaft the beam on the port side, and of such a character as to be visible at a distance of at least two miles.

(d) The said green and red side-lights shall be fitted with inboard screens projecting at least three feet forward from the light, so as to prevent these lights from being seen across the bow.

(e) A steam-vessel when under way may carry an additional white light similar in construction to the light mentioned in subdivision (a). These two lights shall be so placed in line with the keel that one shall be at least fifteen feet higher than the other, and in such a position with reference to each other that the lower light shall be forward of the upper one. The vertical distance between these lights shall be less than the horizontal distance.

ART. 3. A steam-vessel when towing another vessel shall, in addition to her side-lights, carry two bright white lights in a vertical line one over the other, not less than six feet apart, and when towing more than one vessel shall carry an additional bright white light six feet above or below such light, if the length of the tow measuring from the stern of the towing vessel to the stern of the last vessel towed exceeds six hundred feet. Each of these lights shall be of the same construction and character, and shall be carried in the same position as the white light mentioned in article two (a), excepting the additional light, which may be carried at a height of not less than fourteen feet above the hull.

Such steam-vessel may carry a small white light abaft the funnel or aftermast for the vessel towed to steer by, but such light shall not be visible forward of the beam.

ART. 4. (a) A vessel which from any accident is not under command shall carry at the same height as a white light mentioned in article two (a), where they can best be seen, and if a steam-vessel in lieu of that light, two red lights, in a vertical line one over the other, not less than six feet apart, and of such a character as to be visible all around the horizon at a distance of at least two miles; and shall by day carry in a vertical line one over the other, not less than six feet apart, where they can best be seen, two black balls or shapes, each two feet in diameter.

(b) A vessel employed in laying or in picking up a telegraph cable shall carry in the same position as the white light mentioned in article two (a), and if a steam-vessel in lieu of that light, three lights in a vertical line one over the other not less than six feet apart. The highest and lowest of these lights shall be red, and the middle light shall be white, and they shall be of such a character as to be visible all around the horizon, at a distance of at least two miles.

By day she shall carry in a vertical line, one over the other, not less than six feet apart, where they can best be seen, three shapes not less than two feet in diameter, of which the highest and lowest shall be globular in shape and red in color, and the middle one diamond in shape and white.

(c) The vessels referred to in this article, when not making way through the water, shall not carry the side-lights, but when making way shall carry them.

(d) The lights and shapes required to be shown by this article are to be taken by other vessels as signals that the vessel showing them is not under command and can not therefore get out of the way.

These signals are not signals of vessels in distress and requiring assistance. Such signals are contained in article thirty-one.

ART. 5. A sailing vessel under way and any vessel being towed shall carry the same lights as are prescribed by article two for a steam-vessel under way, with the exception of the white lights mentioned therein, which they shall never carry.

ART. 6. Whenever, as in the case of small vessels under way during bad weather, the green and red side-lights can not be fixed, these lights shall be kept at hand, lighted and ready for use; and shall, on the approach of or to other vessels, be exhibited on their respective sides in sufficient time to prevent collision, in such manner as to make them most visible, and so that the green light shall not be seen on the port side nor the red light on the starboard side, nor, if practicable, more than two points abaft the beam on their respective sides.

To make the use of these portable lights more certain and easy the lanterns containing them shall each be painted outside with the color of the light they respectively contain, and shall be provided with proper screens.

Substitute for 1890, Aug. 19, 1
Supp. R. S., 782.
Small vessels
relieved from certain lights.

ART. 7. Steam-vessels of less than forty, and vessels under oars or sails of less than twenty tons gross tonnage, respectively, and rowing boats, when under way, shall not be required to carry the lights mentioned in article two (a), (b), and (c), but if they do not carry them they shall be provided with the following lights:

Small steam
vessels.

“First. Steam-vessels of less than forty tons shall carry—

“(a) In the fore part of the vessel, or on or in front of the funnel, where it can best be seen, and at a height above the gunwale of not less than nine feet, a bright white light constructed and fixed as prescribed in article two (a), and of such a character as to be visible at a distance of at least two miles.

“(b) Green and red side-lights constructed and fixed as prescribed in article two (b) and (c), and of such a character as to be visible at a distance of at least one mile, or a combined lantern showing a green light and a red light from right ahead to two points abaft the beam on their respective sides. Such lanterns shall be carried not less than three feet below the white light.

Small steamboats as carried by other vessels.

“Second. Small steamboats, such as are carried by seagoing vessels, may carry the white light at a less height than nine feet above the gunwale, but it shall be carried above the combined lantern mentioned in subdivision one (b).

“Third. Vessels under oars or sails of less than twenty tons shall have ready at hand a lantern with a green glass on one side and a red glass on the other, which, on the approach of or to other vessels, shall be exhibited in sufficient time to prevent collision, so that the green light shall not be seen on the port side nor the red light on the starboard side.

Small vessels
under sails.

“Fourth. Rowing boats, whether under oars or sail, shall have ready at hand a lantern showing a white light which shall be temporarily exhibited in sufficient time to prevent collision.

“The vessels referred to in this article shall not be obliged to carry the lights prescribed by article four (a) and article eleven, last paragraph.”—[Act of May 28, 1894.]

ART. 8. Pilot-vessels when engaged on their station on pilotage duty shall not show the lights required for other vessels, but shall carry a white light at the masthead, visible all around the horizon, and shall also exhibit a flare-up light or flare-up lights at short intervals, which shall never exceed fifteen minutes.

On the near approach of or to other vessels they shall have their side-lights lighted, ready for use, and shall flash or show them at short intervals, to indicate the direction in which they are heading, but the green light shall not be shown on the port side, nor the red light on the starboard side.

A pilot-vessel of such a class as to be obliged to go alongside of a vessel to put a pilot on board may show the white light instead of carrying it at the masthead, and may, instead of the colored lights above mentioned, have at hand, ready for use, a lantern with a green glass on the one side and a red glass on the other, to be used as prescribed above.

Pilot-vessels when not engaged on their station on pilotage duty shall carry lights similar to those of other vessels of their tonnage.

ART. 9. (Article nine, act of August 19, 1890, was repealed by act of May 28, 1894, and article 10, act of March 3, 1885, was reenacted in part as follows, by act of August 13, 1894, and is reproduced here as article 9:)

Fishing-vessels of less than twenty tons net registered tonnage, when under way and when not having their nets, trawls, dredges, or lines in the water, shall not be obliged to carry the colored side-lights; but every such vessel shall in lieu thereof have ready at hand a lantern with a green glass on the one side and a red glass on the other side, and on approaching to or being approached by another vessel such lantern shall be exhibited in sufficient time to prevent collision, so that the green light shall not be seen on the port side nor the red light on the starboard side.

The following portion of this article applies only to fishing-vessels and boats when in the sea off the coast of Europe lying north of Cape Finisterre:

(a) All fishing-vessels and fishing-boats of twenty tons net registered tonnage or upward, when under way and when not having their nets, trawls, dredges, or lines in the water, shall carry and show the same lights as other vessels under way.

(b) All vessels when engaged in fishing with drift-nets shall exhibit two white lights from any part of the vessel where they can be best seen. Such lights shall be placed so that the vertical distance between them shall be not less than six feet and not more than ten feet, and so that the horizontal distance between them, measured in a line with the keel of the vessel, shall be not less than five feet and not more than ten feet. The lower of these two lights shall be the more forward, and both of them shall be of such a character and contained in lanterns of such construction as to show all round the horizon, on a dark night, with a clear atmosphere, for a distance of not less than three miles.

(c) All vessels when trawling, dredging, or fishing with any kind of drag-nets shall exhibit, from some part of the vessel where they can be best seen, two lights. One of these lights shall be red and the other shall be white. The red light shall be above the white light, and shall be at a vertical distance from it of not less than six feet and not more than twelve feet; and the horizontal distance between them, if any, shall not be more than ten feet. These two lights shall be of such a character and contained in lanterns of such construction as to be visible all round the horizon, on a dark night, with a clear atmosphere, the white light to a distance of not less than three miles and the red light of not less than two miles.

(d) A vessel employed in line-fishing, with her lines out, shall carry the same lights as a vessel when engaged in fishing with drift-nets.

(e) If a vessel, when fishing with a trawl, dredge, or any kind of drag-net, becomes stationary in consequence of her gear getting fast to a rock or other obstruction, she shall show the light and make the fog signal for a vessel at anchor.

(f) Fishing-vessels may at any time use a flare-up in addition to the lights which they are by this article required to carry and show. All flare-up lights exhibited by a vessel when trawling, dredging, or fishing with any kind of drag-net shall be shown at the after-part of the vessel, excepting that if the vessel is hanging by the stern to her trawl, dredge, or drag-net they shall be exhibited from the bow.

(g) Every fishing-vessel when at anchor between sunset and sunrise shall exhibit a white light, visible all round the horizon at a distance of at least one mile.

(h) In a fog a drift-net vessel attached to her nets, and a vessel when trawling, dredging, or fishing with any kind of drag-net, and a vessel employed in line-fishing with her lines out, shall, at intervals of not more than two minutes, make a blast with her fog-horn and ring her bell alternately. [Art. 10, Act March 3, 1885.]

ART. 10. A vessel which is being overtaken by another shall show from her stern to such last-mentioned vessel a white light or a flare-up light.

The white light required to be shown by this article may be fixed and carried in a lantern, but in such case the lantern shall be so constructed, fitted, and screened that it shall throw an unbroken light over an arc of the horizon of twelve points of the compass, namely, for six points from right aft on each side of the vessel, so as to be visible at a distance of at least one mile. Such light shall be carried as nearly as practicable on the same level as the side lights.

ART. 11. A vessel under one hundred and fifty feet in length, when at anchor, shall carry forward, where it can best be seen, but at a height not exceeding twenty feet above the hull, a white light in a lantern so constructed as to show a clear, uniform, and unbroken light visible all around the horizon at a distance of at least one mile.

A vessel of one hundred and fifty feet or upwards in length, when at anchor, shall carry in the forward part of the vessel, at a height of not less than twenty and not exceeding forty feet above the hull, one such light, and at or near the stern of the vessel, and at such a height that it shall be not less than fifteen feet lower than the forward light, another such light.

The length of a vessel shall be deemed to be the length appearing in her certificate of registry.

A vessel aground in or near a fair-way shall carry the above light or lights and the two red lights prescribed by article four (a).

ART. 12. Every vessel may, if necessary in order to attract attention, in addition to the lights which she is by these rules required to carry, show a flare-up light or use any detonating signal that can not be mistaken for a distress signal.

ART. 13. Nothing in these rules shall interfere with the operation of any special rules made by the Government of any nation with respect to additional station and signal-lights for two or more ships of war or for vessels sailing under convoy, or with the exhibition of recognition signals adopted by ship-owners, which have been authorized by their respective Governments and duly registered and published.

ART. 14. A steam-vessel proceeding under sail only but having her funnel up, shall carry in day-time, forward, where it can best be seen, one black ball or shape two feet in diameter.

ART. 15. All signals prescribed by this article for vessels under way shall be given:

First. By "steam vessels" on the whistle or siren.

Second. By "sailing vessels" and "vessels towed" on the fog horn.

The words "prolonged blast" used in this article shall mean a blast of from four to six seconds duration.

A steam-vessel shall be provided with an efficient whistle or siren, sounded by steam or by some substitute for steam, so placed that the sound may not be intercepted by any obstruction, and with an efficient fog horn, to be sounded by mechanical means, and also with an efficient bell. (In all cases where the rules require a bell to be used a drum may be substituted on board Turkish vessels, or a gong where such articles are used on board small seagoing vessels.) A sailing vessel of twenty tons gross tonnage or upward shall be provided with a similar fog horn and bell.

In fog, mist, falling snow, or heavy rainstorms, whether by day or night, the signals described in this article shall be used as follows, namely:

(a) A steam vessel having way upon her shall sound, at intervals of not more than two minutes, a prolonged blast.

(b) A steam vessel under way, but stopped, and having no way upon her, shall sound, at intervals of not more than two minutes, two prolonged blasts, with an interval of about one second between.

(c) A sailing vessel under way shall sound, at intervals of not more than one minute, when on the starboard tack, one blast; when on the port tack, two blasts in succession, and when with the wind abaft the beam, three blasts in succession.

(d) A vessel when at anchor shall, at intervals of not more than one minute, ring the bell rapidly for about five seconds.

(e) A vessel when towing, a vessel employed in laying or in picking up a telegraph cable, and a vessel under way, which is unable to get out of the way of an approaching vessel through being not under command, or unable to maneuver as required by the rules, shall, instead of the signals prescribed in subdivisions (a) and (c) of this article, at intervals of not more than two minutes, sound three blasts in succession, namely: One prolonged blast followed by two short blasts. A vessel towed may give this signal and she shall not give any other.

Sailing vessels and boats of less than twenty tons gross tonnage shall not be obliged to give the above-mentioned signals, but, if they do not, they shall make some other efficient sound signal at intervals of not more than one minute.

Speed of ships to be moderate in fog, etc.

ART. 16. Every vessel shall, in a fog, mist, falling snow, or heavy rain-storms, go at a moderate speed, having careful regard to the existing circumstances and conditions.

A steam vessel hearing, apparently forward of her beam, the fog-signal of a vessel the position of which is not ascertained shall, so far as the circumstances of the case admit, stop her engines, and then navigate with caution until danger of collision is over.

Steering and sailing rules.

Risk of collision can, when circumstances permit, be ascertained by carefully watching the compass bearing of an approaching vessel. If the bearing does not appreciably change, such risk should be deemed to exist.

Preliminary—Risk of collision.

ART. 17. When two sailing vessels are approaching one another, so as to involve risk of collision, one of them shall keep out of the way of the other, as follows, namely:

(a) A vessel which is running free shall keep out of the way of a vessel which is close-hauled.

(b) A vessel which is close-hauled on the port tack shall keep out of the way of a vessel which is close-hauled on the starboard tack.

(c) When both are running free, with the wind on different sides, the vessel which has the wind on the port side shall keep out of the way of the other.

(d) When both are running free, with the wind on the same side, the vessel which is to the windward shall keep out of the way of the vessel which is to the leeward.

(e) A vessel which has the wind aft shall keep out of the way of the other vessel.

ART. 18. When two steam-vessels are meeting end on, or nearly end on, so as to involve risk of collision, each shall alter her course to starboard, so that each may pass on the port side of the other.

This article only applies to cases where vessels are meeting end on, or nearly end on, in such a manner as to involve risk of collision, and does not apply to two vessels which must, if both keep on their respective courses, pass clear of each other.

The only cases to which it does apply are when each of the two vessels is end on, or nearly end on, to the other; in other words, to cases in which, by day, each vessel sees the masts of the other in a line, or nearly in a line, with her own; and by night, to cases in which each vessel is in such a position as to see both the side-lights of the other.

It does not apply by day to cases in which a vessel sees another ahead crossing her own course; or by night, to cases where the red light of one vessel is opposed to the red light of the other, or where the green light of one vessel is opposed to the green light of the other, or where a red light without a green light, or a green light without a red light, is seen ahead, or where both green and red lights are seen anywhere but ahead.

ART. 19. When two steam-vessels are crossing, so as to involve risk of collision, the vessel which has the other on her own starboard side shall keep out of the way of the other.

ART. 20. When a steam-vessel and a sailing vessel are proceeding in such directions as to involve risk of collision, the steam-vessel shall keep out of the way of the sailing-vessel.

Article twenty-one. Where, by any of these rules, one of two vessels is to keep out of the way the other shall keep her course and speed.

Note.—When, in consequence of thick weather or other causes, such vessel finds herself so close that collision can not be avoided by the action of the giving-way vessel alone, she also shall take such action as will best aid to avert collision. (See articles twenty-seven and twenty-nine.) [Act of May 28, 1894.]

ART. 22. Every vessel which is directed by these rules to keep out of the way of another vessel shall, if the circumstances of the case admit, avoid crossing ahead of the other.

ART. 23. Every steam-vessel which is directed by these rules to keep out of the way of another vessel, shall, on approaching her, if necessary, slacken her speed or stop or reverse.

ART. 24. Notwithstanding anything contained in these rules every vessel, overtaking any other, shall keep out of the way of the overtaken vessel.

Every vessel coming up with another vessel from any direction more than two points abaft her beam, that is, in such a position, with reference to the vessel which she is overtaking that at night she would be unable to see either of that vessel's side-lights, shall be deemed to be an overtaking vessel; and no subsequent alteration of the bearing between the two vessels shall make the overtaking vessel a crossing vessel within the meaning of these rules, or relieve her of the duty of keeping clear of the overtaken vessel until she is finally past and clear.

As by day the overtaking vessel can not always know with certainty whether she is forward of or abaft this direction from the other vessel she should, if in doubt, assume that she is an overtaking vessel and keep out of the way.

ART. 25. In narrow channels every steam-vessel shall, when it is safe and practicable, keep to that side of the fair-way or mid-channel which lies on the starboard side of such vessel.

ART. 26. Sailing vessels under way shall keep out of the way of sailing vessels or boats fishing with nets, or lines, or trawls. This rule shall not give to any vessel or boat engaged in fishing the right of obstructing a fair-way used by vessels other than fishing vessels or boats.

ART. 27. In obeying and construing these rules due regard shall be had to all dangers of navigation and collision, and to any special circumstances which may render a departure from the above rules necessary in order to avoid immediate danger.

Sound signals. ART. 28. The words "short blast" used in this article shall mean a blast of about one second's duration.

When vessels are in sight of one another, a steam-vessel under way, in taking any course authorized or required by these rules, shall indicate that course by the following signals on her whistle or siren, namely:

One short blast to mean, "I am directing my course to starboard."

Two short blasts to mean, "I am directing my course to port."

Three short blasts to mean, "My engines are going at full speed astern."

Proper precautions. ART. 29. Nothing in these rules shall exonerate any vessel or the owner or master or crew thereof, from the consequences of any neglect to carry lights or signals, or of any neglect to keep a proper lookout, or of the neglect of any precaution which may be required by the ordinary practice of seamen, or by the special circumstances of the case.

Rules for harbors, etc. ART. 30. Nothing in these rules shall interfere with the operation of a special rule, duly made by local authority, relative to the navigation of any harbor, river, or inland waters.

Distress signals. ART. 31. When a vessel is in distress and requires assistance from other vessels or from the shore the following shall be the signals to be used or displayed by her, either together or separately, namely:

In the daytime—

First. A gun or other explosive signal fired at intervals of about a minute.

Second. The international code signal of distress indicated by N C.

Third. The distance signal, consisting of a square flag, having either above or below it a ball or anything resembling a ball.

Fourth. A continuous sounding with any fog-signal apparatus.

At night—

First. A gun or other explosive signal fired at intervals of about a minute.

Second. Flames on the vessel (as from a burning tar barrel, oil barrel, and so forth).

Third. Rockets or shells throwing stars of any color or description, fired one at a time, at short intervals.

Fourth. A continuous sounding with any fog-signal apparatus. [Act of May 28, 1894.]

SEC. 2. That all laws or parts of laws inconsistent with the foregoing regulations for preventing collisions at sea for the navigation of all public and private vessels of the United States upon the high seas, and in all waters connected therewith navigable by sea-going vessels, are hereby repealed. [Act August 19, 1890.]

Be it enacted by the Senate and House of Representatives of the United States of America in Congress assembled, That Sept. 4, 1890.
in every case of collision between two vessels it shall be Collisions at the duty of the master or person in charge of each vessel, sea.
if and so far as he can do so without serious danger to his own vessel, crew, and passengers (if any), to stay by the other vessel until he has ascertained that she has no need of further assistance, and to render to the other vessel, her master, crew, and passengers (if any) such assistance as may be practicable and as may be necessary in order to save them from any danger caused by the collision, and also to give to the master or person in charge of the other vessel the name of his own vessel and her port of registry, or the port or place to which she belongs, and also the name of the ports and places from which and to which she is bound. If he fails so to do, and no reasonable cause for such failure is shown, the collision shall, in the absence of proof to the contrary, be deemed to have been caused by his wrongful act, neglect, or default.

SEC. 2. That every master or person in charge of a United States vessel who fails, without reasonable cause, to render such assistance or give such information as aforesaid shall be deemed guilty of a misdemeanor, and shall be liable to a penalty of one thousand dollars, or imprisonment for a term not exceeding two years; and for the above sum the vessel shall be liable and may be seized and proceeded against by process in any district court of the United States by any person; one-half such sum to be payable to the informer and the other half to the United States.

SEC. 3. That this act shall take effect at a time to be fixed by the President by Proclamation issued for that purpose.

Feb. 19, 1895.

Regulations to prevent collisions upon inland waters, etc.

Be it enacted by the Senate and House of Representatives of the United States of America in Congress assembled, That on and after March first, eighteen hundred and ninety-five, the provisions of sections forty-two hundred and thirty-three, forty-four hundred and twelve, and forty-four hundred and thirteen of the Revised Statutes and regulations pursuant thereto shall be followed on the harbors, rivers and inland waters of the United States.

The provisions of said sections of the Revised Statutes and regulations pursuant thereto are hereby declared special rules duly made by local authority relative to the navigation of harbors, rivers and inland waters as provided for in Article thirty, of the Act of August nineteenth, eighteen hundred and ninety, entitled "An Act to adopt regulations for preventing collisions at sea."

See note 3.

SEC. 2. The Secretary of the Treasury is hereby authorized, empowered and directed from time to time to designate and define by suitable bearings or ranges with light

Note 3.—Pursuant to Section 2 of the Act approved February 19, 1895, the following lines dividing the high seas from rivers, harbors, and inland waters are hereby designated and defined:

(Bearings are magnetic.)

- New York. NEW YORK HARBOR.—From Navesink (southerly) Light House NE. $\frac{1}{2}$ E., easterly, to Scotland Light Vessel, thence NNE. $\frac{1}{2}$ E. through Gedney Channel Whistling Buoy (proposed position) to Rockaway Point Life-Saving Station.
- Baltimore. BALTIMORE HARBOR AND CHESAPEAKE BAY.—From Cape Henry Light House NE. by E. $\frac{1}{2}$ E., easterly, to Outer Entrance Whistling Buoy, thence N. by E. $\frac{1}{2}$ E. to Cape Charles Light House.
- Galveston. GALVESTON HARBOR.—From Galveston Bar Whistling Buoy, N. by W. $\frac{1}{2}$ W. through the beacon, marking the outer extremity of the N. jetty, and SW. by W. $\frac{1}{2}$ W., westerly, through North Breaker Beacon.
- Boston. BOSTON HARBOR.—From Point Allerton NNE. $\frac{1}{2}$ E., easterly, through Point Allerton Beacon to Northeast Grave Whistling Buoy, thence NNE. $\frac{1}{2}$ E. to Outer Breaker (Great Pig Rocks) Bell Buoy, thence NE. by E. $\frac{1}{2}$ E. to Halfway Rock Beacon, thence NE. by E. $\frac{1}{2}$ E. to Eastern Point Light House.
- Sau Francisco. SAN FRANCISCO HARBOR.—From Point Bonita Light House SE. $\frac{1}{2}$ S. to Point Lobos.
- Portland. PORTLAND, ME., HARBOR.—From Cape Elizabeth (E.) Light ENE. to Halfway Rock Light, thence E., southerly, to Seguin Light.
- Philadelphia. PHILADELPHIA HARBOR AND DELAWARE BAY.—From Cape Henlopen Light NE. by E. to South Shoal Whistling Buoy, thence NNE. $\frac{1}{2}$ E. to Cape May Light.
- Charleston. CHARLESTON HARBOR.—From Charleston Light Vessel NW. $\frac{1}{4}$ W. (toward Sullivans Island Range Rear Light) to the North Jetty, and from Charleston Light Vessel SW. $\frac{1}{2}$ W. to Charleston Whistling Buoy, thence SW. $\frac{1}{2}$ W. to Charleston Main Channel Entrance Bell Buoy, thence W. to Folly Island.
- Savannah. SAVANNAH HARBOR AND CALIBOGUE SOUND.—From Tybee Whistling Buoy NW. $\frac{1}{2}$ W. through North Slue Channel Outer Buoy to Braddock Point, Hilton Head Island, and from Tybee Whistling Buoy W. to Tybee Island.
- Brunswick. ST. SIMON SOUND (BRUNSWICK HARBOR) AND ST. ANDREW SOUND.—From hotel on Beach of St. Simon Island $\frac{1}{8}$ mile NE. by E. $\frac{1}{2}$ E. from St. Simon Light House, SE. $\frac{1}{2}$ E. to St. Simon Sea Buoy, thence S. $\frac{1}{2}$ E. to St. Andrew's Sound Sea Buoy, thence W. to the Shore of Little Cumberland Island.
- Pensacola. PENSACOLA HARBOR.—From Pensacola Entrance Whistling Buoy N. $\frac{1}{2}$ W., a tangent to the E. side of Fort Pickens, to the shore of Santa Rosa Island, and from the Whistling Buoy NW. $\frac{1}{16}$ W. to Fort McRee Range Front Light.
- Mobile. MOBILE HARBOR AND BAY.—From Mobile Bay Outer or Deep Sea Whistling Buoy (or its watch buoy in summer) NE. by N. to the shore of Mobile Point, and from the Whistling Buoy NW. by W. to the shore of Dauphin Island.
- New Orleans. NEW ORLEANS HARBOR AND THE DELTA OF THE MISSISSIPPI.—From South Pass East Jetty Light N. by E. $\frac{1}{2}$ E. to Pass a Loutre Light, thence N. to Errol Island and from South Pass East Jetty Light W. $\frac{1}{2}$ S. to Southwest Pass Light, thence N. to shore.
- San Diego. SAN DIEGO HARBOR.—From Point Loma Light S. $\frac{1}{2}$ E. to San Diego Bay Outside Bar Whistling Buoy, thence NNE. $\frac{1}{2}$ E. to tower of Coronado Hotel.
- Kittery. KITTERY HARBOR, ME., AND PORTSMOUTH HARBOR, N. H.—From Kitts Rocks Bell Buoy NNE. $\frac{1}{2}$ E. through Horn Island to the main shore, and from Kitts Rocks Bell Buoy NW. by W. $\frac{1}{2}$ W. through Frosts Point Ledge Buoy to Frosts Point, N. H.
- Newburyport. NEWBURYPORT, IPSWICH, AND ANNISQUAM HARBORS, MASS.—From Salisbury Beach Range Rear Light a line SE. $\frac{1}{2}$ S. to Newburyport Bar Whistling Buoy, thence a line S. by E. $\frac{1}{2}$ E. (toward Annisquam Light) to a point of intersection with a line drawn from Ipswich Light E. $\frac{1}{2}$ S. to Halibut Point, thence, from the point of intersection, along the latter line E. $\frac{1}{2}$ S. to Halibut Point.
- Columbia River. COLUMBIA RIVER ENTRANCE.—From Cape Disappointment Light SE. $\frac{1}{2}$ E. to Point Adams Light.

houses, light vessels, buoys or coast objects, the lines dividing the high seas from rivers, harbors and inland waters.

SEC. 3. Collectors or other chief officers of the customs shall require all sail vessels to be furnished with proper signal lights. Every such vessel that shall be navigated without complying with the Statutes of the United States, or the regulations that may be lawfully made thereunder, shall be liable to a penalty of two hundred dollars, one-half to go to the informer; for which sum the vessel so navigated shall be liable, and may be seized and proceeded against by way of libel in any district court of the United States having jurisdiction of the offense.

SEC. 4. The words "inland waters" used in this Act shall not be held to include the Great Lakes and their connecting and tributary waters as far east as Montreal; and this act shall not in any respect modify or affect the provisions of the Act entitled "An Act to regulate navigation on the Great Lakes and their connecting and tributary waters," approved February eighth, eighteen hundred and ninety-five.

RULES FOR VESSELS OF THE NAVY AND MERCANTILE MARINE.

The instructions herein contained will be observed in the navigation of vessels of the mercantile marine of the United States; and by the provisions of the Revised Statutes the following rules, from one to twenty-four, inclusive, are made applicable to the navigation of vessels of the Navy. Preliminary instructions.

Every sail-vessel of the mercantile marine navigated without complying with the instructions of this circular will be liable to a penalty of two hundred dollars, for which sum the vessel may be seized and proceeded against.

RULE ONE. Every steam-vessel which is under sail, and not under steam, shall be considered a sail-vessel; and every steam-vessel which is under steam, whether under sail or not, shall be considered a steam-vessel. Steam and sail vessels.

RULE TWO. The lights mentioned in the following rules, and no others, shall be carried in all weathers, between sunset and sunrise. Lights.

RULE THREE. All ocean-going steamers, and steamers carrying sail, shall, when under way, carry— Ocean-going steamers.

(A) At the foremast head, a bright white light, of such a character as to be visible on a dark night, with a clear atmosphere, at a distance of at least five miles, and so constructed as to show a uniform and unbroken light over an arc of the horizon of twenty points of the compass, and so fixed as to throw the light ten points on each side of the vessel, namely, from right ahead to two points abaft the beam on either side.

(B) On the starboard side, a green light, of such a character as to be visible on a dark night, with a clear atmosphere, at a distance of at least two miles, and so constructed as to show a uniform and unbroken light over an arc of the horizon of ten points of the compass, and so fixed as to throw the light from right ahead to two points abaft the beam on the starboard side.

(C) On the port side, a red light, of such a character as to be visible on a dark night, with a clear atmosphere, at a distance of at least two miles, and so constructed as to show a uniform and unbroken light over an arc of the horizon of ten points of the compass, and so fixed as to throw the light from right ahead to two points abaft the beam on the port side.

The green and red light shall be fitted with inboard screens, projecting at least three feet forward from the lights, so as to prevent them from being seen across the bow.

Towing steamers.

RULE FOUR. Steam-vessels, when towing other vessels, shall carry two bright white mast-head lights vertically, in addition to their side-lights, so as to distinguish them from other steam-vessels. Each of these mast-head lights shall be of the same character and construction as the mast-head lights prescribed by Rule Three.

Starboard and port side lights.

RULE FIVE. All steam-vessels, other than ocean-going steamers and steamers carrying sail, shall, when under way, carry on the starboard and port sides lights of the same character and construction and in the same position as are prescribed for side-lights by Rule Three, except in the case provided in Rule Six.

Mississippi River steamers.

RULE SIX. River-steamers navigating waters flowing into the Gulf of Mexico, and their tributaries, shall carry the following lights, namely: One red light on the outboard side of the port smoke-pipe, and one green light on the outboard side of the starboard smoke-pipe. Such lights shall show both forward and abeam on their respective sides.

Coasting steam
vessels.

RULE SEVEN. All coasting steam-vessels, and steam-vessels other than ferry-boats and vessels otherwise expressly provided for, navigating the bays, lakes, rivers, or other inland waters of the United States, except those mentioned in Rule Six, shall carry the red and green lights as prescribed for ocean-going steamers; and, in addition thereto, a central range of two white lights; the after-light being carried at an elevation of at least fifteen feet above the light at the head of the vessel. The head-light shall be so constructed as to show a good light through twenty points of the compass, namely: from right ahead to two points abaft the beam on either side of the vessel; and the after-light so as to show all around the horizon.

Ferry-boats, etc.

The lights for ferry-boats, barges, and canal boats when in tow of steam vessels shall be regulated by such rules as the Board of Supervising Inspectors of Steam-Vessels shall prescribe.

Sailing vessels.

RULE EIGHT. Sail-vessels, under way or being towed, shall carry the same lights as steam-vessels under way, with the exception of the white mast-head lights, which they shall never carry. (See Rule Three, b and c.)

Small sailing vessels.

RULE NINE. Whenever, as in case of small vessels during bad weather, the green and red lights can not be fixed, these lights shall be kept on deck, on their respective sides of the vessel, ready for instant exhibition, and shall, on the approach of or to other vessels, be exhibited on their respective sides in sufficient time to prevent collision, in such manner as to make them most visible, and so that the green light shall not be seen on the port side, nor the red light on the starboard side. To make the use of these portable lights more certain and easy, they shall be painted outside with the color of the light they respectively contain, and shall be provided with suitable screens.

RULE TEN. All vessels, whether steam-vessels or sail-vessels, when at anchor in roadsteads or fairways, shall, between sunset and sunrise, exhibit where it can best be seen, but at a height not exceeding twenty feet above the hull, a white light in a globular lantern of eight inches in diameter, and so constructed as to show a clear, uniform, and unbroken light, visible all around the horizon, and at a distance of at least one mile.

Vessels at anchor.

RULE ELEVEN. Sailing pilot-vessels shall not carry the lights required for other sailing-vessels, but shall carry a white light at the mast-head, visible all around the horizon, and shall also exhibit a flare-up light every fifteen minutes.

Pilot vessels.

RULE TWELVE. Coal-boats, trading-boats, produce-boats, canal-boats, oyster-boats, fishing-boats, rafts, or other water-craft, navigating any bay, harbor, or river, by hand-power, horse-power, sail, or by the current of the river, or which shall be anchored or moored in or near the channel or fair-way of any bay, harbor, or river, shall carry one or more good white lights, which shall be placed in such manner as shall be prescribed by the Board of Supervising Inspectors of Steam Vessels.

Coal boats, etc.

Rule 12 shall be so construed as not to require row-boats and skiffs upon the river St. Lawrence to carry lights.

Act June 13, 1886.

RULE THIRTEEN. Open boats shall not be required to carry the side-lights required for other vessels, but shall, if they do not carry such lights, carry a lantern having a green slide on one side and a red slide on the other side; and, on the approach of or to other vessels, such lantern shall be exhibited in sufficient time to prevent collision, and in such a manner that the green light shall not be seen on the port side, nor the red light on the starboard side. Open boats, when at anchor or stationary, shall exhibit a bright white light. They shall not, however, be prevented from using a flare up, in addition, if considered expedient.

Open boats.

RULE FOURTEEN. The exhibition of any light on board of a vessel of war of the United States may be suspended whenever, in the opinion of the Secretary of the Navy, the commander-in-chief of a squadron, or the commander of a vessel acting singly, the special character of the service may require it.

Naval vessels.

RULE FIFTEEN. Whenever there is a fog, or thick weather, whether by day or night, fog-signals shall be used, as follows:

Fog signals.

(A) Steam-vessels under way shall sound a steam-whistle placed before the funnel, not less than eight feet from the deck, at intervals of not more than one minute.

(B) Sail-vessels under way shall sound a fog-horn at intervals of not more than five minutes.

(C) Steam-vessels and sail-vessels, when not under way, shall sound a bell at intervals of not more than five minutes.

(D) Coal-boats, trading-boats, produce-boats, canal-boats, oyster-boats, fishing-boats, rafts, or other water-craft, navigating any bay, harbor, or river, by hand-power, horse-power, sail, or by the current of the river, or anchored or moored in or near the channel or fairway of any bay, harbor, or river, and not in any port, shall sound a fog-horn, or equivalent signal, which shall make a sound equal to a steam-whistle, at intervals of not more than two minutes.

Sailing vessels. RULE SIXTEEN. If two sail-vessels are meeting end on, or nearly end on, so as to involve risk of collision, the helms of both shall be put to port, so that each may pass on the port side of the other.

RULE SEVENTEEN. When two sail-vessels are crossing so as to involve risk of collision, then, if they have the wind on different sides, the vessel with the wind on the port side shall keep out of the way of the vessel with the wind on the starboard side, except in the case in which the vessel with the wind on the port side is close-hauled, and the other vessel free, in which case the latter vessel shall keep out of the way. But if they have the wind on the same side, or if one of them has the wind aft, the vessel which is to windward shall keep out of the way of the vessel which is to leeward.

Steam-vessels. RULE EIGHTEEN. If two vessels under steam are meeting end on, or nearly end on, so as to involve risk of collision, the helms of both shall be put to port, so that each may pass on the port side of the other.

Two steamers crossing, RULE NINETEEN. If two vessels under steam are crossing so as to involve risk of collision, the vessel which has the other on her own starboard side shall keep out of the way of the other.

Sail vessels and steamers meeting. RULE TWENTY. If two vessels, one of which is a sail-vessel and the other a steam-vessel, are proceeding in such directions as to involve risk of collision, the steam-vessel shall keep out of the way of the sail-vessel.

Approaching or in fog. RULE TWENTY-ONE. Every steam-vessel, when approaching another vessel, so as to involve risk of collision, shall slacken her speed, or, if necessary, stop and reverse; and every steam-vessel shall, when in a fog, go at a moderate speed.

Overtaking. RULE TWENTY-TWO. Every vessel overtaking any other vessel shall keep out of the way of the last-mentioned vessel.

Right of way. RULE TWENTY-THREE. Where, by Rules seventeen, nineteen, twenty, and twenty-two, one of two vessels shall keep out of the way, the other shall keep her course, subject to the qualifications of Rule twenty-four.

RULE TWENTY-FOUR. In construing and obeying these rules, due regard must be had to all dangers of navigation, and to any special circumstances which may exist in any particular case rendering a departure from them necessary in order to avoid immediate danger.

Special instructions.

RULE TWENTY-FIVE. Collectors, or other chief officers of the customs, shall require all sail-vessels to be furnished with proper signal-lights, and every such vessel shall, on the approach of any steam-vessel during the night-time, show a lighted torch upon that point or quarter to which such steam-vessel shall be approaching.

Signal lights and torches.

Be it enacted by the Senate and House of Representatives of the United States of America in Congress assembled, That the following rules for preventing collisions shall be followed in the navigation of all public and private vessels of the United States upon the Great Lakes and their connecting and tributary waters as far east as Montreal.

Act of Feb. 8, 1895.

To regulate navigation on the Great Lakes and their connecting and tributary waters.

See note 4.

RULE 1. Every steam vessel which is under sail and not under steam, shall be considered a sail vessel; and every steam vessel which is under steam, whether under sail or not, shall be considered a steam vessel. The word steam vessel shall include any vessel propelled by machinery. A vessel is under way within the meaning of these rules when she is not at anchor or made fast to the shore or aground.

Defining vessels.

RULE 2. The lights mentioned in the following rules and no others shall be carried in all weathers from sunset to sunrise. The word visible in these rules when applied to lights shall mean visible on a dark night with a clear atmosphere.

Lights prescribed

RULE 3. Except in the cases hereinafter expressly provided for, a steam vessel when under way shall carry:

(a) On or in front of the foremast, or if a vessel without a foremast, then in the forepart of the vessel, at a height above the hull of not less than twenty feet, and if the beam of the vessel exceeds twenty feet, then at a height above the hull not less than such beam, so, however, that such height need not exceed forty feet, a bright white light so constructed as to show an unbroken light over an arc of the horizon of twenty points of the compass, so fixed as to throw the light ten points on each side of the vessel, namely, from right ahead to two points abaft the beam on either side, and of such character as to be visible at a distance of at least five miles.

(b) On the starboard side, a green light, so constructed as to throw an unbroken light over an arc of the horizon of ten points of the compass, so fixed as to throw the light from right ahead to two points abaft the beam on the starboard side, and of such a character as to be visible at a distance of at least two miles.

(c) On the port side, a red light, so constructed as to show an unbroken light over an arc of the horizon of ten points of the compass, so fixed as to throw the light from right ahead to two points abaft the beam on the port side,

Note 4.—These rules are to be observed on and after March 1, 1895, by all public and private vessels of the United States on said waters except as otherwise provided for in the act.

and of such a character as to be visible at a distance of at least two miles.

(d) The said green and red lights shall be fitted with inboard screens projecting at least three feet forward from the light, so as to prevent these lights from being seen across the bow.

(e) A steamer of over one hundred and fifty feet register length shall also carry when under way an additional bright light similar in construction to that mentioned in subdivision (a), so fixed as to throw the light all around the horizon and of such character to be visible at a distance of at least three miles. Such additional light shall be placed in line with the keel at least fifteen feet higher from the deck and more than seventy-five feet abaft the light mentioned in subdivision (a).

Lights of towing vessels.

RULE 4. A steam vessel having a tow other than a raft shall in addition to the forward bright light mentioned in subdivision (a) of rule three carry in a vertical line not less than six feet above or below that light a second bright light of the same construction and character and fixed and carried in the same manner as the forward bright light mentioned in said subdivision (a) of rule three. Such steamer shall also carry a small bright light abaft the funnel or after mast for the tow to steer by, but such light shall not be visible forward of the beam.

RULE 5. A steam vessel having a raft in tow shall, instead of the forward lights mentioned in rule four, carry on or in front of the foremast, or if a vessel without a foremast then in the fore part of the vessel, at a height above the hull of not less than twenty feet, and if the beam of the vessel exceeds twenty feet, then at a height above the hull not less than such beam, so however that such height need not exceed forty feet, two bright lights in a horizontal line athwartships and not less than eight feet apart, each so fixed as to throw the light all around the horizon and of such character as to be visible at a distance of at least five miles. Such steamer shall also carry the small bright steering light aft, of the character and fixed as required in rule four.

Lights for vessels towed.

RULE 6. A sailing vessel under way and any vessel being towed shall carry the side lights mentioned in rule three.

A vessel in tow shall also carry a small bright light aft, but such light shall not be visible forward of the beam.

Lights for tugs, etc., on the St.
Lawrence.

Tugs, etc., on St. Lawrence.

RULE 7. The lights for tugs under thirty tons register whose principal business is harbor towing, and for boats navigating only on the River Saint Lawrence, also ferry-boats, rafts, and canal boats, shall be regulated by rules which have been or may hereafter be prescribed by the Board of Supervising Inspectors of Steam Vessels.

Lights for small vessels.

RULE 8. Whenever, as in the case of small vessels under way during bad weather, the green and red side lights can not be fixed, these lights shall be kept at hand lighted and ready for use, and shall, on the approach of or to other vessels, be exhibited on their respective sides in sufficient time to prevent collision, in such manner as to make them most visible, and so that the green light shall not be seen on the port side, nor the red light on the starboard side, nor, if practicable, more than two points abaft the beam on their respective sides. To make the use of these portable lights more certain and easy, they shall each be painted outside with the color of the light they respectively contain, and shall be provided with suitable screens.

RULE 9. A vessel under one hundred and fifty feet register length, when at anchor, shall carry forward, where it can best be seen, but at a height not exceeding twenty feet above the hull, a white light in a lantern constructed so as to show a clear, uniform, and unbroken light, visible all around the horizon, at a distance of at least one mile.

Lights for vessels at anchor.

A vessel of one hundred and fifty feet or upward in register length, when at anchor, shall carry in the forward part of the vessel, at a height of not less than twenty and not exceeding forty feet above the hull, one such light, and at or near the stern of the vessel, and at such a height that it shall be not less than fifteen feet lower than the forward light, another such light.

RULE 10. Produce boats, canal boats, fishing boats, rafts, or other water craft navigating any bay, harbor, or river by hand power, horse power, sail, or by the current of the river, or which shall be anchored or moored in or near the channel or fairway of any bay, harbor, or river, and not otherwise provided for in these rules, shall carry one or more good white lights, which shall be placed in such manner as shall be prescribed by the Board of Supervising Inspectors of Steam Vessels.

Lights for produce boats and craft on bays, harbors, and rivers. Lights for boats on rivers.

RULE 11. Open boats shall not be obliged to carry the side lights required for other vessels, but shall if they do not carry such lights, carry a lantern having a green slide on one side and a red slide on the other side; and on the approach of or to other vessels, such lantern shall be exhibited in sufficient time to prevent collision, and in such a manner that the green light shall not be seen on the port side, nor the red light on the starboard side. Open boats, when at anchor or stationary, shall exhibit a bright white light. They shall not, however, be prevented from using a flare-up in addition if considered expedient.

Lights for open boats.

RULE 12. Sailing vessels shall at all times, on the approach of any steamer during the nighttime, show a lighted torch upon that point or quarter to which such steamer shall be approaching.

Lighted torches.

RULE 13. The exhibition of any light on board of a vessel of war or revenue cutter of the United States may be suspended whenever, in the opinion of the Secretary of the Navy, the commander in chief of a squadron, or the commander of a vessel acting singly, the special character of the service may require it.

Lights of vessels of war.

RULE 14. A steam vessel shall be provided with an efficient whistle, sounded by steam or by some substitute for steam, placed before the funnel not less than eight feet from the deck, or in such other place as the local inspectors of steam vessels shall determine, and of such character as to be heard in ordinary weather at a distance of at least two miles, and with an efficient bell, and it is hereby made the duty of the United States local inspectors of steam vessels when inspecting the same to require each steamer to be furnished with such whistle and bell. A sailing vessel shall be provided with an efficient fog horn and with an efficient bell.

Whenever there is thick weather by reason of fog, mist, falling snow, heavy rainstorms, or other causes, whether by day or by night, fog signals shall be used as follows:

(a) A steam vessel under way, excepting only a steam vessel with raft in tow, shall sound at intervals of not more than one minute three distinct blasts of her whistle.

(b) Every vessel in tow of another vessel shall, at intervals of one minute, sound four bells on a good and efficient and properly placed bell as follows: By striking the bell twice in quick succession, followed by a little longer interval, and then again striking twice in quick succession (in the manner in which four bells is struck in indicating time.)

(c) A steamer with a raft in tow shall sound at intervals of not more than one minute a screeching or Modoc whistle for from three to five seconds.

(d) A sailing vessel under way and not in tow shall sound at intervals of not more than one minute—

If on the starboard tack with wind forward of abeam, one blast of her fog horn;

If on the port tack with wind forward of abeam, two blasts of her fog horn;

If she has the wind abaft the beam on either side, three blasts of her fog horn.

(e) Any vessel at anchor and any vessel aground in or near a channel or fairway shall at intervals of not more than two minutes ring the bell rapidly for three to five seconds.

(f) Vessels of less than ten tons registered tonnage, not being steam vessels, shall not be obliged to give the above-mentioned signals, but if they do not they shall make some other efficient sound signal at intervals of not more than one minute.

(g) Produce boats, fishing boats, rafts, or other water craft navigating by hand power or by the current of the river, or anchored or moored in or near the channel or fairway and not in any port, and not otherwise provided for in these rules, shall sound a fog horn, or equivalent signal, at intervals of not more than one minute.

Speed in thick weather.

RULE 15. Every vessel shall, in thick weather, by reason of fog, mist, falling snow, heavy rain storms, or other causes, go at moderate speed. A steam vessel hearing, apparently not more than four points from right ahead, the fog signal of another vessel shall at once reduce her speed to bare steerageway, and navigate with caution until the vessels shall have passed each other.

Steering and sailing rules. Sailing vessels.

RULE 16. When two sailing vessels are approaching one another so as to involve risk of collision one of them shall keep out of the way of the other, as follows, namely:

(a) A vessel which is running free shall keep out of the way of a vessel which is closehauled.

(b) A vessel which is closehauled on the port tack shall keep out of the way of a vessel which is closehauled on the starboard tack.

(c) When both are running free, with the wind on different sides, the vessel which has the wind on the port side shall keep out of the way of the other.

(d) When they are running free, with the wind on the same side, the vessel which is to windward shall keep out of the way of the vessel which is to leeward.

RULE 17. When two steam vessels are meeting end on, or nearly end on, so as to involve risk of collision each shall alter her course to starboard, so that each shall pass on the port side of the other. Steam vessels.

RULE 18. When two steam vessels are crossing so as to involve risk of collision the vessel which has the other on her own starboard side shall keep out of the way of the other.

RULE 19. When a steam vessel and a sailing vessel are proceeding in such directions as to involve risk of collision the steam vessel shall keep out of the way of the sailing vessel.

RULE 20. Where, by any of the rules herein prescribed, one of two vessels shall keep out of the way, the other shall keep her course and speed.

RULE 21. Every steam vessel which is directed by these rules to keep out of the way of another vessel shall, on approaching her, if necessary, slacken her speed or stop or reverse.

RULE 22. Notwithstanding anything contained in these rules every vessel overtaking any other shall keep out of the way of the overtaken vessel.

RULE 23. In all weathers every steam vessel under way in taking any course authorized or required by these rules shall indicate that course by the following signals on her whistle, to be accompanied whenever required by corresponding alteration of her helm; and every steam vessel receiving a signal from another shall promptly respond with the same signal or, as provided in Rule Twenty-six:

One blast to mean, "I am directing my course to starboard."

Two blasts to mean, "I am directing my course to port." But the giving or answering signals by a vessel required to keep her course shall not vary the duties and obligations of the respective vessels.

RULE 24. That in all narrow channels where there is a current, and in the rivers Saint Mary, Saint Clair, Detroit, Niagara, and Saint Lawrence, when two steamers are meeting, the descending steamer shall have the right of way, and shall, before the vessels shall have arrived within the distance of one-half mile of each other, give the signal necessary to indicate which side she elects to take. Steamers in narrow channels

RULE 25. In all channels less than five hundred feet in width, no steam vessel shall pass another going in the same direction unless the steam vessel ahead be disabled or signify her willingness that the steam vessel astern shall pass, when the steam vessel astern may pass, subject, however, to the other rules applicable to such a situation. And when steam vessels proceeding in opposite directions are about to meet in such channels, both such vessels shall be slowed down to a moderate speed, according to the circumstances.

Direct signals. RULE 26. If the pilot of a steam vessel to which a passing signal is sounded deems it unsafe to accept and assent to said signal, he shall not sound a cross signal; but in that case, and in every case where the pilot of one steamer fails to understand the course or intention of an approaching steamer, whether from signals being given or answered erroneously, or from other causes, the pilot of such steamer so receiving the first passing signal, or the pilot so in doubt, shall sound several short and rapid blasts of the whistle; and if the vessels shall have approached within half a mile of each other both shall reduce their speed to bare steer-away, and, if necessary, stop and reverse.

Immediate danger. RULE 27. In obeying and construing these rules due regard shall be had to all dangers of navigation and collision and to any special circumstances which may render a departure from the above rules necessary in order to avoid immediate danger.

Negligence. RULE 28. Nothing in these rules shall exonerate any vessel, or the owner or master or crew thereof, from the consequences of any neglect to carry lights or signals, or of any neglect to keep a proper lookout, or of a neglect of any precaution which may be required by the ordinary practice of seamen, or by the special circumstances of the case.

Fines. SEC. 2. That a fine, not exceeding two hundred dollars, may be imposed for the violation of any of the provisions of this Act. The vessel shall be liable for the said penalty, and may be seized and proceeded against, by way of libel, in the district court of the United States for any district within which such vessel may be found.

Authority to make regulations. SEC. 3. That the Secretary of the Treasury of the United States shall have authority to establish all necessary regulations, not inconsistent with the provisions of this Act, required to carry the same into effect.

The Board of Supervising Inspectors of the United States shall have authority to establish such regulations to be observed by all steam vessels in passing each other, not inconsistent with the provisions of this Act, as they shall from time to time deem necessary; and all regulations adopted by the said Board of Supervising Inspectors under the authority of this Act, when approved by the Secretary of the Treasury, shall have the force of law. Two printed copies of any such regulations for passing, signed by them, shall be furnished to each steam vessel, and shall at all times be kept posted up in conspicuous places on board.

Repeal of rules. SEC. 4. That all laws or parts of laws, so far as applicable to the navigation of the Great Lakes and their connecting and tributary waters as far east as Montreal, inconsistent with the foregoing rules are hereby repealed.

SEC. 5. That this Act shall take effect on and after March first, eighteen hundred and ninety-five.

June 20, 1864, s. 1, v. 13, p. 138;
July 25, 1866, v. 14, p. 225.

Second. "Deputy consul" and "consular agent" shall be deemed to denote consular officers subordinate to such principals, exercising the powers and performing the duties within the limits of their consulates or commercial agencies respectively, the former at the same ports or places, and the latter at ports or places different from those at which such principals are located respectively.

Third. "Vice-consuls," and "vice commercial agents," shall be deemed to denote consular officers, who shall be substituted, temporarily, to fill the places of consuls-general, consuls, or commercial agents, when they shall be temporarily absent or relieved from duty.

Fourth. "Consular officer" shall be deemed to include consuls-general, consuls, commercial agents, deputy consuls, vice-consuls, vice-commercial agents, and consular agents, and none others.

Fifth. "Diplomatic officer" shall be deemed to include ambassadors, envoys extraordinary, ministers plenipotentiary, ministers resident, commissioners, chargés d'affaires, agents, and secretaries of legation, and none others.

[By section 4130 R. S. as amended, the word "minister" is understood to mean the person invested with, and exercising the principal diplomatic functions. The word "consul" is understood to mean any person invested by the United States with, and exercising the functions of Consul-General, Vice-Consul-General, Consul or Vice-Consul.]

chant Service.

SEC. 1708. Every consular officer shall keep a detailed list of all seamen and mariners shipped and discharged by him, specifying their names and the names of the vessels on which they are shipped and from which they are discharged, and the payments, if any, made on account of each so discharged; also of the number of the vessels arrived and departed, the amounts of their registered tonnage, and the number of their seamen and mariners, and of those who are protected, and whether citizens of the United States or not, and as nearly as possible the nature and value of their cargoes, and where produced, and shall make returns of the same, with their accounts and other returns, to the Secretary of the Treasury.

Estates of decedents.

Apr. 14, 1792, s.
2, v. 1, p. 255.

SEC. 1709. It shall be the duty of consuls and vice-consuls, where the laws of the country permit:

First. To take possession of the personal estate left by any citizen of the United States, other than seamen belonging to any vessel, who shall die within their consulate, leaving there no legal representative, partner in trade, or trustee by him appointed to take care of his effects.

Second. To inventory the same with the assistance of two merchants of the United States, or, for want of them, of any others at their choice.

Third. To collect the debts due the deceased in the country where he died, and pay the debts due from his estate which he shall have there contracted.

Fourth. To sell at auction, after reasonable public notice, such part of the estate as shall be of a perishable nature, and such further part, if any, as shall be necessary, for the payment of his debts, and, at the expiration of one year, from his decease, the residue.

Fifth. To transmit the balance of the estate to the Treasury of the United States, to be holden in trust for the legal claimant; except that if at any time before such transmission the legal representative of the deceased shall appear and demand his effects in their hands they shall deliver them up, being paid their fees, and shall cease their proceedings.

Notification of death.
Idem.

SEC. 1710. For the information of the representative of the deceased, the consul or vice-consul, in the settlement of his estate, shall immediately notify his death in one of the gazettes published in the consulate, and also to the Secretary of State, that the same may be notified in the State to which the deceased belonged; and he shall, as soon as may be, transmit to the Secretary of State an inventory of the effects of the deceased, taken as before directed.

SEC. 1711. When any citizen of the United States, dying abroad, leaves, by any lawful testamentary disposition, special directions for the custody and management, by the consular officer of the port or place where he dies, of the personal property of which he dies possessed in such country, such officer shall, so far as the laws of the country permit, strictly observe such directions. When any such citizen so dying, appoints, by any lawful testamentary disposition, any other person than such officer to take charge of and manage such property, it shall be the duty of the officer, whenever required by the person so appointed, to give his official aid in whatever way may be necessary to facilitate the proceedings of such person in the lawful execution of his trust, and, so far as the laws of the country permit, to protect the property of the deceased from any interference of the local authorities of the country where such citizen dies; and to this end it shall be the duty of such consular officer to place his official seal upon all of the personal property or effects of the deceased, and to break and remove such seal as may be required by such person, and not otherwise.

SEC. 1737. If any consul, vice-consul, commercial agent, or vice-commercial agent falsely and knowingly certifies that property belonging to foreigners is property belonging to citizens of the United States, he shall be punishable by imprisonment for not more than three years and by a fine of not more than ten thousand dollars.

SEC. 1738. No consular officer shall exercise diplomatic functions, or hold any diplomatic correspondence or relation on the part of the United States, in, with, or to the Government or country to which he is appointed, or any other country or Government, when there is in such country any officer of the United States authorized to perform diplomatic functions therein; nor in any case, unless expressly authorized by the President so to do.

SEC. 1750. Every Secretary of legation and consular officer is hereby authorized, whenever he is required or deems it necessary or proper so to do, at the post, port, place, or within the limits of his legation, consulate, or commercial agency, to administer to or take from any person an oath, affirmation, affidavit, or deposition, and to perform any notarial act which any notary public is required or authorized by law to do within the United States. Every such oath, affirmation, affidavit, deposition, and notarial act administered, sworn, affirmed, taken, had, or done, by or before any such officer, when certified under his hand and seal of office, shall be as valid, and of like force and effect within the United States, to all intents and purposes, as if administered, sworn, affirmed, taken, had, or done, by or before

EXPATRIATION.

Sec.
1999. Right of expatriation declared.
2000. Protection of naturalized citizens in foreign countries.

Sec.
2001. Release of citizens imprisoned by foreign governments.

SEC. 1999. Whereas the right of expatriation is a natural and inherent right of all people, indispensable to the enjoyment of the rights of life, liberty, and the pursuit of happiness; and whereas in the recognition of this principle this Government has freely received emigrants from all nations, and invested them with the rights of citizenship; and whereas it is claimed that such American citizens, with their descendants, are subjects of foreign states, owing allegiance to the governments thereof; and whereas it is necessary to the maintenance of public peace that this claim of foreign allegiance should be promptly and finally disavowed: Therefore any declaration, instruction, opinion, order, or decision of any officer of the United States which denies, restricts, impairs, or questions the right of expatriation, is declared inconsistent with the fundamental principles of the Republic.

SEC. 2000. All naturalized citizens of the United States, while in foreign countries, are entitled to and shall receive from this Government the same protection of persons and property which is accorded to native-born citizens.

SEC. 2001. Whenever it is made known to the President that any citizen of the United States has been unjustly deprived of his liberty by or under the authority of any foreign government, it shall be the duty of the President forthwith to demand of that government the reasons of such imprisonment; and if it appears to be wrongful and in violation of the rights of American citizenship, the President shall forthwith demand the release of such citizen, and if the release so demanded is unreasonably delayed or refused, the President shall use such means, not amounting to acts of war, as he may think necessary and proper to obtain or effectuate the release; and all the facts and proceedings relative thereto shall as soon as practicable be communicated by the President to Congress.

SEC. 5272. It shall be lawful for the Secretary of State, under his hand and seal of office, to order the person so committed to be delivered to such person as shall be authorized, in the name and on behalf of such foreign government, to be tried for the crime of which such person shall be so accused, and such person shall be delivered up accordingly; and it shall be lawful for the person so authorized to hold such person in custody, and to take him to the territory of such foreign government, pursuant to such treaty. If the person so accused shall escape out of any custody to which he shall be committed, or to which he shall be delivered, it shall be lawful to retake such person in the same manner as any person accused of any crime against the laws in force in that part of the United States to which he shall so escape, may be retaken on an escape.

SEC. 5273. Whenever any person who is committed under this title or any treaty, to remain until delivered up in pursuance of a requisition, is not so delivered up and conveyed out of the United States within two calendar months after such commitment, over and above the time actually required to convey the prisoner from the jail to which he was committed, by the readiest way, out of the United States, it shall be lawful for any judge of the United States, or of any State, upon application made to him by or on behalf of the person so committed, and upon proof made to him that reasonable notice of the intention to make such application has been given to the Secretary of State, to order the person so committed to be discharged out of custody, unless sufficient cause is shown to such judge why such discharge ought not to be ordered.

Time allowed for extradition.
Idem, s. 4.

SEC. 5274. The provisions of this Title relating to the surrender of persons who have committed crimes in foreign countries shall continue in force during the existence of any treaty of extradition with any foreign Government, and no longer.

Continuance of provisions limited.
Idem, s. 5.

SEC. 5275. Whenever any person is delivered by any foreign Government to an agent of the United States, for the purpose of being brought within the United States and tried for any crime of which he is duly accused, the President shall have power to take all necessary measures for the transportation and safe-keeping of such accused person, and for his security against lawless violence, until the final conclusion of his trial for the crimes or offenses specified in the warrant of extradition, and until his final discharge from custody or imprisonment for or on account of such crimes or offenses, and for a reasonable time thereafter, and may employ such portion of the land or naval forces of the United States, or of the militia thereof, as may be necessary for the safe-keeping and protection of the accused.

the accused.
Mar. 3, 1869, s.
1, v. 15, p. 337.

SEC. 5276. Any person duly appointed as agent to receive, in behalf of the United States, the delivery, by a foreign Government, of any person accused of crime committed within the jurisdiction of the United States, and to convey him to the place of his trial, shall have all the powers of a marshal of the United States, in the several districts through which it may be necessary for him to pass with such prisoner, so far as such power is requisite for the prisoner's safe-keeping.

agent receiving offenders delivered by a foreign Government.
Idem, s. 2.

SEC. 5277. Every person who knowingly and willfully obstructs, resists, or opposes such agent in the execution of his duties, or who rescues or attempts to rescue such prisoner, whether in the custody of the agent or of any officer or person to whom his custody has lawfully been committed, shall be punishable by a fine of not more than one thousand dollars, and by imprisonment for not more than one year.

Penalty for opposing agent, etc.
Idem, s. 3.

SEC. 5278. Whenever the executive authority of any State or Territory demands any person as a fugitive from justice,

Fugitives from justice of a State or Territory.

Feb. 12, 1793, s. 1, v. 1, p. 302. of the executive authority of any State or Territory to which such person has fled, and produces a copy of an indictment found or an affidavit made before a magistrate of any State or Territory, charging the person demanded with having committed treason, felony, or other crime, certified as authentic by the governor or chief magistrate of the State or Territory from whence the person so charged has fled, it shall be the duty of the executive authority of the State or Territory to which such person has fled to cause him to be arrested and secured, and to cause notice of the arrest to be given to the executive authority making such demand, or to the agent of such authority appointed to receive the fugitive, and to cause the fugitive to be delivered to such agent when he shall appear. If no such agent appears within six months from the time of the arrest, the prisoner may be discharged. All costs or expenses incurred in the apprehending, securing, and transmitting such fugitive to the State or Territory making such demand, shall be paid by such State or Territory.

Penalty for resisting agent, etc.

Idem, s. 2.
See sec. 5409.

SEC. 5279. Any agent so appointed who receives the fugitive into his custody, shall be empowered to transport him to the State or Territory from which he has fled. And every person who, by force, sets at liberty or rescues the fugitive from such agent while so transporting him, shall be fined not more than five hundred dollars or imprisoned not more than one year.

Arrest of deserting seamen from foreign vessels.

Mar. 2, 1829, ch. 41, v. 4, p. 359;
Feb. 24, 1855, ch. 123, v. 10, p. 614.

SEC. 5280. On application of a consul or vice-consul of any foreign government having a treaty with the United States stipulating for the restoration of seamen deserting, made in writing, stating that the person therein named has deserted from a vessel of any such government, while in any port of the United States, and on proof by the exhibition of the register of the vessel, ship's roll, or other official document, that the person named belonged, at the time of desertion, to the crew of such vessel, it shall be the duty of any court, judge, commissioner of any circuit court, justice, or other magistrate, having competent power, to issue warrants to cause such person to be arrested for examination. If, on examination, the facts stated are found to be true, the person arrested not being a citizen of the United States, shall be delivered up to the consul or vice-consul, to be sent back to the dominions of any such government, or, on the request and at the expense of the consul or vice-consul, shall be detained until the consul or vice-consul finds an opportunity to send him back to the dominions of any such government. No person so arrested shall be detained more than two months after his arrest; but at the end of that time shall be set at liberty, and shall not be again molested for the same cause. If any such deserter shall be found to have committed any crime or offense, his surrender may be delayed until the tribunal before which the case shall be depending, or may be cognizable, shall have pronounced its sentence, and such sentence shall have been carried into effect.

SEC. 5409. Whenever any marshal, deputy marshal, ministerial officer, or other person, has in his custody any prisoner by virtue of process issued under the laws of the United States by any court judge, or commissioner, and such marshal, deputy marshal, ministerial officer, or other person, voluntarily suffers such prisoner to escape, he shall be fined not more than two thousand dollars, or imprisoned for a term not more than two years, or both.

If any person shall falsely make, alter, forge, or counterfeit, or cause or procure to be falsely made, altered, forged, or counterfeited, or willingly aid, or assist in the false making, altering, forging, or counterfeiting, any bond, bid, proposal, guarantee, security, official bond, public record, affidavit, or other writing for the purpose of defrauding the United States; or shall utter or publish as true, or cause to be uttered or published as true, any such false, forged, altered, or counterfeited bond, bid, proposal, guarantee, security, official bond, public record, affidavit, or other writing, for the purpose of defrauding the United States, knowing the same to be false, forged, altered, or counterfeited; or shall transmit to, or present at, or cause to or procure to be transmitted to, or presented at, the office of any officer of the United States, any such false, forged, altered, or counterfeited bond, bid, proposal, guarantee, security, official bond, public record, affidavit, or other writing, knowing the same to be false, forged, altered, or counterfeited, for the purpose of defrauding the United States, shall be punishable by a fine of not more than one thousand dollars, or by imprisonment at hard labor for not more than ten years, or by both such punishments.

That any person who shall embezzle, steal, or purloin any money, property, record, voucher, or valuable thing whatever, of the moneys, goods, chattels, records, or property of the United States, shall be deemed guilty of felony, and on conviction thereof before the district or circuit court of the United States in the district wherein said offense may have been committed, or into which he shall carry or have in possession of said property so embezzled, stolen, or purloined, shall be punished therefor by imprisonment at hard labor in the penitentiary not exceeding five years, or by a fine not exceeding five thousand dollars, or both, at the discretion of the court before which he shall be convicted.

Mar. 3, 1875.

Embezzling, stealing, etc., from United States deemed felony; penalty.

SEC. 2. That if any person shall receive, conceal, or aid in concealing, or have, or retain in his possession with intent to convert to his own use or gain, any money, property, record, voucher, or valuable thing whatever, of the moneys, goods, chattels, records, or property of the United States, which has theretofore been embezzled, stolen, or purloined from the United States by any other person, knowing the same to have been so embezzled, stolen, or purloined, such person shall, on conviction before the circuit or district court of the United States in the district wherein he may have such property, be punished by a fine not exceeding five thousand dollars, or imprisonment at hard labor in the penitentiary not exceeding five years, one or both, at the discretion of the court before which he shall be convicted; and such receiver may be tried either before or after the conviction of the principal felon, but if the party has been convicted, then the judgment against him shall be conclusive evidence in the prosecution against such receiver that the property of the United States therein described has been embezzled, stolen, or purloined.

Knowingly receiving, concealing, etc., stolen, etc., property of the United States; penalty.

May be tried before or after conviction of principal.

Claim of United States to islands, Aug. 18, 1856; s. 1, v. 11, p. 119.

takes peaceable possession thereof, and occupies the same, such island, rock, or key may, at the discretion of the President, be considered as appertaining to the United States.

Notice of discovery, and proofs to be furnished.
Ibid.

SEC. 5571. The discoverer shall, as soon as practicable, give notice, verified by affidavit, to the Department of State, of such discovery, occupation, and possession, describing the island, rock, or key, and the latitude and longitude thereof, as near as may be, and showing that such possession was taken in the name of the United States; and shall furnish satisfactory evidence to the State Department that such island, rock, or key was not, at the time of the discovery thereof, or of the taking possession and occupation thereof by the claimants, in the possession or occupation of any other government or of the citizens of any other government, before the same shall be considered as appertaining to the United States.

Completion of proof in case of death of discoverer.

Apr. 2, 1872, s. 1, v. 17, p. 48.

SEC. 5572. If the discoverer dies before perfecting proof of discovery or fully complying with the provisions of the preceding section, his widow, heir, executor, or administrator, shall be entitled to the benefits of such discovery, upon complying with the provisions of this Title; but nothing herein shall be held to impair any rights of discovery or any assignment by a discoverer heretofore recognized by the United States.

Exclusive privileges of discoverer.

Aug. 18, 1856, s. 2, v. 11, p. 119.

SEC. 5573. The discoverer, or his assigns, being citizens of the United States, may be allowed, at the pleasure of Congress, the exclusive right of occupying such islands, rock, or keys, for the purpose of obtaining guano, and of selling and delivering the same to citizens of the United States, to be used therein, and may be allowed to charge and receive for every ton thereof delivered alongside a vessel, in proper tubs, within reach of ship's tackle, a sum not exceeding eight dollars per ton for the best quality, or four dollars for every ton taken while in its native place of deposit.

Restrictions upon exportation.

July 28, 1866, s. 3, v. 14, p. 328;
Apr. 2, 1873, s. 1, v. 17, p. 48.

SEC. 5574. No guano shall be taken from any such island, rock, or key, except for the use of the citizens of the United States, or of persons resident therein. The discoverer, or his widow, heir, executor, administrator, or assigns, shall enter into bond, in such penalty and with such sureties as may be required by the President, to deliver the guano to citizens of the United States, for the purpose of being used therein, and to none others, and at the price prescribed, and to provide all necessary facilities for that purpose within a time to be fixed in the bond; and any breach of the provisions thereof shall be deemed a forfeiture of all rights accruing under and by virtue of this Title. This section shall, however, be suspended in relation to all persons who have complied with the provisions of this Title, for five years from and after the fourteenth day of July, eighteen hundred and seventy-two.

Regulation of guano trade.

Aug. 18, 1856, s. 3, v. 11, p. 120.

SEC. 5575. The introduction of guano from such islands, rocks, or keys, shall be regulated as in the coasting-trade between different parts of the United States, and the same laws shall govern the vessels concerned therein.

SEC. 5576. All acts done, and offenses or crimes committed, on any such island, rock, or key, by persons who may land thereon, or in the waters adjacent thereto, shall be deemed committed on the high seas, on board a merchant-ship or vessel belonging to the United States; and shall be punished according to the laws of the United States relating to such ships or vessels and offenses on the high seas, which laws for the purpose aforesaid are extended over such islands, rocks, and keys.

Criminal jurisdiction.
Ibid., s. 6.

SEC. 5577. The President is authorized, at his discretion, to employ the land and naval forces of the United States to protect the rights of the discoverer or of his widow, heir, executor, administrator, or assigns.

Employment of land and naval forces.
Ibid., s. 5.

SEC. 5578. Nothing in this Title contained shall be construed as obliging the United States to retain possession of the islands, rocks, or keys, after the guano shall have been removed from the same.

Right to abandon islands.

therein, is in custody for an act done or omitted under any alleged right, title, authority, privilege, protection, or exemption claimed under the commission, or order, or sanction of any foreign state, or under color thereof, the validity and effect whereof depend upon the law of nations; or unless it is necessary to bring the prisoner into court to testify.

Application for the writ of habeas corpus.
Feb. 5, 1867, s. 1, v. 14, p. 385.

SEC. 754. Application for a writ of habeas corpus shall be made to the court or justice, or judge authorized to issue the same, by complaint in writing, signed by the person for whose relief it is intended, setting forth the facts concerning the detention of the party restrained, in whose custody he is detained, and by virtue of what claim or authority, if known. The facts set forth in the complaint shall be verified by the oath of the person making the application.

Allowance and direction of the writ.
Idem.

SEC. 755. The court, or justice, or judge to whom such application is made shall forthwith award a writ of habeas corpus, unless it appear, from the petition itself that the party is not entitled thereto. The writ shall be directed to the person in whose custody the party is detained.

Time of return.
Idem.

SEC. 756. Any person to whom such writ is directed shall make due return thereof within three days thereafter, unless the party be detained beyond the distance of twenty miles; and if beyond that distance and not beyond a distance of a hundred miles, within ten days; and if beyond the distance of a hundred miles, within twenty days.

Form of return.
Idem.

SEC. 757. The person to whom the writ is directed shall certify to the court, or justice, or judge before whom it is returnable the true cause of the detention of such party.

Body of the party to be produced.
Idem.

SEC. 758. The person making the return shall at the same time bring the body of the party before the judge who granted the writ.

Day for hearing.
Idem.

SEC. 759. When the writ is returned, a day shall be set for the hearing of the cause, not exceeding five days thereafter, unless the party petitioning requests a longer time.

Denial of return, counter-allegations, amendments.
Idem.

SEC. 760. The petitioner or the party imprisoned or restrained may deny any of the facts set forth in the return, or may allege any other facts that may be material in the case. Such denials or allegations shall be under oath. The return and all suggestions made against it may be amended, by leave of the court, or justice, or judge, before or after the same are filed, so that thereby the material facts may be ascertained.

Summary hearing; disposition of party.
Idem.

SEC. 761. The court, or justice, or judge shall proceed in a summary way to determine the facts of the case, by hearing the testimony and arguments, and thereupon to dispose of the party as law and justice require.

In cases involving the law of nations notice to be served on State attorney-general.
Aug. 29, 1842, v. 5, p. 539.

SEC. 762. When a writ of habeas corpus is issued in the case of any prisoner who, being a subject or citizen of a foreign state and domiciled therein, is committed, or confined, or in custody, by or under the authority or law of any one of the United States, or process founded thereon, on account of any act done or omitted under any alleged right, title, authority, privilege, protection, or exemption claimed under the commission or order or sanction of any foreign state, or under color thereof, the validity and effect whereof depend upon the law of nations, notice of the said proceeding, to be prescribed by the court, or justice, or judge at the time of granting said writ, shall be served on the attorney-general or other officer prosecuting the pleas of said State, and due proof of such service shall be made to the court, or justice, or judge before the hearing.

SEC. 763. From the final decision of any court, justice, or judge inferior to the circuit court, upon an application for a writ of habeas corpus or upon such writ when issued, an appeal may be taken to the circuit court for the district in which the cause is heard:

Appeals in cases of habeas corpus to circuit court.
 Aug. 29, 1842, v. 5, p. 539; Feb. 5, 1867, s. 1, v. 14, p. 385; Mar. 27, 1868, s. 2, v. 15, p. 44.

1. In the case of any person alleged to be restrained of his liberty in violation of the Constitution, or of any law or treaty of the United States.

2. In the case of any prisoner who, being a subject or citizen of a foreign state, and domiciled therein, is committed or confined, or in custody by or under the authority or law of the United States, or of any State, or process founded thereon, for or on account of any act done or omitted under any alleged right, title, authority, privilege, protection, or exemption, set up or claimed under the commission, order, or sanction of any foreign state or sovereignty, the validity and effect whereof depend upon the law of nations, or under color thereof.

That section seven hundred and sixty-four of the Revised Statutes be amended so that the same shall read as follows:

Mar. 3, 1895.

“From the final decision of such circuit court an appeal may be taken to the Supreme Court in the cases described in the preceding section.”

23 Stat. L., 437.
 Appeals to Supreme Court in habeas corpus cases.
 Substitute for R. S., sec. 764; R. S., sec. 763; 1891, Mar. 3, ch. 517, p. 901; 114 U. S., 564; 117 U. S., 241; 119 U. S., 586; 121 U. S., 89.

SEC. 765. The appeals allowed by the two preceding sections shall be taken on such terms, and under such regulations and orders, as well for the custody and appearance of the person alleged to be in prison or confined or restrained of his liberty, as for sending up to the appellate tribunal a transcript of the petition, writ of habeas corpus, return thereto, and other proceedings, as may be prescribed by the Supreme Court, or, in default thereof, by the court or judge hearing the cause.

Appeals, how taken.
 Aug. 29, 1842, v. 5, p. 539; Feb. 5, 1867, s. 1, v. 14, p. 385.

SEC. 766. Pending the proceedings or appeal in the cases mentioned in the three preceding sections, and until final judgment therein, and after final judgment of discharge, any proceeding against the person so imprisoned or confined or restrained of his liberty, in any State court, or by or under the authority of any State, for any matter so heard and determined, or in process of being heard and determined, under such writ of habeas corpus, shall be deemed null and void.

Pending proceedings in certain cases, action by State authority void.
 Idem.
 See act Mar. 3, 1893, amending this section.

Mar. 3, 1893.

27 Stat. L., 751.
Habeas corpus cases; appeals to be taken in six months.
R. S., sec. 766.
See note 1.

That section seven hundred and sixty-six of the Revised Statutes be amended by adding thereto, at the end of said section, the following words:
"Provided, That no such appeal shall be had or allowed after six months from the date of the judgment or order complained of."

HOMESTEADS.

Sec.
Act Mar. 3, 1891. Who may enter certain unappropriated public lands.

May 20, 1862, s. 1, v. 12, p. 392; Feb. 11, 1874, ch. 25, v. 18, p. 15.

SEC. 2289. Every person who is the head of a family, or who has arrived at the age of twenty-one years, and is a citizen of the United States, or who has filed his declaration of intention to become such, as required by the naturalization laws, shall be entitled to enter one-quarter section, or a less quantity, of unappropriated public lands, to be located in a body in conformity to the legal subdivisions of the public lands;

Owner of over 160 acres to acquire no rights.
1890, Aug. 30, ch. 837, par. 3, p. 791.
Adjoining farm entries.
R. S., sec. 2306.

But no person who is the proprietor of more than one hundred and sixty acres of land in any State or Territory, shall acquire any right under the homestead law.

Persons in military or naval service, when and before whom to make affidavit.
Mar. 21, 1864, s. 4, v. 13, p. 35.

And every person owning and residing on land may, under the provisions of this section, enter other land lying contiguous to his land, which shall not, with the land so already owned and occupied, exceed in the aggregate one hundred and sixty acres.

SEC. 2293. In case of any person desirous of availing himself of the benefits of this chapter; but who, by reason of actual service in the military or naval service of the United States, is unable to do the personal preliminary acts at the district land-office * * *; and whose family, or some member thereof, is residing on the land which he desires to enter, and upon which a bona-fide improvement and settlement have been made, such person may make the affidavit required by law before the officer commanding in the branch of the service in which the party is engaged, which affidavit shall be as binding in law, and with like penalties, as if taken before the register or receiver; and upon such affidavit being filed with the register by the wife or other representative of the party, the same shall become effective from the date of such filing, provided the application and affidavit are accompanied by the fee and commissions as required by law.

Note 1.—As to the court to which appeals should be taken in habeas corpus cases, see 1891, Mar. 3, ch. 517, secs. 5, 6 (1 Supp. R. S., 903), and 144 U. S., 47.

SEC. 2296. No lands acquired under the provisions of this chapter shall in any event become liable to the satisfaction of any debt contracted prior to the issuing of the patent therefor.

Homestead lands not to be subject to prior debts.
May 20, 1862, s. 4, v. 12, p. 393.

SEC. 2298. No person shall be permitted to acquire title to more than one quarter-section under the provisions of this chapter.

Limitation of amount entered for homestead.
May 20, 1862, s. 6, v. 12, p. 393.

That from and after the passage of this act no public lands of the United States, except those in the State of Missouri shall be subject to private entry.

Mar. 2, 1889.
25 Stat. L., 854.
No public lands except in Missouri subject hereafter to private entry. R. S., secs. 2353-3762. June 22, 1874, ch. 422 and note, p. 40; Mar. 3, 1891, ch. 561, s. 9, p. 943.

SEC. 2. That any person who has not heretofore perfected title to a tract of land of which he has made entry under the homestead law, may make a homestead entry of not exceeding one-quarter section of public land subject to such entry, such previous filing or entry to the contrary notwithstanding; but this right shall not apply to persons who perfect title to lands under the pre-emption or homestead laws already initiated;

Homestead entry may be made, notwithstanding former unperfected entry.
R. S., sec. 2298.
Mar. 3, 1891, ch. 561, s. 5, p. 942.

Provided, That all pre-emption settlers upon the public lands whose claims have been initiated prior to the passage of this act may change such entries to homestead entries and proceed to perfect their titles to their respective claims under the homestead law notwithstanding they may have heretofore had the benefit of such law, but such settlers who perfect title to such claims under the homestead law shall not thereafter be entitled to enter other lands under the pre-emption or homestead laws of the United States.

Pre-emption settlers already initiated may change to homestead entry.
R. S., sec. 2301.
Mar. 3, 1891, ch. 561, s. 6, p. 943.
See note 1.

That section three of the said Act of March second, eighteen hundred and eighty-nine, be amended by adding thereto the following provision:

Dec. 29, 1894.
23 Stat. L., 599.

That if any such settler has heretofore forfeited his or her entry for any of said reasons, such person shall be permitted to make entry of, not to exceed a quarter section on any public land subject to entry under the homestead law, and to perfect title to the same under the same conditions in every respect as if he had not made the former entry.

Public lands. Settler may enter, if former entry unavoidably forfeited.
Mar. 2, 1889, ch. 381, s. 3 (1 Supp. R. S., 683).
See note 2.

SEC. 5. That any homestead settler who has heretofore entered less than one-quarter section of land may enter other and additional land lying contiguous to the original entry, which shall not, with the land first entered and occupied, exceed in the aggregate one hundred and sixty acres without proof of residence upon and cultivation of the additional entry; and if final proof of settlement and Homestead settlers on less, may enter up to one quarter section without further proof.

R. S., secs. 2304-2309.
Mar. 3, 1891, s. 5, ch. 561, p. 942.

Note 1.—The pre-emption law was repealed by act of March 3, 1891. (Chap. 561, sec. 4, p. 942.)

Note 2.—The act of July 1, 1879, settlers were protected from absence of one year in consequence of the destruction of crops by grasshoppers. Previous acts permitting settlers to be absent from their lands in specified years, on account of injury by the grasshoppers, are as follows: June 18, 1874, ch. 308, December 28, ch. 10, 13 Stat. L., 81, 294; May 20, 1876, ch. 102, June 19, ch. 134; March 3, 1877, ch. 127, 19 Stat. L., 54, 59, 405; June 1, 1878, ch. 148, and June 14, ch. 190, 20 Stat. L., 88, 113.

cultivation has been made for the original entry, when the additional entry is made, then the patent shall issue without further proof:

—only owners and occupants.

Provided, That this section shall not apply to or for the benefit of any person who at the date of making application for entry hereunder does not own and occupy the lands covered by his original entry:

—not permitted if original entry be void.

And provided, That if the original entry should fail for any reason, prior to patent or should appear to be illegal or fraudulent, the additional entry shall not be permitted, or if having been initiated shall be canceled.

Persons entitled to homesteads who have made proof, etc., for less, may enter quarter section, etc.
Mar. 3, 1891, ch. 561, s. 5, p. 942.

SEC. 6. That every person entitled, under the provisions of the homestead laws, to enter a homestead, who has heretofore complied with or who shall hereafter comply with the conditions of said laws, and who shall have made his final proof thereunder for a quantity of land less than one hundred and sixty acres and received the receiver's final receipt therefor, shall be entitled under said laws to enter as a personal right, and not assignable, by legal subdivisions of the public lands of the United States subject to homestead entry, so much additional land as added to the quantity previously so entered by him shall not exceed one hundred and sixty acres:

Patent not to issue without residence.

Provided, That in no case shall patent issue for the land covered by such additional entry until the person making such additional entry shall have actually and in conformity with the homestead laws resided upon and cultivated the lands so additionally entered and otherwise fully complied with such laws:

Soldiers' certificates not affected.
R. S., secs. 2304, 2309.

Provided, also, That this section shall not be construed as affecting any rights as to location of soldiers' certificates heretofore issued under section two thousand three hundred and six of the Revised Statutes.

What minors may have the privileges of this chapter.
Ibid.

SEC. 2300. No person who has served, or may hereafter serve, for a period not less than fourteen days in the Army or Navy of the United States, either regular or volunteer, under the laws thereof, during the existence of an actual war, domestic or foreign, shall be deprived of the benefits of this chapter on account of not having attained the age of twenty-one years.

Mar. 3, 1891.

SEC. 6. That section twenty-three hundred and one of the Revised Statutes be amended so as to read as follows:

26 Stat. L., 7095.
Homestead entry may be commuted after fourteen months' residence.
Substitute for R. S., sec. 2301.
Ibid., s. 8.

“SEC. 2301. Nothing in this chapter shall be so construed as to prevent any person who shall hereafter avail himself of the benefits of section twenty-two hundred and eighty nine from paying the minimum price for the quantity of land so entered at any time after the expiration of fourteen calendar months from the date of such entry, and obtaining a patent therefor, upon making proof of settlement and of residence and cultivation for such period of fourteen months.”

Soldiers' and sailors' homestead.
June 8, 1872, s. 1, v. 17, p. 333.

SEC. 2304. Every private soldier and officer who has served in the Army of the United States during the recent rebellion, for ninety days, and who was honorably discharged, and has remained loyal to the Government, including the troops mustered into the service of the United States by virtue of the third section of an act approved February thirteen, eighteen hundred and sixty-two, and every seaman, marine, and officer who has served in the Navy of the United States, or in the Marine Corps, during the rebellion, for ninety days, and who was honorably discharged, and has remained loyal to the Government, shall, on compliance with the provisions of this chapter, as hereinafter modified, be entitled to enter upon and receive patents for a quantity of public lands not exceeding one hundred and sixty acres, or one quarter-section, to be taken in compact form, according to legal subdivisions, including the alternate reserved sections of public lands along the line of any railroad or other public work, not otherwise reserved or appropriated, and other lands subject to entry under the homestead laws of the United States; but such homestead settler shall be allowed six months after locating his homestead, and filing his declaratory statement, within which to make his entry and commence his settlement and improvement.

SEC. 2305. The time which the homestead settler has served in the Army, Navy, or Marine Corps shall be deducted from the time heretofore required to perfect title, or if discharged on account of wounds received or disability incurred in the line of duty, then the term of enlistment shall be deducted from the time heretofore required to perfect title, without reference to the length of time he may have served; but no patent shall issue to any homestead settler who has not resided upon, improved, and cultivated his homestead for a period of at least one year after he shall have commenced his improvements.

Deduction of military and naval service from time, etc.

SEC. 4511. The master of every vessel bound from a port in the United States to any foreign port other than vessels engaged in trade between the United States and the British North American possessions, or the West India Islands, or the Republic of Mexico, or of any vessel of the burden of seventy-five tons or upward, bound from a port on the Atlantic to a port on the Pacific, or vice versa, shall, before he proceeds on such voyage, make an agreement, in writing or in print, with every seaman whom he carries to sea as one of the crew, in the manner hereinafter mentioned; and every such agreement shall be, as near as may be, in the form given in the table marked A, in the schedule annexed to this Title, and shall be dated at the time of the first signature thereof, and shall be signed by the master before any seaman signs the same, and shall contain the following particulars:

First. The nature, and, as far as practicable, the duration of the intended voyage or engagement, and the port or country at which the voyage is to terminate.

Second. The number and description of the crew, specifying their respective employments.

Third. The time at which each seaman is to be on board, to begin work.

Fourth. The capacity in which each seaman is to serve.

Fifth. The amount of wages which each seaman is to receive.

Rules for shipping articles.

June 7, 1872, s.

13, v. 17, p. 265.

SEC. 4512. The following rules shall be observed with respect to agreements:

First. Every agreement, except such as are otherwise specially provided for, shall be signed by each seaman in the presence of a shipping commissioner.

Second. When the crew is first engaged the agreement shall be signed in duplicate, and one part shall be retained by the shipping-commissioner, and the other part shall contain a special place or form for the description and signatures of persons engaged subsequently to the first departure of the ship, and shall be delivered to the master.

Third. Every agreement entered into before a shipping-commissioner shall be acknowledged and certified under the hand and official seal of such commissioner. The certificate of acknowledgment shall be indorsed on or annexed to the agreement; and shall be in the following form:

“State of ———, County of ———:

“On this ——— day of ———, personally appeared before me, a shipping-commissioner in and for the said county, A. B., C. D., and E. F., severally known to me to be the same persons who executed the foregoing instrument, who each for himself acknowledged to me that he had read or had heard read the same; that he was by me made acquainted with the conditions thereof, and understood the same; and that, while sober and not in a state of intoxication, he signed it freely and voluntarily, for the uses and purposes therein mentioned.”

That none of the provisions of an act entitled “An act to authorize the appointment of shipping commissioners by the several circuit courts of the United States to superintend the shipping and discharge of seamen engaged in merchant ships belonging to the United States, and for the further protection of seamen” shall apply to sail or steam vessels engaged in the coastwise trade, except the coastwise trade between the Atlantic and Pacific coasts, or in the lake-going trade touching at foreign ports or otherwise, or in the trade between the United States and the British North American possessions, or in any case where the seamen are by custom or agreement entitled to participate in the profits or result of a cruise, or voyage.

That chapter eight hundred and one of the Public Laws of the Fifty-first Congress, entitled “An Act to amend the Act relative to shipping commissioners, approved August nineteenth, eighteen hundred and ninety, is hereby amended so as to read as follows:

28 Stat. L., 667. Shipment of merchant seamen.

Substitute for Aug. 19, 1890, ch. 801 (1 Supp. R. S., 780).

Shipping crews for vessels in coastwise trade, etc.

Note 1.—The act of June 7, 1872, ch. 322 (17 Stat. L., 262), is incorporated into the Revised Statutes in the sections noted in the margin.

These provisions relate mainly to the shipment and discharge of crews by shipping commissioners. Such shipment and discharge are made by this act inapplicable to the crews of vessels engaged in the coastwise trade, but June 19, 1886, ch. 421, s. 2 (1 Supp. R. S., 493), makes the shipment and discharge of such crews permissible, and Aug. 19, 1890, ch. 801 (1 Supp. R. S., 780), makes it compulsory.

For these reasons the act in the text appeared to the editor to be superseded by those of 1886 and 1890, and was omitted from the second edition of the first volume of this work.

There seems to be some question, however, whether the act in the text is not still so far in force as to prevent the operation of R. S., sec. 4536, upon crews of vessels in the coastwise trade. The editor followed the opinion of Judge Benedict in McCarty v. Steam Propeller City of New Bedford (4 Fed. Rep., 821), that the provisions of R. S., sec. 4536, are unaffected by the act of 1874, and therefore omitted the act.

It seems, however, that there is a difference of opinion on that point, and the act is therefore here restored.

June 19, 1886, ch. 421, s. 1 and note, s. 2 (1 Supp. R. S., 493).

SEC. 4513. The section forty-five hundred and eleven shall not apply to masters of vessels where the seamen are by custom or agreement entitled to participate in the profits or result of a cruise or voyage, nor to masters of coastwise nor to masters of lake-going vessels that touch at foreign ports; but seamen may, by agreement, serve on board such vessels a definite time, or, on the return of any vessel to a port in the United States, may reship and sail in the same vessel on another voyage, without the payment of additional fees to the shipping-commissioner, by either the seaman or the master.

SEC. 4514. If any person shall be carried to sea, as one of the crew on board of any vessel making a voyage as hereinbefore specified, without entering into an agreement with the master of such vessel, in the form and manner, and at the place and times in such cases required, the vessel shall be held liable for each such offense to a penalty of not more than two hundred dollars. But the vessel shall not be held liable for any person carried to sea, who shall have secretly stowed away himself without the knowledge of the master, mate, or of any of the officers of the vessel, or who shall have falsely personated himself to the master, mate, or officers of the vessel, for the purpose of being carried to sea.

SEC. 4515. If any master, mate, or other officer of a vessel knowingly receives, or accepts, to be entered on board of any merchant-vessel, any seaman who has been engaged or supplied contrary to the provisions of this Title, the vessel on board of which such seaman shall be found shall, for every such seaman, be liable to a penalty of not more than two hundred dollars.

SEC. 4516. In case of desertion, or of casualty resulting in the loss of one or more seamen, the master may ship a number equal to the number of whose services he has been deprived by desertion or casualty, and report the same to the United States consul at the first port at which he shall arrive, without incurring the penalty prescribed by the two preceding sections.

Lost seamen may be replaced. June 7, 1872, s. 14, v. 17, p. 265.

SEC. 4517. Every master of a merchant-vessel who engages any seaman at a place out of the United States, in which there is a consular officer or commercial agent, shall, before carrying such seaman to sea, procure the sanction of such officer, and shall engage seamen in his presence; and the rules governing the engagement of seamen before a shipping-commissioner in the United States, shall apply to such engagements made before a consular officer or commercial agent; and upon every such engagement the consular officer or commercial agent shall indorse upon the agreement his sanction thereof, and an attestation to the effect that the same has been signed in his presence, and otherwise duly made.

Shipping seamen in foreign ports. Ibid., s. 15.

SEC. 4518. Every master who engages any seaman in any place in which there is a consular officer or commercial agent, otherwise than as required by the preceding section, shall incur a penalty of not more than one hundred dollars, for which penalty the vessel shall be held liable.

Penalty for violating preceding section. Ibid.

SEC. 4538. Whenever any seaman or apprentice belonging to or sent home on any merchant-vessel, whether a foreign-going or domestic vessel, employed on a voyage which is to terminate in the United States, dies during such voyage, the master shall take charge of all moneys, clothes, and effects which he leaves on board, and shall, if he thinks fit, cause all or any of such clothes and effects to be sold by auction at the mast or other public auction, and shall thereupon sign an entry in the official log book, and cause it to be attested by the mate and one of the crew, containing the following particulars:

Title 53, chap. 3. Effects of deceased seamen. June 7, 1872, s. 43, v. 17, p. 271.

First. A statement of the amount of money so left by the deceased.

Second. In case of a sale, a description of each article sold, and the sum received for each.

Third. A statement of the sum due to deceased as wages, and the total amount of deductions, if any, to be made therefrom.

Proceedings in regard to effects of deceased seamen.
Ibid., s. 44.

SEC. 4539. In cases embraced by the preceding section, the following rules shall be observed:

First. If the vessel proceeds at once to any port in the United States, the master shall, within forty-eight hours after his arrival, deliver any such effects remaining unsold, and pay any money which he has taken charge of, or received from such sale, and the balance of wages due to the deceased, to the shipping-commissioner at the port of destination in the United States.

Second. If the vessel touches and remains at some foreign port before coming to any port in the United States, the master shall report the case to the United States consular officer there, and shall give to such officer any information he requires as to the destination of the vessel and probable length of the voyage; and such officer may, if he considers it expedient so to do, require the effects, money, and wages to be delivered and paid to him, and shall, upon such delivery and payment, give to the master a receipt; and the master shall within forty-eight hours after his arrival at his port of destination in the United States produce the same to the shipping-commissioner there. Such consular officer shall, in any such case, indorse and certify upon the agreement with the crew the particulars with respect to such delivery and payment.

Third. If the consular officer does not require such payment and delivery to be made to him, the master shall take charge of the effects, money, and wages, and shall, within forty-eight hours after his arrival at his port of destination in the United States, deliver and pay the same to the shipping-commissioner there.

Fourth. The master shall, in all cases in which any seaman or apprentice dies during the voyage or engagement, give to such officer or shipping-commissioner an account, in such form as they may respectively require, of the effects, money, and wages so to be delivered and paid; and no deductions claimed in such account shall be allowed unless verified by an entry in the official log-book, if there be any; and by such other vouchers, if any, as may be reasonably required by the officer or shipping-commissioner to whom the account is rendered.

Fifth. Upon due compliance with such of the provisions of this section as relate to acts to be done at the port of destination in the United States, the shipping-commissioner shall grant to the master a certificate to that effect. No officer of customs shall clear any foreign-going vessel without the production of such certificate.

Penalty for neglect in regard to seaman's effects.
Ibid., s. 45.

SEC. 4540. Whenever any master fails to take such charge of the money or other effects of a seaman or apprentice during a voyage, or to make such entries in respect thereof, or to procure such attestation to such entries, or to make such payment or delivery of any money, wages, or effects of any seaman or apprentice dying during a voyage, or to give such account in respect thereof as is above directed, he shall be accountable for the money, wages, and effects of the seaman or apprentice to the circuit court in whose jurisdiction such port of destination is situate, and shall pay and deliver the same accordingly; and he shall, in addition, for every such offense, be liable to a penalty of not more than treble the value of the money or effects, or, if such value is not ascertained, not more than two hundred dollars; and if any such money, wages, or effects are not duly paid, delivered, and accounted for by the master, the owner of the vessel shall pay, deliver, and account for the same, and such money and wages and the value of such effects shall be recoverable from him accordingly; and if he fails to account for and pay the same, he shall, in addition to his liability for the money and value, be liable to the same penalty which is incurred by the master for a like offense; and all money, wages, and effects of any seaman or apprentice dying during a voyage shall be recoverable in the courts and by the modes of proceeding by which seamen are enabled to recover wages due to them.

SEC. 4541. Whenever any such seaman or apprentice dies at any place out of the United States, leaving any money or effects not on board of his vessel, the consular officer of the United States at or nearest the place shall claim and take charge of such money and effects, and shall, if he thinks fit, sell all or any of such effects, or any effects of any deceased seaman or apprentice delivered to him under the provisions of this Title, and shall quarterly remit to the district judge for the district embracing the port from which such vessel sailed, or the port where the voyage terminates, all moneys belonging to or arising from the sale of the effects or paid as the wages of any deceased seamen or apprentices which have come to his hands; and shall render such accounts thereof as the district judge requires.

SEC. 4548. Moneys paid under the laws of the United States, by direction of consular officers or agents, at any foreign port or place, as wages, extra or otherwise, due American seamen, shall be paid in gold or its equivalent, without any deduction whatever, any contract to the contrary notwithstanding.

SEC. 4559. Upon a complaint in writing, signed by the first, or the second and third officers and a majority of the crew, of any vessel while in a foreign port, that such vessel is in an unsuitable condition to go to sea, because she is leaky, or insufficiently supplied with sails, rigging, anchors, or any other equipment, or that the crew is insufficient to man her, or that her provisions, stores, and supplies are not, or have not been, during the voyage, sufficient and wholesome, thereupon, in any of these or like cases, the consul or a commercial agent who may discharge any duties of a “Sec. 4561. The inspectors in their report shall also state whether, in their opinion, the vessel was sent to sea unsuitably provided in any important or essential particular, by neglect or design, or through mistake or accident; and in case it was by neglect or design, and the consular officer approves of such finding, he shall discharge such of the crew as request it, and shall require the payment by the master of one month’s wages for each seaman over and above the wages then due.

But if, in the opinion of the inspectors, the defects or deficiencies found to exist have been the result of mistake or accident, and could not, in the exercise of ordinary care, have been known and provided against before the sailing of the vessel, and the master shall, in a reasonable time, remove or remedy the causes of complaint, then the crew shall remain and discharge their duty.”

Payment of charges for inspection.
Ibid.

SEC. 4562. The master shall pay all such reasonable charges for inspection under such complaint as shall be officially certified to him under the hand of the consul or commercial agent; but in case the inspectors report that the complaint is without any good or sufficient cause, the master may retain from the wages of the complainants, in proportion to the pay of each, the amount of such charges, with such reasonable damages for detention on that account as the consul or commercial agent directing the inquiry may officially certify.

Refusal to pay wages and charges; damages; penalty.

June 7, 1872, s. 36, v. 17, p. 269.

SEC. 4565. Any three or more of the crew of any merchant-vessel of the United States bound from a port in the United States to any foreign port, or being of the burden of seventy-five tons or upward, and bound from a port on the Atlantic to a port on the Pacific, or vice versa, may complain to any officer in command of any of the vessels of the United States Navy, or consular officer of the United States, or shipping-commissioner or chief officer of the customs, that the provisions or water for the use of the crew are, at any time, of bad quality, unfit for use, or deficient in quantity. Such officer shall thereupon examine the provisions or water, or cause them to be examined; and if, on examination, such provisions or water are found to be of bad quality and unfit for use, or to be deficient in quantity, the person making such examination shall certify the same in writing to the master of the ship. If such master does not thereupon provide other proper provisions or water, where the same can be had, in lieu of any so certified to be of a bad quality and unfit for use, or does not procure the requisite quantity of any so certified to be insufficient in quantity, or uses any provisions or water which have been so certified as aforesaid to be of bad quality and unfit for use, he shall, in every such case, be liable to a penalty of not more than one hundred dollars; and upon every such examination the officers making or directing the same shall enter a statement of the result of the examination in the log-book, and shall send a report thereof to the district judge for the judicial district embracing the port to which such vessel is bound; and such report shall be received in evidence in any legal proceedings.

SEC. 4566. If the officer to whom any such complaint, in regard to the provisions or the water, is made, certifies in such statement that there was no reasonable ground for such complaint, each of the parties so complaining shall be liable to forfeit to the master or owner, out of his wages, a sum not exceeding one week's wages.

Forfeiture for false complaint
Ibid., s. 37.

SEC. 4567. If any seaman, while on board any vessel, shall state to the master that they desire to make complaint, in accordance with the two preceding sections, in regard to the provisions or the water, to a competent officer, against the master, the master shall, if the vessel is then at a place where there is any such officer, so soon as the service of the vessel will permit, and if the vessel is not then at such a place, so soon after her first arrival at such place as the service of the vessel will permit, allow such seamen, or any of them, to go ashore, or shall send them ashore, in proper custody, so that they may be enabled to make such complaint; and shall, in default, be liable to a penalty of not more than one hundred dollars.

Permission to enter complaint.
Ibid., s. 38.

SEC. 4577. It shall be the duty of the consuls, vice-consuls, commercial agents, and vice-commercial agents, from time to time, to provide for the seamen of the United States, who may be found destitute within their districts, respectively, sufficient subsistence and passages to some port of the United States, in the most reasonable manner, at the expense of the United States, subject to such instructions as the Secretary of State shall give. The seamen shall, if able, be bound to do duty on board the vessels in which they may be transported, according to their several abilities.

Return of seamen.

June 26, 1884.

SEC. 9. That section forty-five hundred and seventy-eight of the Revised Statutes be amended so as to read as follows:

Disposal of extra wages.

Destitute seamen to be transported to United States by masters of vessels, at cost of United States.

Substitute for R. S., sec. 4578. 1886, June 19, ch. 421, s. 18, p. 497.

Additional pay by United States when seamen unable to do duty.

Refusal by master to receive destitute seamen.

Limit of obligation. 1886, June 19, ch. 421, s. 18, p. 497.

Payments in advance or for shipment of seamen, prohibited. 22 Fed. Rep., 734; 27 Fed. Rep., 765; 24 C. Cls. R., 160.

18 Opins., 253.

Exemption of whaling vessels.

Penalty for false claim of relationship.

“SEC. 4578. All masters of vessels of the United States, and bound to some port of the same, are required to take such destitute seamen on board their vessels, at the request of consular officers, and to transport them to the port in the United States to which such vessel may be bound, on such terms, not exceeding ten dollars for each person for voyages of not more than thirty days, and not exceeding twenty dollars for each person for longer voyages, as may be agreed between the master and the consular officer; and said consular officer shall issue certificates for such transportation, which certificates shall be assignable for collection.

If any such destitute seaman is so disabled or ill as to be unable to perform duty, the consular officer shall so certify in the certificate of transportation, and such additional compensation shall be paid as the First Comptroller of the Treasury shall deem proper.

Every such master who refuses to receive and transport such seamen on the request or order of such consular officer shall be liable to the United States in a penalty of one hundred dollars for each seaman so refused. The certificate of any such consular officer, given under his hand and official seal, shall be presumptive evidence of such refusal in any court of law having jurisdiction for the recovery of the penalty.

No master of any vessel shall, however, be obliged to take a greater number than one man to every one hundred tons burden of the vessel on any one voyage.”

“SEC. 10. That it shall be, and is hereby, made unlawful in any case to pay any seamen wages before leaving the port at which such seaman may be engaged in advance of the time when he has actually earned the same, or to pay such advance wages to any other person, or to pay any person, other than an officer authorized by act of Congress to collect fees for such service, any remuneration for the shipment of seamen.

Any person paying such advance wages or such remuneration shall be deemed guilty of a misdemeanor, and, upon conviction, shall be punished by a fine not less than four times the amount of the wages so advanced or remuneration so paid, and may be also imprisoned for a period not exceeding six months, at the discretion of the court.

The payment of such advanced wages or remuneration shall in no case, except as herein provided, absolve the vessel, or the master or owner thereof, from full payment of wages after the same shall have been actually earned, and shall be no defense to a libel, suit, or action for the recovery of such wages:

Provided, That this section shall not apply to whaling-vessels:

And provided further, * * * [Words omitted, superseded, 1886, June 19, ch. 421, s. 3, p. 493.]

And any person who shall falsely claim such relationship to any seaman in order to obtain wages so allotted shall, for every such offense, be punishable by a fine of not exceeding five hundred dollars, or imprisonment not exceeding six months, at the discretion of the court.

This section shall apply as well to foreign vessels as to vessels of the United States; * * * [Words omitted, superseded, 1886, June 19, ch. 421, s. 3, p. 493.]

Section applies to foreign vessels.

SEC. 4579. Whenever distressed seamen of the United States are transported from foreign ports where there is no consular officer of the United States, to ports of the United States, there shall be allowed to the master or owner of each vessel, in which they are transported, such reasonable compensation, in addition to the allowance now fixed by law, as shall be deemed equitable by the First Comptroller of the Treasury.

Additional allowance for transportation of destitute seamen. Feb. 28, 1811, v. 2, p. 651.

SEC. 2. That section forty-five hundred and eighty of the Revised Statutes be amended so as to read as follows:

June 26, 1884.

“SEC. 4580. Upon the application of the master of any vessel to a consular officer to discharge a seaman, or upon the application of any seaman for his own discharge, if it appears to such officer that said seaman has completed his shipping agreement, or is entitled to his discharge under any act of Congress or according to the general principles or usages of maritime law as recognized in the United States, such officer shall discharge said seaman, and require from the master of said vessel, before such discharge shall be made, payment of the wages which may then be due said seaman;

Discharge of seamen and payment of wages. Substitute for R. S., sec. 4580.

But no payment of extra wages shall be required by any consular officer upon such discharge of any seaman except as provided in this act.”

SEC. 7. That section forty-five hundred and eighty-one of the Revised Statutes be amended so as to read as follows:

June 26, 1884.

“SEC. 4581. If any consular officer, when discharging any seaman, shall neglect to require the payment of and collect the arrears of wages and extra wages required to be paid in the case of the discharge of any seaman, he shall be accountable to the United States to the full amount thereof.

Penalty on consuls for neglect to collect extra wages. Substitute for R. S., sec. 4581.

* * * [Words omitted superseded, 1888, April 4, ch. 61, s. 3, p. 584.]

“SEC. 5. That section forty-five hundred and eighty-two of the Revised Statutes be amended so as to read as follows:

June 26, 1884.

“SEC. 4582. Whenever a vessel of the United States is sold in a foreign country, and her company discharged, it shall be the duty of the master to produce to the consular officer the certified list of his ship's company, and also the shipping articles, and to pay to said consular officer for every seaman so discharged one month's wages over and above the wages which may then be due to such seaman;

Extra wages upon discharge in case of sale. Substitute for R. S., sec. 4582.

But in case the master of the vessel so sold shall, with the assent of said seaman, provide him with adequate employment on board some other vessel bound to the port at which he was originally shipped, or to such other port as may be agreed upon by him, then no payment of extra wages shall be required.”

June 26, 1884.

Extra wages when voyage is unnecessarily prolonged or discharge is for injuries received. Substitute for R. S., sec. 4583.

SEC. 3. That section forty-five hundred and eighty-three of the Revised Statutes be amended so as to read as follows:

“SEC. 4583. Whenever on the discharge of a seaman in a foreign country, on his complaint that the voyage is continued contrary to agreement, the consular officer shall be satisfied that such voyage has been designedly and unnecessarily prolonged in violation of the articles of shipment, or whenever a seaman is discharged by a consular officer in consequence of any hurt or injury received in the service of the vessel, such consular officer shall require the payment by the master of one month’s wages for such seaman over and above the wages due at the time of discharge.”

Protest upon impressment. May 28, 1796, s. 4, v. 1, p. 477.

SEC. 4589. The master of every vessel of the United States, any of the crew whereof shall have been impressed or detained by any foreign power, shall, at the first port at which such vessel arrives, if such impressment or detention happened on the high seas, or if the same happened within any foreign port, then in the port in which the same happened, immediately make a protest, stating the manner of such impressment or detention, by whom made, together with the name and place of residence of the person impressed or detained; distinguishing also whether he was an American citizen; and, if not, to what nation he belonged. Such master shall also transmit, by post or otherwise, every such protest made in a foreign country, to the nearest consul or agent, or to the minister of the United States resident in such country, if any such there be; preserving a duplicate of such protest, to be by him sent immediately after his arrival within the United States to the Secretary of State, together with information to whom the original protest was transmitted. In case such protest shall be made within the United States, or in any foreign country, in which no consul, agent, or minister of the United States resides, the same shall, as soon thereafter as practicable, be transmitted by such master, by post or otherwise, to the Secretary of State.

June 26, 1884.

Reclamation and discharge of deserters by consular officers. Substitute for R. S., sec. 4600.

SEC. 6. That section forty-six hundred of the Revised Statutes be amended so as to read as follows:

“SEC. 4600. It shall be the duty of consular officers to reclaim deserters and discountenance insubordination by every means within their power, and where the local authorities can be usefully employed for that purpose, to lend their aid and use their exertions to that end in the most effectual manner.

In all cases where deserters are apprehended the consular officer shall inquire into the facts; and if he is satisfied that the desertion was caused by unusual or cruel treatment, he shall discharge the seaman, and require the master of the vessel from which such seaman is discharged to pay one month’s wages over and above the wages then due; and the officer discharging such seaman shall enter upon the crew-list and shipping articles the cause of discharge, and the particulars in which the cruelty or unusual treatment consisted, and the facts as to his discharge or re-engagement, as the case may be, and subscribe his name thereto officially.”

SEC. 5363. Every master or commander of any vessel belonging, in whole or part, to any citizen of the United States, who, during his being abroad, maliciously and without justifiable cause forces any officer or mariner of such vessel on shore, in order to leave him behind in any foreign port or place, or refuses to bring home again all such officers and mariners of such vessel whom he carried out with him as are in a condition to return and willing to return, when he is ready to proceed on his homeward voyage, shall be punished by a fine of not more than five hundred dollars, or by imprisonment not more than six months.

Substitute for
R. S., sec. 4146.

SEC. 2. That section forty-one hundred and forty-six of the Revised Statutes is hereby amended so as to read:

Certificate of registry to be given up on loss or destruction of vessel.

“SEC. 4146. A certificate of registry shall be solely used for the vessel for which it is granted, and shall not be sold, lent, or otherwise disposed of, to any person whomsoever; and in case the vessel so registered shall be lost, or taken by an enemy, burned, or broken up, or shall be otherwise prevented from returning to the port to which she may belong, the certificate, if preserved, shall be delivered up within eight days after the arrival of the master or person having the charge or command of such vessel within any district of the United States, to the collector of such district; and if any foreigner, or any person for the use and benefit of such foreigner, shall purchase or otherwise become entitled to the whole, or any part or share of, or interest in such vessel, the same being within a district of the United States, the certificate shall, within seven days after such purchase, change, or transfer of property, be delivered up to the collector of the district; and if any such purchase, change, or transfer of property shall happen when such vessel shall be at any foreign port or place, or at sea, then the master or person having the charge or command thereof shall, within eight days after his arrival within any district of the United States, deliver up the certificate to the collector of such district.

—or on purchase by foreigner.

Penalty for not delivering certificate.

Any master or owner violating the provisions of this section shall be liable to a penalty of not exceeding five hundred dollars, and the certificate of registry shall be thenceforth void.

Failure to report sale to foreigners.
Dec. 31, 1792, s.
16, v. 1, p. 295.

SEC. 4172. If any vessel registered as a vessel of the United States shall be sold or transferred, in whole or in part, by way of trust, confidence, or otherwise, to a subject or citizen of any foreign prince or state, and such sale or transfer shall not be made known, as hereinbefore directed, such vessel, together with her tackle, apparel, and furniture, shall be forfeited. If such vessel, however, be so owned in part only, and it is made to appear to the jury before whom the trial for such forfeiture is had, that any other owner of such vessel, being a citizen of the United States, was wholly ignorant of the sale or transfer to or ownership of such foreign subject or citizen, the share or interest of such citizen of the United States shall not be subject to such forfeiture, and the residue only shall be so forfeited.

SEC. 4177. The Secretary of the Treasury shall have power, under such regulations as he shall prescribe, to establish and provide a system of numbering vessels so registered, enrolled, and licensed; and each vessel so numbered shall have her number deeply carved or otherwise permanently marked on her main beam; and if at any time she shall cease to be so marked, "Such vessel shall be liable to a fine of thirty dollars on every arrival in a port of the United States, if she have not her proper official number legally carved or permanently marked."

That section forty-one hundred and seventy-eight, of the Revised Statutes be, and the same is hereby, amended to read entire as follows:

Feb. 21, 1891.
26 Stat. L., 765.

"SEC. 4178. The name of every documented vessel of the United States shall be marked upon each bow and upon the stern, and the home port shall also be marked upon the stern. These names shall be painted, or carved and gilded, in Roman letters in a light color on a dark ground, or in a dark color on a light ground, and to be distinctly visible. The smallest letters used shall not be less in size than four inches.

Vessels' names, draft, and home port to be marked at bow and stern. Substitute for R. S., 4178.

If any vessels of the United States shall be found without these names being so marked the owner or owners shall be liable to a penalty of ten dollars for each name omitted:

Penalty.

Provided, however, That the names on each bow may be marked within the year eighteen hundred and ninety-one."

Limit of time.

SEC. 4179. No master, owner, or agent of any vessel of the United States shall in any way change the name of such vessel, or by any device, advertisement, or contrivance to deceive or attempt to deceive the public, or any officer or agent of the United States, or of any State, or any corporation or agent thereof, or any person or persons, as to the true name or character of such vessel, on pain of the forfeiture of such vessel.

Change of name of registered vessel.

Title 48, chap. 2. SEC. 4204. All vessels belonging to citizens of the United States, and bound from any port in the United States to any other port therein, or to any foreign port, or from any foreign port to any port in the United States, shall, before clearance, receive on board all such bullion, coin, United States notes and bonds and other securities, as the Government of the United States or any department thereof, or any minister, consul, vice-consul, or commercial or other agent of the United States abroad, shall offer, and shall securely convey and promptly deliver the same to the proper authorities or consignees, on arriving at the port of destination; and shall receive for such service such reasonable compensation as may be allowed to other carriers in the ordinary transactions of business.

Conveyance of bullion, coin, etc., for the United States.
July 4, 1864, s. 10, v. 13, p. 392.

Copy of rates of consular fees to be annexed to clearance.
Aug. 18, 1856, s. 16, v. 11, p. 57.

SEC. 4207. Whenever any clearance is granted to any vessel of the United States, duly registered as such, and bound on any foreign voyage, the collector of the district shall annex thereto, in every case, a copy of the rates or tariffs of fees which diplomatic and consular officers are entitled, by the regulations prescribed by the President, to receive for their services.

Title 48, chap. 5. SEC. 4238. Consuls and vice-consuls, in cases where vessels of the United States are stranded on the coasts of their consulates respectively, shall, as far as the laws of the country will permit, take proper measures, as well for the purpose of saving the vessels, their cargoes and appurtenances, as for storing and securing the effects and merchandise saved, and for taking inventories thereof; and the merchandise and effects saved, with the inventories thereof so taken, shall, after deducting therefrom the expenses, be delivered to the owners. No consul or vice-consul shall have authority to take possession of any such merchandise, or other property, when the master, owner, or consignee thereof is present or capable of taking possession of the same.

Title 49. SEC. 4306. Every vessel of the United States, going to any foreign country, shall, before she departs from the United States, at the request of the master, be furnished by the collector for the district where such vessel may be, with a passport, the form for which shall be prescribed by the Secretary of State. In order to be entitled to such passport, the master of every such vessel shall be bound, with sufficient sureties, to the Treasurer of the United States, in the penalty of two thousand dollars, conditioned that the passport shall not be applied to the use or protection of any other vessel than the one described in it; and that, in case of the loss or sale of any vessel having such passport, the same shall, within three months, be delivered up to the collector from whom it was received, if the loss or sale take place within the United States; or within six months, if the same shall happen at any place nearer than the Cape of Good Hope; and within eighteen months, if at a more distant place.

SEC. 4307. If any vessel of the United States shall depart therefrom, and shall be bound to any foreign country, other than to some port in America, without such passport, the master of such vessel shall be liable to a penalty of two hundred dollars for every such offense.

June 1, 1796, s. 4, v. 1, p. 490.

SEC. 4308. Every unregistered vessel owned by a citizen of the United States, and sailing with a sea-letter, going to any foreign country, shall, before she departs from the United States, at the request of the master, be furnished by the collector of the district where such vessel may be with a passport, for which the master shall be subject to the rules and conditions prescribed for vessels of the United States.

Passports of unregistered vessels. Mar. 2, 1803, s. 1, v. 2, p. 208.

SEC. 4309. Every master of a vessel, belonging to citizens of the United States, who shall sail from any port of the United States, shall, on his arrival at a foreign port, deposit his register, sea-letter, and Mediterranean passport with the consul, vice-consul, commercial agent, or vice-commercial agent, if any there be at such port; and it shall be the duty of such consul, vice-consul, commercial agent, or vice-commercial agent, on such master or commander producing to him a clearance from the proper officer of the port where his vessel may be, to deliver to the master all of his papers, if such master or commander has complied with the provisions of law relating to the discharge of seamen in a foreign country, and to the payment of the fees of consular officers.

Deposit of ship's papers with consul. Feb. 28, 1803, s. 2, v. 2, p. 203.

SEC. 4310. Every master of any such vessel who refuses or neglects to deposit the papers as required by the preceding section, shall be liable to a penalty of five hundred dollars, to be recovered by such consul, vice-consul, commercial agent, or vice-commercial agent, in his own name, for the benefit of the United States, in any court of competent jurisdiction.

Penalty for failure to deposit papers with consul. Ibid.

SEC. 4573. Before a clearance is granted to any vessel bound on a foreign voyage or engaged in the whale-fishery, the master thereof shall deliver to the collector of the customs a list containing the names, places of birth and residence, and description of the persons who compose his ship's company; to which list the oath of the captain shall be annexed, that the list contains the names of his crew, together with the places of their birth and residence, as far as he can ascertain them; and the collector shall deliver him a certified copy thereof, for which the collector shall be entitled to receive the sum of twenty-five cents.

Title 53, chap. 5. List of crew to be delivered to collector. Feb. 28, 1803, s. 1, v. 2, p. 203; Apr. 4, 1840, s. 2, v. 2, p. 370.

SEC. 4574. In all cases of private vessels of the United States sailing from a port in the United States to a foreign port, the list of the crew shall be examined by the collector for the district from which the vessel shall clear, and, if approved of by him, shall be certified accordingly. No person shall be admitted or employed on board of any such vessel unless his name shall have been entered in the list of the crew, approved and certified by the collector for the district from which the vessel shall clear. The collector, before he delivers the list of the crew, approved and certified, to the master or proper officer of the vessel to which the same belongs, shall cause the same to be recorded in a Rules as to list of crew.

July 20, 1840, ch. 48, v. 5, pp. 394, 395, 397; Feb. 27, 1877, v. 19, p. 252.

SEC. 4575. The following rules shall be observed with reference to vessels bound on any foreign voyage:

First. The duplicate list of the ship's company, required to be made out by the master and delivered to the collector of the customs, under section forty-five hundred and seventy-three, shall be a fair copy in one uniform handwriting, without erasure or interlineation.

Second. It shall be the duty of the owners of every such vessel to obtain from the collector of the customs of the district from which the clearance is made, a true and certified copy of the shipping-articles, containing the names of the crew, which shall be written in a uniform hand, without erasures or interlineations.

Third. These documents, which shall be deemed to contain all the conditions of contract with the crew as to their service, pay, voyage, and all other things, shall be produced by the master, and laid before any consul, or other commercial agent of the United States, whenever he may deem their contents necessary to enable him to discharge the duties imposed upon him by law toward any mariner applying to him for his aid or assistance.

Fourth. All interlineations, erasures, or writing in a hand different from that in which such duplicates were originally made, shall be deemed fraudulent alterations, working no change in such papers, unless satisfactorily explained in a manner consistent with innocent purposes and the provisions of law which guard the rights of mariners.

Fifth. If any master of a vessel shall proceed on a foreign voyage without the documents herein required, or refuse to produce them when required, or to perform the duties imposed by this section, or shall violate the provisions thereof, he shall be liable to each and every individual injured thereby in damages, to be recovered in any court of the United States in the district where such delinquent may reside or be found, and in addition thereto be punishable by a fine of one hundred dollars for such offense.

Sixth. It shall be the duty of the boarding-officer to report all violations of this section to the collector of the port where any vessel may arrive, and the collector shall report the same to the Secretary of the Treasury and to the United States attorney in his district.

NATURALIZATION.

SEC. 2165. An alien may be admitted to become a citizen of the United States in the following manner, and not otherwise:

Title 30.

Aliens, how naturalized.

First. He shall declare on oath, before a circuit or district court of the United States, or a district or supreme court of the Territories, or a court of record of any of the States having common-law jurisdiction, and a seal and clerk, two years, at least, prior to his admission, that it is his bona fide intention to become a citizen of the United States, and to renounce forever all allegiance and fidelity to any foreign prince, potentate, state, or sovereignty, and, particularly, by name, to the prince, potentate, state, or sovereignty of which the alien may be at the time a citizen or subject.

Declaration of intention.

Apr. 14, 1802, ss. 1, 3, v. 2, pp. 153, 155; May 26, 1824, s. 4, v. 4, p. 69; Feb. 1, 1876, ch. 5, v. 19, p. 2.

See Citizenship, referring to Chinese.

Second. He shall, at the time of his application to be admitted, declare, on oath, before some one of the courts above specified, that he will support the Constitution of the United States, and that he absolutely and entirely renounces and abjures all allegiance and fidelity to every foreign prince, potentate, state, or sovereignty; and, particularly, by name, to the prince, potentate, state, or sovereignty of which he was before a citizen or subject; which proceedings shall be recorded by the clerk of the court.

Oath to support the Constitution of the United States.

Third. It shall be made to appear to the satisfaction of the court admitting such alien that he has resided within the United States five years at least, and within the State or Territory where such court is at the time held, one year at least; and that during that time he has behaved as a man of good moral character, attached to the principles of the Constitution of the United States, and well disposed to the good order and happiness of the same; but the oath of the applicant shall in no case be allowed to prove his residence.

Residence in United States, or States, and good moral character.

Fourth. In case the alien applying to be admitted to citizenship has borne any hereditary title, or been of any of the orders of nobility in the kingdom or state from which he came, he shall, in addition to the above requisites, make an express renunciation of his title or order of nobility in the court to which his application is made, and his renunciation shall be recorded in the court.

Titles of nobility to be renounced.

July 26, 1894. Any alien of the age of twenty-one years and upward who has enlisted or may enlist in the United States Navy or Marine Corps, and has served or may hereafter serve five consecutive years in the United States Navy or one enlistment in the United States Marine Corps, and has been or may hereafter be honorably discharged, shall be admitted to become a citizen of the United States upon his petition, without any previous declaration of his intention to become such; and the court admitting such alien shall, in addition to proof of good moral character, be satisfied by competent proof of such person's service in and honorable discharge from the United States Navy or Marine Corps.

Supp. R. S., 1892-95, pp. 206-207.
 Naturalization of aliens serving in Navy or Marine Corps.
 R. S., sec. 2166.

SEC. 2167. Any alien, being under the age of twenty-one years, who has resided in the United States three years next preceding his arriving at that age, and who has continued to reside therein to the time he may make application to be admitted a citizen thereof, may, after he arrives at the age of twenty-one years, and after he has resided five years within the United States, including the three years of his minority, be admitted a citizen of the United States, without having made the declaration required in the first condition of section twenty-one hundred and sixty-five; but such alien shall make the declaration required therein at the time of his admission; and shall further declare, on oath, and prove to the satisfaction of the court, that, for two years next preceding, it has been his bona fide intention to become a citizen of the United States; and he shall in all other respects comply with the laws in regard to naturalization.

Minor residents.
 May 26, 1824, s. 1, v. 4, p. 69.

SEC. 2168. When any alien, who has complied with the first condition specified in section twenty-one hundred and sixty-five, dies before he is actually naturalized, the widow and the children of such alien shall be considered as citizens of the United States, and shall be entitled to all rights and privileges as such, upon taking the oaths prescribed by law.

Widow and children of decedents.
 Mar. 26, 1804, s. 1, v. 2, p. 293.

SEC. 2170. No alien shall be admitted to become a citizen who has not for the continued term of five years next preceding his admission resided within the United States.

Residence of five years in United States.
 Mar. 3, 1813, s. 12, v. 2, p. 811.

SEC. 2171. No alien who is a native citizen or subject, or a denizen of any country, state, or sovereignty with which the United States are at war, at the time of his application, shall be then admitted to become a citizen of the United States; * * * nor shall anything herein contained be taken or construed to interfere with or prevent the apprehension and removal, agreeably to law, of any alien enemy at any time previous to the actual naturalization of such alien.

Head money increased.
1882, Aug. 3, ch. 376, s. 1. (1 Supp. R. S., 370.)

In every case where an alien is excluded from admission into the United States under any law or treaty now existing or hereafter made, the decision of the appropriate immigration or customs officers, if adverse to the admission of such alien, shall be final, unless reversed on appeal to the Secretary of the Treasury.

Immigration receipts to be covered into Treasury.

Bureau of Immigration: The head money from alien passengers on and after the first day of October next, collected under the Act of August third, eighteen hundred and eighty-two, to regulate immigration, shall be one dollar in lieu of the fifty cents as provided in said Act;

And such head money and all other receipts which shall be collected on and after July first, eighteen hundred and ninety-five, in connection with immigration shall be covered into the Treasury; * * *

Note 1.—The first and second sections of the act of May 6, 1882, chap. 126, vol. 22 p. 58, suspended the immigration of Chinese laborers to the United States, after ninety days from the passage of the act, for ten years, and provided that the master of any vessel who should knowingly bring within the United States, and land or permit to be landed any Chinese laborer from any foreign port or place, should be deemed guilty of a misdemeanor and, on conviction thereof, be punished by a fine of not more than five hundred dollars for each and every such Chinese laborer so brought, and also might be imprisoned for a term not exceeding one year. The words "Chinese laborers" are to be construed to mean both skilled and unskilled laborers and Chinese employed in mining.

A child born in the United States of alien parents, who have never been naturalized, is by the fact of birth a native-born citizen of the United States, entitled to all the rights and privileges of citizenship. So of children born in the United States of alien subjects who have declared their intention of becoming citizens of the United States. Children born abroad of aliens (who subsequently emigrated to the United States with their families and were naturalized here during the minority of their children) are citizens of the United States. (Op., X., pp. 328, 329, Sept. 1 and 2, 1862. Bates.)

An American citizen, domiciled in a foreign country, who has taken an oath of allegiance to the foreign sovereign is not under the protection of the United States. (Murray v. The Charming Betsey, 2 Cranch, S. C. Brightly's Federal Digest, p. 41.)

The commissioners of immigration at the several ports shall be appointed by the President, by and with the advice and consent of the Senate, to hold their offices for the term of four years, unless sooner removed, and until their successors are appointed; and nominations for such offices shall be made to the Senate by the President as soon as practicable after the passage of this Act.

Note 1.—Section 4090 of the Revised Statutes empowers United States ministers to issue all manner of writs to prevent citizens of the United States from enlisting in the military or naval service of a country to make war upon any foreign power with whom the United States are at peace, or in the service of one portion of the people against another portion of the same people, and to carry out this power he may resort to such force belonging to the United States as may at the time be within his reach.

to be fitted out and armed, or in which the force of any vessel of war, cruiser, or other armed vessel is increased or augmented, or in which any military expedition or enterprise is begun or set on foot, contrary to the provisions and prohibitions of this Title; and in every case of the capture of a vessel within the jurisdiction or protection of the United States as before defined; and in every case in which any process issuing out of any court of the United States is disobeyed or resisted by any person having the custody of any vessel of war, cruiser, or other armed vessel of any foreign prince or state, or of any colony, district, or people, or of any subjects or citizens of any foreign prince or state, or of any colony, district, or people, it shall be lawful for the President, or such other person as he shall have empowered for that purpose, to employ such part of the land or naval forces of the United States, or of the militia thereof, for the purpose of taking possession of and detaining any such vessel, with her prizes, if any, in order to the execution of the prohibitions and penalties of this Title, and to the restoring of such prizes in the cases in which restoration shall be adjudged; and also for the purpose of preventing the carrying on of any such expedition or enterprise from the territories or jurisdiction of the United States against the territories or dominions of any foreign prince or state, or of any colony, district, or people with whom the United States are at peace.

SEC. 5288. It shall be lawful for the President, or such person as he shall empower for that purpose, to employ such part of the land or naval forces of the United States, or of the militia thereof, as shall be necessary to compel any foreign vessel to depart the United States in all cases in which, by the laws of nations or the treaties of the United States, she ought not to remain within the United States.

SEC. 5291. The provisions of this Title shall not be construed to extend to any subject or citizen of any foreign prince, state, colony, district, or people who is transiently within the United States, and enlists or enters himself on board of any vessel of war, letter of marque, or privateer, which at the time of its arrival within the United States was fitted and equipped as such, or hires or retains another subject or citizen of the same foreign prince, state, colony, district, or people, who is transiently within the United States, to enlist or enter himself to serve such foreign prince, state, colony, district, or people, on board such vessel of war, letter of marque, or privateer, if the United States shall then be at peace with such foreign prince, state, colony, district, or people. Nor shall they be construed to prevent the prosecution or punishment of treason, or of any piracy defined by the laws of the United States.

Note 2.—An officer of the Navy has no right, without express direction from his Government, to enter the territory of a country at peace with the United States and seize property there claimed by citizens of the United States. Application for redress should be made to the judicial tribunals of the country. (Cadwalader's State Department Digest, p. 219, cites 2 Paine, 324.)

A revolutionary party like a foreign belligerent party, is supreme over the country it conquers, as far and as long as its arms can carry and maintain it. (Op., IX, 140, Black, May 15, 1858.)

By the law of nations one government can not enter upon the territories of another, or claim any right whatever therein, for if this be done by force it is a usurpation, and if it be done by any underhand bargaining with individuals, who have not the explicit consent of their Government, it is mean and unfair. (Op., IX, 286, Black, Mar. 14, 1859.)

One nation can not execute the penal laws of another, and consequently a foreign vessel engaged in the slave trade can not lawfully be captured by an American cruiser. The African slave trade is not contrary to the law of nations. (Cadwalader's State Department Digest, p. 217, cites 10 Wheaton, 66.)

The United States can not purchase a grant of land in, or concession of a right of way over, the territories of another nation as could an individual or private corporation, since by the law of nations one Government can not enter upon the territory of another, or claim any right whatever therein. (Cadwalader's Digest, p. 218, cites Op., IX, 286.)

The right of search does not exist in time of peace. A cruiser of one nation has the right to know the national character of any strange ship she may meet at sea, but the right is not a perfect one. The right of inquiry has well-defined limitations: 1. Inquiring ship must put up his own colors, or in some way make himself fully known, before he can lawfully demand such knowledge from the other vessel. 2. If refused, may fire blank shot or cartridge. 3. If still refused, a shotted gun may be fired across bows by way of positive summons. 4. Any further measure must be at the peril of the inquiring vessel. If stranger is arrested, injured, or captured, and proves not a pirate, but has a lawful right to navigate the seas, the injury must be atoned for. The right of a public ship to hail or speak a stranger, is in all respects analogous thereto, and must be exercised within the same limits. 5. The answer by words or by hoisting flag must be taken as true. Can not be stopped, visited, or searched. 6. The right of inquiry can be exercised only on the high seas. No naval officer has a right to go into the harbor of a nation with which his Government is at peace, to inquire into the nationality of a vessel lying there. (Op., IX, p. 456, Black, July 28, 1860. Case of the General Miramon.)

Ships of war enjoy the full rights of extraterritoriality in foreign ports and territorial waters. Merchant ships are a part of the territory of their country, and are so treated on the high seas, and partially, but not wholly so, while in territorial waters of a foreign country. Crimes committed on board ship on the high seas, are triable in the country to which she belongs. In port the local authority has jurisdiction of acts committed on board of a foreign merchant ship, provided those acts affect the peace of the port, but not otherwise; and its jurisdiction does not extend to acts internal to the ship or transpiring on the high seas. The authority of the ship's country, in these cases, is not taken away by the fact that the actors are foreigners provided they be of the crew or passengers of the ship. The local authority has right to enter on board a foreign merchantman in port for the purpose of inquiry universally—but for the purpose of arrest only in matters within its ascertained jurisdiction. (Op. VIII, 73, Cushing, Sept. 5, 1856.)

"Neutrals may lawfully sell at home to a belligerent purchaser, or carry themselves to the belligerent powers contraband articles subject to the right of seizure in transitu. The right of the neutral to transport, and of the hostile power to seize, are conflicting rights, and neither party can charge the other with criminal act." (1 Kent's Com., p. 142.) "There is nothing in our laws, or in the law of nations, that forbid our citizens from sending armed vessels as well as munitions of war to foreign ports for sale. It is a commercial venture which no nation is bound to prohibit, and which only exposes the persons engaged in it to the penalty of confiscation." (7 Wheaton, 340.) INTERNATIONAL CONVENTION—AMELIORATION OF WOUNDED, ETC.

Convention between the United States, Baden, Switzerland, Belgium, Denmark, Spain, France, Hesse, Italy, Netherlands, Portugal, Prussia, Württemberg, Sweden, Greece, Great Britain, Mecklenberg-Schwerin, Turkey, Bavaria, Austria, Persia, Salvador, Montenegro, Servia, Bolivia, Chili, Argentine Republic, and Peru; with additional articles; for the amelioration of the wounded in armies in the field; concluded August 22, 1864; acceded by the President March 1, 1882; accession concurred in by the Senate March 16, 1882; proclaimed as to the original convention, but with reserve as to the additional articles, July 26, 1882.

ARTICLE I. Ambulances and military hospitals shall be acknowledged to be neuter, and, as such, shall be protected and respected by belligerents so long as any sick or wounded may be therein. Hospitals and ambulances with sick or wounded, etc.

Such neutrality shall cease if the ambulances or hospitals should be held by a military force. Exception.

ART. 2. Persons employed in hospitals and ambulances, comprising the staff for superintendence, medical service, administration, transport of wounded, as well as chaplains, shall participate in the benefit of neutrality, whilst so employed, and so long as there remain any wounded to bring in or to succor. Employees, etc., respected as neutrals.

ART. III. The persons designated in the preceding article may, even after occupation by the enemy, continue to fulfil their duties in the hospital or ambulance which they serve, or may withdraw in order to rejoin the corps to which they belong. Employees, etc., protected by occupying forces.

Under such circumstances, when these persons shall cease from their functions, they shall be delivered by the occupying army to the outposts of the enemy.

ART. IV. As the equipment of military hospitals remains subject to the laws of war, persons attached to such hospitals cannot, in withdrawing, carry away any articles but such as are their private property. Employees in hospitals to take away private property only.

Under the same circumstances, an ambulance shall, on the contrary, retain its equipment.

ART. V. Inhabitants of the country who may bring help to the wounded shall be respected, and shall remain free. The generals of the belligerent Powers shall make it their care to inform the inhabitants of the appeal addressed to their humanity, and of the neutrality which will be the consequence of it. Persons serving the wounded to remain free.

Any wounded man entertained and taken care of in a house shall be considered as a protection thereto. Any inhabitant who shall have entertained wounded men in his house shall be exempted from the quartering of troops, as well as from a part of the contributions of war which may be imposed. Houses where the wounded are cared for to be protected. Exemptions for care of wounded.

ART. VI. Wounded or sick soldiers shall be entertained and taken care of, to whatever nation they may belong. Soldiers sick or wounded to be cared for.

Delivery of wounded, etc. Commanders-in-chief shall have the power to deliver immediately to the outposts of the enemy soldiers who have been wounded in an engagement, when circumstances permit this to be done, and with the consent of both parties.

Soldiers incapacitated for service to be sent home. Those who are recognized after their wounds are healed, as incapable of serving, shall be sent back to their country.

Conditions of return. The others may also be sent back, on condition of not again bearing arms during the continuance of the war.

Evacuations, etc., to have absolute neutrality. Evacuations, together with the persons under whose directions they take place, shall be protected by an absolute neutrality.

Hospital, ambulance, and evacuation flag, etc. ART. VII. A distinctive and uniform flag shall be adopted for hospitals, ambulances, and evacuations. It must, on every occasion, be accompanied by the national flag. An arm-bad-ge (brassard) shall also be allowed for individuals neutralized, but the delivery thereof shall be left to military authority.

Arm badge. The flag and the arm-bad-ge shall bear a red cross on a white ground.

Flag and arm-bad-ge to bear red cross, etc. ART. VIII. The details of execution of the present convention shall be regulated by the commanders-in-chief of belligerent armies, according to the instructions of their respective Governments, and in conformity with the general principles laid down in this convention.

Execution of details of convention. ART. VIII. The details of execution of the present convention shall be regulated by the commanders-in-chief of belligerent armies, according to the instructions of their respective Governments, and in conformity with the general principles laid down in this convention.

ADDITIONAL ARTICLES.

Rights of employees, etc., in hospitals or ambulances. ARTICLE I. The persons designated in Article II of the Convention shall, after the occupation by the enemy, continue to fulfil their duties, according to their wants, to the sick and wounded in the ambulance or the hospital which they serve. When they request to withdraw, the commander of the occupying troops shall fix the time of departure, which he shall only be allowed to delay for a short time in case of military necessity.

Salary of neutrals, etc., when in enemy's hands. ART. II. Arrangements will have to be made by the belligerent powers to insure to the neutralized person, fallen into the hands of the army of the enemy, the entire enjoyment of his salary.

Definition of the term "ambulance." ART. III. Under the conditions provided for in Articles I and IV of the Convention, the name "ambulance" applies to field hospitals and other temporary establishments, which follow the troops on the field of battle to receive the sick and wounded.

Charges for quartering of troops, and contributions, etc. ART. IV. In conformity with the spirit of Article V of the Convention, and to the reservations contained in the protocol of 1864, it is explained that for the appointment of the charges relative to the quartering of troops, and of the contributions of war, account only shall be taken in an equitable manner of the charitable zeal displayed by the inhabitants.

Wounded to be returned to their country on condition of not again bearing arms in the war. ART. V. In addition to Article VI of the Convention, it is stipulated that, with the reservation of officers whose detention might be important to the fate of arms and within the limits fixed by the second paragraph of that article, the wounded fallen into the hands of the enemy shall be sent back to their country, after they are cured, or sooner if possible, on condition, nevertheless, of not again bearing arms during the continuance of the war.

Articles concerning the Marine.

ART. VI. The boats which, at their own risk and peril, during and after an engagement pick up the shipwrecked or wounded, or which having picked them up, convey them on board a neutral or hospital ship, shall enjoy, until the accomplishment of their mission, the character of neutrality, as far as the circumstances of the engagement and the position of the ships engaged will permit.

Boats picking up the shipwrecked or wounded, etc.

The appreciation of these circumstances is intrusted to the humanity of all the combatants. The wrecked and wounded thus picked and saved must not serve again during the continuance of the war.

ART. VII. The religious, medical, and hospital staff of any captured vessel are declared neutral, and, on leaving the ship, may remove the articles and surgical instruments which are their private property.

Religious, medical, and hospital staff of a captured vessel declared neutral.

ART. VIII. The staff designated in the preceding article must continue to fulfill their functions in the captured ship, assisting in the removal of the wounded made by the victorious party; they will then be at liberty to return to their country, in conformity with the second paragraph of the first additional article.

Duties of staff officers, etc.

The stipulations of the second additional article are applicable to the pay and allowance of the staff.

Pay and allowance of staff.

ART. IX. The military hospital ships remain under martial law in all that concerns their stores; they become the property of the captor, but the latter must not divert them from their special appropriation during the continuance of the war.

Captured hospital ships to remain under martial law, etc.

[The vessels not equipped for fighting, which, during peace, the government shall have officially declared to be intended to serve as floating hospital ships, shall, however, enjoy during the war complete neutrality, both as regards stores, and also as regards their staff, provided their equipment is exclusively appropriate to the special service on which they are employed.]*

ART. X. Any merchantman, to whatever nation she may belong, charged exclusively with removal of sick and wounded, is protected by neutrality, but the mere fact, noted on the ship's books, of the vessel having been visited Merchant vessels performing hospital duty to be treated as neutral, etc.

*In the published English text, from which this version of the Additional Articles is taken, the paragraph thus marked in brackets appears in continuation of Article IX. It is not, however, found in the original French text adopted by the Geneva Conference, October 20, 1868.

By an instruction sent to the United States minister at Berne, January 20, 1883, the right is reserved to omit this paragraph from the English text, and to make any other necessary corrections, if at any time hereafter the Additional Articles shall be completed by the exchange of the ratifications hereof between the several signatory and adhering powers.

by an enemy's cruiser, renders the sick and wounded incapable of serving during the continuance of the war. The cruiser shall even have the right of putting on board an officer in order to accompany the convoy, and thus verify the good faith of the operation.

Cargo of merchant ship protected; when; proviso. If the merchant ship also carries a cargo, her neutrality will still protect it, provided that such cargo is not of a nature to be confiscated by the belligerents.

Right of belligerents. The belligerents retain the right to interdict neutralized vessels from all communication, and from any course which they may deem prejudicial to the secrecy of their operations. In urgent cases special conventions may be entered into between commanders-in-chief, in order to neutralize temporarily and in a special manner the vessels intended for the removal of the sick and wounded.

Wounded or sick sailors and soldiers, when embarked, etc. ART. XI. Wounded or sick sailors and soldiers, when embarked, to whatever nation they may belong, shall be protected and taken care of by their captors.

Return to native country. Their return to their own country is subject to the provisions of Article VI of the Convention, and of the additional Article V.

White flag with red cross, etc., used by vessels claiming neutrality. ART. XII. The distinctive flag to be used with the national flag, in order to indicate any vessel or boat which may claim the benefits of neutrality, in virtue of the principles of this Convention, is a white flag with a red cross. The belligerents may exercise in this respect any mode of verification which they may deem necessary.

Military hospitals painted white, etc. Military hospital ships shall be distinguished by being painted white outside, with green strake.

Hospital ships, etc., and staff to be treated as neutral. ART. XIII. The hospital ships which are equipped at the expense of the aid societies, recognized by the governments signing this Convention, and which are furnished with a commission emanating from the sovereign, who shall have given express authority for their being fitted out, and with a certificate from the proper naval authority that they have been placed under his control during their fitting out and on their final departure, and that they were then appropriated solely to the purpose of their mission, shall be considered neutral, as well as the whole of their staff. They shall be recognized and protected by the belligerents.

Flag sign, etc., of neutrality. They shall make themselves known by hoisting, together with their national flag, the white flag with a red cross. The distinctive mark of their staff, while performing their duties, shall be an armlet of the same colors. The outer painting of these hospital ships shall be white with red strake.

Aid and assistance to wounded and wrecked belligerents, without distinction of nationality. These ships shall bear aid and assistance to the wounded and wrecked belligerents, without distinction of nationality.

Rights of belligerents to control and visit vessels, etc. They must take care not to interfere in any way with the movements of the combatants. During and after the battle they must do their duty at their own risk and peril.

The belligerents shall have the right of controlling and visiting them; they will be at liberty to refuse their assistance, to order them to depart, and to detain them if the exigencies of the case require such a step.

The wounded and wrecked picked up by these ships cannot be reclaimed by either of the combatants, and they will be required not to serve during the continuance of the war.

Wounded and wrecked picked up, etc., can not be reclaimed.

ART. XIV. In naval wars any strong presumption that either belligerent takes advantage of the benefits of neutrality, with any other view than the interest of the sick and wounded, gives to the other belligerent, until proof to the contrary, the right of suspending the Convention, as regards such belligerent.

Right of belligerents to suspend Convention, etc.

Should this presumption become a certainty, notice may be given to such belligerent that the Convention is suspended with regard to him during the whole continuance of the war.

Notice of suspension of Convention, etc., to be given.

4070. Duties of marshals in removing alien enemies.

SEC. 4067. Whenever there is a declared war between the United States and any foreign nation or government, or any invasion or predatory incursion is perpetrated, attempted, or threatened against the territory of the United States, by any foreign nation or government, and the President makes public proclamation of the event, all natives, citizens, denizens, or subjects of the hostile nation or government, being males of the age of fourteen years and upward, who shall be within the United States, and not actually naturalized, shall be liable to be apprehended, restrained, secured, and removed, as alien enemies. The President is authorized in any such event, by his proclamation thereof, or other public act, to direct the conduct to be observed, on the part of the United States, toward the aliens who become so liable; the manner and degree of the restraint to which they shall be subject, and in what cases, and upon what security their residence shall be permitted, and to provide for the removal of those who, not being permitted to reside within the United States, refuse or neglect to depart therefrom; and to establish any other regulations which are found necessary in the premises and for the public safety.

Jurisdiction of United States court over alien enemies.
 July 6, 1798, s. 2, v. 1, p. 577.

SEC. 4069. After any such proclamation has been made, the several courts of the United States, having criminal jurisdiction, and the several justices and judges of the courts of the United States, are authorized, and it shall be their duty, upon complaint against any alien enemy resident and at large within such jurisdiction or district, to the danger of the public peace or safety, and contrary to the tenor or intent of such proclamation, or other regulations which the President may have established, to cause such alien to be duly apprehended and conveyed before such court, judge, or justice; and after a full examination and hearing on such complaint, and sufficient cause appearing, to order such alien to be removed out of the territory of the United States, or to give sureties for his good behavior, or to be otherwise restrained, conformably to the proclamation or regulations established as aforesaid, and to imprison, or otherwise secure such alien, until the order which may be so made shall be performed.

Duties of marshal in removing alien enemies.
 Ibid., s. 3, p. 578.

SEC. 4070. When an alien enemy is required by the President, or by order of any court, judge, or justice, to depart and to be removed, it shall be the duty of the marshal of the district in which he shall be apprehended to provide therefor, and to execute such order in person, or by his deputy, or other discreet person to be employed by him, by causing a removal of such alien out of the territory of the United States; and for such removal the marshal shall have the warrant of the President, or of the court, judge, or justice ordering the same, as the case may be.

Inventions patentable.
 July 8, 1870, s. 24, v. 16, p. 201.

SEC. 4886. Any person who has invented or discovered any new and useful art, machine, manufacture or composition of matter, or any new and useful improvement thereof, not known or used by others in this country, and not patented or described in any printed publication in this or any foreign country, before his invention or discovery thereof, and not in public use or on sale for more than two years prior to his application, unless the same is proved to have been abandoned, may, upon payment of the fees required by law, and other due proceedings had, obtain a patent therefor.

Patents for inventions previously patented abroad.

SEC. 4887. No person shall be debarred from receiving a patent for his invention or discovery, nor shall any patent be declared invalid, by reason of its having been first patented or caused to be patented in a foreign country, unless the same has been introduced into public use in the United States for more than two years prior to the application. But every patent granted for an invention which has been previously patented in a foreign country shall be so limited as to expire at the same time with the foreign patent, or, if there be more than one, at the same time with the one having the shortest term, and in no case shall it be in force more than seventeen years.

July 8, 1870, s.
25, v. 16, p. 201.

The Secretary of the Interior and the Commissioner of Patents are authorized to grant any officer of the government, except officers and employees of the Patent Office, a patent for any invention of the classes mentioned in section forty-eight hundred and eighty six of the Revised Statutes, when such invention is used or to be used in the public service, without the payment of any fee: Provided, That the applicant in his application shall state that the invention described therein, if patented, may be used by the government or any of its officers or employees in the prosecution of work for the government, or by any other person in the United States, without the payment to him of any royalty thereon, which stipulation shall be included in the patent.

Patents without fees in certain cases.
Mar. 3, 1883, v. 22, p. 623.
See note 1.

Note 1.—Where proposals are invited for an article, and one of the bidders claims that he has a patent on it, the contract should not be awarded to any other unless satisfactory evidence is furnished that the other (not the patentee) has authority from the patentee to manufacture and sell it. (Op., XV, 26, July 23, 1875, Pierrepoint.)

An official in the military service not specially employed to make experiments may devise new and useful improvements in arms, tents, and war material, and will be entitled to the benefits of his inventions and to letters patent therefor equally with any other citizen. (C. C., VII, 219; Wallace, 12, p. 236.)

Where a contract between a patentee and the Government for the use of an invention provides that it may be determined by notice from the patentee, the Government can determine it only by discontinuing its use. (C. C., IV, p. 113. Affirmed by Supreme Court. See Holt's Digest, p. 88 and p. 112, for discussion of the rights of Government employees to compensation for the use of their inventions by the Government.)

The Secretary of the Navy cannot legally contract with the patentee for the purchase of his patent, or for a license to use it, under an appropriation limited to the purchase of material and the employment of labor in the manufacture of such article out of it. 19 A. G. O., p. 407.

Whether regularly mustered or not.

SEC. 4693. The persons entitled as beneficiaries under the preceding section are as follows:

First. Any officer of the Army, including regulars, volunteers, and militia, or any officer in the Navy or Marine Corps, or any enlisted man, however employed, in the military or naval service of the United States, or in its Marine Corps, whether regularly mustered or not, disabled by reason of any wound or injury received, or disease contracted, while in the service of the United States and in the line of duty.

Second. Any master serving on a gun-boat, or any pilot, engineer, sailor, or other person not regularly mustered, serving upon any gun-boat or war-vessel of the United States, disabled by any wound or injury received, or otherwise incapacitated while in the line of duty, for procuring his subsistence by manual labor.

Third. Any person not an enlisted soldier in the Army, serving for the time being as a member of the militia of any State, under orders of an officer of the United States, or who volunteered for the time being to serve with any regularly organized military or naval force of the United States, or who otherwise volunteered and rendered service in any engagement with rebels or Indians, disabled in consequence of wounds or injury received in the line of duty in such temporary service. But no claim of a State militiaman, or non-enlisted person, on account of disability from wounds, or injury received in battle with rebels or Indians, while temporarily rendering service, shall be valid unless prosecuted to a successful issue prior to the fourth day of July, eighteen hundred and seventy-four.

Fourth. Any acting assistant or contract surgeon disabled by any wound or injury received or disease contracted in the line of duty while actually performing the duties of assistant surgeon or acting assistant surgeon with any military force in the field, or in transitu, or in hospital.

Fifth. Any provost-marshal, deputy provost-marshal, or enrolling-officer disabled, by reason of any wound or injury, received in the discharge of his duty, to procure a subsistence by manual labor.

That the act entitled "An act amending the pension law so as to remove the disability of those who, having participated in the rebellion, have since its termination enlisted in the Army of the United States, and become disabled," approved March third, eighteen hundred and seventy-seven, be, and the same is hereby, amended so as to read as follows:

"That the law prohibiting the payment of any money on account of the pensions to any person, or to the widow, children, or heirs of any deceased person who, in any manner, engaged in or aided or abetted the late rebellion against the authority of the United States, shall not be construed to apply to such persons as afterward voluntarily enlisted in either the Navy or Army of the United States, and who, while in such service, incurred disability from a wound or injury received or disease contracted in the line of duty."

Limitation in cases of disability incurred since July 27, 1868.

Note 1.—By R. S., sec. 4716, no pension is to be paid to any person, or those claiming under him, "who in any manner voluntarily engaged in, or aided or abetted, the late rebellion against the authority of the United States."

The act of 1877, March 3, ch. 120 (1 Supp. R. S., 147), directed that this prohibition United States, but omitted any reference to the Navy. It is the object of this act to supply that omission.

should not apply to persons who afterwards voluntarily enlisted in the Army of the United States. Other exceptions are made to the rule contained in R. S., sec. 4716, by 1878, March 9, ch. 28, secs. 5, 6 (1 Supp. R. S., 154, 155), granting pensions for service in the war of 1812; by 1887, January 29, ch. 70, sec. 5 (1 Supp. R. S., 524), granting pensions for service in the Mexican war; and by 1892, July 27, ch. 277, sec. 6, ante, p. 55, granting pensions for service in the Indian wars of 1832-1842.

The Interior Department has also held (6 Pension Decisions, 289) that this section has no application to claims under the act of 1890, June 27, ch. 634 (1 Supp. R. S., 760).

Arrears of pensions.

Mar. 3, 1879, ch. 187, s. 1, v. 20, p. 469.

That section one of the act of January twenty-fifth, eighteen hundred and seventy-nine, granting arrears of pensions shall be construed to extend to and include pensions on account of soldiers who were enlisted or drafted for the service in the war of the rebellion, but died or incurred disability from a cause originating after the cessation of hostilities; and before being mustered out: Provided, That in no case shall arrears of pensions be allowed and paid from a time prior to the date of actual disability.

All pensions which have been, or which may hereafter be, granted in consequence of death occurring from a cause which originated in the service since the fourth day of March, eighteen hundred and sixty-one, or in consequence of wounds or injuries received or disease contracted since that date shall commence from the death or discharge of the person on whose account the claim has been or is hereafter granted if the disability occurred prior to discharge, and if such disability occurred after the discharge then from the date of actual disability or from the termination of the right of party having prior title to such pension: Provided, The application for such pension has been or is hereafter filed with the Commissioner of Pensions prior to the first day of July eighteen hundred and eighty, otherwise the pension shall commence from the date of filing the application; but the limitation herein prescribed shall not apply to claims by or in behalf of insane persons and children under sixteen years of age.

See note 8. Ibid., s. 2.

An act approved March 9, 1878, chap. 28, vol. 20, p. 97, authorizes the names of the surviving officers and men, including militia and volunteers, who served fourteen days in the war with Great Britain of 1812, or who were in any engagement and were honorably discharged, and the surviving widows of such, to be placed on the pension rolls. It also restores pensions to such of them as had been stricken from the rolls for engaging in the rebellion or encouraging it; no arrearages to be paid.

In all cases in which the cause of disability or death originated in the service prior to the fourth day of March, eighteen hundred and sixty-one, and an application for pension shall not have been filed within three years from the discharge or death of the person on whose account the claim is made, or within three years of the termination of a pension previously granted on account of the service and death of the same person, the pension shall commence from the date of filing by the party prosecuting the claim the last paper requisite to establish the same. But no claim allowed prior to the sixth day of June, eighteen hundred and sixty-six, shall be affected by anything herein contained.

July 26, 1892.

Declarations and other papers in pension claims, before whom executed.
This act supercedes sec. 4714, R. S.

That declarations of pension claimants shall be made before a court of record, or before some officer thereof having custody of its seal, or before some officer who, under the laws of his state, city, or county, has authority to administer oaths for general purposes; and said officers are hereby fully authorized and empowered to administer and certify any oath or affirmation relating to any pension or application therefor:

Officers not required to use a seal to file a certificate of official character.

Provided, That where such declarations or other papers are executed before an officer authorized as above but not required by the laws of his state to have and use a seal to authenticate his official acts, he shall file in the Pension Bureau a certificate of his official character, showing his official signature and term of office, certified by a clerk of a court of record or other proper officer of the State as to the genuineness thereof; and when said certificate has been filed in the Bureau of Pensions his own certificate will be recognized during his term of office.

Pension papers executed in foreign countries.

SEC. 2. That the Commissioner of Pensions may accept declarations and other papers of claimants residing in foreign countries made before a United States minister or consul or other consular officer, or before some officer of the country duly authorized to administer oaths for general purposes, and whose official character and signature shall be duly authenticated by the certificate of a United States minister or consul or other consular officer;

And declarations in claims of Indians may be made before a United States Indian agent.

Declarations in claims of Indians.

SEC. 3. That any and all declarations or affidavits now on file in the Pension Bureau which are considered informal by reason of not having been executed in conformity to the laws heretofore in force covering such, and in which it is shown or may be hereafter shown by proper evidence that the same were executed by and before an officer who was duly authorized to administer oaths for general purposes at said date of execution, shall be accepted as formal as from date of filing such declarations or affidavits.

Declarations and affidavits executed under former acts made good.

SEC. 4. That all acts and parts of acts inconsistent with the provisions of this act are hereby repealed.

Repeal.

SEC. 4715. Nothing in this Title shall be so construed as to allow more than one pension at the same time to the same person or to persons entitled jointly; but any pensioner who shall so elect may surrender his certificate, and receive, in lieu thereof, a certificate for any other pension to which he would have been entitled had not the surrendered certificate been issued. But all payments previously made for any period covered by the new certificate shall be deducted from the amount allowed by such certificate.

Two pensions not allowable.

See act Feb. 4, 1862, and joint resolution Mar. 2, 1867.

SEC. 4718. If any pensioner has died or shall hereafter die, or if any person entitled to a pension, having an application therefor pending, has died or shall hereafter die, his widow, or if there is no widow, the child or children of such person under the age of sixteen years shall be entitled to receive the accrued pension to the date of the death of such person. Such accrued pension shall not be considered as a part of the assets of the estate of deceased, nor liable to be applied to the payment of the debts of said estate in any case whatever, but shall inure to the sole and exclusive benefit of the widow or children; and if no widow or child survive, no payment whatsoever of the accrued pension shall be made or allowed, except so much as may be necessary to reimburse the person who bore the expenses of the last sickness and burial of the decedent, in cases where he did not leave sufficient assets to meet such expenses.

For act of Jan. 25, 1879, see p. —. This act repeals sec. 4717.

SEC. 4719. The failure of any pensioner to claim his pension for three years after the same shall have become due shall be deemed presumptive evidence that such pension has legally terminated by reason of the pensioner's death, remarriage, recovery from the disability, or otherwise, and the pensioner's name shall be stricken from the list of pensioners, subject to the right of restoration to the same on a new application by the pensioner, or, if the pensioner is dead, by the widow or minor children entitled to receive the accrued pension, accompanied by evidence satisfactorily accounting for the failure to claim such pension, and by medical evidence in cases of invalids who were not exempt from biennial examinations as to the continuance of the disability.

Pensioners under special acts.

Amended by act of June 6, 1874, and s. 5, act of July 25, 1882.

SEC. 4720. When the rate, commencement, and duration of a pension allowed by special act are fixed by such act, they shall not be subject to be varied by the provisions and limitations of the general pension law; but when not thus fixed, the rate and continuance of the pension shall be subject to variation in accordance with the general laws, and its commencement shall date from the passage of the special act, and the Commissioner of Pensions shall, upon satisfactory evidence that fraud was perpetrated in obtaining such special act, suspend payment thereupon until the propriety of repealing the same can be considered by Congress.

Both pension and pay not allowed, unless, etc.

General service. Act Apr. 30, 1844. As to persons in the civil service of the United States, see Mar. 3, 1865, s. 1; June 6, 1866, s. 5, and act of Mar. 1, 1879.

Pension to officers and seamen of the Navy disabled prior to Mar. 4, 1861.

Aug. 11, 1848, ss. 2, 3, v. 9, p. 283; July 1, 1791, s. 11; Apr. 23, 1800, s. 8.

SEC. 4724. No person in the Army, Navy, or Marine Corps shall draw both a pension as an invalid, and the pay of his rank or station in the service, unless the disability for which the pension was granted be such as to occasion his employment in a lower grade, or in the civil branch of the service.

SEC. 4728. If any officer, warrant or petty officer, seaman, engineer, first, second, or third assistant engineer, fireman or coal heaver of the Navy or any marine has been disabled prior to the fourth day of March eighteen hundred and sixty-one by reason of any injury received or disease contracted in the service and line of duty, he shall be entitled to receive during the continuance of his disability a pension proportionate to the degree of his disability not exceeding half the monthly pay of his rank as it existed in January eighteen hundred and thirty-five. But the pension of a chief-engineer shall be the same as that of a lieutenant of the Navy; the pension of a first assistant engineer the same as that of a lieutenant of marines; the pension of a second or third assistant engineer the same as that of a forward officer; the pension of a fireman or coal-heaver the same as that of a seaman; but an engineer, fireman or coal-heaver shall not be entitled to any pension by reason of a disability incurred prior to the thirty-first day of August eighteen hundred and forty-two.

Note 9.—The object of the proviso in the act of 1844 (sec. 4724, R. S.) was to prohibit the payment to any one serving in the Army, Navy, or Marine Corps of both pay and pension, except where the disability for which the pension is allowed is such as to have occasioned his employment in a lower grade or some civil branch of the service. (Op., XIV, p. 94, Aug. 8, 1872, Williams. See also IV, p. 587; V, p. 51; VI, p. 718.)

SEC. 4729. If any person referred to in the preceding section has died in the service, or injury received or disease contracted under the conditions therein stated, his widow shall be entitled to receive half the monthly pay to which the deceased was entitled at the date of his death; and in case of her death or marriage, the child or children under sixteen years of age shall be entitled to the pension. But the rate of pension herein allowed shall be governed by the pay of the Navy as it existed in January, eighteen hundred and thirty-five; and the pension of the widow of a chief engineer shall be the same as that of a widow of a lieutenant in the Navy; the pension of the widow of a first assistant engineer shall be the same as that of the widow of a lieutenant of marines; the pension of the widow of a second or third assistant engineer the same as that of the widow of a forward officer; the pension of the widow of a fireman or coal-heaver shall be the same as that of the widow of a seaman. But the rate of pension prescribed by this and the preceding section shall be varied from and after the twenty-fifth day of July, eighteen hundred and sixty-six, in accordance with the provisions of section four thousand seven hundred and twelve of this Title; and the widow of an engineer, fireman, or coal-heaver shall not be entitled to any pension by reason of the death of her husband if his death was prior to the thirty-first day of August, eighteen hundred and forty-two.

SEC. 4755. The Navy pensions shall be paid from the Navy pension-fund, but no payments shall be made therefrom except upon appropriations authorized by Congress.

SEC. 4756. There shall be paid out of the naval pension-fund to every person, who, from age or infirmity, is disabled from sea-service, but who has served as an enlisted person in the Navy or Marine Corps for the period of twenty years, and not been discharged for misconduct, in lieu of being provided with a home in the Naval Asylum, Philadelphia, if he so elects, a sum equal to one-half the pay of his rating at the time he was discharged, to be paid to him quarterly, under the direction of the Commissioner of Pensions; and applications for such pension shall be made to the Secretary of the Navy, who, upon being satisfied that the applicant comes within the provisions of this section, shall certify the same to the Commissioner of Pensions, and such certificate shall be his warrant for making payment as herein authorized.

SEC. 4757. Every disabled person who has served in the Navy or Marine Corps as an enlisted man for a period not less than ten years, and not been discharged for misconduct, may apply to the Secretary of the Navy for aid from the surplus income of the naval pension-fund; and the Secretary of the Navy is authorized to convene a board of not less than three naval officers, one of whom shall be a surgeon, to examine into the condition of the applicant, and to recommend a suitable amount for his relief, and for a specified time, and upon the approval of such recommendation by the Secretary of the Navy, and certificate thereof to the Commissioner of Pensions, the amount shall be paid in the same manner as is provided in the preceding section for the payment to persons disabled by long service in the Note 1.—Pensions granted under sections 4756 and 4757 are wholly under control of the Secretary of the Navy, to whom applications should be made. The Pension Office also requires that claimants shall file an application, properly executed before a court of record, as an identification of the party whose claim has been adjudicated by the Navy Department.

The rule now in force regarding these pensions, is that they will be considered as commencing on the date of filing the application in the Navy Department. (See Pension Office Digest, p. 191.)

Navy; but no allowance so made shall exceed the rate of a pension for full disability corresponding to the grade of the applicant, nor, if in addition to a pension, exceed one-fourth the rate of such pension.

That section forty-seven hundred and fifty-six and section forty-seven hundred and fifty-seven of the Revised Statutes of the United States be, and the same are hereby, amended by inserting the words "or as an appointed petty officer, or both," after the words "as an enlisted person" in the former section, and after the words "as an enlisted man" in the latter section.

SEC. 4758. The Secretary of the Navy shall be trustee of the privateer pension-fund.

SEC. 4759. Two per centum on the net amount, after deducting all charges and expenditures, of the prize-money arising from captured vessels and cargoes, and on the net amount of the salvage of vessels and cargoes recaptured by the private armed vessels of the United States, shall be secured and paid over to the collector or other chief officer of the customs at the port or place in the United States at which such captured or recaptured vessels may arrive; or to the consul or other public agent of the United States residing at the port or place, not within the United States, at which such captured or recaptured vessels may arrive. And the moneys arising therefrom are pledged by the Government of the United States as a fund for the support and maintenance of the widows and orphans of such persons as may be slain, and for the support and maintenance of such persons as may be wounded and disabled on board of the private armed vessels of the United States, in any engagement with the enemy, to be assigned and distributed in such manner as is or may be provided by law.

SEC. 4760. The two per centum reserved in the hands of the collectors and consuls by the preceding section, shall be paid to the Treasury, under the like regulations provided for other public money, and shall constitute a fund for the purposes provided for by that section.

SEC. 4761. The Secretary of the Interior is required to place on the pension-list, under the like regulations and restrictions as are used in relation to the Navy of the United States, any officer, seamen, or marine, who, on board of any private armed vessel bearing a commission of letter of marque, shall have been wounded or otherwise disabled in any engagement with the enemy, or in the line of their duty as officers, seamen, or marines of such private armed vessel; allowing to the captain a sum not exceeding twenty dollars per month; to lieutenants and sailing-master a sum not exceeding twelve dollars each per month; to marine officer, boatswain, gunner, carpenter, master's mate, and prize-masters, a sum not exceeding ten dollars each per month; to all other officers a sum not exceeding eight dollars each per month, for the highest rate of disability, and so in proportion; and to a seaman, or acting as a marine, the sum of six dollars per month, for the high-

Certain provisions for officers, noncommissioned officers, and enlisted men of the Army and Navy.

That for the purpose of correcting errors and supplying omissions in the act entitled "An act to revise and consolidate the statutes of the United States in force on the first day of December, anno Domini one thousand eight hundred and seventy-three," so as to make the same truly express such laws, the following amendments are hereby made therein:

* * * * *

Sec. 4770 repealed.

Section forty-seven hundred and seventy is struck out.

Section forty-seven hundred and eighty-seven is amended by adding at the end of the section the following:

Sec. 4787 amended.

"The provisions of this section shall apply to all officers, non-commissioned officers, enlisted and hired men of the land and naval forces of the United States, who, in the line of their duty as such, shall have lost limbs or sustained bodily injuries depriving them of the use of any of their limbs, to be determined by the Surgeon-General of the Army; and the term of five years herein specified shall be held to commence in each case with the filing of the application for the benefits of this section."

See act Mar. 3, 1891.
See Artificial limbs and tresses.

See secs. 4788, 4789, 4790, 4791, R. S.

Section forty-seven hundred and ninety is amended by inserting, in the second line, after the word "rebellion" the words "or is entitled to the benefits of section forty-seven hundred and eighty-seven."

See Artificial limbs, etc.

Section forty-seven hundred and ninety-one is amended by adding at the end of the section the following:

"The transportation allowed for having artificial limbs fitted shall be furnished by the Quartermaster-General of the Army, the cost of which shall be refunded from the appropriations for invalid pensions."

See Artificial limbs, etc.

* * * * *

That all persons who, while in the military or naval service of the United States, and in the line of duty, shall have lost one hand and one foot, or been totally and permanently disabled in both, shall be entitled to a pension for each of such disabilities, and at such a rate as is provided for by the provisions of the existing laws for each disability: Provided, That this act shall not be so construed as to reduce pensions in any case.

Jan. 25, 1879.

That all pensions which have been granted under the general laws regulating pensions, or may hereafter be granted, in consequence of death from a cause which originated in the United States service during the continuance of the late war of the rebellion, or in consequence of wounds, injuries, or disease received or contracted in said service during said war of the rebellion, shall commence from the date of the death or discharge from said service of the person on whose account the claim has been or shall hereafter be granted, or from the termination of the right of the party having prior title to such pension: Provided, The rate of pension for the intervening time for which arrears of pension are hereby granted shall be the same per month for which the pension was originally granted.

SEC. 2. That the Commissioner of Pensions is hereby authorized and directed to adopt such rules and regulations for the payment of the arrears of pensions hereby granted as will be necessary to cause to be paid to such pensioner, or, if the pensioner shall have died, to the person or persons entitled to the same, all such arrears of pension as the pensioner may be, or would have been, entitled to under this act.

Sec. 4717, R. S., repealed.

SEC. 3. That section forty-seven hundred and seventeen of the Revised Statutes of the United States, which provides that "no claim for pension not prosecuted to a successful issue within five years from the date of filing the same shall be admitted without record evidence from the War or Navy Department of the injury or the disease which resulted in the disability or death of the person on whose account the claim is made: Provided, That in any case in which the limitation prescribed by this section bars the further prosecution of the claim, the claimant may present, through the Pension Office, to the Adjutant-General of the Army or the Surgeon-General of the Navy, evidence that the disease or injury which resulted in the disability or death of the person on whose account the claim is made originated in the service and in the line of duty; and if such evidence is deemed satisfactory by the officer to whom it may be submitted, he shall cause a record of the facts so proved to be made, and a copy of the same to be transmitted to the Commissioner of Pensions, and the bar to the prosecution of the claims shall thereby be removed," be, and the same is hereby, repealed.

See secs. 4768, 4769, 4786, R. S.

SEC. 4. No claim-agent or other person shall be entitled to receive any compensation for services in making application for arrears of pension.

SEC. 5. That all act or parts of acts so far as they may conflict with the provisions of this act be, and the same are hereby, repealed.

Mar. 3, 1879.

Loss of both hands, both feet, sight both eyes.

That the act of June seventeenth, eighteen hundred and seventy-eight, entitled "An act to increase the pensions of certain soldiers and sailors who have lost both their hands

Increase of pension of soldiers and sailors who have lost an arm or leg in service.

Equivalent incapacity.

Loss of arm above elbow, or leg above the knee.

Proviso.
R. S., 4699.

That from and after the passage of this act all persons on the pension-roll, and all persons hereafter granted a pension, who, while in the military or naval service of the United States, and in the line of duty, shall have lost one hand or one foot, or been totally or permanently disabled in the same, or otherwise so disabled as to render their incapacity to perform manual labor equivalent to the loss of a hand or a foot, shall receive a pension of twenty-four dollars per month; that all persons now on the pension-roll, and all persons hereafter granted a pension, who in like manner shall have lost either an arm at or above the elbow, or a leg at or above the knee, or shall have been otherwise so disabled as to be incapacitated for performing any manual labor, but not so much as to require regular personal aid and attendance, shall receive a pension of thirty dollars per month: Provided, That nothing contained in this act shall be construed to repeal section forty-six hundred and ninety-nine of the Revised Statutes of the United States, or to change the rate of eighteen dollars per month therein mentioned to be proportionately divided for any degree of disability established for which section forty-six hundred and ninety-five makes no provision.

Apr. 18, 1884.

Felony for person to falsely assume to be an officer of the United States; penalty therefor.

That every person who, with intent to defraud either the United States or any person, falsely assumes or pretends to be an officer or employé acting under the authority of the United States, or any Department or any officer of the Government thereof, and who shall take upon himself to act as such, or who shall in such pretended character demand or obtain from any person or from the United States, or any Department, or any officer of the Government thereof, any money, paper, document, or other valuable thing, shall be deemed guilty of felony, and shall, on conviction thereof, be punished by a fine of not more than one thousand dollars, or imprisonment not longer than three years, or both said punishments, in the discretion of the court.

That all soldiers and sailors of the United States who have had an arm taken off at the shoulder-joint, caused by injuries received in the service of their country while in the line of duty, and who are now receiving pensions, shall have their pensions increased to the same amount that the law now gives to soldiers and sailors who have lost a leg at the hip-joint; and this act shall apply to all who shall be hereafter placed on the pension-roll.

Mar. 3, 1885.

Soldiers and sailors of United States.

Pension hereafter for loss of arm at shoulder joint to be same as for loss of leg at hip joint.

That from and after the passage of this act the rate of pension for widows, minor children, and dependent relatives now on the pension-roll, or hereafter to be placed on the pension-roll, and entitled to receive a less rate than hereinafter provided, shall be twelve dollars per month; and nothing herein shall be construed to affect the existing allowance of two dollars per month for each child under the age of sixteen years: Provided, That this act shall apply only to widows who were married to the deceased soldier or sailor prior to its passage and to those who may hereafter marry prior to or during the service of the soldier or sailor. And all acts or parts of acts inconsistent with the provisions of this act are hereby repealed.

Loss of both hands.
Act July 27, 1892, extended the time two years from July 1, 1892.

That from and after the passage of this act all persons who, in the military or naval service of the United States and in the line of duty have lost both hands, shall be entitled to a pension of one hundred dollars per month.

Mar. 4, 1890.

Totally disabled.
See note 5.

That all soldiers, sailors, and marines who have since the sixteenth day of June, eighteen hundred and eighty, or who may hereafter become so totally and permanently helpless from injuries received or disease contracted in the service and line of duty as to require the regular personal aid and attendance of another person, or who, if otherwise entitled, were excluded from the provisions of "An act to increase pensions of certain pensioned soldiers and sailors who are utterly helpless from injuries received or disease contracted while in the United States service," approved June sixteenth, eighteen hundred and eighty, shall be entitled to receive a pension at the rate of seventy-two dollars per month from the date of the passage of this act or of the certificate of the examining surgeon or board of surgeons showing such degree of disability made subsequent to the passage of this act.

June 27, 1890.

Dependent parents.

That in considering the pension claims of dependent parents, the fact of the soldier's death by reason of any wound, injury, casualty, or disease which, under the conditions and limitations of existing laws, would have entitled him to an invalid pension, and the fact that the soldier left no widow or minor children having been shown as required by law, it shall be necessary only to show by competent and sufficient evidence that such parent or parents are without other present means of support than their own manual labor or the contributions of others not legally bound for their support: Provided, That all pensions allowed to dependent parents under this act shall commence from date of the filing of the application hereunder and shall continue no longer than the existence of the dependence.

Invalid, service ninety days.
Honorable discharge.

SEC. 2. That all persons who served ninety days or more in the military or naval service of the United States during the late war of the rebellion and who have been honorably discharged therefrom, and who are now or who may hereafter be suffering from a mental or physical disability of a permanent character, not the result of their own vicious habits, which incapacitates them from the performance of manual labor in such a degree as to render them unable to earn a support, shall, upon making due proof of Note 4.—For total deafness, or deafness approaching to total, affecting one ear, one-eighth of a pension may be allowed. For slight deafness in both ears, or severe or total deafness in one ear and slight deafness in the other, one-fourth of a total pension. For severe deafness of both ears, or total deafness in one ear and severe deafness in the other, one-half of a total pension; or if the deafness should exist in a degree nearly total, three-fourths of a total pension. For total deafness the pension for total disability should be allowed except in the cases for which the rate for total disability is less than $13 a month. (Pension Office Digest, p. 146.)

Artificial limb. Amending act, s. 4787. That section forty-seven hundred and eighty-seven of the Revised Statutes of the United States be amended by striking out the word "five" where it occurs therein, and inserting in lieu thereof the word "three" so that when amended said section will read as follows: Every officer, soldier, seaman, and marine who was disabled during the war for the suppression of the rebellion, in the military or naval service, and in the line of duty, or in consequence of wounds received or disease contracted therein, and who was furnished by the War Department since the seventeenth day of June, eighteen hundred and seventy, with an artificial limb or apparatus for resection who was entitled to receive such limb or apparatus since said date, shall be entitled to receive a new limb or apparatus at the expiration of every three years thereafter, under such regulations as have been or may be prescribed by the Surgeon-General of the Army.

That soldiers and sailors who are shown to be totally incapacitated for performing manual labor by reason of injuries received or disease contracted in the service of the United States and in line of duty, and who are thereby disabled to such a degree as to require frequent and periodical, though not regular and constant, personal aid and attendance of another person, shall be entitled to receive a pension of fifty dollars per month from and after the date of the certificate of the examining surgeon or board of examining surgeons showing such degree of disability, and made subsequent to the passage of this act.

July 14, 1892.
Totally disabled. Those requiring frequent and periodical aid entitled to $50.

That section nine of the act for the relief of certain volunteer and regular soldiers of the late war and the war with Mexico, passed March second, anno Domini eighteen hundred and eighty-nine, be, and the same is hereby, so amended as to extend the time for the limitation of the operation of said section for the period of two years from the first of July, eighteen hundred and ninety-two.

Desertion. Amending sec. 9, act of Mar. 2, 1889. Limitation as to filing application for removal.

That the act entitled "An act amending the pension law so as to remove the disability of those who, having participated in the rebellion, have since its termination enlisted in the Army of the United States, and become disabled," approved March third, eighteen hundred and seventy-seven, be, and the same is hereby, amended so as to read as follows:

Aug. 1, 1892.
Pensions to soldiers and sailors in certain cases allowed though they had engaged in rebellion.

"That the law prohibiting the payment of any money on account of pensions to any person, or to the widow, children, or heirs of any deceased person who, in any manner, engaged in or aided or abetted the late rebellion against the authority of the United States, shall not be construed to apply to such persons as afterward voluntarily enlisted in either the Navy or Army of the United States, and who, while in such service, incurred disability from a wound or injury received or disease contracted in the line of duty."

Act of Mar. 3, 1877, as amended. R. S., 4716.

* * * * *

That any pension heretofore or that may hereafter be granted to any applicant therefor under any law of the United States authorizing the granting and payment of pensions, on application made and adjudicated upon, shall be deemed and held by all officers of the United States to be a vested right in the grantee to that extent that payment thereof shall not be withheld or suspended until, after due notice to the grantee of not less than thirty days, the Commissioner of Pensions, after hearing all the evidence,

Dec. 21, 1893.
Pension not to be withheld or suspended until after notice.

shall decide to annul, vacate, modify, and set aside the decision upon which such pension was granted. Such notice to grantee must contain a full and true statement of any charges or allegations upon which such decision granting such pension shall be sought to be in any manner disturbed or modified.

Aug. 23, 1894. That hereafter, in addition to the officers now authorized to administer oaths in such cases, fourth-class postmasters of the United States are hereby required, empowered, and authorized to administer any and all oaths required to be made by pensioners and their witnesses in the execution of their vouchers with like effect and force as officers having a seal; and such postmaster shall affix the stamp of his office to his signature to such vouchers, and he is authorized to charge and receive for each voucher not exceeding twenty-five cents, to be paid by the pensioner.

Vouchers may be executed before fourth-class postmasters.

Mar. 2, 1895. That from and after the twenty-eighth day of September, eighteen hundred and ninety-two, the accrued pension to the date of the death of any pensioner, or of any person entitled to a pension having an application therefor pending, and whether a certificate therefor shall issue prior or subsequent to the death of such person, shall, in the case of a person pensioned, or applying for pension, on account of his disabilities or service, be paid, first, to his widow; second, if there is no widow, to his child or children under the age of sixteen years at his death; third, in case of a widow, to her minor children under the age of sixteen years at her death. Such accrued pension shall not be considered a part of the assets of the estate of such deceased person, nor be liable for the payment of the debts of said estate in any case whatsoever, but shall inure to the sole and exclusive benefit of the widow or children. And if no widow or child survive such pensioner, and in the case of his last surviving child who was such minor at his death, and in case of a dependent mother, father, sister, or brother, no payment whatsoever of their accrued pension shall be made or allowed except so much as may be necessary to reimburse the person who bore the expense of their last sickness and burial, if they did not leave sufficient assets to meet such expense. And the mailing of a pension check, drawn by a pension agent in payment of a pension due, to the address of a pensioner, shall constitute payment in the event of the death of a pensioner subsequent to the execution of the voucher therefor. And all prior laws relating to the payment of accrued pension are hereby repealed.

Accrued pensions, how and to whom paid.

Mar. 2, 1895. * * * That so much of the fourth proviso of an Act entitled "An Act making appropriations for the payment of invalid and other pensions of the United States for the fiscal year ending June thirtieth, eighteen hundred and ninety-four, and for other purposes," approved March first, eighteen hundred and ninety-three, which reads as follows: "That from and after July first, eighteen hundred and ninety-three, no pension shall be paid to a nonresident who is not a citizen of the United States, except for actual disabilities incurred in the service," be and the same is hereby repealed.

28 Stat. L., 703. Pensions.

Alienage to be no bar.

Repeal of 1893, Mar. 1, ch. 187, last clause, p. 102.

That in considering claims filed under the pension laws, the death of an enlisted man or officer shall be considered as sufficiently proved if satisfactory evidence is produced establishing the fact of the continued and unexplained absence of such enlisted man or officer from his home and family for a period of seven years, during which period no intelligence of his existence shall have been received. And any pension granted under this Act shall cease upon proof that such officer or enlisted man is still living.

Accessory before the fact to piracy, etc.
Apr. 30, 1790, s. 10, v. 1, p. 114.
See act of Aug. 6, 1894, amending secs. 5365 and 5366, title, "Merchant vessels."

SEC. 5323. Every person who knowingly aids, abets, causes, procures, commands, or counsels another to commit any murder, robbery, or other piracy upon the seas, is an accessory before the fact to such piracies, and every such person being thereof convicted shall suffer death.

Accessory after the fact to robbery or piracy.
Apr. 30, 1790, s. 11, v. 1, p. 114.
See sec. 5533.

SEC. 5324. Every person who receives or takes into custody any vessel, goods, or other property feloniously taken by any robber or pirate against the laws of the United States, knowing the same to have been feloniously taken, and every person who, knowing that such pirate or robber has done or committed any such piracy or robbery, on the land or at sea, receives, entertains, or conceals any such pirate or robber, is an accessory after the fact to such robbery or piracy.

Note 1.—Piracy is defined by the law of nations to be a forcible depredation upon property on the high seas, without lawful authority, done animo furandi; that is, as defined, in this connection, in a spirit and intention of universal hostility. A pirate is said to be one who roves the sea in an armed vessel, without any commission from any sovereign state, on his own authority, and for the purpose of seizing by force and appropriating to himself, without discrimination, every vessel he may meet. United States v. Baker, 5 Blatchford, 11, 12. Cited in Cadwalader's State Department Digest, p. 77.)

To make the firing of one vessel into another a piratical aggression within the act of 1819, section 5368, R. S., it must be a first aggression unprovoked by any previous act of hostility or menace from the other side. (Cadwalader's Digest; Op., IX, 114.)

Robbery, or forcible depredation upon the high sea, animo furandi, is piracy by the law of nations. Cadwalader's Digest, p. 76, cites 5 Wheaton, 153. A vessel loses her national character by assuming a piratical character, and a piracy committed by a foreigner from on board such a vessel whatever, is punishable under act of 1790, section 5360, R. S. (Idem, p. 77, cites 5 Wheaton, 184.)

Every hostile attack, in time of peace, is not necessarily piratical. It may be by mistake, or in necessary self-defense, or to repel a supposed meditated attack by pirates. It may be justifiable, and then no blame attaches to the act; or it may be without just excuse, and then it carries responsibility in damages. (Cadwalader's Digest, p. 77, cites 11 Wheaton, 40, 41, and 2 Howard, 236.)

Merchant vessels suspected of being engaged in illicit trade forbidden by the laws of Congress may be seized and detained by public armed vessels. (Op., 3, 405.)

SEC. 4236. The master of any vessel coming into or going out of any port situate upon waters which are the boundary between two States, may employ any pilot duly licensed or authorized by the laws of either of the States bounded on such waters, to pilot the vessel to or from such port. Mar. 2, 1837, v. 5, p. 153.

SEC. 4237. No regulations or provisions shall be adopted by any State which shall make any discrimination in the rate of pilotage or half-pilotage between vessels sailing between the ports of one State and vessels sailing between the ports of different States, or any discrimination against vessels propelled in whole or in part by steam, or against national vessels of the United States; and all existing regulations or provisions making any such discrimination are annulled and abrogated. No discrimination in rates of pilotage. July 13, 1866, v. 14, p. 53. See note 1.

That any alien who, in the manner provided for by law, has declared his intention to become a citizen of the United States, and who shall have been a permanent resident of the United States for at least six months immediately prior to the granting of such license, may be licensed, as if already naturalized, to serve as an engineer or pilot upon any steam-vessel subject to inspection under the provisions of the act entitled "An act to provide for the better security of life on board of vessels propelled, in whole or in part, by steam, and for other purposes," approved February twenty-eighth, eighteen hundred and seventy-one (2). Apr. 17, 1874. 18 Stat. L., 30. Aliens, in certain cases, may be licensed as engineers and pilots to serve on steam vessels. R. S., secs. 4131, 4438, 4441, 4442. 1884, June 26, ch. 121. See title Aliens and citizenship, p. 440. See note 2.

That Section forty-four hundred and fifty-eight of the Revised Statutes be, and is hereby, amended by striking out of the paragraph, beginning in the eighth line thereof, the following words, that is to say "Each Master, chief engineer, and first class pilot licensed as herein provided shall pay for every certificate granted by any inspector or inspectors the sum of ten dollars and every chief Mate, engineer, and pilot of an inferior grade shall pay for every certificate so granted the sum of five dollars" and insert in lieu thereof the following "Each Master, engineer, pilot, and Mate licensed as herein provided shall pay for every certificate granted by any inspector or inspectors (3) the sum of fifty cents." Apr. 5, 1882. 22 Stat. L., 40. Masters, engineers, pilots, and mates of steamers to pay license fee. Substitute for part of R. S., sec. 4458. 1886, June 19, ch. 421, s. 1, p. 492. See title Aliens and citizenship. See sec. 4438, R. S., in regard to licenses of engineers and pilots. See note 3.

Also, 16 Stat. L., Feb. 28, 1871, sec. 14, p. 446.

Note 1.—Government vessels are not required to employ and pay branch pilots upon entering the ports and harbors of the United States. The exemption extends to all public vessels whether armed or not. (Op., IV, 532, Sept. 9, 1846, Mason.)

The penalties imposed by State laws for piloting vessels without due license from the State, have no application to persons employed as pilots on board public vessels of the United States, the latter vessels being within the exclusive jurisdiction of the United States. (Op., XVI, 647, Oct. 22, 1879.)

The term "public vessels" does not apply to vessels of the Navy alone. Within the meaning of the inspection and navigation laws public vessels are those owned by the United States, and those used by them for public purposes. Those laws warrant no distinction between public vessels under the control of the Navy Department and public vessels under the control of any other department of the Government. Unlicensed pilots and engineers can be lawfully employed on them. (Op., XIII, p. 249, Hoar, June 1, 1870.)

Note 2.—The provisions of the act of 1871, ch. 100 (16 Stat. L., 440), here referred to, are incorporated into Revised Statutes in secs. 4399-4500.

Note 3.—By 1886, June 19, ch. 421, s. 1, p. 492, this fee is abolished, but as inspectors are to be paid from the Treasury such compensation as they would have received prior to that date, this is retained as possibly in force for some purposes. But see R. S., sec. 4414.

Division of mail matter.
Ch. 180, s. 7, v. 20, p. 355.

That mailable matter shall be divided into four classes:
First, written matter;
Second, periodical publications;
Third, miscellaneous printed matter;
Fourth, merchandise.

Mailable matter of the first class shall embrace letters, postal cards, and all matters wholly or partly in writing, except as hereinafter provided.

Postal cards.
Idem, s. 9.

Postal cards shall be transmitted through the mails at a postage charge of one cent each, including the cost of manufacture; and drop letters shall be mailed at the rate of two cents per half ounce or fraction thereof, including delivery at letter carrier offices, and one cent for each half ounce or fraction thereof where free delivery by carrier is not established. The Postmaster-General may, however, provide, by regulation, for transmitting unpaid and duly certified letters of soldiers, sailors, and marines in the service of the United States to their destination, to be paid on delivery.

That mailable matter of the second class shall embrace all newspapers and other periodical publications which are issued at stated intervals, and as frequently as four times a year and are within the conditions named in section twelve and fourteen.

Second-class matter.
Idem, s. 10.

That mail matter of the third class shall embrace books, transient newspapers, and periodicals, circulars, and other matter wholly in print (not included in section twelve) [2d class matter], proof sheets, corrected proof sheets, and manuscript copy accompanying the same, and postage shall be paid at the rate of one cent for each two ounces or fractional part thereof, and shall fully be prepaid by postage stamps affixed to said matter. Printed matter other than books received in the mails from foreign countries under the provisions of postal treaties or conventions shall be free of customs duty, and books which are admitted to the international mails exchanged under the provisions of the Universal Postal Union Convention may, when subject to customs duty, be delivered to addresses in the United States under such regulations for the collection of duties as may be agreed upon by the Secretary of the Treasury and the Postmaster-General.

Third-class matter defined.
Rate of postage.
Idem, s. 17.

That the term "circular" is defined to be a printed letter, which, according to internal evidence, is being sent in identical terms to several persons. A circular shall not lose its character as such, when the date and the name of the address and of the sender shall be written therein, nor by the correction of mere typographical errors in writing.

"Circular" defined.
Idem, s. 18.

That "printed matter" within the intendment of this act is defined to be the reproduction upon paper, by any process except that of handwriting, of any words, letters, characters, figures, or images, or of any combination thereof, not having the character of an actual and personal correspondence.

"Printed matter" defined.
Idem, s. 19.

That mailable matter of the fourth class shall embrace all matter not embraced in the first, second, or third class, which is not in its form or nature liable to destroy, deface, or otherwise damage the contents of the mail bag, or harm the person of any one engaged in the postal service, and is not above the weight provided by law, which is hereby declared to be not exceeding four pounds for each package thereof, except in the case of single books weighing in excess of that amount, and except for books and documents published or circulated by order of Congress, or official matter emanating from any of the departments of the government, or from the Smithsonian Institution, or which is not declared non-mailable under the provision of section thirty-eight hundred and ninety-three of the Revised Statutes, as amended by the act of July twelfth, eighteen hundred and seventy-six, or matter appertaining to lotteries, gift concerts, or fraudulent schemes or devices.

Fourth-class matter.
Idem, s. 20.
See note 1.

Mar. 3, 1879. All mail-matter of the first class upon which one full rate of postage has been prepaid shall be forwarded to its destination, charged with the unpaid rate, to be collected on delivery. * * *

Deficient postage. S. 26, ch. 180, v. 20, p. 355. And upon all matter of the first class * * * postage shall be charged, on and after the first day of October A. D. eighteen hundred and eighty-three at the rate of two cents for each half ounce or fraction thereof.

Postage on first-class matter. Mar. 3, 1883, s. 1, v. 22, p. 455. That the Secretaries, respectively, of the Departments of State, of the Treasury, War, Navy, and of the Interior, and the Attorney-General, are authorized to make requisitions upon the Postmaster-General for the necessary amount of official postage-stamps for the use of their departments, not exceeding the amount stated in the estimates submitted to Congress; and upon presentation of proper vouchers therefor at the Treasury, the amount thereof shall be credited to the appropriation for the service of the Post-Office Department for the same fiscal year.

How procured. Mar. 3, 1883, ch. 128, s. 2, v. 22, p. 563. See note 2. And it shall be the duty of the respective departments to inclose to Senators, Representatives, and Delegates in Congress, in all official communications requiring answers, or to be forwarded to others, penalty envelopes addressed as far as practicable, for forwarding or answering such official correspondence.

Inclosure to Members of Congress. Idem. That it shall be lawful to transmit through the mail, free of postage, any letters, packages, or other matters relating exclusively to the business of the Government of the United States: Provided, That every such letter or package to entitle it to pass free shall bear over the words "Official business" an indorsement showing also the name of the Department, and, if from a bureau or office, the names of the Department and bureau or office, as the case may be, whence transmitted. And if any person shall make use of any such official envelope to avoid the payment of postage on his private letter, package, or other matter in the mail, the person so offending shall be deemed guilty of a misdemeanor, and subject to a fine of three hundred dollars, to be prosecuted in any court of competent jurisdiction.

Mar. 3, 1877, s. 5, v. 19, p. 355. Penalty envelopes. Indorsement. That it shall be lawful to transmit through the mail, free of postage, any letters, packages, or other matters relating exclusively to the business of the Government of the United States: Provided, That every such letter or package to entitle it to pass free shall bear over the words "Official business" an indorsement showing also the name of the Department, and, if from a bureau or office, the names of the Department and bureau or office, as the case may be, whence transmitted. And if any person shall make use of any such official envelope to avoid the payment of postage on his private letter, package, or other matter in the mail, the person so offending shall be deemed guilty of a misdemeanor, and subject to a fine of three hundred dollars, to be prosecuted in any court of competent jurisdiction.

Note 2.—The Department stamps can be used to prepay fees on registered letters. (Op. Asst. Att'y Gen'l, P. O. Dept., May 11, 1879.)

They can also be used to pay return postage on answers to communications sent by Government officers to private individuals; the penalty envelopes can not be so used. (Ibid.)

Official correspondence for Canada may be sent in penalty envelopes or prepaid with Department stamps. If sent to other foreign countries embraced in the Universal Postal Union, it can be prepaid only by means of the ordinary postage stamps. It can not be sent in the penalty envelopes.

Foreign countries to which official correspondence may be prepaid with the official postage stamps are such only as are supplied with mails from the United States by direct services, and not through the intermediary of Postal Union countries. The following are of that class: The Australian colonies (North, South, and West Australia, New South Wales, Queensland, and Victoria), Tasmania, New Zealand, Chat-ham, Fiji, Samoan, and Norfolk Islands, via San Francisco; Bolivia, via Colon and Panama; North China destinations, via San Francisco, in mails to the United States postal agent at Shanghai. (Post-Office Department to Navy Department, 1883.)

SEC. 6. That for the purpose of carrying this act into effect, it shall be the duty of each of the Executive Departments of the United States to provide for itself and its subordinate offices the necessary envelopes; and in addition to the indorsement designating the Department in which they are to be used, the penalty for the unlawful use of these envelopes shall be stated thereon.

The provisions of the above sections (act March 3, 1877) "are hereby extended to all officers of the United States Government, and made applicable to all official mail-matter transmitted between any of the officers of the United States, or between any such officer and either of the executive departments or officers of the government, the envelopes of such matter in all cases to bear appropriate indorsements containing the proper designation of the office from which the same is transmitted, with a statement of the penalty for their misuse. And the provisions of said fifth and sixth sections are hereby likewise extended and made applicable to all official mail-matter sent from the Smithsonian Institution: Provided, That this act shall extend or apply to pension-agents or other officers who receive a fixed allowance as compensation for their services, including expenses for postage."

* * * * *

That the Postmaster-General is hereby authorized to take the necessary steps to introduce and furnish for public use a letter-sheet envelope, on which postage-stamps of the denominations now in use on ordinary envelopes shall be

Use of penalty envelopes extended.

Letter-sheet envelopes; double postal cards.
Mar. 3, 1879, s. 32, v. 20, p. 362.

Note 3.—This section does not impose upon the Executive Department at Washington the duty of furnishing such envelopes to the various subordinate officers throughout the United States who are under their supervision, but whose offices are not offices in those Departments, excepting, of course, cases where that duty is required by other statutory provisions than those above mentioned. (Op., XVI, p. 455, Jan. 30, 1880, Devens.)

Where the envelopes are not furnished by the Departments, they may be prepared for their own use by the officers contemplated in section 29 of said act of March 3, 1879. This statute does not require that the penalty, etc., on such envelopes should be printed rather than written. (Ibid.)

The indorsements on the penalty envelopes may be printed, written, or impressed by stamp. (Op., Assistant Attorney-General, P. O. Department, Apr. 21, 1879.)

The penalty envelopes can not be properly used by officers in replying to a postmaster on matters not official; for instance, when a postmaster notifies said officer of private mail matter being in the office, which will be sent to him on the return of the requisite postage, the officer can not use the penalty stamp in making his reply. (Post-Office ruling.)

Officers of the Navy, who have no "office," in the sense that term is generally used, can send official mail matter, free of postage, between themselves, or to the Executive Departments, by using envelopes bearing the indorsement "official business," with their signature and rank, and a statement of the penalty for their misuse—the indorsements to be printed, or impressed by a stamp, or written. (Op. Assistant Attorney-General, P. O. D., Apr. 20, 1879.)

The twenty-ninth section of the act of March 3, 1879 (Postal Laws and Regulations, section 251), extending to all officers of the United States Government the provisions of the sections numbered 249 and 250, Postal Laws and Regulations, for the transmission of official mail matter, requires all officers who are not departmental in their character to use envelopes which bear the appropriate indorsements, containing the name of the office from which the same are transmitted, with a statement of the penalty for their misuse; and the use of the envelopes must be absolutely restricted to official mail matter transmitted between officers of the United States, or between any such officer and either of the Executive Departments or officers of the Government. The signature of the officer and his official title is not a compliance with the law; the name of the office from which they are transmitted must also be given on the envelope. (Rule 604, Post-Office Guide, Jan., 1883.)

Official communications may be sent by officers of the Government under cover of the penalty envelope to private individuals; but such envelopes can not be inclosed for the purpose of eliciting a reply. (Rule 606, idem.) placed. And the Postmaster-General is also authorized to introduce and furnish for public use a double postal card, on which shall be placed two one-cent stamps, and said card to be so arranged for the address that it may be forwarded and returned, said cards to be sold for two cents apiece; and also to introduce and furnish for public use a double-letter envelope, on which stamps of the denominations now in use may be placed, and with the arrangement for the address similar to the double postal card; said letter-sheet and double postal card and double envelope to be issued under such regulations as the Postmaster-General may prescribe.

Jan. 27, 1894. SEC. 6. That section four thousand and thirty-nine of the Revised Statutes of the United States be amended by adding the following:

28 Stat. L., 30.
Recalled letters of advice to be attached to accounts.

“That it shall be the duty of the postmasters to attach to their accounts rendered to the Auditor of the Treasury for the Post-Office Department the letters of advice, or if lost evidence of that fact, recalled from the post-office to which originally sent for all repayments of domestic money orders provided for in this section and in section four thousand and thirty-eight of the Revised Statutes of the United States.”

but nothing herein contained shall prevent the payment, after July first, eighteen hundred and ninety-four, in the manner provided by existing law, of postal notes issued prior to that date, and any such postal notes, if presented for payment more than one year from the last day of the month of their issue, may be paid by warrant, as provided by section four of this Act in the case of money orders.

Fees for money orders reduced.

SEC. 2. That section three of the said Act of March third, eighteen hundred and eighty-three, as amended by the Act of June twenty-ninth, eighteen hundred and eighty-six, entitled "An Act to reduce the fee on domestic money orders for sums not exceeding five dollars," be amended to read as follows: Substitute for 1883, Mar. 3, ch. 123, s. 3, and 1886, June 29, ch. 568 (1 Supp. R.S., 406, 498).

"That a money order shall not be issued for more than one hundred dollars, and that fees for domestic money orders shall be as follows, to wit:

"For orders not exceeding two dollars and fifty cents, three cents. Fees for money orders.

"For orders exceeding two dollars and fifty cents and not exceeding five dollars, five cents.

"For orders exceeding five dollars and not exceeding ten dollars, eight cents.

"For orders exceeding ten dollars and not exceeding twenty dollars, ten cents.

Application of provisions of title.

June 30, 1864, s. 33, v. 13, p. 315.

What are vessels of the Navy. Ibid., s. 32.

Duties of commanding officer upon making capture. Ibid., s. 1, p. 306.

SEC. 4613. The provisions of this Title shall apply to all captures made as prize by authority of the United States, or adopted and ratified by the President of the United States.

SEC. 4614. The term "vessels of the Navy," as used in this Title, shall include all armed vessels officered and manned by the United States, and under the control of the Department of the Navy.

SEC. 4615. The commanding officer of any vessel making a capture shall secure the documents of the ship and cargo, including the log-book, with all other documents, letters, and other papers found on board, and make an inventory of the same, and seal them up, and send them, with the inventory, to the court in which proceedings are to be had, with a written statement that they are all the papers found, and are in the condition in which they were found; or explaining the absence of any documents or papers, or any change in their condition. He shall also send to such court, as witnesses, the master, one or more of the other officers, the supercargo, purser, or agent of the prize, and any person found on board whom he may suppose to be interested in, or to have knowledge respecting, the title, national character, or destination of the prize. He shall send the prize, with the documents, papers, and witnesses, under charge of a competent prize-master and prize-crew, into port for adjudication, explaining the absence of any usual witnesses; and in the absence of instructions from superior authority as to the port to which it shall be sent, he shall select such port as he shall deem most convenient, in view of the interests of probable claimants, as well as of the captors. If the captured vessel, or any part of the captured property, is not in condition to be sent in for adjudication, a survey shall be had thereon and an appraisement made by persons as competent and impartial as can be obtained, and their reports shall be sent to the court in which proceedings are to be had; and such property, unless appropriated for the use of the Government, shall be sold by the authority of the commanding officer present, and the proceeds deposited with the assistant treasurer of the United States most accessible to such court, and subject to its order in the cause. [See sec. 1624, art. 15, p. 12.]

SEC. 4616. If any vessel of the United States shall claim to share in a prize, either as having made the capture, or as having been within signal distance of the vessel or vessels making the capture, the commanding officer of such vessel shall make out a written statement of his claim, with the grounds on which it is founded, the principal facts tending to show what vessels made the capture, and what vessels were within signal distance of those making the capture, with reasonable particularity as to times, distances, localities, and signals made, seen, or answered; and such statement of claim shall be signed by him and sent to the court in which proceedings shall be had, and shall be filed in the cause.

Statement of claim to share in prize.
Ibid., s. 2, p. 307.

SEC. 4617. The prize-master shall make his way diligently to the selected port, and there immediately deliver to a prize-commissioner the documents and papers, and the inventory thereof, and make affidavit that they are the same, and are in the same condition as delivered to him, or explaining any absence or change of condition therein, and that the prize-property is in the same condition as delivered to him, or explaining any loss or damage thereto; and he shall further report to the district attorney and give to him all the information in his possession respecting the prize and her capture; and he shall deliver over the persons sent as witnesses to the custody of the marshal, and shall retain the prize in his custody until it shall be taken therefrom by process from the prize-court.

Duties of prize master.

See sec. 5441.

[Sections 4618-19-20 relate to libels, duties of district attorneys, etc.]

SEC. 4621. Any district court may appoint prize-commissioners, not exceeding three in number; of whom one shall be a retired naval officer, approved by the Secretary of the Navy, who shall receive no other compensation than his pay in the Navy, and who shall protect the interests of the captors and of the Department of the Navy in the prize-property; and at least one of the others shall be a member of the bar of the court, of not less than three years' standing, and acquainted with the taking of depositions.

Appointment of prize-commissioners.
June 30, 1864,
s. 5, v. 13, p. 307.

SEC. 4622. The prize-commissioners, or one of them, shall receive from the prize-master the documents and papers, and inventory thereof, and shall take the affidavit of the prize-master required by section forty-six hundred and seventeen, and shall forthwith take the testimony of the witnesses sent in, separate from each other, on interrogatories prescribed by the court, in the manner usual in prize-courts; and the witnesses shall not be permitted to see the interrogatories, documents, or papers, or to consult with counsel, or with any persons interested, without special authority from the court; and witnesses who have the rights of neutrals shall be discharged as soon as practicable. The prize-commissioners shall also take depositions de bene esse of the prize-crew and others, at the request of the district attorney, on interrogatories prescribed by the court. They shall also, as soon as any prize-property comes within the district for adjudication, examine the same, and make an inventory thereof, founded on an actual examination, and report to the court whether any part of it is in a condition requiring immediate sale for the interests of all parties, and notify the district attorney thereof; and if it be necessary to the examination or making of the inventory that the cargo be unladen, they shall apply to the court for an order to the marshal to unlade the same, and shall, from time to time, report to the court anything relating to the condition of the property, or its custody or disposal, which may require any action by the court, but the custody of the property shall be in the marshal only. They shall also seasonably return into court, sealed and secured from inspection, the documents and papers which shall come to their hands, duly scheduled and numbered, and the other preparatory evidence, and the evidence taken de bene esse, and their own inventory of the prize-property; and if the captured vessel, or any of its cargo or stores, are such as in their judgment may be useful to the United States in war, they shall report the same to the Secretary of the Navy.

SEC. 4624. Whenever any captured vessel, arms, munitions, or other material are taken for the use of the United States before it comes into the custody of the prize court, it shall be surveyed, appraised, and inventoried, by persons as competent and impartial as can be obtained, and the survey, appraisement, and inventory shall be sent to the court in which proceedings are to be had; and if taken afterward, sufficient notice shall first be given to enable the court to have the property appraised for the protection of the rights of the claimants and captors. In all cases of prize-property taken for or appropriated to the use of the Government, the Department for whose use it is taken or appropriated shall deposit the value thereof with the assistant treasurer of the United States nearest to the place of the session of the court, subject to the order of the court in the cause.

Proceedings for adjudication where property is not sent in.
Ibid., s. 28.

SEC. 4625. If by reason of the condition of the captured property, or if because the whole has been appropriated to the use of the United States, no part of it has been or can be sent in for adjudication, or if the property has been entirely lost or destroyed, proceedings for adjudication may be commenced in any district the Secretary of the Navy may designate; and in any such case the proceeds of anything sold, or the value of anything taken or appropriated for the use of the United States, shall be deposited with the assistant treasurer in or nearest to that district, subject to the order of the court in the cause. If, when no property can be sent in for adjudication, the Secretary of the Navy shall not, within three months after any capture, designate a district for the institution of proceedings, the captors may institute proceedings for adjudication in any district. And if in any case of capture no proceedings for adjudication are commenced within a reasonable time, any parties claiming the captured property may, in any district court as a court of prize, move for a monition to show cause why such proceedings shall not be commenced, or institute an original suit in such court for restitution, and the monition issued in either case shall be served on the attorney of the United States for the district, and on the Secretary of the Navy, as well as on such other persons as the court shall order to be notified.

SEC. 4626. No prize-property shall be delivered to the claimants on stipulation, deposit, or other security, except where there has been a decree of restitution and the captors have appealed therefrom, or where the court, after a full hearing on the preparatory proofs, has refused to condemn the property on those proofs, and has given the captors leave to take further proofs, or where the claimant of any property shall satisfy the court that the same has a peculiar and intrinsic value to him, independent of its market-value. In any of these cases, the court may deliver the property on stipulation or deposit of its value, if satisfied that the rights and interests of the United States and captors, or of other claimants, will not be prejudiced thereby; but a satisfactory appraisalment shall be first made, and an opportunity given to the district attorney and naval prize-commissioner to be heard as to the appointment of appraisers. Any money deposited in lieu of stipulation, and all money collected on a stipulation, not being costs, shall be deposited with the assistant treasurer, in the same manner as proceeds of a sale.

Delivery of property on stipulation.
Ibid., s. 26, p. 313.

SEC. 4627. Whenever any prize-property is condemned, or at any stage of the proceedings is found by the court to be perishing, perishable, or liable to deteriorate or depreciate, or whenever the costs of keeping the same are disproportionate to its value, the court shall order a sale of such property; and whenever, after the return-day on the libel, all the parties in the interest who have appeared in the cause agree thereto, the court may make such order; and no appeal shall operate to prevent the making or execution of such order.

When property may be sold.
Ibid., s. 8, p. 308.

SEC. 4628. Upon a sale of any prize-property by order of the court, the Secretary of the Navy shall employ an auctioneer of known skill in the branch of business to which any sale pertains, to make the sale, but the sale shall be conducted under the supervision of the marshal, and the collecting and depositing of the gross proceeds shall be by the auctioneer or his agent. Before any sale the marshal shall cause full catalogues and schedules to be prepared and circulated, and a copy of each shall be returned by the marshal to the court in each case. The marshal shall cause all sales to be advertised fully and conspicuously in newspapers ordered by the court, and by posters, and he shall, at least five days before the sale, serve notice thereof upon the naval prize commissioner, and the goods shall be open to inspection at least three days before the sale.

Mode of making sale.

[Section 4629 authorizes transfer of property to another district for sale.]

Share of captors.
Ibid., s. 10, p. 309.
See secs. 4752 and 4759, Pen-sions.

SEC. 4630. The net proceeds of all property condemned as prize, shall, when the prize was of superior or equal force to the vessel or vessels making the capture, be decreed to the captors; and when of inferior force, one-half shall be decreed to the United States and the other half to the captors, except that in case of privateers and letters of marque, the whole shall be decreed to the captors, unless it shall be otherwise provided in the commissions issued to such vessels.

Distribution of proceeds to captors.

SEC. 4631. All prize-money adjudged to the captors shall be distributed in the following proportions:

Prize-money allowed to officers serving as division commanders and fleet captains from April, 1861, and how paid.

First. To the commanding officer of a fleet or squadron, one-twentieth part of all prize-money awarded to any vessel or vessels under his immediate command.

R. S., sec. 4631, pars. 1, 2.

Second. To the commanding officer of a division of a fleet or squadron, on duty under the orders of the commander-in-chief of such fleet or squadron, a sum equal to one-fiftieth part of any prize-money awarded to a vessel of such division for a capture made while under his command, such fiftieth part to be deducted from the moiety due to the United States, if there be such moiety, otherwise from the amount awarded to the captors; but such fiftieth part shall not be in addition to any share which may be due to the commander of the division, and which he may elect to receive, as commander of a single ship making or assisting in the capture.

Ibid., s. 10, p. 309; June 8, 1874, ch. 256, v. 18, p. 63.
See notes 1, 2, and 3.

Third. To the fleet captain, one-hundredth part of all prize-money awarded to any vessel or vessels of the fleet or squadron in which he is serving, except in a case where the capture is made by the vessel on board of which he is

Note 1.—The rate of pay which the officer was in receipt of at the time the capture was made is the measure of his allowance out of the proceeds; not the increased pay resulting from his promotion afterwards. Immaterial if his promotion gave him a title to the increased pay from and including the date of capture. A commander of a single ship is limited to one-tenth, although the amount would exceed that if paid according to his rank. It is the same if he was entitled to three-twentieths. (Op., XV, 64, Dec. 10, 1875, Pierrepoint. Albemarle case. But see Op., XIV, 365, post.)

Prize is distributed according to the law existing at the date or time of the capture. The law regulating the distribution of prize-money is a conditional grant by Congress; as soon as the conditions are fulfilled the grant becomes absolute. (Op., XI, 102, Sept. 30, 1864, Bates.)

An officer commissioned to a higher grade, prior to a capture, although from delay or other causes the promotion had not reached him at the time, and he was on the prize-list in the lower capacity, is entitled to share in the higher grade if in the performance of the duties thereof. If he was entitled to pay in the higher grade, he was entitled to share accordingly in the prize. (Op., XIV, 365, Feb. 6, 1874, Williams. See also XIII, 413.)

An officer who usurps command of a vessel can not claim a share in prizes captured. "Commanding officer means an officer legally in command." In the construction of the prize act in England, the court held that the words "on board" meant only such persons as belonged to the vessel, and that being corporeally on board was not sufficient. (Op., XI, p. 147, Jan. 19, 1865, Speed.)

An officer absent from his command, for the purpose of attending to his private affairs, is not entitled to share in prizes captured during his absence. Although he may have attended to a certain piece of business while absent, or by the orders of a superior of the command, not having been detailed for that business and it not appearing that the detail of an officer from the fleet to attend to it was necessary, he is not entitled to share. (Op., XI, p. 327, Aug. 24, 1865, Speed. Temple's case.)

Note 2.—An act of June 8, 1874, chap. 256, v. 18, p. 63, provided that paragraphs 2 and 3 should apply to officers serving as commanders of divisions and fleet captains from April, 1861, and that their shares should be paid in the same manner as provided for division commanders in said paragraphs—the payments to be made out of the naval pension fund.

Note 3.—Prize money to Wyoming and Takiang: An act approved February 22, 1883, chap. 51, vol. 22, p. 421, provides for payment by the Secretary of the Treasury of $140,000 to the officers and crew, or their legal representatives, of the Wyoming and Takiang (latter named from the Jamestown) for destruction of hostile vessels in the Straits of Simonoseki, etc., in 1863, to be distributed in the same manner as prize money.

servant at the time of such capture; and in such case he shall share, in proportion to his pay, with the other officers and men on board such vessel.

Fourth. To the commander of a single vessel, one-tenth part of all the prize-money awarded to the vessel under his command, if such vessel at the time of the capture was under the command of the commanding officer of a fleet or squadron, or a division, and three-twentieths if his vessel was acting independently of such superior officer.

Fifth. After the foregoing deductions, the residue shall be distributed and proportioned among all others doing duty on board, including the fleet-captain, and borne upon the books of the ship, in proportion to their respective rates of pay in the service.

SEC. 4632. All vessels of the Navy within signal-distance of the vessel or vessels making the capture, under such circumstances and in such condition as to be able to render effective aid, if required, shall share in the prize; and in case of vessels not of the Navy, none shall be entitled to share except the vessel or vessels making the capture; in which term shall be included vessels present at and rendering actual assistance in the capture.

SEC. 4633. No commanding officer of a fleet or squadron shall be entitled to receive any share of prizes captured by any vessel or vessels, not under his command, nor of such prizes as may have been captured by any vessels intended to be placed under his command, before they have acted under his orders. Nor shall the commanding officer of a fleet or squadron, leaving the station where he had command, have any share in the prizes taken by ships left on such station after he has gone out of the limits of his command, nor after he has transferred his command to his successor. No officer or other person who shall have been temporarily absent on duty from a vessel on the books of which he continued to be borne, while so absent, shall be deprived, in consequence of such absence, of any prize money to which he would otherwise be entitled. And he shall continue to share in the captures of the vessels to which he is attached, until regularly discharged therefrom.

Ibid., s. 9.

Note 4.—A commander of a squadron is not entitled to share in prizes taken by a vessel thereof, after he had transferred the command to his successor, although the captures were made in pursuance of instructions issued by him before the transfer. (Op., X, p. 9, Mar. 4, 1864, Bates. Wilkes's claim.)

A flag-officer of a squadron is not entitled to the share of prize money accruing to the captain of his flag-ship from captures made by that ship while her captain was detached on account of illness, and the flag-officer was de facto in command of her. The usage of the naval service gave the command of the ship to the officer next in rank to the detached commander. If there was a commander of the capturing vessel in law or fact, within the terms of the statute of distribution, at the time the capture was made, he is entitled to the commander's share; if there was no such, then that share is part of the common fund, in which all concerned have a proportional right. (Idem.)

A vessel which arrives within the limits of a command to which it is to be attached, and the commander thereof reports by letter to the commander in chief for further instructions, which are given but not received until after certain captures have been made, was within the "immediate command" of the commanding officer of the fleet, who is entitled to share. as early a stage of the cause as possible, order testimony to be taken tending to show what part should be awarded to the captors, and what vessels are entitled to share; and such testimony may be sworn to before any judge or commissioner of the courts of the United States, consul or commercial agent of the United States, or notary public, or any officer of the Navy highest in rank, reasonably accessible to the deponent. The court shall make a decree of distribution, determining what vessels are entitled to share in the prize, and whether the prize was of superior, equal, or inferior force to the vessel or vessels making the capture. The decree shall recite the amount of the gross proceeds of the prize subject to the order of the court, and the amount deducted therefrom for costs and expenses, and the amount remaining for distribution, and whether the whole of such residue is to go to the captors, or one-half to the captors and one-half to the United States.

Bounty for person on board vessels sunk or destroyed.

Ibid., s. 11, p. 310.

SEC. 4635. A bounty shall be paid by the United States for each person on board any ship or vessel of war belonging to an enemy at the commencement of an engagement, which is sunk or otherwise destroyed in such engagement by any ship or vessel belonging to the United States or which it may be necessary to destroy in consequence of injuries sustained in action, of one hundred dollars, if the enemy's vessel was of inferior force, and of two hundred dollars, if of equal or superior force, to be divided among the officers and crew in the same manner as prize-money; and when the actual number of men on board any such vessel cannot be satisfactorily ascertained, it shall be estimated according to the complement allowed to vessels of its class in the Navy of the United States; and there shall be paid as bounty to the captors of any vessel of war captured from an enemy, which they may be instructed to destroy, or which is immediately destroyed for the public interest, but not in consequence of injuries received in action, fifty dollars for every person who shall be on board at the time of such capture.

Costs and expenses.

Ibid., s. 14.

SEC. 4639. All costs and all expenses incident to the bringing in, custody, preservation, insurance, sale, or other disposal of prize-property, when allowed by the court, shall be charged upon such property, and shall be paid from the proceeds thereof, unless the court shall decree restitution free from such charge.

Payment of expenses from prize fund.

Ibid.

SEC. 4640. No payment shall be made for any prize-fund, except upon the order of the court. All charges for work and labor, materials furnished, or money paid, shall be supported by affidavit or vouchers. The court may, at any time, order the payment, from the deposit made with the assistant treasurer in the cause, of any costs or charges accrued and allowed. When the cause is finally disposed of, the court shall make its order or orders on the assistant treasurer to pay the costs and charges allowed and unpaid; and in case the final decree shall be for restitution, or in case there shall be no money subject to the order of the court in the cause, any cost or charges allowed by the court, and not paid by the claimants, shall be a charge upon, and be paid out of, the fund for defraying the expenses of suits in which the United States is a party or interested.

SEC. 4641. The net amount decreed for distribution to the United States, or to vessels of the Navy, shall be ordered by the court to be paid into the Treasury of the United States, to be distributed according to the decree of the court. The Treasury Department shall credit the Navy Department with each amount received to be distributed to vessels of the Navy; and the persons entitled to share therein shall be severally credited in their accounts with the Navy Department with the amounts to which they are respectively entitled. In case of vessels not of the Navy, and not controlled by any Department of the Government, the distribution shall be made by the court to the several parties entitled thereto, and the amounts decreed to them shall be divided between the owners and the ship's company, according to any written agreement between them, and in the absence of such agreement, one-half to the owners and one-half to the ship's company, according to their respective rates of pay on board; and the court may appoint a commissioner to make such distribution, subject to the control of the court, who shall make due return of his doings, with proof of actual payments by him, and who shall receive no other compensation, directly or indirectly, than such as shall be allowed him by the court. In case of vessels not of the Navy, but controlled by either Executive Department, the whole amount decreed to the captors shall be divided among the ship's company.

Recaptures.
Ibid., s. 29, p.
314.
See note 5.

Note 5.—Salvage is the compensation allowed to persons by whose voluntary assistance a ship at sea or her cargo or both have been saved in whole or in part from impending sea peril, or in recovering such property from actual peril or loss, as in cases of shipwreck, derelict, or recapture. Three elements are necessary to a valid salvage claim: 1. A marine peril; 2. Service voluntarily rendered when not required as an existing duty or from a special contract; 3. Success in whole or in part, or that the service rendered contributed to such success. Proof of success, to some extent, is as essential as proof of service; for if the property is not saved, or if it perishes, or in case of capture, if it is not retaken, no compensation will be allowed. Compensation as salvage is not viewed by the admiralty courts merely as pay on the principle of quantum meruit, or as a remuneration pro opere et labore, but as a reward given for perilous services voluntarily rendered, and as an inducement to mariners to embark in such dangerous enterprises to save life and property. (Voluntary sailors, if not successful, are entitled to nothing. When engaged to go out to the assistance of a vessel in distress they are to be paid according to their efforts, even though the labor and service may not prove beneficial to the vessel or cargo. The Undaunted, 1 Lush, 90.) (Otto, S. C., 101, p. 384, case of the Sabine.)

To constitute a maritime derelict the property at sea must not only be abandoned, but the abandonment must be without hope of recovery. (2 Kent's Com., 357, and cases cited.) And when such derelicts are found they are to be held, by the general rule of civilized countries, perquisites or droits of the admiralty, subject to be reclaimed by the owner, but without any other claim on the part of the finder than to his reasonable salvage remuneration cases cited.) What constitutes a reasonable recapture, by any competent authority, the court shall award a meet and competent sum as salvage, according to the circumstances of each case. If the captured property belonged to the United States, it shall be restored to the United States, and there shall be paid from the Treasury of the United States the salvage, costs, and expenses ordered by the court. If the recaptured property belonged to persons residing within or under the protection of the United States, the court shall adjudge the property to be restored to its owners, upon their claim, on the payment of such sum as the court may award as salvage, costs, and expenses. If the recaptured property belonged to any person permanently resident within the territory and under the protection of any foreign prince, government, or state in amity with the United States, and by the law or usage of such prince, government, or state, the property of a citizen of the United States would be restored under like circumstances of recapture, it shall be adjudged to be restored to such owner, upon his claim, upon such terms as by the law or usage of such prince, government, or state would be required of a citizen of the United States under like circumstances of recapture; or when no such law or usage shall be known, it shall be adjudged to be restored upon the payment of such salvage, costs, and expenses as the court shall order. The whole amount awarded as salvage shall be decreed to the captors, and no part to the United States, and shall be distributed as in the case of proceeds of property condemned as prize. Nothing in this Title shall be construed to contravene any treaty of the United States.

salvage remuneration is, of course, a question for judicial determination in each case. (Op., XI, p. 2, Nov. 20, 1863, Bates.)

Officers and crews of public ships of the United States are not entitled to salvage, civil or military, as of complete legal right. It is against public policy. Wirt (Op., July 22, 1824) said, "it was not demandable in the case of preservation of property of the United States, because the officers and crew have done no more than their duty." Attorney-General Johnson advised that it was allowable in a case of portable foreign property (Op., 20 June, 1849). The Supreme Court allowed it in the case of the Anistad (XV Peters, 518). The Secretary has the power to forbid the demand of it by any public ship under his orders. (Op., VII, p. 756, Cushing, July 8, 1856.)

Where a vessel at sea is in imminent danger, and a part of either vessel or cargo is voluntarily sacrificed to save the rest, and the sacrifice is successful, the portion saved must contribute pro rata to make the loss good. The direct and immediate consequences of involuntary stranding not subjects of general average; after stranding, to avert peril surrounding vessel and cargo, owners of cargo to contribute by way of general average proportion of expenses voluntarily incurred and sacrifices voluntarily made. Injury to vessel in act of stranding not a subject of general average. (Op., IX, p. 447, July 19, 1860, Black.)

Where a vessel put into a harbor "in a furious storm," leaking, was run ashore and wrecked through no fault or misconduct on the part of the master and crew, the owners are under no legal obligation to remove the wreck, although it may be a serious obstruction to navigation. (Op., XV, p. 71. See also p. 285, as to the authority of the Government as to the removal of wrecks which are obstructions.)

The word "wrecked," as used in section 4136 Revised Statutes (concerning the registering of vessels) is applicable to a vessel which is disabled and rendered unfit for navigation, whether by the wind, waves, stranding, fire, explosion of boilers, or other casualty. (Op., XV, p. 402, Dec. 5, 1877.)

The officers and crew of a vessel in the naval marine of the United States are entitled to salvage for saving a French ship, the objection that Government vessels are not thus entitled being invalid. The rule is universal in the United States, that salvage rendered by the naval marine is to be compensated, in like manner as that rendered by the private marine. (Op., V, p. 116, June 20, 1849, Johnson. See also Op., XII, p. 289, on the subject.)

It is well settled that where a vessel is voluntarily run ashore to prevent a total loss of vessel and cargo, but is afterwards recovered so as to be able to perform her voyage, the loss resulting from the stranding is to be made good by general average contribution. The contribution applies to the Government as well as to individuals. (C. C., XV, p. 392.)

Review of laws relating to public health.

Note 1.—Provisions relating to the public health appear in R. S., title 58, secs. 4792-4800. As to State quarantine laws, see 118 U. S., 455. 1878, April 29, ch. 66 (1 Supp. R. S., 157, and 20 Stat. L., 37), provides regulations to prevent the introduction of contagious or infectious diseases into the United States. Secs. 2, 3, 4 of that act are expressly repealed by 1879, June 2, ch. 11, s. 9 (21 Stat. L., 7), and were for that reason omitted from the first volume of the Supplement.

The Attorney-General, however, in an opinion dated September 1, 1892, holds that the expiration of the latter act by the limitation of its own sec. 10 has the effect of reviving the repealed sections of the act of 1878, notwithstanding the provisions of R. S., sec. 12. The act of 1878 is therefore here given in full:

Apr. 29, 1878.

AN ACT to prevent the introduction of contagious or infectious diseases into the United States.

20 Stat. L., 37. Vessels from infected ports entering United States, subject to State quarantine laws and regulations.

Be it enacted, dc., That no vessel or vehicle coming from any foreign port or country where any contagious or infectious disease may exist, and no vessel or vehicle conveying any person or persons, merchandise or animals, affected with any infectious or contagious disease, shall enter any port of the United States or pass the boundary line between the United States and any foreign country, contrary to the quarantine laws of any one of said United States, into or through the jurisdiction of which said vessel or vehicle may pass, or to which it is destined, or except in the manner and subject to the regulations to be prescribed as hereinafter provided.

Consuls to report vessels leaving infected ports.

SEC. 2. That whenever any infectious or contagious disease shall appear in any foreign port or country, and whenever any vessel shall leave any infected foreign port, or, having on board goods or passengers coming from any place or district infected with cholera or yellow fever, shall leave any foreign port, bound for any port in the United States, the consular officer, or other representative of the United States at or nearest such foreign port shall immediately give information thereof to the Super- vising Surgeon-General of the Marine Hospital Service, and shall report to him the name, the date of departure, and the port of destination of such vessel; and shall also make the same report to the health officer of the port of destination in the United States, and the consular officers of the United States shall make weekly reports to him of the sanitary condition of the ports at which they are respectively stationed;

Surgeon-General of Marine-Hospital Service to execute act.

and the said Surgeon-General of the Marine-Hospital Service shall, under the direction of the Secretary of the Treasury, be charged with the execution of the provisions of this act, and shall frame all needful rules and regulations for that purpose, which rules and regulations, shall be subject to the approval of the President, but such rules and regulations shall not conflict with or impair any sanitary or quaranand to this end the consular officer of the United States at such ports and places as shall be designated by the Secretary of the Treasury shall make to the Secretary of the Treasury weekly reports of the sanitary condition of the ports and places at which they are respectively stationed, according to such forms as the Secretary of the Treasury shall prescribe;

Sanitary reports to be made by consuls.

and the Secretary of the Treasury shall also obtain, through all sources accessible, including State and municipal sanitary authorities throughout the United States, weekly reports of the sanitary condition of ports and places within the United States, and shall prepare, publish, and transmit to collectors of customs and to State and municipal health officers and other sanitarians weekly abstracts and shall make an annual report of his operations to Congress, with such recommendations as he may deem important to the public interest.

Rules to secure sanitary conditions of vessels, etc.

SEC. 5. That the Secretary of the Treasury shall from time to time issue to the consular officers of the United States and to the medical officers serving at any foreign port, and otherwise make publicly known, the rules and regulations made by him, to be used and complied with by vessels in foreign ports, for securing the best sanitary conditions of such vessels, their cargoes, passengers, and crew, before their departure for any port in the United States, and in the course of the voyage;

Inspection, etc., on arrival.

and all such other rules and regulations as shall be observed in the inspection of the same on the arrival thereof at any quarantine station at the port of destination, and for the disinfection and isolation of the same, and the treatment of cargo and persons on board, so as to prevent the introduction of cholera, yellow fever, or other contagious or infectious diseases;

Vessels to enter only upon health officer's certificate.

and it shall not be lawful for any vessel to enter said port to discharge its cargo, or land its passengers, except upon a certificate of the health officer at such quarantine station certifying that said rules and regulations have in all respects been observed and complied with, as well on his part as on the part of the said vessel and its master, in respect to the same and to its cargo, passengers, and crew;

Master to deliver papers to customs officer.

and the master of every such vessel shall produce and deliver to the collector of customs at said port of entry, together with the other papers of the vessel, the said bills of health required to be obtained at the port of departure and the certificate herein required to be obtained from the health officer at the port of entry;

Bills of health, force and effect.

and that the bills of health herein prescribed shall be considered as part of the ship's papers, and when duly certified to by the proper consular or other officer of the United States, over his official signature and seal, shall be accepted as evidence of the statements therein contained in any court of the United States.

Infected vessels to be sent to nearest quarantine station.

SEC. 6. That on the arrival of an infected vessel at any port not provided with proper facilities for treatment of the same, the Secretary of the Treasury may remand said vessel, at its own expense, to the nearest national or other quarantine station, where accommodations and appliances are provided for the necessary disinfection and treatment of the vessel, passengers, and cargo; and after treatment of any infected vessel at a national quarantine station, and after certificate shall have been given by the United States quarantine officer at said station that the vessel, cargo, and passengers are each and all free from infectious disease, or danger of conveying the same, said vessel shall be admitted to entry to any port of the United States named within the certificate.

Certificate after treatment.

But at any ports where sufficient quarantine provision has been made by State or local authorities the Secretary of the Treasury may direct vessels bound for said ports to undergo quarantine at said State or local station.

Local quarantine.

SEC. 7. That whenever it shall be shown to the satisfaction of the President that by reason of the existence of cholera or other infectious or contagious diseases in a foreign country there is serious danger of the introduction of the same into the United States, and that notwithstanding the quarantine defense this danger is so increased by the introduction of persons or property from such country that a suspension of the right to introduce the same is demanded in the interest of the public health, the President shall have power to prohibit, in whole or in part, the introduction of persons and property from such countries or places as he shall designate and for such period of time as he may deem necessary.

Immigration may be suspended during existence of contagious diseases.

SEC. 8. That whenever the proper authorities of a State shall surrender to the United States the use of the buildings and disinfecting apparatus at a State quarantine station, the Secretary of the Treasury shall be authorized to receive them and to pay a reasonable compensation to the State for their use, if, in his opinion, they are necessary to the United States.

Compensation for use of State buildings, etc.

SEC. 9. That the act entitled "An act to prevent the introduction of infectious or contagious diseases into the United States, and to establish a national board of health," approved March third, eighteen hundred and seventy nine, be, and the same is hereby, repealed.

National Board of Health abolished.

Repeal of 1879, Mar. 3, ch. 202 (1 Supp. R. S., 261).

And the Secretary of the Treasury is directed to obtain possession of any property, furniture, books, paper, or records belonging to the United States which are not in the possession of an officer of the United States under the Treasury Department which were formerly in the use of the National Board of Health or any officer or employee thereof.

Revenue-cutter officers serving as part of the Navy.

SEC. 1492. The officers of the revenue-cutter service when serving, in accordance with law, as a part of the Navy, shall be entitled to relative rank, as follows: Captains, with and next after lieutenants commanding in the Navy;

Note 3.—Under section 4751, the Secretary of the Navy has power to mitigate any fine, penalty, or forfeiture incurred under the provisions of the sections designated therein; and this power may be exercised by him as well where the proceedings, civil or criminal, have not been instituted with his knowledge and by his direction as where they have been thus instituted. (Op., XV, 436, Devens, Jan. 23, 1878.)
Live-oak timber cut, in violation of law, for the purposes of transportation, is not subject to forfeiture, so as to give informers a right to a distributive portion of it, such timber being all the while, in law, the property of the United States. The act of March 2, 1831, makes no provision for the forfeiture of timber. (Op., IV, 247, Nelson, Sept. 2, 1843.)
The moneys referred to in the act of April 30, 1878, chap. 76, are that part of the penalty which is payable to the Secretary of the Navy, under sec. 4751, Pension Funds, (Op., July 19, 1883. Phillips.)

See title "Rank and precedence," sec. 1492.

SEC. 2749. The officers for each revenue-vessel shall be one captain, and one first, one second, and one third lieutenant, and for each steam-vessel, in addition, one engineer and one assistant engineer; but the Secretary of the Treasury may assign to any vessel a greater number of officers whenever in his opinion the nature of the service which she is directed to perform requires it. And vessels of both descriptions shall have such number of petty officers and men as in the opinion of the Secretary are required to make them efficient for their service.

cations with the hold of any vessel, and shall remain on board such vessels until they arrive at the port or place of their destination.

Hereafter upon the occurring of a vacancy in the grade of third lieutenant in the Revenue Marine Service, the Secretary of the Treasury may appoint a cadet, not less than eighteen nor more than twenty-five years of age, with rank next below that of third lieutenant, whose pay shall be three-fourths that of a third lieutenant, and who shall not be appointed to a higher grade until he shall have served a satisfactory probationary term of two years, and passed the examination required by the regulations of said service; and upon the promotion of such cadet another may be appointed in his stead; but the whole number of third lieutenants and cadets shall at no time exceed the number of third lieutenants now authorized by law.

That on and after the passage of this Act the pay of cadets in the Revenue-Cutter Service shall be five hundred dollars per annum and one ration per day, in lieu of the rates at present authorized by law, chapter two hundred and forty-six, paragraph four, Act July thirty-first, eighteen hundred and seventy-six; * * *

[Par. 4.] That the President of the United States is hereby authorized to convene a board, to be composed of three surgeons of the Marine-Hospital Service, to examine and report upon all officers now in the Revenue-Cutter Service who, through no vicious habits of their own, are now incapacitated by reason of the infirmities of age or physical or mental disability to efficiently perform the duties of their respective offices.

And such officers as, under the terms of this Act, may be reported by said board to be so permanently incapacitated shall be placed on waiting orders out of the line of promotion, with one-half active duty pay, and the vacancies thereby created in the active list of the officers shall be filled by promotion in the order of seniority; as now provided by law:

Provided, however, That no such promotion shall be made until the professional qualifications of the candidate shall have been determined by written examination before a board of officers of the Revenue-Cutter Service convened by the Secretary of the Treasury for that purpose:

Provided further, That the number of officers upon the active list now authorized by law shall not be increased by this Act. * * *

Ibid.

SEC. 5558. The proceeds of all vessels, their tackle, apparel, and furniture, and the goods and effects on board of them, which are so seized, prosecuted, and condemned, shall be divided equally between the United States and the officers and men who seize, take, or bring the same into port for condemnation, whether such seizure be made by an armed vessel of the United States or revenue cutter thereof; and the same shall be distributed as is provided by law for the distribution of prizes taken from an enemy.

Disposal of persons found on board seized vessels.

Mar. 3, 1819, s. 1, v. 3, p. 532.

SEC. 5559. The officers and men, to be entitled to one-half of the proceeds mentioned in the last section, shall safely keep every negro, mulatto, or person of color, found on board of any vessel so seized, taken, or brought into port, for condemnation, and shall deliver every such negro, mulatto, or person of color, to the marshal of the district into which he may be brought, if into a port of the United States, or if elsewhere, to such person as may be lawfully appointed by the President, in the manner directed by law; transmitting to the President, as soon as may be after such delivery, a descriptive list of such negroes, mulattoes, or persons of color, in order that he may give directions for the disposal of them.

Apprehension of officers and crew.

Ibid., and May 10, 1800, s. 4, v. 2, p. 71.

SEC. 5560. The commanders of such commissioned vessels shall cause to be apprehended, and taken into custody, every person found on board of such offending vessel, so seized and taken, being of the officers or crew thereof, and him convey, as soon as conveniently may be, to the civil authority of the United States, to be proceeded against in due course of law.

of civil rights.

Apr. 20, 1871, s.
3, v. 17, p. 14.

SEC. 5299. Whenever insurrection, domestic violence, unlawful combinations, or conspiracies in any State so obstructs or hinders the execution of the laws thereof, and of the United States, as to deprive any portion or class of the people of such State of any of the rights, privileges, or immunities, or protection, named in the Constitution and secured by the laws for the protection of such rights, privileges, or immunities, and the constituted authorities of such State are unable to protect, or, from any cause, fail in or refuse protection of the people in such rights, such facts shall be deemed a denial by such State of the equal protection of the laws to which they are entitled under the Constitution of the United States; and in all such cases, or whenever any such insurrection, violence, unlawful combination, or conspiracy, opposes or obstructs the laws of the United States, or the due execution thereof, or impedes or obstructs the due course of justice under the same, it shall be lawful for the President, and it shall be his duty, to take such measures, by the employment of the militia or the land and naval forces of the United States, or of either, or by other means, as he may deem necessary, for the suppression of such insurrection, domestic violence, or combinations.

Proclamation to insurgents to disperse.

Act of Aug. 14, Absence from command, enlisted men of Navy and Marine 1888; 19 A. G. Corps. The phrase, "by reason of absence from his com-Op., 221. mand at the time he became entitled to his discharge," as used in the first section of the act cited, is to be regarded as equally applicable to the date when the term of enlistment of the applicant expired, and to the date when he would have received his discharge along with other enlisted men with whom he served, had he been present.

The proviso in the third section of the act cited is applicable to the latter section alone.

50th Cong. under (a).

Absence on pay.—The section of the act cited inhibits the heads of Departments and the Executive from granting leave of absence to Department clerks with pay and without charging the time against the period of absence allowed annually by law, in every case except that of the sickness of the clerk concerned.

22 Stat. L., 564; act Mar. 3, 1883, ch. 128, s. 4; 20 A. G. Op., 303, Miller, Jan. 26, 1892.

Chisholm v. U. S., decided Jan. 11, 1892, by Court of Claims.

(a) Prohibited.—The appropriation act cited under (a) prohibits any further leave of absence on pay when the employee has before July 1, 1893, been absent for a longer period than ninety days during the calendar year 1893.

(a) Act. Mar. 3, 1893, ch. 211, s. 5; 20 A. G. Op., 607; Olney, June 2, 1893; also 20 A. G. Op., 670, Olney, Oct. 12, 1893.

Active list, of the Navy, etc.—That the active list of the Medical Corps of the Navy shall hereafter consist of fifteen medical directors, fifteen medical inspectors, fifty surgeons, and ninety assistant and passed assistant surgeons.

22 Stat. L., 285, act Aug. 5, 1882.

That the active list of the Pay Corps of the Navy shall hereafter consist of thirteen pay directors, thirteen pay inspectors, forty paymasters, twenty passed assistant paymasters, and ten assistant paymasters.

That the active list of the Engineer Corps of the Navy shall hereafter consist of ten chief engineers with the relative rank of captain, fifteen chief engineers with the relative rank of commander, forty-five chief engineers with the relative rank of lieutenant-commander or lieutenant, sixty passed assistant engineers, and forty assistant engineers, with the relative rank for each as now fixed by law; and after the number of officers in the said grades shall be reduced as above provided, the number in each grade shall not exceed the reduced number which is fixed by the provisions of this act for the several grades.

Reduction of officers not to reduce rank.—That no officer now in the service shall be reduced in rank or deprived of his commission by reason of any provision of this act reducing the number of officers in the several staff corps: Provided, That no further appointments of cadet engineers shall be made by the Secretary of the Navy under section three of the act of eighteen hundred and seventy-four [by which such appointments shall not exceed twenty-five each year].

Act of 1874, s. 3.

Vacancies in grades.—That as vacancies shall occur in any of the grades of the Medical, Pay, and Engineer corps of the Navy no promotion shall be made to fill the same until the number in said grade shall be reduced below the number which is fixed by the provisions of this act for such grade.

Half of vacancies, how filled.—Hereafter only one-half of the vacancies in the various grades in the line of the Navy shall be filled by promotion until such grades shall be reduced to the following numbers, namely: Rear-admirals, six; commodores, ten; captains, forty-five; commanders, eighty-five; lieutenant-commanders, seventy-four; lieutenants, two hundred and fifty; masters, seventy-five; ensigns, seventy-five; and thereafter promotions to all vacancies shall be made, but not to increase either of said grades above the numbers aforesaid.

Rank and pay of officers on retired list.—Hereafter there shall be no promotion or increase of pay in the retired list of the Navy, but the rank and pay of officers on the retired list shall be the same that they are when such officers shall be retired.

Discharged with not more than one year's pay.—That whenever, on an inquiry had pursuant to law, concerning the fitness of an officer of the Navy for promotion, it shall appear that such officer is unfit to perform at sea the duties of the place to which it is proposed to promote him, by reason of drunkenness, or from any cause arising from his own misconduct, and having been informed of and heard upon the charges against him, he shall not be placed on the retired list of the Navy, and if the finding of the board be approved by the President, he shall be discharged with not more than one year's pay.

Traveling abroad.—And officers of the Navy traveling abroad under orders hereafter issued shall travel by the most direct route, the occasion and necessity for such order to be certified by the officer issuing the same, and shall receive in lieu of the mileage now allowed by law only their actual and reasonable expenses, certified under their own signatures and approved by the Secretary of the Navy.

Benefits of actual service, whether as regular or volunteer.—And all officers of the Navy shall be credited with the actual time they may have served as officers or enlisted men in the Regular or Volunteer Army or Navy, or both, and shall receive all the benefits of such actual service in all respects in the same manner as if all said service had been continuous and in the Regular Navy: Provided, That nothing in this clause shall be so construed as to authorize any change in the dates of commission or in the relative rank of such officers.

Insufficiency of appropriation for pay of officers, how made up.—And should the sums appropriated for the pay of the officers on the active and retired lists of the Navy be insufficient, then and in that case the Secretary of the Navy is hereby authorized to use any and all balances which may be due or become due to "pay of the Navy" from the other bureaus of the Department for that purpose.

(a) 22 Stat. L., 472. See "Naval cadets," p. —.

(a) Title midshipman changed to ensign.—The act of March 3, 1883, provides for ninety-one midshipmen, the title of which grade is hereby changed to ensign, and the midshipmen now on the list shall constitute a junior grade of, and be commissioned as, ensigns, having the same rank and pay as now provided by law for midshipmen, etc.

Rev. Stat., s. 1362; 16 A.G. Op., p. 417; Wood v. U.S., 15 C. Cls. R., 151; cf. Rutherford v. U. S., 18 C. Cls. R., 339; McClure v. U. S., id., 347.

Admiral, in section 1362, Revised Statutes, edition 1878, expresses title, rank, and grade, as also does vice-admiral.

Advanced for gallantry, etc.—Any officer of the Navy may, by and with the advice and consent of the Senate, be advanced, not exceeding thirty numbers in rank, for eminent and conspicuous conduct in battle or extraordinary heroism. The statute cited adds: "And the rank of officers shall not be changed, except in accordance with the provisions of existing law, and by and with the advice and consent of the Senate." Rev. Stat., s. 1506; 20 Stat. L., ch. 260, p. 144; Young v. U. S., 16 C. Cls. R., 145.

Advancement in rank under this section is not one of the cases within Revised Statutes, sections 1561 and 1562, entitling the officer to pay from a date anterior to his commission.

Apothecary, rations for.—An apothecary in the Navy doing detail duty at the marine barracks is not "attached to the ordinary of a navy-yard" and is not entitled to a daily ration under this section. Rev. Stat., s. 1579; Herbert v. U.S., 21 C. Cls. R., 53.

(a) "Ordinary of a navy-yard."—"Ordinary of a navy-yard" here refers to ships laid up in ordinary at a navy-yard, and this section authorizes allowances of a ration to petty officers and seamen attached to and doing duty on ship-board, though not upon a seagoing vessel, but not to the apothecary of the Naval Academy when engaged on shore duty. (a) Button v. U.S., 20 C. Cls. R., 423.

Appointments.—Under the statute cited the vacancies in the lowest grade of commissioned officers in the Line and Marine Corps must be filled from the final graduates of the Line and Marine Corps at Annapolis; so also as to vacancies in the Engineer Corps. Vacancies in the Line and Marine Corps can not be filled from the Engineer Corps division, vice versa. Act Mar. 3, 1889, ch. 396; 20 A. G. Op., 615, Olney, June 10, 1893.

Honorably discharged sailors to be preferred for appointment to civil offices.—"Persons honorably discharged from the military or naval service by reason of disability resulting from wounds or sickness incurred in the line of duty, shall be preferred for appointments to civil offices, provided they are found to possess the business capacity necessary for the proper discharge of the duties of such offices." Rev. Stat., s. 1754; 19 A. G. Op., 318, Miller, May 24, 1889.

Duty of those making appointments to give their preference.—By the section cited it is made the duty of those making appointments to civil offices to give a preference, other things being equal, to the class of persons named in that section; but the matter of capacity and personal fitness for the place is for the determination of the appointing power.

Appointment of cadets.—A cadet, nominated to the Naval Academy upon the recommendation of a Member of the House of Representatives who, since the recommendation and nomination, has been unseated by contest of election, can not be lawfully deprived of his place if he passes his examination. 21 A. G. Op., 342, Harmon, May 7, 1896; 10 A. G. Op., 46, Bates; 10 id., 494; 21 id., 164.

(a) Notification of vacancy.—The Secretary of the Navy is not to revoke such a nomination and notify the newly seated Member that a vacancy occurs. He has no right to call for a new recommendation, except under the section cited, when the candidate fails to pass his examination. (a) Rev. Stat., s. 1514.

(b) Amended by act July 26, 1894 (2 Supp., 206); Rev. Stat., s. 1516.

(b) Recommendation for appointment.—The notice provided for by section 1514, cited, as amended, was intended to be given to the Member of Congress actually sitting, and the recommendation provided by said section was intended to be made by such Member, and action duly taken thereon should not be affected by any subsequent event, except the failure of the nominee to pass his examination.

(c) 10 A. G. Op., 46.

(c) Rights of Members of Congress.—Until a decision is made which unseats them Members of Congress whose seats are contested are considered to be in all respects endowed with the same rights, powers, and privileges as other Members.

Act Mar. 2, 1895, ch. 186; 21 A. G. Op., 164, Olney, Apr. 24, 1895.

Recommendations for appointment.—The proviso to the naval appropriation act cited, permitting and authorizing every Representative or Delegate in Congress "whose district or Territory is not now represented at the Naval Academy" to make recommendation on or before March 4, 1895, of a candidate for appointment as a cadet at the Naval Academy of the United States, was intended to apply to Members of the then existing Fifty-third Congress.

Rev. Stat., ss. 1513, 1514.

To be valid, it was essential that a recommendation should be made before 12 o'clock noon of March 4, 1895; and, in consequence, these recommendations considered in the opinion are held to be ineffective to deprive the successors in office of the signers of the recommendations of the general privileges granted to them by the sections cited.

Act Aug. 3, 1886, ch. 849; 19 A. G. Op., 235.

Armament, naval vessels.—The words "exclusive of armament," as used in the first section of the act cited, are not to be understood as excluding the offensive armament, such as guns, torpedoes, etc., only; the term "armament" comprehending, besides those articles, such shields and protections as are directly and necessarily connected with the efficient and safe working thereof.

Rev. Stat., s. 420, 593.

Arrears, officers in.—A naval officer in the service of the Government is not deprived of his right to the rations allowed by law, or the amount of money for which they may be commuted, although he is in arrears to the United States.

Rev. Stat., s. 1624; Articles for the Government of the Navy, 24, 43, 44; 19 A. G. Op., 472, Miller, Jan. 18, 1890.

Arrest, two may be made in an emergency.—Upon consideration of the articles and statute cited for the government of the Navy: Held, That there may be two arrests in an emergency, or upon discovery of the alleged wrongdoing, with a view to a preliminary examination, and, if necessary, the formulation and specification of charges.

(a) Arrest for trial.—Held, further, That article 43 in the provision declaring that "the person accused shall be furnished with a true copy of the charges, with the specifications, at the time he is put under arrest," has reference to the arrest for trial, and not the arrest in the first instance.

Rev. Stat., s. 1624; re Bogart, 2 Sawyer, 396; Green v. U. S., 9 Wall, 655. (See 'Courts-martial')

Articles for the Government of the Navy.—Congress has constitutional power to provide for punishment of offenses in the naval service by courts-martial without indictment or jury trial.

- Charges preferred by others than the Secretary.*—The restrictions of the article cited apply only to cases of charges preferred by others than the Secretary of the Navy. Art. 43; 4 A. G. Op., 410.
- Commissioned officers.*—“Commissioned officers” here include volunteer naval officers appointed under the act cited. Art. 39; 10 A. G. Op., 522; act July 24, 1861.
- (a) Noncombatants qualified to serve on courts-martial.—Chaplains, surgeons, paymasters, and other noncombatant officers, being commissioned officers with fixed rank, are qualified to act as members of a court-martial. (a) Winthrop's Mil. Law, vol. 1, p. 88.
- (b) Irregularity of court-martial.—A sentence of dismissal, imposed by an irregular court-martial, when approved and carried into effect, is a consummated fact, whether legal or not, and the officer convicted can only be restored to the service by appointment. Even if the court had no authority to exclude him under the circumstances, the irregularity could not be taken advantage of after its action is approved. (b) 7 A. G. Op., 98; 6 id., 369. See note to s. 1342.
- (c) False imprisonment, action for.—When the court-martial having jurisdiction over the subject-matter finds a seaman charged with desertion guilty of attempting to desert, an action of trespass for false imprisonment will not lie against the ministerial officer who executes its sentence. It is only where the court has no jurisdiction of the subject-matter, or, having jurisdiction, violates some rules adopted by law for its proceedings, whereby they are rendered coram non iudice, that such an action will lie. (c) D y n e s v. Hoover, 20 How., 65, 83.
- (d) Depositions objectionable.—Naval courts-martial are not empowered to dispense with the attendance of witnesses and receive depositions if the officer who preferred the charges objects. (d) 2 A. G. Op., 343.
- Corrupting a marine guard.*—The offense of corrupting a marine guard by bribery may be punished by imprisonment in the penitentiary of the District of Columbia, at hard labor, for a term of years, that punishment not being against the usages of the service. Art. 5; 10 A. G. Op., 158. See 9 id., 80.
- Courts-martial.*—Civil engineers in the Navy are subject to the jurisdiction of naval courts-martial. 15 A. G. Op., 165.
- (a) Secretary may reconvene.—The Secretary of the Navy, after a naval court-martial has returned its proceedings to him and he has adjourned it until further orders, may reconvene it to consider its proceedings. (a) Smith v. Whitney, 116 U. S., 167.
- Damages for personal ill usage to captured crew.*—A prize court may award damages for personal ill usage when captors willfully injure a captured crew. Art. 17, The Lively, 1 Gall., 315.
- Desertion, relief from.*—Provision was made by the statute cited for the relief of certain appointed or enlisted men of the Navy and Marine Corps, who served in the late war, from the charge of desertion. Art. 6, 25 Stat. L., p. 442, ch. 890.
- Discretionary power.*—“Whenever a statute gives a discretionary power to any person to be exercised by him upon his own opinion of certain facts, it is a sound rule of construction that the statute constitutes him the sole and exclusive judge of the existence of those facts.” Art. 24; Story, J., in Martin v. Mott, 12 Wheat, 31.
- (a) Obedience to duty.—“Every public officer is presumed to act in obedience to his duty, until the contrary is shown.” (a) Id.

(b) Act of Apr. 23, 1800, 2 Stat. L., 45, art. 3; Wilkes v. Dinsman, 7 How., 89.

(b) Punishment of refractory seamen.—The statute cited provides that a refractory seaman, if a private, may “be put in irons, or flogged, at the discretion of the captain, not exceeding twelve lashes; but if the offense requires severer punishment, he shall be tried by a court-martial, and suffer such punishment as said court shall inflict.” Every successive disobedience of orders was a new offense, subjecting the offender to twelve additional lashes, at the discretion of the commanding officer; his judgment was conclusive as to whether or not the offense required a severer punishment; and he could not only cause corporal punishment to be inflicted, but might resort to any reasonable measures necessary to insure obedience, and even imprison the refractory party on shore, if he did so without any malice.

(c) 12 Stat. L., p. 603; act July 17, 1862.

(c) Flogging.—The later statute cited says that “in no case shall punishment by flogging be inflicted, nor shall any court-martial adjudge punishment by flogging.”

Art. 49; U. S. v. Cutler, 1 Curtis, C. Cls. R., 501; 12 Stat. L., p. 603, forbidding flogging; 17 Stat. L., 261, word “corporal” stricken from art. 45.

Act abolishing not penal.—In the case cited it was held that the act of 1850, abolishing flogging in the Navy and in vessels of commerce, was not a penal statute on which an indictment could be founded.

(d) 5 Stat. L., 153; Dinsman v. Wilkes, 12 How., 390. See also Jecker v. Montgomery, 18 How., 110, 123, where the rule laid down in Dinsman v. Wilkes is followed.

(d) Detaining a marine after expiration of enlistment.—Under the act of March 2, 1837, authorizing the commander of a squadron to detain a marine, if in his opinion public interest required it, after the term of his enlistment had expired, the commander’s opinion on the question of public interest was conclusive, and if the marine did not conform thereto, he was subject to punishment. The commander was also the judge of the degree of severity of punishment necessary to suppress disobedience and insubordination, and he was not liable to an action for mere error in judgment, even though the jury were of the opinion that milder measures would have accomplished the object. But he was bound to exercise his best judgment and to act conscientiously and without malice.

(e) Enlisting deserters, minors, etc.—The statute cited amends sections 1418, 1419, and 1420 of the Revised Statutes by striking out the word “fifteen” and substituting the word “fourteen.” The original statute limiting the age to “sixteen” was amended by act of May 12, 1879, cited, to “fifteen,” and then as above. Both statutes cited adds the words “punished as a court-martial may direct.”

(f) Art. 22; 16 A. G. Op., 578.

(f) Jurisdiction of courts-martial.—This does not confer upon a court-martial general criminal jurisdiction, but only jurisdiction over those offenses not specified in the preceding articles, which are injurious to the order and discipline of the Navy.

16 A. G. Op., 578.

Under this article a naval general court-martial can take jurisdiction of an assault committed on board a naval vessel when she was under way in the Thames River, opposite New London, Conn., by a coal heaver in the naval service upon a second-class fireman in such service, from the effect of which the latter died, and try the accused upon a charge of manslaughter.

- (g) Loss of pay by reason of confinement or suspension.— Officers and men in the naval service do not incur any forfeiture or loss of pay by confinement or suspension from duty under sentence of a court-martial unless it is so specified in the sentence. (g) Art. 33; 15 A. G. Op., 175.
- (h) Remission of part of sentence.—A part of such sentence may be remitted in whole or in part by the proper officer. (h) Id.
- (i) Officers, meaning of.—“Officers” in the article cited means, at most, warrant and commissioned officers. (i) Art. 36. (See Notes on U. S. Statutes, p. 416, note on s. 1413); 15 A. G. Op., 634.
- (j) Petty officers.—Petty officers are included in article 30. (j) Art. 30.
- (k) Acting gunners.—Articles 36 and 37 do not apply to acting gunners, who are not officers and are liable to dismissal at the will of the Secretary of the Navy. (k) 15 A. G. Op., 564.
- (l) Cadets at Naval Academy.—The article cited does not extend to cadets at the Naval Academy, who may be dismissed from the Academy and the service without trial by court-martial. (l) Art. 36; 15 A. G. Op., 634.
- (m) Power of the President to dismiss prior to passage of article 36.—Prior to its passage the President might dismiss an officer of the Navy upon any cause which seemed sufficient to him. (m) 16 A. G. Op., 315.
- (n) Engineer cadet.—A naval cadet engineer is an officer within this section. (n) U. S. v. Perkins, 116 U. S., 433; 15 A. G. Op., 165.
- (o) Oath administered to court and judge-advocate.—Where, at the organization of a naval court-martial, each member of the court was first sworn by the judge-advocate, who was then sworn by the president of the court, the fact that the oath was not administered as required by this article was held not to invalidate the proceedings. (o) Art. 39; 13 A. G. Op., 374.
- (p) Pay of an officer dismissed and restored.—A naval officer dismissed from the service and restored to the same under the article cited is not to be allowed more than pay as on leave for six months from the date of dismissal, unless he continues to demand, as often as once in six months, a trial as here provided. This authorizes payment only from the time a promoted officer takes rank in the higher grade. (p) Art. 37; act June 22, 1874, ch. 302, s 2. 18 Stat. L., 191; Adamson v. U. S., 19 C. Cls. R., 623; Hunt v. U. S., 116 U. S., 396.
- (q) Demanding trial.—The demand of a trial as often as once in six months is not excused by illness. (q) 15 A. G. Op., 569.
- (r) Petty officers included in article cited. (r) Art. 30; 15 A. G. Op., 634.
- (s) Summary courts-martial.—The act cited, which established summary courts-martial in the Navy, did not take away the previously existing power of the commander of a vessel to reduce seamen to inferior rate for incompetency. (s) Act Mar. 2, 1855; 10 A. G. Op., 168.
- (t) Reconsideration of judgment of a court-martial.—If the approval of the President is required to the sentence of a court-martial before it can be carried into effect, he may direct a reconsideration of the judgment rendered. (t) Art. 53; 4 A. G. Op., 19.
- (u) Acting master's mates, sentence affecting.—An acting master's mate is neither a commissioned nor a warrant officer under this article, and a sentence dismissing him from the service may be lawfully carried into execution without the approval of the President or the Secretary of (u) A. G. Op., 251.

the Navy. If the latter approve it, the President has no power after it has been carried into execution to set aside the Secretary's order and restore the party to the service.

(v) A. G. Op., 508. (v) Approval of sentence by the Secretary under act of 1852.—Under the article of war in force in 1852 the Secretary of the Navy has power to approve the sentence of a court-martial convened by his orders if such sentence did not extend to the loss of life or to the dismissal of a commissioned or warrant officer.

(v) 10 A. G. Op., 168; Ex parte Reed, 100 U. S., 13; U. S. v. Bogart, 3 Ben., 257. (v) Regulations established by the Secretary have force of law.—The regulations established by the Secretary of the Navy, with the President's approval, have the force of law, and the regularly appointed clerk of a paymaster in the Navy is a person in the naval service and subject to this section.

(x) Art. 50; A. G. Op., 338. (x) Revise sentence.—If a general court-martial, on being ordered to reassemble by the Secretary of War for the purpose of revising its sentence, is not attended by all its members, its jurisdiction to revise such sentence exists.

Rev. Stat., ss. 4787, 4788, 4790, amended by act Mar. 3, 1891; 20 A. G. Op., 83; Miller, May 4, 1891. Artificial limbs.—The amendment cited having provided that soldiers and seamen wounded in the rebellion, who had been entitled to receive artificial limbs every five years, shall now receive the same every three years, and a question having arisen as to whether sections 4788 and 4790, cited, providing for a money commutation in place of said limb stood in the same relation to the amended section, 4787, as to the original section and whether now such money commutation can be had every three years, it is decided that it can be had.

(a) Act July 17, 1870; 20 A. G. Op., 83. (a) Period from which the three years run.—The word "thereafter," now appearing in section 4787, cited, refers not to July 17, 1870, but to the time when the artificial limb shall have been furnished after that date; consequently the periods of three years run from the time when such limb was furnished, and not from July 17, 1870.

Act Mar. 3, 1883; Stat. L., 20, p. 254. Assistant Secretary of the Navy.—The statute cited repeals the provision of August 5, 1882, authorizing the appointment of an Assistant Secretary of the Navy. A new act of July 11, 1890, chapter 667, page 254, authorizes the President, with the advice and consent of the Senate, to appoint from civil life an Assistant Secretary of the Navy, at a salary of $4,500.

24, Stat. L., 157; act July 26, 1886. Balances covered into the Treasury.—The statute cited provides that all balances of moneys appropriated for the pay of the Navy or pay of the Marine Corps for any year existing after the accounts for said year shall have been settled shall be covered into the Treasury.

21 A. G. Op., 186; Olney, June 1, 1895. (This opinion does not conflict with 20 Op., 1, distinguished) (20 Op., 728). Bids, withdrawal of.—After a bid for the construction of public works has been accepted the bidders have not the right to withdraw their proposal merely because of a mistake on their part which was not mutual and which was due to their negligence.

22 Stat. L., pp. 291, 293, 478. Board, Naval Advisory, authorization for.

Bond of disbursing officer.—The Secretary of the Navy has power under the section cited to approve a pay officer's bond in which the sureties are corporations, or a corporation joined with a natural person, if he deems such sureties sufficient. Rev. Stat., s. 1883; 19 A. G. Op., 175, Aug. 2, 1888, G. A. Jenks, acting A. G.

Books and records of bureaus, custody of.—A part of section 8 of the cited act was omitted from the revision as conferring powers exhausted by their first exercise. Rev. Stat., s. 420; act Aug. 31, 1842; 1 Com. D., 234.

Boys, enlisting same, age limit, etc. In the section cited, and in sections 1419, 1420 (21 Stat. L., chapter 5), as amended by 21 Stat. L., 331, chapter 73, changes "sixteen" to "fourteen." Rev. Stat., s. 1418; 1 Com. D., 695.

(a) Marine Corps, part of the Navy.—Marine Corps is a part of the Navy, not of the Army, and that minors over eighteen years may be enlisted therein without the consent of parents or guardians was upheld by the Federal courts. (a) In re Doyle, 18 F. R., 369; cf. U. S. v. Bainbridge, 1 Mason, 71; Wilkes v. Dinsmore, 7 Howard, 89; Re Hayes, 15 Rep., 259; Re McNulty, 2 Lowell, 270; U. S. v. Stewart, Crabbe, 265; Re Gregg, 15 Wis., 479; Re Shugru, 3 Mackey, 323; Re Webb, 24 Howard, Pr. (N. Y.), 3247; Re Collins, 25 id., 157.

(b) Parents' consent.—The parents' consent might be given after enlistment. (b) Act of Jan. 20, 1813; Commonwealth v. Camac, 1 Serg. & R., 87.

(c) Allowed a ration.—Boys attached to any United States vessel or station and doing duty thereon shall be allowed a ration, or commutation thereof in money, etc. (c) 23 Stat. L., 291; act Jan. 30, 1885.

Buildings rented.—The statute cited requires heads of Departments to submit to Congress each year a statement of the number of buildings rented by their respective departments, the purposes for which rented, and the annual rental of each. 22 St., 552.

Bureau officers, assistant chief.—A naval officer assigned to duty as an assistant to the chief of a bureau in the Navy Department is not authorized by the first section, cited, in case of the death, resignation, absence, or sickness of the latter (where the President has not otherwise directed, as provided by section 179, cited), to perform the duties of such chief until his successor is appointed or until his sickness or absence shall cease. Rev. Stat., ss. 178, 179; 19 A. G. Op., 503, Miller, Mar. 5, 1890.

The phrase "assistant or deputy of such chief," etc., in section 178, is to be construed as including an assistant or deputy only whose appointment is specifically provided for by statute.

Cadets, age of, maximum and minimum.—That after the fourth day of March, eighteen hundred and eighty-nine, the minimum age of admission of cadets to the Academy shall be fifteen years and the maximum age twenty years. (March 3, 1889.) Supplement, vol. 1, p. 697. (25 Stats. 1, 878.)

Cadets, at the Naval Academy have neither warrants nor commissions, and are not "officers" in the usual Federal legislative sense, as, for example, as it is employed in section 1410, Revised Statutes. Rev. Stat., s. 1410; 15 A. G. Op., 561, 635; Grambs's Case, 23 C. Cls. R., 420.

(a) 23 Stat., L., 291. (a) Entitled to a ration, etc.—Naval cadets attached to any United States vessel or station and doing duty thereon shall be allowed a ration or commutation thereof, etc.

22 Stat. L., 285; act Aug. 5, 1882, ch. 391; 18 A. G. Op., 373, Garland, Mar. 3, 1886. Cadet engineers.—The cadet engineers in the Navy (graduates of the class of 1881 and 1882), who were discharged under a misconstruction of the act of August 5, 1882, chapter 391, not having been legally removed, are still the lawful incumbents of their respective offices, and should be recognized as in the immediate line of promotion, in their proper order, to fill the vacancies that may occur in the office of assistant engineers.

(a) Leopold v. U. S., 18 C. Cls. R., 54c. (a) Not retroactive.—The court held in the case cited that the statute cited “is prospective and not retroactive.”

(b) Rev. Stat., s. 1823; 13 Stat. L., 191; act June 22, 1874, ch. 392. (b) Appointed annually.—The act of June 22, 1874, repeals so much of this provision as provides that cadet engineers, not to exceed fifty in number, shall be appointed by the Secretary of the Navy, and provides, repealing inconsistent acts, that “cadet engineers shall hereafter be appointed annually by the Secretary of the Navy, and the number appointed each year shall not exceed twenty-five.”

(c) Rev. Stat., s. 1524; 13 Stat. L., 17; act Feb. 24, 1874, ch. 35, s. 2. (c) Length of course.—The section of the Revised Statutes cited reads: “The course of the cadet engineers shall be four years, including two years of service on naval steamers.” The act of February 24, 1874, cited, enlarges the course of instruction. It requires that the course shall be four years instead of two.

(d) 22 Stat. L., 286, ch. 391; Redgrave v. U. S., 20 C. Cls. R., 226; Leopold v. U. S., 18, id., 546. (d) Were not made naval cadets.—Cadet engineers who finished their four years’ course, passed their examination, and received their diplomas before the statute of 1882, chapter 391, was enacted, were not made naval cadets by that act, and were entitled to the pay provided by this section.

Rev. Stat., s. 513; amended by 20 Stat. L., p. 143, ch. 260. Cadet midshipmen, number of.—The last statute cited strikes out “annually” in last line and adds the provision “that there shall not be at any time more in said Academy appointed at large than ten; but the provisions of this section shall not be construed to apply to cadet midshipmen appointed at large now in said Academy.”

(a) Rev. Stat., s. 1512; 22 Stat. L., 285. (a) Change of title of.—The act of August 5, 1882, the latter citation under “a,” changes the title of cadets from “cadet midshipmen” to “naval cadets.”

(b) 19 Stat. L., 390. (b) Pay of.—By statute of March 3, 1877, chapter 111, cadet midshipmen, when, during their course of instruction, they are at sea in other than practice ships, each receive as annual pay not exceeding $950.

Rev. Stat., s. 1395; 16 Stat. L., 536; 1 Com. D., 691. Chaplains, relative rank of, as fixed by act of March 3, 1871, chapter 117, but which accounts for only 18 in number, does not necessarily fix the limit at that. This does not seem to be the intention of the act.

Rev. Stat., s. 421; act July 5, 1862; act Mar. 3, 1871; Smith v. Whitney, 116 U. S., 179; 1 Com. D., 235. See act July 26, 1894. Chiefs of bureaus.—The cited statutes are treated in the case cited so that the President may make a given appointment either from the class indicated by the act of 1862 or from that indicated by the act of 1871, as he judges best.

(a) Tenure of office as such.—The chief of a bureau in the Navy Department can not lawfully hold over after the expiration of the term for which he was appointed. (a) Rev. Stat., s. 421; 17 A. G. Op., 648, Brewster; U. S. v. Eckford's, Executors (1 How., 250). See also 14 Op., 262, 263.

The general rule is that where Congress has not authorized the officer to hold over his incumbency must be deemed to cease at the end of his term, though no appointment of a successor may then be made.

(b) To fill vacancy.—The term of office of the chief of a bureau appointed to fill a vacancy, whose commission was limited to the end of the next session of the Senate, and who at the next session (extra) was nominated by the President for the term of four years and was confirmed at the ensuing session of the Senate, begins with his confirmation, notwithstanding language to the contrary in the nomination and confirmation. (b) 16 A. G. Op., 657.

Chief engineers, grades, promotions.—The relative rank among the chief engineers changes with their seniority in that grade, but such change may be indicated by a notification from the Secretary of the Navy. No examination or appointment or confirmation by the Secretary is necessary. Rev. Stat., ss. 1390, 1476, 1477, 1478, 1479, 1480; 20 A. G. Op., 358, Miller, Mar. 18, 1892.

Chinese.—The laws now in force in regard to Chinese immigration are as follows:

R. S., §§ 2158–2163, prohibit the “cooly” trade by citizens of the United States or in vessels of the United States, but citizens and vessels are permitted to engage in the voluntary emigration of Chinese. Review of laws relating to Chinese immigration.

By 1875, March 3, ch. 141 (1 Supp. R. S., 86), the importation of Chinese and others for immoral purposes was forbidden, the punishment for engaging in the “cooly” trade was made more severe, contracts for service in the United States were declared void, and the importation of women for prostitution was made a crime. These provisions of law do not appear to have been repealed or superseded by subsequent legislation in regard to Chinese immigration. Certain acts still in force.

The act of 1882, March 6, ch. 126 (1 Supp. R. S., 342), suspended the coming of Chinese laborers for ten years, and provided in accordance with the stipulations of the treaty of 1880, November 17 (22 Stat. L., 826), for the issuance of identification certificates to enable laborers already in the United States to go and return and for passports to other Chinese, not laborers, desiring to visit the United States. Identification certificates, passports, etc.

The provisions of the act of 1882 were made more definite and strict by the act of 1884, July 2, ch. 220 (1 Supp. R. S., 458). This includes a number of important amendments. The act of 1882, as amended by the act of 1884, is printed in 112 U. S., 543, and 118 U. S., 627, where it appears as an appendix to the opinions of the Supreme Court. Provisions of act of 1882.

The next legislation as to Chinese immigration was the act of 1888, Sept. 13, ch. 1015 (25 Stat. L., 476). Its first section provided that from the date of the exchange of the ratifications of the pending treaty between the United States and China, signed on March 12, 1888, it should be Act of 1888.

unlawful for any Chinese person to enter the United States "except as hereinafter provided." The fifteenth section of the act repealed the acts of 1882 and 1884, the repeal "to take effect upon the ratification of the pending treaty as provided in section one of this act." Before the ratifications of this treaty were exchanged the act of 1888, Oct. 1, ch. 1064 (1 Supp. R. S., 625), was passed, making void the certificates of identity already issued under the acts of 1882 and 1884. The ratifications of the treaty were never thereafter exchanged.

The act of 1888, Sept. 13, ch. 1015, was omitted from 1 Supp. R. S., but is inserted in second edition, p. 141. See note there, showing the various opinions upon the question whether any part of the act of 1888, Sept. 13, ch. 1015, went into effect.

Special provision.

A special provision for the admission of Chinese persons in connection with the World's Columbian Exposition was made in joint resolution of 1892, August 5, No. 33 (27 Stat. L., 402).

Decisions.

Numerous decisions have been made by the Federal courts upon the Chinese immigration acts. These decisions, so far as reported in the United States Reports and the Federal Reporter, are as follows:

Decisions relating to Chinese immigration.
Prior to 1888.
Supreme Court.

Chew Heong v. United States, 112 U. S., 536. Section 4 of the act of 1882, May 6, as amended by 1884, July 5, requiring a certificate of identification of a Chinese laborer as the "only evidence permissible to establish his right of reëntry," does not apply to those residing here at the date of the treaty of Nov. 17, 1880, who left before May 6, 1882, and remained until after July 5, 1884.

Reentry.

Yick Wo v. Hopkins, 118 U. S., 356. A municipal ordinance is unconstitutional if it makes arbitrary discriminations founded on differences of race. Chinese subjects residing in the United States are entitled to the protection of the Constitution and laws. This case explains Barbier v. Connolly, 113 U. S., 27, and Soon Hing v. Crowley, 113 U. S., 703, which held other municipal regulations to be valid. (See also In re Quang Woo, 13 Fed. Rep., 229.)

Chinese entitled to protection.

United States v. Jung Ah Lung, 124 U. S., 621. A Chinese laborer, who had received a certificate of identity under the act of May 6, 1882, left the country, Oct. 24, 1882. He lost the certificate, and on arriving in Sept., 1885, was detained in port by direction of the customs authorities. On a writ of habeas corpus, his identity was established and he was discharged from custody by the district court. The Supreme Court held that his case was to be governed by the act of 1882, and not by the act of 1884. The judgment of the circuit court, affirming the district court (25 Fed. Rep., 141), was affirmed.

Effect of losing certificate of identity.

In re Ah Sing, 13 Fed. Rep., 286; In re Ah Tie, 13 Fed. Rep., 291 (Cir. C., Cal.). A Chinese laborer employed on an American vessel, even if during a voyage temporarily off the vessel in a foreign port, is not excluded by the act of 1882. (14 Fed. Rep., 44.)

Other Federal courts.

In re Low Yam Chow, 13 Fed. Rep., 605 (Cir. C., Cal.). The certificate to be issued by the Chinese Government, Certificates issued by Chinese Government.

required by the act of 1892, does not apply to Chinese merchants resident in other countries than China.

In re George Mowean, 14 Fed. Rep., 44 (Cir. C., Oreg.). Chinese sailors. This case holds that a sailor is not a laborer within the meaning of § 1, act of May 6, 1882; that the act does not apply to Chinese sailors on a vessel touching at a port in the United States when she calls for orders or for cargo for foreign port, but their presence in the country is unlawful if they leave the vessel in port or do not depart with her; and that a Chinese person on an American vessel prior to May 6, 1882, was then within the United States. (13 Fed. Rep., 286, 291; 36 Fed. Rep., 440, 441.)

In re Ho King, 14 Fed. Rep., 724 (Dist. C., Oreg.). A Chinese actor or theatrical performer is not a laborer. The certificate provided in § 6 of the act of 1882 is not the only competent evidence that a Chinese person is not a laborer.

United States v. Douglas, 17 Fed. Rep., 634 (Cir. C., Mass.). Chinese immigration. The act of 1882 does not include, under the term Chinese laborers, Chinese subjects of Great Britain. Decisions of Federal courts. (See contra, 18 Fed. Rep., 28.)

In re Ah Lung, 18 Fed. Rep., 28 (Cir. C., Cal.). Chinese laborer, a subject of Great Britain, is excluded under the act of 1882. (See contra, 17 Fed. Rep., 634.) Chinese British subjects.

In re Chin A On, 18 Fed. Rep., 506 (Dist. C., Cal.). A Chinese laborer who resided in the United States on Nov. 17, 1880, but went to China prior to May 6, 1882, is not excluded by the act of that date. (See 112 U. S., 536; 19 Fed. Rep., 184, 490.) When not excluded.

In re Pong Ah Chee, 18 Fed. Rep., 527 (Dist. C., Cal.). A Chinese laborer who left the United States after May 6, 1882, without procuring a certificate, is excluded. (19 Fed. Rep., 490; 21 Fed. Rep., 386; 23 Fed. Rep., 441.) When excluded.

In re Tung Yeong, 19 Fed. Rep., 184 (Dist. C., Cal.). Chinese laborers in the United States at the date of the treaty of 1880, who departed before the act of May 6, 1882, may land without a certificate on proper proof. (See 112 U. S., 536; 18 Fed. Rep., 506; 19 Fed. Rep., 490.) Certain Chinese may land on proper proof.

In re Leong Yick Dew, 19 Fed. Rep., 490 (Cir. C., Cal.). Chinese laborers who left the country after May 6, 1882, can not be readmitted upon any other evidence of prior residence, excepting the certificate required by the act. (18 Fed. Rep., 52.) Those who left before May 6, 1882, may return upon proof of prior residence by competent evidence. (112 U. S., 536; 18 Fed. Rep., 506; 19 Fed. Rep., 184.) Certain Chinese must have certificate required by act.

In re Ah Quan, 21 Fed. Rep., 182 (Cir. C., Cal.). Chinese laborers in the United States on Nov. 17, 1880, may return on satisfactory evidence of prior residence, even under the amendment of 1884 (112 U. S., 536). The certificate admits only the person described. (21 Fed. Rep., 785; 42 Fed. Rep., 398; 48 Fed. Rep., 668.) Certificate admits only person described.

In re Shong Toon, 21 Fed. Rep., 386 (Dist. C., Cal.). Chinese laborers who left the United States after May 6, 1882, and before July 5, 1884, can not reënter without certificate. (18 Fed. Rep., 527; 19 Fed. Rep., 490; 23 Fed. Rep., 441.) Who may reënter.

A Chinese taken from a vessel on habeas corpus.

In re Chin Ah Sooy, 21 Fed. Rep., 393 (Dist. C., Cal.). A Chinese person taken from a vessel on habeas corpus, and found to be unlawfully within the United States after the vessel has sailed from which he was taken, may be ordered to be removed to the country whence he came. (21 Fed. Rep., 701.)

Tag not sufficient.

In re Ah Kee, 21 Fed. Rep., 701 (Cir. C., Cal.). A Chinese laborer who received from the custom-house officer a tag entitling him to a certificate, but not the certificate itself, can not return. (21 Fed. Rep., 789.) If the vessel has sailed in which he came, he can be removed to China, the expense to be charged to the owners of the steamer in which he came. (21 Fed. Rep., 393; 25 Fed. Rep., 97.)

Husband's certificate does not admit wife.

In re Ah Moy, 21 Fed. Rep., 785 (Cir. C., Cal.). The wife of a Chinese laborer is not entitled to enter the United States upon her husband's certificate. (21 Fed. Rep., 182; 42 Fed. Rep., 398; 48 Fed. Rep., 668.)

Tag.

In re Kew Ock, 21 Fed. Rep., 789 (Cir. C., Cal.). A Chinese laborer, who received a tag entitling him to a certificate, but limited in time, and who gave up the tag after its limit, but received no certificate, can not return. (21 Fed. Rep., 701.)

Certificate the only permissible evidence.

In re Cheen Heong, 21 Fed. Rep., 791 (Cir. C., Cal.). A Chinese laborer resided in the United States on Nov. 17, 1880, left for Honolulu in 1881, and returned in Sept., 1884, to the United States without a certificate. Held by Field, J., that he could not return and that the act of 1884 made the certificate the only permissible evidence. Sawyer, Cir. J., and two district judges who sat as consulting judges, dissented. (112 U. S., 536.)

Can not be admitted to bail.

In re Ah Moy, 21 Fed. Rep., 808 (Cir. C., Cal.). A Chinese person, after hearing on habeas corpus, who is remanded to the marshal to be deported, can not be admitted to bail, the vessel having departed. Opinion by Field, J. Sawyer, Cir. J., and two district judges who sat as consulting judges, dissented.

Chinese born in U. S. not excluded.

In re Look Tin Sing, 21 Fed. Rep., 905 (Cir. C., Cal.). A Chinese person born in the United States is a citizen of the United States and is not excluded by law. (35 Fed. Rep., 354; 36 Fed. Rep., 437, 553; 49 Fed. Rep., 146.)

Chinese sailors.

In re Ah Kee, 22 Fed. Rep., 519 (Dist. C., S. D., N. Y.). The exclusion acts do not apply to Chinese sailors, who land temporarily for the purpose of procuring a chance to ship in another vessel. (14 Fed. Rep., 44.)

Chinese merchants returning from temporary absence not excluded.

In re Ah Ping, 23 Fed. Rep., 329 (Cir. C., Cal.). § 6 of the acts of 1882 and 1884 does not apply to a Chinese merchant residing in the United States returning from a temporary absence, which began before the passage of the act of 1884. (141 U. S., 47.)

Excluded for want of certificate.

In re Tang Ah Chee, 23 Fed. Rep., 441 (Dist. C., Cal.). A Chinese laborer who left the United States after May 6, 1882, and took no certificate, is not entitled to reënter. (18 Fed. Rep., 527; 19 Fed. Rep., 490; 21 Fed. Rep., 386.)

Detention of Chinese person on a ship.

In re Chow Goo Pooi, 25 Fed. Rep., 77 (Cir. C., Cal.). A Chinese person detained on a ship is entitled to have his detention passed upon by a writ of habeas corpus. He may be remanded to the ship if he has no right to land, but the ship can not be detained for the purpose. (21 Fed. Rep., 393, 701.) He is not entitled to a jury trial. If he has sailed, he may be remitted to the marshal to await the direction of the President. (21 Fed. Rep., 808.)

In re Jung Ah Lung, 25 Fed. Rep., 141 (Dist. C., Cal.). U. S. court not governed by the collector.
A United States court can issue a habeas corpus to inquire into the detention of Chinese on vessels by order of the court, and is not governed by the determination of the collector. (Affirmed, 124 U. S., 621.)

In re Impaneling and instructing the grand jury, 26 Fed. Rep., 749 (Dist. C., Oreg.). A conspiracy or an agreement to drive the Chinese out of the United States or to maltreat or intimidate them is indictable under R. S., § 5336. (27 Fed. Rep., 187.)

In re Baldwin, 27 Fed. Rep., 187. (Cir. C., Cal.) R. S., § 5519 can not constitutionally embrace a conspiracy to deprive Chinese residents in a State of the immunities secured by treaty. (26 Fed. Rep., 749.)

Ex parte Chin King, 35 Fed. Rep., 354 (Dist. C., Oreg.). A child born in the United States of Chinese parents is a citizen of the United States and not affected by the exclusion laws. (21 Fed. Rep., 905; 36 Fed. Rep., 437, 553; 49 Fed. Rep., 146.)

The Chinese Exclusion Case, Chae Chan Ping v. United States, 130 U. S., 581. The act of 1888, Oct. 1, excluding Chinese laborers, is constitutional. The certificates issued under the acts of 1882 and 1884 confer no rights which could not be repealed by subsequent acts of Congress. (Affirming 36 Fed. Rep., 431.)

Wan Shing v. United States, 140 U. S., 424. No Chinese laborer can land in the United States since the act of Oct. 1, 1888. The right of a Chinese person to land rests upon his establishing that he was not a laborer, and this must be by a certificate issued under § 6 of the act of 1882, May 6, as amended by the act of 1884, July 5.

In re Lau Ow Bew, 141 U. S., 583; 144 U. S., 47. A Chinese merchant, resident for seventeen years in the United States, was refused permission to land, although his status as a merchant was established, because he had not obtained the certificate of the Chinese Government required by the acts of 1882 and 1884. On application to the Supreme Court, the circuit court of appeals was directed to certify the case to the Supreme Court as a case of special importance. Upon consideration of the case on its merits (144 U. S., 47), it was decided that the acts of 1882 and 1884 did not apply to the admission of Chinese merchants into the United States who temporarily left the country and seek to return to their homes.

In re Chae Chan Ping, 36 Fed. Rep., 431 (Cir. C., N. D., Cal.). The act of Oct. 1, 1888, excluding Chinese laborers, is constitutional. The certificates issued under the acts of 1882 and 1884 are not contracts and their validity can be destroyed by subsequent acts. (Affirmed on appeal, 130 U. S., 581.)

U. S. court not governed by the collector.

Conspiracies to drive Chinese out.

Conspiracy.

A Chinese child born in U. S. a citizen.

Decisions subsequent to 1888. Supreme Court. Act of 1888 is constitutional.

Right of Chinese person to land.

Merchants temporarily absent allowed to land.

Other Federal courts. Act of 1888 constitutional.

A Chinese born in U. S. a citizen.

In re Yung Sing Hee, 36 Fed. Rep., 437 (Cir. C., Oreg.). A person born in the United States of Chinese parents is a citizen of the United States and not within the exclusion acts. (21 Fed. Rep., 905; 35 Fed. Rep., 354; 36 Fed. Rep., 553; 49 Fed. Rep., 146.)

Certain rights of travel.

In re Tong Wah Sick, 36 Fed. Rep., 440 (Cir. C., N. D., Cal.). Chinese subjects who purchase through tickets and embark at an American port on an American vessel for another American port and who do not leave the vessel, although it touches at a foreign port, have not departed from the United States. (13 Fed. Rep., 286, 291; 14 Fed. Rep., 44; 36 Fed. Rep., 441.)

Departure from
U. S.

In re Jack Sen, 36 Fed. Rep., 441 (Cir. C., N. D., Cal.). A Chinese laborer who ships on an American vessel at an American port and does not land at any foreign port does not depart from the United States. (13 Fed. Rep., 286, 291; 14 Fed. Rep., 44; 36 Fed. Rep., 440.)

Is a citizen if born in U. S.

In re Wy Shing, 36 Fed. Rep., 553 (Cir. C., N. D., Cal.). A person born in the United States of Chinese parents is a citizen of the United States and is not excluded by the act of Oct. 1, 1888. (21 Fed. Rep., 905; 35 Fed. Rep., 354; 36 Fed. Rep., 437; 14 Fed. Rep., 146.)

Merchant entitled to bring wife on his certificate.

In re Chung Toy Ho, 42 Fed. Rep., 398 (Cir. C., Oreg.). A Chinese merchant entitled to come into the United States by reason of a certificate issued under § 6 of the act of 1884 can bring with him his wife and children. (21 Fed. Rep., 182, 785; 48 Fed. Rep., 668.)

Stolen vessels not forfeited by landing Chinese.

United States v. The George E. Wilton, 43 Fed. Rep., 606 (Dist. C., Wash.). A vessel bringing Chinese laborers into the United States in violation of law is not forfeited under the act of Oct. 1, 1888, and § 10 of the act of 1884 if the vessel had been stolen from its owner and used without his knowledge or consent.

Indictment.

United States v. Trumbull, 46 Fed. Rep., 755 (Dist. C., Wash.). In an indictment, under § 11 of the act of 1882 it is necessary to allege that the Chinese persons were unlawfully brought into the United States.

Meaning of "the country from whence he came."

In re Leo Hem Bow, 47 Fed. Rep., 302 (Dist. C., Wash.). The provision for the removal of a Chinese person unlawfully in the United States to "the country from whence he came" does not mean to China, if he came from some other country, and a Chinaman coming from British Columbia is to be returned there. (47 Fed. Rep., 305, 433, 878; 49 Fed. Rep., 569.)

Residence of Chinese person in British Columbia does not alter his status.

United States v. Ah Toy, 47 Fed. Rep., 305 (Dist. C., Wash.). A Chinese laborer who had lived in the United States and returned to China, but after Oct. 1, 1888, returned to the United States via British Columbia, having spent one year in that country as a sojourner, should be returned to China. (47 Fed. Rep., 302, 433, 878; 49 Fed. Rep., 569.)

Trial upon appeals.

United States v. Jim, 47 Fed. Rep., 431 (Dist. C., Wash.). Section 13 of the act of Sept. 13, 1888, is in force notwithstanding the provision of § 1 of the same act. The opinion holds that the whole act is in force except the "particular provisions of the first and fifteenth sections, which are specially, by the provisions contained therein, made to depend for validity upon the contingency of the ratification, at a future time, of the pending treaty." (47 Fed. Rep., 433, 878; 48 Fed. Rep., 825; 50 Fed. Rep., 271; 55 Fed. Rep., 58.) A trial de novo, upon appeal from the commissioner, is permitted in a United States district court.

In re Mah Wong Gee, 47 Fed. Rep., 433 (Dist. C., Vt.). Chinese coming from Canada.
 Section 13 of the act of Sept. 13, 1888, is in force, this being a part of the law not dependent upon the ratification of the treaty. (47 Fed. Rep., 431, 878; 48 Fed. Rep., 825; 50 Fed. Rep., 271; 55 Fed. Rep., 58.) A Chinese person coming from Canada to the United States unlawfully is to be deported to Canada under the act of 1888. (47 Fed. Rep., 302, 305, 878; 49 Fed. Rep., 569.)

In re Lau Ow Bew, 47 Fed. Rep., 578 (Cir. C., N. D., Cal.); 47 Fed. Rep., 641 (Cir. C. App., 9th Cir.). Chinese merchant must have certificate.
 A Chinese merchant returning to this country after a temporary absence must have the certificate required by § 6 of the act of 1884. (Reversed by Supreme Court, 144 U. S., 47.)

In re Tom Mun, 47 Fed. Rep., 722 (Dist. C., N. D., Cal.). Prior residence.
 Upon consideration of the evidence of prior residence the petitioner is not permitted to land, it having been shown that another person of the same name had been landed upon proper identification as the former resident and the proof of the present applicant being unsatisfactory. (112 U. S., 536.)

United States v. Chong Sam, 47 Fed. Rep., 878 (Dist. C., E. D., Mich.). Chinese coming from Canada.
 Sections 1, 2, 4, and 15 of the act of Sept. 13, 1888, are not in force. Section 13 and other sections are in force. (47 Fed. Rep., 431, 433; 48 Fed. Rep., 825; 50 Fed. Rep., 271; 55 Fed. Rep., 58.) A Chinaman coming from Canada must be returned to Canada. (47 Fed. Rep., 302, 305, 433; 49 Fed. Rep., 569.)

In re Wo Tai Li, 48 Fed. Rep., 668 (Dist. C., N. D., Cal.). Wives of actors.
 The wife of a Chinese actor is not entitled to entry without the certificate provided by § 6 of the act of 1884. (21 Fed. Rep., 182, 785; 42 Fed. Rep., 398.)

United States v. Lee Hoy, 48 Fed. Rep., 825 (Dist. C., Wash.). A Chinese merchant permitted to land by a collector.
 A Chinese merchant, who was permitted to land by a collector, without the certificate required by § 6 of the act of 1884, after a visit to Canada, upon personal knowledge of his identity or private information, is lawfully in the United States, as the commissioner has a right to decide questions in controversy, subject to review by the Secretary of the Treasury. (50 Fed. Rep., 271.) An appeal was entertained from the judgment of the commissioner ordering his deportation. §§ 12 and 13 of the act of Sept. 13, 1888, are held to be in force. (47 Fed. Rep., 431, 433, 878; 50 Fed. Rep., 271; 55 Fed. Rep., 58. Affirmed by circuit court of appeals on different grounds, 50 Fed. Rep., 271.)

Gee Fook Sing v. United States, 49 Fed. Rep., 146 (Cir. C., App., 9th Cir.). A person of Chinese parentage born in U. S. a citizen.
 A person of Chinese parentage, born in the United States, is a citizen of the United States and the right to entry can not be denied him. (21 Fed. Rep., 905; 35 Fed. Rep., 354; 36 Fed. Rep., 437, 553.) Upon the facts in this case the proof of native birth is not satisfactory.

Findings of fact of a commissioner not reviewable upon habeas corpus.

United States v. Don On, 49 Fed. Rep., 569, (Cir. C., N. D., N. Y.). A Chinese laborer coming into this country from Canada is to be returned to Canada. (47 Fed. Rep., 302, 305, 433, 878.) The findings of fact of a commissioner are not to be reviewed upon habeas corpus. (47 Fed. Rep., 431; 54 Fed. Rep., 334.) The petitioner was subsequently discharged because the marshal was provided with no funds to pay the head tax charged by the Canadian Government.

Decision of collector.

United States v. Gee Lee, alias Lee Hoy, 50 Fed. Rep. 271 (Cir. C. App., 9th Cir., affirming 48 Fed. Rep., 825) Sec. 12 of the act of Sept. 13, 1888, making the decision of the collector final, subject to review by the Secretary of the Treasury, never went into effect. Sec. 13 of the same act is in force, because not within the purview of the limitation, upon the act going into effect, as defined by § 1. (47 Fed. Rep., 431, 433, 878; 48 Fed. Rep., 825; 55 Fed. Rep., 58.) An appeal lies from a judgment under this section to the circuit court of appeals. Sec. 6 of the act of July 5, 1884, does not apply to Chinese merchants domiciled in the United States and temporarily absent. (144 U. S., 47.)

Decisions subsequent to May 5, 1892.

In re Fong Yue Ting, 149 U. S. 698. The act of May 5, 1892, is within the constitutional power of Congress to regulate or forbid the residence of aliens within the United States.

Supreme Court. Other Federal courts.

United States v. Wong Sing, 51 Fed. Rep., 79 (Dist. C., Wash.). The fourth section of the act of May 5, 1892, providing for the imprisonment of Chinese persons unlawfully in the United States, does not render it necessary to proceed by indictment. (53 Fed. Rep., 233; 54 Fed. Rep., 334; 55 Fed. Rep., 58.)

Imprisonment of Chinese unlawfully.

United States v. Chin Quong Look, 52 Fed. Rep., 203 (Dist. C., Wash.). A Chinese merchant who resided and did business in the United States, and retained his interest in the firm, can not be excluded, although he returned to China and remained over six years. (144 U. S., 47.)

Chinese merchants' rights.

United States v. Hing Quong Chow, 53 Fed. Rep., 233 (Cir. C., E. D., La.). An indictment can not be brought against a Chinaman under the act of May 5, 1892, for being unlawfully in the United States. (51 Fed. Rep., 79; 54 Fed. Rep., 334; 55 Fed. Rep., 58.)

Act of May 5, 1892.

In re Sing Lee, 54 Fed. Rep., 334 (Dist. C., W. D., Mich.). The provisions of the exclusion act of May 5, 1892, for summary proceedings are not a denial of due process of law or a violation of any common law rule of evidence or repugnant of the fourteenth amendment of the Constitution. The imprisonment provided is not a punishment, but a means of detention. (51 Fed. Rep., 79; 53 Fed. Rep., 233; 55 Fed. Rep., 58.) The findings of fact of the commissioner are not reviewable upon habeas corpus. (49 Fed. Rep., 431, 569.)

Summary proceedings.

United States v. Mock Chew, 54 Fed. Rep., 490, (Cir. C. App., 9th Cir.). A certificate of identification under section 6 of the act of July 5, 1884, given by a Chinese consul in Japan and certified by the United States vice-consul-general, is not sufficient without proof of the consul's authority from the Chinese Government.

Certificate given by Chinese consul in Japan.

United States v. Long Hop, 55 Fed. Rep., 58 (Dist. C., S. D., Ala.). The exclusion act of September 13, 1888, is all in force excepting sections 2-4 and 15. (47 Fed. Rep., 431, 433, 878; 48 Fed. Rep., 825; 50 Fed. Rep., 271.) Due process of law requires that the United States shall show the unlawful residence. (51 Fed. Rep., 79; 53 Fed. Rep., 233; 54 Fed. Rep., 58.)

Act of 1888 in force, except sections 2-4 and 15.

Citizenship of, commanders of vessels of the United States.—The officers of vessels of the United States shall in all cases be citizens of the United States.

Rev. Stat., s. 1443; act June 23, 1864, ch. 170, s. 1, vol. 13, p. 201.

(a) Certain Confederates not precluded.—It is the opinion of the Attorney-General that this statute does not preclude citizens of the United States who resigned commissions in the Navy of the United States and entered the Confederate service.

(a) 11 A.G.Op., 317.

Civilian lawyer, not to act as judge-advocate.—Under the statute cited the Secretary of the Navy can not retain a civilian lawyer to act as judge-advocate of a court-martial, but must call upon the Department of Justice for an officer for the service.

Rev. Stat., s. 189; 13 A.G.Op., 514; 14 id., 13; 7 id., 141; 10 id., 40.

(a) Employment of agents.—Heads of Departments may employ agents when necessary.

(a) Gratiot v. U. S., 15 Peters, 336; U. S. v. Macdaniel, 7 id., 1. See notes on U. S. Statutes (Gould and Tucker), p. 21.

Civilian witnesses, court-martial.—A naval court-martial, or judge-advocate thereof, has no power to compel a civilian who is not subject to the articles for the government of the Navy to appear and testify before such court.

Rev. Stat., s. 1624; articles of the Navy, 42, 57; 19 A.G.Op., 501, Miller, Feb. 26, 1890.

(a) Neither article 42 nor article 57 in the section first cited gives the power to compel the attendance of civilian witnesses.

(a) Articles for the Government of the Navy, 42 and 57.

(b) The provisions of the section here cited apply to the military (i. e., army) courts only.

(b) Rev. Stat., s. 1202.

Claim of participant in the rebellion.—In 1860 E., a naval officer, became entitled to a share in the proceeds of a captured slaver, the amount of which was certified to the Treasury Department by the Secretary of the Navy, but remains unpaid. In 1861 E. resigned his commission and entered the Confederate service: Held, that by force of the statutes cited payment of such share can not now be made, notwithstanding the President's proclamation of amnesty of December 25, 1868, and that to authorize its payment an act of Congress is necessary.

Rev. Stat., s. 3480; joint res., Mar. 2, 1867; 18 A.G.Op., 421, Garland, June 17, 1886.

Clerks employed, report of.—The act cited made the requirement contained in the section of reporting the names of all employees annually of the Secretary of the Navy.

Rev. Stat., s. 194; act Aug. 26, 1842.

Clerks to admirals, etc.—The later act cited provides that on and after July first, eighteen hundred and seventy-eight, there shall be no appointments made from civil life of secretaries or clerks to the Admiral or Vice-Admiral, 20 Stat. L., 50; act May 4, 1878, ch. 91, amending Rev. Stat., s. 1556.

when on sea service, commanders of squadrons, or of clerks to commanders of vessels; and an officer not above the grade of lieutenant shall be detailed to perform the duties of secretary to the Admiral or Vice-Admiral when on sea service, and one not above the grade of master to perform the duty of clerk to a rear-admiral or commander, and not one above the grade of ensign to perform the duties of clerk to a captain, commander, or lieutenant-commander when afloat: Provided, That the secretaries and clerks in service on July first, eighteen hundred and seventy-eight, on vessels abroad, shall continue as such until such vessel shall return to the United States on the termination of its cruise.

Rev. Stat., ss. 1229, 1230; 13 A. G. Op., 44.

Commissioning, displacing, and dismissing officers by the President.—One is not an officer in the Army or Navy until the commission appointing him such has been signed by the President, although his nomination has been confirmed by the Senate.

(a) Keyes v. U. S., 109 U. S., 336; McElrath v. U. S., 102 id., 426; Blake v. U. S., 103 id., 227, 236.

(a) Power to displace an officer.—The President has power to displace an officer, with the advice and consent of the Senate, by appointing another in his place.

(b) 12 A. G. Op., 14; McElrath v. U. S., 102 U. S., 426; 12 C. Cls. R., 201.

(b) President's power to dismiss.—This statute was held by the Attorney-General (XII Opins. 4) not to be unconstitutional, in that it was not "obnoxious to the objection that it invades or frustrates the power of the President to dismiss an officer." More serious objections to its constitutionality are believed to be: 1, that it authorizes the subjecting to military trial of a civilian; 2, that in restoring an officer to the Army it substitutes the action of a court-martial for the appointing power of the President.

(c) 16 A. G. Op., 298; Kilburn v. U. S., 15 C. Cls. R., 41.

(c) Filling vacancy confirms sentence of dismissal.—If an officer is sentenced to dismissal and the President fills the vacancy by appointment or nomination, this operates as a confirmation of the sentence.

(d) Corson v. U. S., 114 U. S., 619; 17 C. Cls. R., 344; Menimack v. U. S., 97 U. S., 426; 10 C. Cls. R., 584; 4 A. G. Op., 389; Montgomery's Case, 19 C. Cls. (d) Revoking order of dismissal.—The President can not revoke an order dismissing an officer * * * so as to enable him to regain his position and become entitled to its emoluments.

(e) Gratiot v. U. S., 1 C. Cls. R., 258; Newton v. U. S., 18 id., 435.

(e) Discretionary power of President to dismiss.—The President's power to dismiss an * * * officer, being discretionary, can not be reviewed in the Court of Claims, at least after a long lapse of time.

(f) Newton v. U. S., 18 C. Cls. R., 435.

(f) Application for court-martial.—Such officer's application for court-martial must be made within a reasonable time.

Rev. Stat., s. 3718; 6 A. G. Op., 40, 99; 20 Stat. L., 253.

Contracts, boilers, material for.—Material for steamboat boilers for the Navy may be purchased at the lowest market price without advertisement, provided that specifications are sent to the principal dealers and manufacturers and the inspection and tests are public.

(a) 10 A. G. Op., 140.

(a) Lowest bid.—The lowest bid may be accepted, if it substantially complies with the law, notwithstanding it designates a different time for completing the contract than the advertisement fixed.

- (b) "When time will permit."—The words quoted apply only to such supplies as the wants of the service make it necessary to purchase for immediate use when there is no time to abide the delay of advertising. They do not apply to contracts to run through three years when there is on hand a sufficient quantity of the article for the present wants of the service. (b) 4 A. G. Op., 475.
- (c) Terms of contract must be followed.—Contract for construction of battleship Indiana construed, and held that it was not competent for the Secretary of the Navy, under the existing contract, to pay to the contractors any part of the last three installments of the price of the vessel or of reservations from previous payments prior to the preliminary or conditional acceptance of the vessel; but that a supplemental contract might be entered into, modifying the terms and provisions of the existing contract. (c) 21 A. G. Op., 13, Olney, Apr. 27, 1894.
- (d) To furnish provisions.—Contracts made by the United States, through the Secretary of the Navy, to furnish provisions for the naval service can not be rescinded by the chief of the bureau having charge of such contracts and supplies without the sanction of the head of the Department. (d) Rev. Stat., s. 421; U. S. v. Shaw, 1 Cliff., 317.
- (e) Must come within the terms of law.—A person who enters into a contract with an officer of the Government must look to the statute under which it is made and see that his contract comes within the terms of the law. (e) Rev. Stat., s. 3732; Collins's Case, 15 C. Cls. R., 35; 15 A. G. Op., 124, 210, 239, 257; Floyd acceptances, 7 Wall., 666, 680.
- (f) Conditioned on further appropriations.—A contract made by a Navy agent for piles to be used in a dry dock, to be delivered after Congress should make further appropriations, is not valid. (f) 4 A. G. Op., 490.
- (g) Head of Department may bind the Government.—Under the section cited the head of a Department may bind the Government only in two cases (1) where the contract is expressly authorized by law, (2) where there is an appropriation already made large enough to fulfill it. In the first case, there is an express power to contract for the work; and, in the second case, there is an implied power to contract for so much work as the appropriation will pay for. (g) 9 A. G. Op., 18.
- (h) Exception to the rule.—The two sections cited under (h) should be construed together. Under the section 3732 the heads of the War and Navy Departments, in the absence of appropriations, are authorized to purchase or contract for clothing, subsistence, forage, fuel, quarters, or transportation, not exceeding the necessities of the current year. The section 3679 does not prohibit such contracts. The exception in section 3732 in favor of contracts or purchases in the War and Navy Departments for clothing, subsistence, etc., withdraws such contracts or purchases from the prohibition of section 3679, and they may be made, though there is no appropriation adequate to their fulfillment, if the necessities of the current year are not exceeded. (h) Rev. Stat., ss. 3679, 3732. 15 A. G. Op., 209.
- (i) Specific appropriations.—If money has been appropriated for a specific object, the head of the Department (i) 4 A. G. Op., 600. 15 A. G. Op., 124.

charged with the expenditure of it may use so much as may be necessary with a view to the subsequent completion of the work if Congress shall provide therefor; but he can not bind the Government to pay any sum in excess of that appropriated.

(j) Leavitt v. U. S., 34 F. R., 623. (j) Exception.—Where an appropriation has been made for a certain purpose, and a consul in a distant country is instructed by the Department of State to make purchases thereunder, such purchases are legal though it turns out a year and a half afterwards, when the consul's bill is presented, that the appropriation is exhausted.

(k) Shipman v. U. S., 18 C. Cls. R., 138. (k) Absolute authority to act.—Where the authority to contract for a work in behalf of the United States depends wholly upon an appropriation made for the purpose, no officer thereof can create a liability therefor beyond the sum appropriated, and a contractor can not receive more than was appropriated, no matter what the extent of the work; but when an act authorizes a thing to be done absolutely, and makes an insufficient appropriation or none at all, it is different.

(l) 15 A. G. Op., 235. (l) Authorized by law.—A contract to have been authorized by law must appear to have been made either in pursuance of express authority given by statute or of authority necessarily inferrable from some duty imposed upon or from some power to the person assuming to contract on behalf of the Government.

(m) Must be reduced to writing.—Contracts to bind the United States must be actually reduced to writing and signed by the contracting parties, the signing of the preliminary memoranda being insufficient.

(n) Burchiel's Case, 4 C. Cls. R., 549. (n) Recovery in Court of Claims.—The contract is only made void as an executory one, and if the goods have been actually received and used by the Government their value may be recovered in the Court of Claims.

(o) Contracts made in an emergency.—The provision requiring contracts made by the Departments named (War and Navy) in the section cited to be in writing and signed applies to such as are made in an emergency without advertising for proposals.

(p) Danold's Case, 5 C. Cls. R., 65; Henderson's Case, 4 C. Cls. R., 75. (p) Extends to purchasing agents and officers.—The statute cited extends not merely to purchasing agents, but to all officers in the War, Navy, and Interior Departments, including the secretaries themselves.

(q) Op. of Attorney-General, August 19, 1892. (q) Advertisement for proposals and acceptance of proposal by the Navy Department not a contract.—An advertisement for proposals, a proposal from a bidder and its acceptance by the Navy Department do not constitute a contract. The common law rule respecting an offering and its acceptance being modified by section 3744 of the Revised Statutes, which requires that all contracts entered into by the Departments therein named shall be reduced to writing and signed by the contracting parties.

The Supreme Court has held (Clark v. U. S., 95 U. S., 542, and S. B. Iron Co. v. U. S., 118 U. S., 38), that contracts contemplated by that section do not become valid until executed in accordance with its requirements.

(a) Authority to build without provision for plans.—Where a statute authorizes the building of vessels by the Navy Department, but makes no provision for procuring the necessary plans and specifications therefor, it is to be construed as impliedly authorizing the head of the Department to procure such plans and specifications in the mode and manner which he shall deem best.

Cooperation of revenue cutters with the Navy.—The revenue cutters employed in carrying out the order issued by President Lincoln to the Secretary of the Treasury, dated June 14, 1863, were, while so employed, cooperating with the Navy by order of the President; and if any of the officers or seamen thereof, during such employment, were wounded or disabled in the discharge of their duty, they became entitled to be placed on the Navy pension list at the same rate of pension and under the same regulations and restrictions as are provided by law for the officers and seamen of the Navy.

Rev. Stat., ss., 2757, 4741; 19 A. G. Op., 505.

Costs of suits.—The words “costs of suits” in the appropriation act cited relate to the ordinary taxed costs of suits and not to fees of counsel. Accordingly the fee of the United States attorney for services in defending suits brought against certain naval officers for acts done by them in obedience to the orders of the Navy Department can not be paid out of that appropriation, but must be fixed by the Attorney-General and paid out of the appropriations for the payment of such special compensation as may be fixed by the Attorney-General for services not covered by salaries or fees.

Discharge, manner of.—The statute of March 3, 1875, chapter 155, inserts "or Pacific" after "Atlantic" in second and last lines; inserts, after "States," in third line, "as their enlistment may have occurred on either the Atlantic or Pacific Coast of the United States;" substitutes "enlistment" for "service" in fifth line; strikes out "very" in the sixth line, and adds at end of the section:

All persons enlisted within the limits of the United States may be discharged, on the expiration of their enlistment, either in foreign port or in a port of the United States, or they may be detained as above provided beyond the term of their enlistment; and that all persons sent home, or detained by a commanding officer, according to the provisions of this act, shall be subject in all respects to the laws and regulations of the government of the Navy until their return to an Atlantic or Pacific port and their regular discharge; and all persons so detained by such officer, or reentering to serve until the return to an Atlantic or Pacific port of the vessel to which they belong, shall in no case be held in service more than thirty days after their arrival in said port; and that all persons who shall be so detained beyond their terms of enlistment, or who shall, after the termination of their enlistment, voluntarily reenter to serve until the return to an Atlantic or Pacific port of the vessel to which they belong, and their regular discharge therefrom, shall receive for the time during which they are so detained, or shall so serve, beyond their original terms of enlistment, an addition of one-fourth of their former pay: Provided, That the shipping articles shall hereafter contain the substance of this section.

Eight hours to be a day's work.—“Eight hours shall constitute a day's work for all laborers, workmen, and mechanics who may be employed by or on behalf of the Government of the United States.”

Rev. Stat., s. 3738.

(a) In the nature of a direction.—This is in the nature of a direction by the Government to its agents; it is not a contract between the Government and its laborers, and does not preclude it from making contracts fixing a different length of time as a day's work.

(b) Does not apply in certain cases.—The section, 3738, cited, does not apply to mechanics, workmen, and laborers who are employed by one who has a contract with the Government.

(b) 14 A. G. Op., 37, 45.

(c) Hours of labor in private navy-yards.—The section cited repeals so much of the act of 1862, cited, as required that the hours of labor in navy-yards should conform to those of private establishments, but not that part of it which required that the rate of wages should conform to the rate paid at such establishments.

(c) 12 Stat. L., 587; Averill v. U. S., 14 Ct. Cls. R., 200.

(d) No recourse if pay is accepted for twelve hours as a day's work.—Independently of the section cited, if an employee in the public service works twelve hours per day, is paid and accepts the payment, he can not be heard to allege that every eight hours constituted a day's work under the section.

(c) President to appoint chief engineer.—Statutes cited authorize the President to nominate and, by and with the advice and consent of the Senate, to appoint one passed assistant engineer, now on the retired list of the Navy, a chief engineer on the retired list of the Navy, with the highest retired pay of that grade.

(d) Rev. Stat., ss. 1484, 1486; 15 A. G. Op., 336; 21 Stat. L., 510.

(d) Nongraduates.—The first section cited (1484) operates as an exception to the latter section cited (1486) by excluding therefrom engineer officers graduated at the Naval Academy. Engineer officers not so graduated stand on the same footing with other staff officers, and are entitled to the six years' constructive service.

The act cited (21 Stat. L., p. 510, ch. 150) adds at the end of the section (1486) the following provision: “That nothing in this section shall be so construed as to give to any officer of the staff corps precedence of, or a higher relative rank than that of, another staff officer in the same grade and corps, and whose commission in such grade and corps antedates that of such officer.”

(e) Act July 9, 1888, ch. 591; 25 Stat. L., 241.

(e) Cadet engineers.—The section cited provides: “That for the purpose of placing certain cadet engineers (graduates) in their proper grade and rank in the Navy, the President of the United States be, and is hereby, authorized to appoint, and, by and with the advice and consent of the Senate, commission as assistant engineers in the Navy the cadet engineers of the classes of 1881 and 1882 now in the Navy: Provided, That the commissions of the class of 1881 be dated from July 1, 1883, and their names be placed on the Navy Register immediately after the name of William D. Weaver, and that they take precedence in their grade and corps according to their proficiency as shown by their order of merit at the date of graduation; and that the commissions of the class of 1882 be dated from July 1, 1884, and their names be placed on the Navy Register immediately after the name of Charles E. Rommell, and that they take precedence in their grade and corps according to their proficiency as shown by their order of merit at the date of graduation: Provided, That any of such cadet engineers who failed to pass the physical examination at the Naval Academy made at the time of their graduation shall be subjected to further examinations before receiving their appointments, as above authorized."

(f) Appointed annually.—The statute of June 22, 1874, chapter 392, repeals so much of the provision in section 1523 as provides that cadet engineers, not to exceed fifty in number, shall be appointed by the Secretary of the Navy, and provides, repealing inconsistent acts, that cadet engineers shall hereafter be appointed annually by the Secretary of the Navy, and the number appointed each year shall not exceed twenty-five.

(f) Rev. Stat., s. 1523, in part repealed by act June 22, 1874, ch. 392; 18 Stat. L., 191.

(g) By statute of February 24, 1874, chapter 35, section 2, the course of instruction at the Naval Academy for cadet engineers shall be for four years, instead of two as now provided by law.

(g) Rev. Stat., s. 1524; 18 Stat. L., 17.

Engineer Corps.—The active list of the Engineer Corps of the Navy shall hereafter consist of ten chief engineers with the relative rank of captain, fifteen chief engineers with the relative rank of commander, forty-five chief engineers with the relative rank of lieutenant-commander or lieutenant, sixty passed assistant engineers and forty assistant engineers with the relative rank for each as now fixed by law; and after the number of officers in the said grades shall be reduced as above provided, the number in each grade shall not exceed the reduced number which is fixed by the provisions of this act for the several grades.

22 Stat. L., 285; act Aug. 5, 1882.

Not to be reduced in rank.—No officer now in the service shall be reduced in rank or deprived of his commission by reason of any provision of the act of August 5, 1882, cited, reducing the number of officers in the several staff corps: Provided, That no further appointments of cadet engineers shall be made by the Secretary of the Navy under section three of the act of 1874 [by which such appointments shall not exceed twenty-five each year].

See "Active List," p. —.

Rev. Stat., s. 1417; 21 Stat. L., 3, ch. 5, repeals in part ch. 159, 19 Stat. L., 65. The new section adds the words after "coal heavers."

Enlisted men, number of.—The number of persons who may at one time be enlisted into the Navy of the United States, including seamen, ordinary seamen, landsmen, mechanics, firemen, coal heavers, and including seven hundred and fifty apprentices and boys, hereby authorized to be enlisted annually, shall not exceed eight thousand two hundred and fifty: Provided, That in the appointment of warrant officers in the naval service of the United States preference shall be given to men who have been honorably discharged upon the expiration of an enlistment as an apprentice or boy, to serve during minority, and reenlisted within three months after such discharge, to serve during a term of three or more years: Provided further, That nothing in this act shall be held to abrogate the provisions of section fourteen hundred and seven.

(a) Rev. Stat., s. 1426. (a) Honorable discharges may be granted.—Honorable discharges may be granted to seamen, ordinary seamen, landsmen, firemen, coal heavers, and boys who have enlisted for three years.

(b) Act of Mar. 2, 1855, ch. 136, s. 11; 10 Stat. L., 628; U. S. v. Thompson, 2 Sprague, 165.

(c) 23 Stat. L., 291. (c) Entitled to a ration, etc.—Enlisted men attached to any United States vessel or station on duty shall be entitled to a ration or commutation thereof.

(d) Rev. Stat., s. 1553; act Mar. 2, 1855, ch. 136, s. 11; U. S. v. Thompson, 2 Sprague, 103. (d) What constitutes enlistment.—Under the act of 1855, chapter 136, section 11, a seaman who had passed his examination at the naval rendezvous, but had not been examined and passed on the receiving ship, was held not to be enlisted.

25 Stat. L., 657; 19 A. G. Op., 616, Miller, July 31, 1890. Enlisted men of the Marine Corps.—The act of February 9, 1889, cited, to provide for the deposit of the savings of seamen of the United States Navy, does not extend to enlisted men of the Marine Corps.

(a) Act of June 16, 1890; Rev. Stat., s. 1612. (a) Prevent desertions, etc.—The provisions of section 1 of the act cited under (a) entitled "An act to prevent desertions from the Army, and for other purposes," are applicable to enlisted men of the Marine Corps by force and effect of the section cited; but those of sections 2, 3, and 4 of that act are inapplicable thereto.

23 Stat. L., 60; act June 26, 1884. Ensigns.—The act of June 26, 1884, cited, provides that from and after the passage of this act all graduates of the Naval Academy who are assigned to the line of the Navy on the successful completion of the six years' course shall be commissioned ensigns in the Navy.

(a) Sec. 2. (a) Grade of junior ensign abolished.—That the grade of junior ensign in the Navy is hereby abolished, and the junior ensigns now on the list shall be commissioned ensigns in the Navy: Provided, That nothing in this act shall be so construed as to increase the number of officers in the Navy now allowed by law.

(b) Sec. 3. (b) Repeal.—That all acts and parts of acts inconsistent with the provisions of this act be, and the same are hereby, repealed.

Envelopes, purchase of, opinion of Attorney-General respecting.—Act July 31, 1894, ch. 174, s. 8; A. G. Op. of May 22, 1895, affirmed; 21 A. G. Op., 181, Olney, May 23, 1895.
 The provisions of the act cited make it obligatory upon the Comptroller of the Treasury to render a decision upon any question involving a payment to be made by or under the head of any Executive Department, and contemplate the construction by him of statutes.

(a) Contract for envelopes.—A question regarding the construction of the section cited under (a), which provides that “the Postmaster-General shall contract for all envelopes, stamped or otherwise, designed for sale to the public, or for use by his own or other Departments, and to be of sufficient importance to warrant its submission to the Attorney-General for his opinion thereon.” (a) Ibid. Act Jan. 12, 1895, ch. 23, s. 96.

(b) Repealed by implication.—The conclusion that a statute is repealed by implication is only reached when there is irreconcilable conflict and when the two statutes can not by reasonable construction stand together; and in measuring the legislative intent as to the scope to be given to a statute in its operation upon previous statutes, not specifically referred to, a consideration of the effect upon the public welfare must necessarily be taken in view. (b) 3 A. G. Op., 438; 2 A. G. Op., 260, cited; 21 A. G. Op., 181.

(c) Has no application.—Applying the rule of construction stated in paragraph (b), and construing the provisions of section 96 of the act of January 12, 1895, in connection with the sections cited under (c), held that the section of the act of 1895, referred to, has no application when an exigency may require an immediate delivery of envelopes to a particular Department, and the public service might be seriously impaired by the necessity of a requisition upon the Postmaster-General. (c) Rev. Stat., ss. 3709, 3710.

(d) Exigency.—In the event of an exigency requiring an immediate delivery of envelopes, the provisions of the section cited under (d), and the head of the Department in which the exigency exists may make the purchases required by the exigency. (d) 21 A. G. Op., 181; Olney, May 23, 1895.

Estimates for pay of the Navy.—The statute cited provides “That the Secretary of the Navy is hereby directed to report to Congress, at its next and each regular session thereafter, the amount expended during the prior fiscal year from the appropriations for the pay of the Navy, Bureaus of Navigation, Ordnance, Equipment and Recruiting, Yard and Docks, Medicine and Surgery, Provisions and Clothing, Construction and Repair, and Steam-Engineering, for civilians employed on clerical duty, or in any other capacity than as ordinary mechanics and workmen, and submit, under the estimates for such civilian employees for the fiscal year 1887, and each fiscal year thereafter.” 23 Stat. L., 295, ch. 43, s. 3.

Evidence.—That in the trial of all * * * persons charged with the commission of crimes, offenses, etc., * * * before courts-martial and courts of inquiry, * * * the person so charged shall at his own request, but not otherwise, be a competent witness, and his failure to make such request shall not create any presumption against him. He may testify orally or by deposition. Rev. Stat., s. 858. Cornett v. Williams, 20 Wall., 226.

Rev. Stat., s. 1500; 16 A. G. Op., 20. Examination, temporarily suspended.—If after a naval officer has appeared before an examining board the examination is temporarily suspended, and he, being given permission to be absent at home until notified, fails to receive notice until after the examination is concluded and he is retired, being thus debarred the right of presenting material testimony in his defense, the President may revoke his action in approving the proceedings and findings of the board for the purpose of allowing the officer a rehearing.

Rev. Stat., s. 1505; A. G. Op., 597. Extra compensation.—If a retired officer is designated by Congress to perform services which could not be required of him, such as the superintendence of the erection of a public building, he may receive extra compensation therefor.

Rev. Stat., s. 1505; A. G. Op., 597. Failing in examination.—The loss of date need not be contemporaneous with the term of suspension, but must agree therewith in point of duration.

Rev. Stat., ss. 1378, 1381, 1382, 1475, 1556; 18 A. G. Op., 156, Garland, Apr. 21, 1885. Fleet paymaster.—No designation other than that made by the President entitles a naval paymaster to the place and prerequisites of paymaster of the fleet.

(a) 15 A. G. Op., 316. (a) Retired on furlough pay.—An officer retired on furlough pay is to be paid according to the provisions of section 1593 of Revised Statutes.

Rev. Stat., 1587. Funeral expenses.—The expenses of the funeral of an officer who dies in a foreign country while on duty there, equal to one month's sea pay, shall be defrayed, etc.

13 A. G. Op., 341. But in the case of a naval officer who has started on a foreign service, but dies in a United States port at which his vessel touches, this statute does not apply. It comes within the prohibition of the statute cited.

Rev. Stat., 1454, 1594; 18 A. G. Op., 96, Brewster, Jan. 5, 1885. Furlough pay.—An officer retired on furlough pay under section 1454, cited, can not be transferred on the retired pay list under second section cited with increase of pay; such increase is forbidden by the act of August 5, 1882, chapter 391.

(a) Id. (a) Transferred to the retired pay list.—Nor can an officer be simultaneously retired on furlough pay and transferred to the retired pay list, so as to give him the pay of the latter.

(b) Rev. Stat., s. 1588; Brown v. U. S., 113 U. S., 568; 16 A. G. Op., 22. (b) Application of the law.—Section cited does not apply to officers retired on furlough pay.

Rev. Stat., s. 1592. Grade pay.—The term "grade:" "Officers on the retired list, when on active duty, shall receive the full pay of their respective grades."

(a) Thornley v. U. S., 16 C. Cls. R., 3. (a) Increase of pay.—Navy officers on the retired list are not entitled to increase of pay by reason of longevity while thereon. The periods of five years' service contemplated by this statute for increase of pay are grades within section 1588.

(b) Rutherford v. U. S., 18 C. Cls. R., 339. (b) Grade.—The term "grade" refers to the divisions of officers into five-years periods of service. A chief engineer retired in the third period of five years' service is entitled to 75 per cent of the sea pay of that grade, and not to the highest pay of a chief engineer who has served over twenty years.

“Graduating examinations.”—These words mean that examination which, under the regulations of the Naval Academy, takes place after the prescribed term of sea service has been performed. Assignments of relative rank, as between members of the same class, based upon results of such examination, are in conformity with law. Rev. Stat., s. 1519; 15 A. G. Op., 637.

Gunners.—The power of the Secretary of the Navy to appoint acting gunners is authorized by section 1410, Revised Statutes. Such gunners, however, are not petty officers. Acting gunners are liable to dismissal at the will of the Secretary. Rev. Stat., s. 1410; 15 A. G. Op., 564; Muse v. U. S. 19 C. Cls. R., 441; Foster’s Case, 23 id., 90.

Gunboats, appropriations for.—The act cited contemplates construction of light-draft protected gunboats of steel, and does not authorize the building of such gunboats on the “composite plan,” a vessel of which some other material than steel forms a substantial integral part. If it be the fact that in naval architecture the term “steel,” as descriptive of a vessel, has a special meaning, and includes a vessel built on the composite plan as well as a steel vessel proper, an opposite conclusion might be reached. Act Mar. 3, 1893, ch. 212; act Mar. 3, 1886, ch. 894; 24 Stat. L., 215; 20 A. G. Op., 617, Olney, June 1, 1893.

Hazing.—Hazing at the Academy is made punishable by dismissal, upon the finding and recommendation of a court-martial of not less than three commissioned officers and the approval of the superintendent, and such dismissal makes the offender ineligible to reinstatement or reappointment. 18 Stat. L., 203; act June 23, 1874, ch. 453; 15 A. G. Op., 80.

(a) To constitute the offense of “hazing” at the Naval Academy under the act cited, it is essential that the victim should be a new cadet of the fourth class. Hence, unless the charge against the accused alleges that the victim was a new cadet of the fourth class, a court-martial organized under the statute would have no jurisdiction over it. An allegation that the victim was a candidate for appointment or admission to the Academy is insufficient. (a) 18 A. G. Op., 292. Opinion delivered Nov. 12, 1885, by Garland.

(b) “An older cadet.”—Where a cadet entered the Naval Academy and became a member of the fourth class in 1885, and also remained a member of the same class in 1886, he is at the latter period as much an “older cadet” within the definition of the offense of “hazing” as a cadet who, having entered the Academy at the same time (1885), has since been advanced to a higher class and (equally with the latter) is capable of committing the offense. (b) 18 A. G. Op., 507, Garland, Nov. 16, 1886; ib., 292, Garland, Nov. 12, 1885.

(c) Cadet of second class.—Where the record of the proceedings of a court-martial in the case of a naval cadet of the second class, who was tried under the act of June 23, 1874, for the offense of hazing, showed that the acts complained of were pulling the nose, striking at, striking, and otherwise maltreating a naval cadet of the fourth class: Held, that these facts, in conjunction with other circumstances, present a case containing all that is essential to constitute the offense of hazing within the meaning of the statute, and that the court had jurisdiction of the complaint. (c) 18 A. G. Op., 376, Garland, Mar. 12, 1886.

(a) 11 A. G. Op., 117. (a) Interference with.—When such a head has rightfully assumed jurisdiction, another coordinate Department should not interfere with its control of the particular case.

(b) 13 A. G. Op., 113. (b) Delay of action by.—Delay of action by the head of a Department should not be allowed at the request of a committee of Congress.

(c) 7 A. G. Op., 594. (c) Certify by delegation.—The head of a Department can not certify by delegation when not authorized to do so by Congress.

(d) 20 A. G. Op., 573, Olney, Apr. 12, 1893. (d) Personal liability of.—The head of a Department incurs no personal liability by executing an instrument which should not have been executed, if he acts in reliance upon properly chosen subordinates whose ability and good faith he has no reason to doubt.

U. S. v. Ross, 1 Gall., 624. High seas.—The words “high seas” mean any waters on the seacoast which are without the boundaries of low-water mark, although such waters may be in a roadstead or bay within the jurisdictional limits of a foreign government.

(a) U. S. v. Grush, 5 Mason, 290. (a) Fauces terræ.—The uninclosed waters of the ocean on the seacoast outside the fauces terræ are also included in the words “high seas.”

Act Jan. 4, 1889, ch. 19, s. 2; 19 A. G. Op., 296. Hospital, Marine, Service.—The provision in the statute cited that “no officer shall be promoted to the rank of passed assistant surgeon until after four years’ service,” applies to all assistant surgeons in the Marine-Hospital Service without any exception.

21 A. G., O. p. 59, Olney, Sept. 22, 1894. Hydrographic Office, purchase of supplies.—All purchases and contracts for supplies in any of the Departments of the Government must be made by advertisement unless immediate delivery is necessary.

Rev. Stat., s. 3709; act Jan. 27, 1894, ch. 22; act Apr. 21, 1894, ch. 61. (a) The first two sentences of the section cited as amended by the acts cited apply to purchases anywhere in the United States. The remaining three sentences apply only to purchases in the city of Washington.

(b) Act Apr. 21, 1894, s. 2. (b) The word “miscellaneous,” in the urgent deficiency act, cited, must be restricted to that class of commodities which must be purchased on a considerable scale and used alike by many or all of the various Departments and Government establishments in the city of Washington.

21 Stat. L., 164, ch. 129; Supp. Rev. Stat., 290, 291. Judge-Advocate-General.—The statute cited provides for the appointment, for a term of four years, from the officers of the Navy or the Marine Corps, of a Judge-Advocate-General of the Navy, whose office shall be in the Navy Department.

(a) Entitled to shore pay only.—Under the provisions of the act of June 8, 1881 (21 Stat., p. 164), an officer of the Navy serving as Judge-Advocate-General is entitled to shore pay only. (a) 28 C. of C., p. 468.

(b) Not entitled to sea-pay rations.—The provisions of the Revised Statutes (sec. 1679) that "No person not actually attached to and doing duty on board a sea-going vessel," with certain exceptions, "shall be allowed a ration," precludes the allowance of a sea-pay ration to the Judge-Advocate-General, whose duty is in the Navy Department (Lemly v. The United States, 28 C. of C., p. 468). In this decision the cases relating to sea pay, sea service, and military and naval allowances are examined.

Lien laws, property of United States, contractors.—Assuming that the title to the land on which a dry dock is built, and the exclusive jurisdiction over it, are in the United States, the mechanic's lien laws of South Carolina do not operate thereon, and claims under such laws may be ignored in settlements with contractors. 21 A. G. Op., 19, Olney, May 11, 1894; the Siren, 7 Wall., 152; Car v. U. S., 98 U. S., 432; opinion reaffirmed Nov. 7, 1894. See vol. 21, p. 78.

Line, officers of.—The commissioned officers and warrant officers on the active list of the Navy of the United States, and the petty officers, seamen, ordinary seamen, firemen, coal heavers, and employees in the Navy, shall be entitled to receive Rev. Stat., s. 1556.

Longevity pay.—The longevity pay is payable only from the date of commission, which is the actual time of the President's signing of the commission, and not an antecedent date mentioned in its body. Young v. U. S., 19 C. Cls. R., 145.

(a) Credit for length of service.—The statute of 1883, chapter 97, deals with the credit for length of service as it might have been given when the grade having graduated pay was first held by an officer who had served in the Volunteer Navy. Subsequent service is not within it. It does not increase the salary of a lower grade antecedently held by an officer. The pay acts apply only to the grades held by officers while such acts were in force. Credit for length of service can not be given in a grade which did not have graduated pay when held by the officer, merely because such pay was subsequently attached to it. (a) Act ——— 1883, ch. 97; U. S. v. Rockwell, 120 U. S., 60; 21 C. Cls. R., 332; U. S. v. Mullan, 123 id., 186.

(b) Volunteer officers entitled to credit.—Under the act of 1883 a naval officer who served in the Volunteer Navy is entitled to credit for such service in the lowest grade in the Regular Navy having graduated pay at the time he held it. (b) Id.

(d) Service at Naval Academy.—So service as a midshipman at the Naval Academy is service as an officer in the Navy within the longevity acts. (d) U. S. v. Baker, 125 U. S., 646; 23 C. Cls. R., 181, 496.

(e) Service as paymaster's steward in Marine Corps gives credit.—And, under those acts, an officer in the Marine Corps who served as paymaster's steward is entitled to be credited with the time of such service. (e) Muse v. U. S., 19 C. Cls. R., 441.

Such a contract may be avoided by the minor himself, by the parent or guardian, or by the United States.

(d) Re Shugru, 3 Mackey, 324. (d) Marines not enlisted for the Navy.—Persons enlisted in the Marine Corps are not enlisted in the Navy.

(e) Rev. Stat., s. 1449; 10 A. G. Op., 129. See s. 1246. (e) Discretionary power.—The statute of 1861, chapter 42, section 17, gave the Secretary of the Navy discretionary power to select, for the trial of officers of the Marine Corps, such commissioned officers, under his control and orders, as he deemed proper.

(f) Rev. Stat., s. 1454; Magaw v. U. S., 16 C. Cls. R., 3; 15 A. G. Op., 445. (f) Marine Corps.—There is but one rate of pay fixed by law for officers of the Marine Corps retired.

- (g) Moneys appropriated for pay of.—All balances of moneys appropriated for the pay of the Navy or pay of the Marine Corps, for any year existing after the accounts for said year shall have been settled, shall be covered into the Treasury. (g) Act July 26, 1886; 24 Stat. L., 157.
- (h) Officer of, not entitled to ration, etc.—An officer of the Marine Corps is not a naval officer, and is not entitled to this ration when attached to a seagoing vessel. Under section 1612 he is subject to section 1269. (h) Rev. Stat., s. 1523; Reid v. U. S., 18 C. Cls. R., 625.
- (i) Commandant, how appointed.—The commandant now has the rank and pay of colonel, and is appointed by selection by the President from the officers of the Corps. (i) Rev. Stat., s. 1593; 18 Stat. L., 58.
- (j) No appointments to be made.—By the statute of June 30, 1876, chapter 159, no appointments are thereafter to be made, except by promotion, to fill vacancies in the list of commissioned officers of the Marine Corps until their number is reduced, by casualties or otherwise, to 75. (j) 19 Stat. L., 65.
- (k) Promotions to fill vacancies.—By the statute of January 30, 1885, chapter 43, no appointments are thereafter to be made, except by promotion, to fill vacancies occurring in the list of commissioned officers of this Corps until their number is reduced, by casualties or otherwise, below 75, as fixed by the act of 1876, and after such reduction the whole number of such commissioned officers on the active list shall not exceed 75. (k) 22 Stat. L., 293; act Jan. 30, 1885, ch. 30.
- (l) No commutation for forage for.—Sections cited provide that no commutation for forage for the Marine Corps shall be paid. (l) 22 Stat. L., 295, 480; 23 Stat. L., 294, 432.

See notes to ss. 74 and 1596.
- (a) Same by land and by sea.—The statute of June 30, 1876, chapter 159 (19 Stat. L., 65), repeals so much of the statute of 1874 as applies to naval officers engaged in public business; allows them 8 cents per mile in lieu of their actual expenses, and provides that thereafter enlistments in the Navy shall cease until the number of enlisted men is reduced to 7,500. Under this statute there is no distinction between travel by land and by sea. (a) U.S. v. Temple, 105 U.S., 97; 14 C. Cls. R., 377; 15 A. G. Op., 309; U. S. v. Graham, 110 U.S., 219; 18 C. Cls. (2) An officer is ordinarily bound to travel by the shortest usually traveled route. He is not bound to choose an extraordinary and unusual route because it is the shortest, but he has no right to choose another because it is the longest.

(3) Where an officer does not travel by the most direct route, or, being ordered to travel by one route, is compelled to travel by another, he must bring to the accounting officers the authority or ratification of the Department, and if he neglects to do so, must establish in a judicial tribunal the facts upon which his right rests.

(a) Examination of, etc.—While a previous notification may not be essential to the validity of a recommendation, yet the date is so. Section 1515 is to be read as if the dates fixed by the regulations of the Academy for the examination of candidates were expressly inserted therein, and therefore the season for recommendations and nominations of cadet midshipmen begins after March 5 and expires on September 22 in each year. Each Member has the control of all appointments to be made during any current year of his term.

(b) Rev. Stat., s. 1517; 10 A. G. Op., 315, 320.

(b) Eligibility as to age.—Candidates for appointment as naval cadets must be between 14 and 18 years of age.

(c) Rev. Stat., ss. 1519 and 1525.

(c) The first section cited reads: "Cadet midshipmen found deficient at any examination shall not be continued at the Academy or in the service unless upon the recommendation of the Academic Board."

The latter section cited reads: "Cadet engineers shall be examined from time to time according to regulations prescribed by the Secretary of the Navy, and if found deficient at any examination, or if dismissed for misconduct, they shall not be continued in the Academy or in the service, except upon the recommendation of the Academy Board."

(d) 15 A. G. Op., 634.

(d) These provisions leave in the Secretary of the Navy no right to continue at the Academy, without the required recommendation, cadets found deficient in their studies.

(e) Rev. Stat., s. 1521; 15 A. G. Op., 637.

(e) "Graduating examinations."—These words mean that examination which, under the regulations of the Naval Academy, takes place after the prescribed term of sea service has been performed. Assignments of relative rank, as between members of the same class based upon the results of such examination, are in conformity with law.

(f).

(f) Cadet engineers.—A naval cadet engineer who is not deficient at examination or dismissed for misconduct under section 1525, or under sentence of a court-martial, but is honorably discharged by the Secretary of the Navy against his will, still remains in the service and may recover his pay in the Court of Claims.

(g) Vested rights of cadets.—A naval cadet has no vested right to appointment as an officer in the Navy, and is liable to be discharged if there is no vacancy to which he can be appointed. (g) Harmon's Case, 23 C. Cls R., 132.

(h) Rank of naval cadets.—Section 1521 of the Revised Statutes reads: "When cadet midshipmen shall have passed successfully the graduating examination at the Academy, they shall receive appointments as midshipmen and shall take rank according to their proficiency as shown by the order of their merit at date of graduation." (h) Rev. Stat., s. 1521. This section is amended by act of Aug. 5, 1882, ch. 391; 22 Stat. L., 285.

The act of August 5, 1882, cited under (h), repeals so much of the section quoted (1521) as is inconsistent with its provisions, to wit: 22 Stat. L., 285.

"That hereafter there shall be no appointments of cadet midshipmen or cadet engineers at the Naval Academy, but in lieu thereof naval cadets shall be appointed from each Congressional district and at large, as now provided by law for cadet midshipmen, and all the undergraduates at the Naval Academy shall hereafter be designated and called naval cadets; and from those who successfully complete the six years' course appointments shall hereafter be made as it is necessary to fill vacancies in the lower grades of the line and Engineer Corps of the Navy and of the Marine Corps: And provided further, That no greater number of appointments into these grades shall be made each year than shall equal the number of vacancies which has occurred in the same grades during the preceding year; such appointments to be made from the graduates of the year, at the conclusion of their six years' course, in the order of merit, as determined by the Academic Board of the Naval Academy; the assignment to the various corps to be made by the Secretary of the Navy upon the recommendation of the Academic Board. But nothing herein contained shall reduce the number of appointments from such graduates below ten in each year, nor deprive of such appointment any graduate who may complete the six years' course during the year eighteen hundred and eighty-two. And if there be a surplus of graduates, those who do not receive such appointment shall be given a certificate of graduation, an honorable discharge, and one year's sea pay, as now provided by law for cadet midshipmen.

"That any cadet whose position in his class entitles him to be retained in the service may, upon his own application, be honorably discharged at the end of four years' course in the Naval Academy, with a proper certificate of graduation.

"That the Secretary of the Navy may prescribe a special course of study and training at home or abroad for any naval cadet.

"That the pay of naval cadets shall be that now allowed by law to cadet midshipmen; and as much of the money hereby appropriated as may be necessary during the fiscal year ending June thirtieth, eighteen hundred and eighty-three, shall be expended for that purpose.”

(i) Surplus graduates, discharge of.—The provision of the act of 1882, just quoted, for the discharge of surplus naval cadet graduates, was prospective only, and did not apply to the classes of 1881 and 1882, and naval cadets who, prior to this act, had fully completed their course at the Academy, and received their diplomas, became by this act graduates.

(j) 22 Stat. L., 472; act Mar. 3, 1883.

(j) Number of midshipmen provided for.—The statute of March 3, 1883, makes provision for ninety-one midshipmen, the title of which grade is hereby changed to ensign, and the midshipmen now on the list shall constitute a junior grade of, and be commissioned as, ensigns, having the same rank and pay as now provided by law for midshipmen, but promotions to and from said grade shall be under the same regulations and requirements as now provided by law for promotion to and from the grade of midshipmen, and nothing herein contained shall be construed as to increase the pay now allowed by law to any officer of said grade or of any officer of relative rank. * * * And all officers of the Navy shall be credited with the actual time they may have served as officers or enlisted men in the Regular or Volunteer Army or Navy, or both, and shall receive all the benefits of such actual service in all respects in the same manner as if all said service had been continuous and in the Regular Navy in the lowest grade having graduated pay held by such officer since last entering the service: Provided, That nothing in this clause shall be so construed as to authorize any change in the dates of commission or in the relative rank of such officers: Provided further, That nothing herein contained shall be so construed as to give any additional pay to any such officer during the time of his service in the Volunteer Army or Navy.

Rev. Stat., s. 1756; 1 Com. D., 849.

Oath of office.—The language of the original act was, after “profit,” in the second line, “under the Government of the United States, either in civil, military or naval departments of the public service,” and the words in the third line, “and the persons embraced by the following,” were here added. The original act was regarded as superseding the former laws prescribing an oath of office, whether general or applicable to departmental officers in the narrow sense of the term only.

This section was repealed by the act cited, which provides that hereafter the oath to be taken by any person elected or appointed to any office of honor or profit, either in the civil, military, or naval service, except the President of the United States, shall be as prescribed in section 1757 of the Revised Statutes. But this repeal shall not affect the oaths prescribed by existing statutes in relation to the performance of duties in special or particular subordinate offices and employments.

Act May 13, 1884, ch. 46; 23 Stat. L., 22.

(a) Before whom to be taken.—The oath must be taken before an officer authorized to administer oaths by the laws of the United States, and a foreign consul residing in Mexico has not such authority.

Parade, employees absent from duty.—Employees of the United States who are members of the National Guard are not entitled to leave of absence from their respective duties without loss of pay or time in order to engage in rifle practice, even although in the general orders of the commanding general of the militia such rifle practice may be called a parade.

Rev. Stat., s. 49, ch. 328; 25 Stat. L., 779; 20 A. G. Op., 669, Olney, Sept. 29, 1893.

Passed assistant (first) engineers, pay of.—“The passed assistant engineers of the Navy shall receive during the third five years after the date from which they take rank as passed (first) assistants, when at sea, two thousand four hundred and fifty dollars; on shore duty, two thousand two hundred and fifty dollars; on leave or waiting orders, one thousand nine hundred dollars. During and after the fourth five years from such date, when at sea, two thousand seven hundred dollars; on shore duty, two thousand three hundred and fifty dollars; on leave or waiting orders, one thousand nine hundred and fifty dollars. And Revised Statutes, section fifteen hundred and fifty-six, is hereby amended accordingly.”

This changes the provision of section 1556 of the Revised Statutes, edition 1878.

Patents for inventions.—A naval officer, or employee of the Government at a navy-yard, who has invented an article for use in the naval service and patented it, if the invention does not relate to a matter as to which he was specially directed to experiment with a view to suggest improvements, is entitled to compensation from the Government for the use of such article in addition to his salary or pay as such officer or employee.

Rev. Stat., s. 3718; 19 A. G. Op., 407, Miller, Oct. 4, 1889; James v. Campbell, 104 U. S. R., 356; U. S. v. Benedict Manufacturing Co., 113 U. S. R., 60; U. S. v. Burns, 12 Wall., 246; U. S. v. Palmer, 123 U. S. R., 262.

It makes no difference that the invention consists of an improvement upon an article already patented, and that when the improvement was patented the officer or employe was assigned to the duty of superintending for the Government the manufacture of the article improved upon.

The Secretary of the Navy cannot legally contract with the patentee for the purchase of his patent, or for a license to use it, under an appropriation limited to the purchase of material and the employment of labor in the manufacture of such article out of it.

Patent rights—Ensign.—The Secretary of the Navy may lawfully contract with an ensign of the Navy for the purchase of patent rights and improvements in "B. L. R. ordnance" for use in the Navy when the ensign was not employed to make experiments, paid himself the expenses of obtaining letters patent, and when no expense was authorized or facility furnished by the Bureau of Ordnance to aid him in making or perfecting his invention.

The former section (3721) applies to the case, and not the latter section cited.

Pay and allowances.—The section of the Revised Statutes cited declares the pay and allowances to naval officers. But before the act of 1835 (4 Stat. L., 757) the Secretary of the Navy could make allowance from appropriations in gross to naval officers, beyond their pay, for quarters, furniture, lights, fuel, etc., and the act of 1866 (14 Stat. L. 33), by repealing the statute of 1835, restored the right to make such allowances.

(a) Pay of an officer advanced in rank for eminent or conspicuous conduct, etc.—The pay of an officer who has been advanced in rank "for eminent or conspicuous conduct in battle or extraordinary heroism" (see section 1506) is not one of the cases within sections 1561 and 1562, and can not run from a date anterior to that of his commission.

Pay inspector.—In this section the title "Pay inspector" expresses both title and grade in the Pay Corps. This section confers upon such officers the rank of commander only by relation to the rank of a line officer of that grade, and not the grade of commander. By "relative rank" the grades of this Pay Corps are made equal to, but not identical with, the grades of the line with which they are thereby associated.

malicious destruction of property, it does not constitute a piratical aggression within this section.

- (a) Extends to foreign vessels.—The provisions of the statute cited extend to foreign vessels, and no matter what liability the United States may incur to foreign States the courts are bound to carry them into effect. (a) Id.
- (b) American vessels offending.—American vessels offending against our laws may be seized upon the ocean, and any foreign ship offending within our territorial jurisdiction may be pursued and seized upon the ocean and brought in for adjudication. (b) Id.
- (c) Commissson bona fide.—When a vessel receives a commission bona fide and the crew acts under it bona fide, it ought, at all events in the courts of neutral nations, to be held a protection against the imputation of general piracy, though there may be irregularities in its granting. (c) The Palmyra, 12 Wheat., 1.
- (d) Predatory spirit in connection with defects of commission.—If the insubordination and predatory spirit of the crew, in connection with the defects of the commission, be such as to excite justly founded suspicions, the captors are justified for bringing in the vessels for adjudication, and are exempted from damages and costs. (d) Id.; the Ambrose Light, 25 F. R., 408, 417.
- (e) Vessel armed for offense or defense.—Whether the vessel is armed for offense or defense is immaterial, provided she commits the unlawful acts specified. Nor is it necessary, to bring the vessel within the statute, that there should be either actual plunder or an intent to plunder. It is sufficient that the act be committed from hatred, or an abuse of power, or from mischief. (e) Rev. Stat., s. 4295; U. S. v. Brig Malek Adhel, 2 How., 210.
- (f) Piratical.—The word “piratical” is not to be limited to such acts only as by the laws of nations are denominated piracy, but includes such as pirates are in the habit of committing, “as defined by the law of nations.” (f) Id. Private sale of old material.—A private sale of old material from the breaking up of a war vessel by a naval officer to a contractor for repairs to a war vessel and machinery violates this section. The Secretary of the Navy must proceed according to this provision, and can not make an exchange, even when advantageous to the service, of a vessel belonging to the Navy. Rev. Prize—Armed merchant vessel not in service not entitled to share.—An armed merchant vessel which is not in the service of the United States and has no commission from the Government is not entitled to share in the proceeds of a prize, although she is present at the capture and cooperates therein.

(a) Rev. Stat., s. 4624; 13 Stat. L., 314, s. 27.

(a) Appraisal, etc., of property taken by Government.—Whenever any captured vessel, arms, munitions, or other material are taken for the use of the United States before it comes into the custody of the prize court, it shall be surveyed, appraised, and inventoried by persons as competent and impartial as can be obtained, and the survey, appraisal, and inventory shall be sent to the court in which proceedings are to be had; and if taken afterwards, sufficient notice shall first be given to enable the court to have the property appraised for the protection of the rights of the claimants and captors. In all cases of prize property taken for or appropriated to the use of the Government, the Department for whose use it is taken or appropriated shall deposit the value thereof with the assistant treasurer of the United States nearest to the place of the session of the court, subject to the order of the court in the cause.

(b) The opinion cited discusses the case of the steamer Nuestra Señora de Regla, and advises that there should be an appeal to the Supreme Court of the United States. The claimants of the steamer were allowed damages for a detention for a period of 568 days. This the opinion considers excessive, and says that the number of days allowed for detention should be 274; and instead of allowance for detention there should have been allowed interest upon the value of the boat as appraised.

(e) Expenses incident to sale, how paid.—The United States district courts can not make the expenses incident to the sale of prize money a charge upon the fund for defraying expenses of suits in which the United States is a party under this provision, if there was a prize fund upon which to charge the expenses.

- (f) United States district courts and questions of prize.—Such courts take cognizance of questions of prize by virtue of their general jurisdiction. (f) The Army Warwick, 2 Sprague, 123; 1 A. G. Op., 85; The Siren, 7 Wall., 152.

(g) The Thompson, 3 Wall., 155; The Amelia, 1 Cranch, 1; 4 Dall., 34; The George, 1 Mason, 24.
- (h) Capture without probable cause—restitution.—But if the capture is made without probable cause, the captor, even though in command of a United States war vessel, is liable to make restitution in the full value of the property injured or destroyed, although the vessel is afterwards taken from him by superior force. - (m) Final disposition of a prize cause.—A prize cause is finally disposed of when the captured property is adjudged to be or not to be lawful prize; for that is the judgment on the merits, and then the rights of the parties are fixed, and nothing remains to be done but the application of the judgment. (m) Rev. Stat., s. 4640; Root v. U. S., 9 C. Cls. R., 211.
- (n) Maximum charge in bill of costs.—In the case cited a charge by the prize commissioner in his bill of costs of 1 per cent custody fee on the proceeds of the vessel and cargo was disallowed as exceeding the maximum fixed by statute. (n) Rev. Stat., s. 4646; Hattie, Blatch. Pr. Cas., 595.

- (bb) 9 A. G. Op., 455. (bb) Ascertaining nationality of a vessel.—Any measures which the commander of an armed vessel may take to ascertain the nationality of another vessel, beyond firing a blank shot, or, in case of delay, a shot across the latter's bows, is at his own peril.

(ff) Proofs to warrant condemnation.—Usually a case in prize will not be heard on further proofs than such as come from the ship, unless upon this evidence the case is not sufficiently clear to warrant condemnation or restitution.
- (gg) Hooper v. U. S., 22 C. Cls. R., 408. (gg) Burden of proof.—In prize proceedings the burden of proof is on the vessel.
- (hh) The Sally Magee, 3 Wall., 451. (hh) Cases usually heard on the papers.—Cases of prize are usually heard, in the first instance, upon the papers found on board the vessel, and the examinations taken in preparatorio.

- (ii) Verification of ship's papers and examination of crew.—The ship's papers should be brought into court and verified on oath by the captors, and the examination of the captured crew should be taken upon the standing interrogatories, and not viva voce, in open court. Nor should the captured crew be permitted to be reexamined in court, for they are bound to declare the whole truth upon their first examination. (ii) The Pizarro, 2 Wheat., 227.
- (jj) Act showing intention to seize.—Some act should be done showing an intention to seize and retain as prize in order to constitute a capture; but it is sufficient if such intention is fairly to be inferred from the conduct of the captor. (jj) The Gro-tius, 9 Cranch, 368.
- (kk) Capture by noncommissioned captor—false claim, etc.—Whenever a capture is made by a noncommissioned captor, the Government may, after a decree of condemnation and before the distribution of the prize proceeds, contest the rights of the captor, and the condemnation must be to the Government. It rests on the claimant to prove that his interest is neutral, according to the rules of the prize courts, and if it is not established beyond a reasonable doubt condemnation follows. The assertion of a false claim, in whole or in part, by an agent, or in connivance with the real owner, is a substantive cause of condemnation. (kk) The Ami-able Isabella, 6 Wheat., 1.
- (ll) Ownership of property seized.—When a vessel is liable to confiscation, the first presumption is that the cargo is also, and ownership thus presumptively in the enemy is not disproved by a test affidavit couched in general terms of denial and unsupported by other affirmative evidence. The ownership of property belonging to the enemy can not be changed while it is in transitu. The capture clothes the captors with all the rights of the owner which subsisted at the commencement of the voyage, and anything done thereafter designed to incumber the property or change its ownership is a nullity. (ll) The Sally Magee, 3 Wall., 451.
- (mm) What a libel in prize must allege.—The rule is that a libel in prize must allege generally the fact of capture as prize of war. It need not allege the particular cause for which the vessel has been seized. (mm) The An-dromeda, 2 Wall., 481.
- (nn) The fact of capture gives jurisdiction.—The filing of the libel is not necessary to give jurisdiction to a court of admiralty over a vessel captured de jure belli. The fact of the capture gives jurisdiction. Property arrested as prize is not attachable at the suit of private parties, and if they have any claims against it they must present them to the court of prize. (nn) The Nas-sau, 4 Wall., 634.
- (oo) Decree of inferior court.—The decree of an inferior court will not necessarily be reversed because in its discretion it has allowed an invocation to be made on the first or original hearing, such invocation not being regularly made on the first hearing, but only after a cause has been fully heard on the ship's documents and the preparatory proofs, and where suspicious circumstances appear therefrom. (oo) The Spring-bok, 5 Wall., 1.
- (pp) Mortgage on vessel or cargo held by innocent party.—A mortgage on a vessel or cargo held by an innocent party is not a jus in re so as to be protected by the law of nations in a prize court. It is a mere lien, and simply security for the debt for which it is given.

(qq) The Watchful, 6 Wall., 91.

(qq) No case made out, but suspicious circumstances.—Where no case of prize was made out by the evidence, but there were other suspicious circumstances showing a prima facie case of violation of the navigation laws, and probably of the revenue laws also, the court held that the proper practice was to dismiss the libel and to remand the case to the court below for an amendment of the libel, or for such other proceedings as the Government might, under all the circumstances, see fit to adopt.

(rr) The Georgia, 7 Wall., 32.

(rr) Further proofs.—Where both parties have taken further proofs without objection, the inference is that there must have been an order for the same, or else that the depositions were taken by mutual consent, and the court of appeals will not entertain a motion that all the depositions except those in preparatorio should be stricken out or disregarded because it does not appear that any order has been granted on behalf of either party to take further proofs.

(ss) Swan v. U. S., 19 C. Cls. R., 51.

(ss) Distribution.—The word “distribution” refers to two things: First, a division of the prize money between two or more vessels making or aiding in the capture, or between the capturing vessel or vessels and the United States; second, a division among the fleet officers and the officers and crew of a capturing vessel of the prize money awarded to her by judicial decree. The former must be decreed by a prize court, the latter by the Treasury and Navy Departments.

(uu) Recapture—salvage.—Cases of recapture are cases of prize. Salvage is an incident to the question of prize, and American property recaptured may be restored on payment of salvage.

(vv) The Star, supra.

(vv) Sentence of condemnation extinguishes title.—By the general maritime law a sentence of condemnation completely extinguished the title of the original owner, and where property was recaptured after a sentence of condemnation had been passed upon it the original owner was held not entitled to restitution on the payment of salvage.

(xx) The Sally, 8 Cranch, 382; The Hampton, 5 Wall., 372, 376.

(xx) Forfeiture, etc.—Neither the act of July 13, 1861, providing for the forfeiture of vessels and cargoes in certain cases, nor the act of March 3, 1863, to protect the liens upon vessels in certain cases, refers to captures jure belli; and neither affects the law of prize. “The case of The Sally is a direct decision of this court that a statute creating a municipal forfeiture does not override or displace the law of prize.”

- (yy) Title, etc.—No title can be derived but from the prize acts, and seizures made jure belli by noncommissioned captors are made for the Government. The noncommissioned captor can proceed in a prize court only as for salvage, the amount of which lies in the discretion of the court, and unless there is a very clear case of mistake in the exercise of this discretion the appellate court will not interfere. (yy) The Dos Hermanos, 10 Wheat., 306.
- (zz) Commanders of divisions and fleet captains.—By the statute cited, repealing all acts inconsistent therewith, paragraphs 1 and 2 of this section are to apply to commanders of divisions and fleet captains from April, 1861 (the commencement of the late war), and the shares shall be paid in the manner as provided for division commanders in said paragraph 2, said payments to be made out of the naval pension fund. (zz) Rev. Stat., s. 4631; 14 A. G. Op., 150, 524; 11 id., 326, 519; act June 8, 1874, ch. 256; 18 Stat. L., 63.
- (aaa) “Commander of a single ship.”—In the reenactment of the fourth rule the words “commander of a single vessel” are here substituted for “commander of a single ship.” (aaa) U. S. v. Steever, 113 U. S., 753.
- (bbb) Law regulating distribution of prize money.—The law regulating the distribution of prize money among naval captors is a conditional grant by Congress which becomes absolute as soon as the conditions are fulfilled. (bbb) 11 A. G. Op., 94, 102, 147, 148.
- (ccc) Proceeds of captured property.—Apart from such express grant, the proceeds of property captured as prize of war belong exclusively to the Government. (ccc) The Merriam, Blatch. Pr. Cas., 584.
- (ddd) Torpedo steam launch is a “ship.”—A torpedo steam launch is a “ship” within the meaning of this act, and under the last clause of rule 5 prize money is to be distributed among the subordinate officers and crew of a ship according to their pay at the time of the capture, unaffected by subsequent promotion as of that time. (ddd) U. S. v. Steever, supra; 14 A. G. Op., 150, 365; 15 id., 64; Swan v. U. S., 19 C. Cls. R., 51.
- (hhh) Officer absent when capture is made.—An officer absent on leave is not entitled to share in prizes captured during his absence. (hhh) 11 A. G. Op., 327.
- (iii) Rights of individual captors.—The rights of individual captors become fixed at the moment of capture. The promotion of an officer after capture and before distribution, though his commission takes effect from the date of capture, does not affect his share of the prize money. (iii) Swan v. U. S., supra.
- (jjj) When entitled to only one-half the prize money.—Where a captured vessel, which was of superior force to either of two vessels she proceeded to attack, but of inferior force to the two combined, fired on one, but was forced to surrender by the destructive fire of the other at the second shot, the capturing force was held to be of superior strength, as both vessels must be counted, and consequently that they were entitled to only one-half the prize money. (jjj) The Atlanta, 3 Wall., 425.
- (kkk) Libel in prize.—A state of war must exist to sustain a libel in prize. (kkk) 11 A. G. Op., 114; The City of Mexico, 28 F. R., 148.
- (lll) Piratical aggression.—A vessel captured for piratical aggression becomes a prize on account of the universal war presumed to have been declared by the pirate against commerce and human kind. There must be some overt act; intent is not sufficient. (lll)

Rev. Stat. s. 1400; act Jan. 20, 1881, ch. 24; Stat. L., 317.

Professors of mathematics.—They must pass a physical and professional examination before appointment.

(a) Relative rank of.—Professors of mathematics shall have relative rank as follows: Three, the relative rank of captain; four, that of commander; and five, that of lieutenant-commander or lieutenant.

The grades established in the six preceding sections for the staff corps of the Navy shall be filled by appointment from the highest members in each corps, according to seniority; and new commissions shall be issued to the officers so appointed, in which the titles and grades established in said sections shall be inserted; and no existing commission shall be vacated in the said several staff corps, except by the issue of the new commissions required by the provisions of this section; and no officer shall be reduced in rank or lose seniority in his own corps by any change which may be required under the provisions of the said six preceding sections: Provided, That the issuing of a new appointment and commission to any officer of the Pay Corps under the provisions of this section shall not affect or annul any existing bond, but the same shall remain in force, and apply to such new appointment and commission.

16 A. G. Op., 414; see also Rev. Stat., s. 1475.

Form of commission.—A commission to D., “a pay inspector from the — day of —, A. D. 187—, with the relative rank of commander,” gives the appropriate title and grade of the officer it names, and satisfies this section.

Rev. Stat., s. 1460, Aug. 15, 1876; 17 A. G. Op., p. 495; ss. 1460, 1461 were repealed by the act of Aug. 5, 1882.

Promotion while on retired list.—Attorney-General Brewster, in expressing an official opinion on the scope and meaning of the section cited, says: “An officer who was retired as a commodore, and has since been promoted to the grade of rear-admiral on the retired list, under the act cited, is not entitled to any increase of pay by reason of his promotion.”

Act June 22, 1874, ch. 392.

Act June 15, 1870, ch. 295, s. 7.

The first section of the act cited is in pari materia with the provision touching the pay of promoted officers contained in the second, third, and fourth citations, and was designed to fix the commencement of the increased pay of promoted officers in active service only.

Rev. Stat., s. 1591.

The statute here cited, which declares that an officer promoted on the retired list shall not, in consequence of such promotion, be entitled to increase of pay, is applicable alike to officers promoted under section 1461, Revised Statutes, and to those promoted under section 1460, as amended.

By act of August 5, 1882, it was, however, provided that thereafter there should be “no promotion or increase of pay in the retired list of the Navy.”

Rev. Stat., s. 1444; 18 A. G. Op., 393, Garland, May 4, 1886; Vinton's Case, 2 Sumner, 299; 4 Op., 124.

Promotion.—February 18, 1886, E., a rear-admiral, was, under the section cited, transferred from the active to the retired list of the Navy, and T., a commodore (being first in the line of promotion), was, after having successfully passed an examination, nominated by the President to be a rear-admiral to fill the vacancy caused by the retirement of E. While this nomination was before the Senate awaiting action thereon, T. attained the age of 62 years. and under the section cited was transferred from the active to the retired list to rank as commodore: Advised, That, according to the law and usage of the service, T. was entitled to be rear-admiral from 18th of February, 1886, by relation, and to receive the pay of a rear-admiral from that date, and, if the Senate should confirm his nomination, might be commissioned as a rear-admiral and placed on the retired list as of that grade.

Promotion, examination for.—By the statute cited in examination for promotion in the Navy no fact decided at a previous examination is to be inquired into, unless such fact continuing shows the unfitness of the officer to perform all his duties at sea; and where this rule has been violated the President may order a reexamination. This act does not authorize the President and Senate to place officers on the retired or active list, or repeal the laws limiting the active force of the Navy. As a general act, it was intended to regulate appeals for special legislation on the subject, substituting a judicial inquiry in the department for investigations by its committee.

Rev. Stat., s. 1493; 20 Stat. L., 165, ch. 267; Thompson v. U. S., 18 C. Cls. R., 604.

(a) By the statute of June 22, 1874, a Navy officer promoted in course has the pay of the grade to which he is promoted from the date he takes rank therein, if subsequent to the vacancy he is appointed to fill. This cuts off increase of pay until promotion.

(a) Rev. Stat., s. 1495; 18 Stat. L., 191; Hunt v. U. S., 116 U. S., 396; Adamson v. U. S., 19 C. Cls. R., 623.

Promotion, officers rejected from.—“When the case of any officer has been acted upon by a board of naval surgeons and an examining board for promotion * * * and he shall not have been recommended for promotion by both of the said boards, he shall be placed upon the retired list.”

Rev. Stat., s. 1447.

(a) Proceedings without notice.—If, upon proceedings taken by a naval board without notice to the officer interested, its findings are approved by the President and the officer is retired, the order of retirement may be revoked and the officer allowed a hearing so long as the vacancy in the office remains unfilled.

(a) 16 A. G. Op., 20.

(b) Right to be present.—“Any officer whose case is to be acted upon by such examining board shall have the right to be present, if he so desires, and to submit a statement of his case on oath.”

(c) Same as in the Army.—“Act to provide for the examination of certain officers of the Marine Corps, and to regulate promotion therein.”

(c) 27 Stat. L., 321; act July 28, 1892.

Promotion and pay.—By the statutes cited a Navy officer promoted in course has the pay of the grade to which he is promoted from the date he takes rank therein, if subsequent to the vacancy he is appointed to fill. This cuts off increase of pay until promotion.

Publications for official use.—The head of a Department has no right under the section cited to make a requisition on the Public Printer for a greater number of copies of publications other than “bills and resolutions” than the number of bureaus in the Department and divisions in the office of the head thereof.

If he makes the requisition under the general authority vested in his Department, and with the understanding that the cost is to be charged against the printing appropriation for his Department, he has the right to make such requisition, and the Public Printer has no authority to pass upon the character of publications which he may deem essential for carrying out the work of his Department.

- Pursers.—In the absence of a duly appointed purser the commander of a naval squadron on a foreign station may appoint an acting purser.
- (a) A purser's pay stops when his resignation is accepted, although the office may be kept alive for settlement.
- (b) Pursers are not allowed extra pay for any official duty.
- (c) Navy agents are not allowed extra compensation.
- (d) Under section 1378 the Pay Corps is limited to officers commissioned by the President, and clerks and others not so commissioned do not belong to the Pay Corps.
- (e) The appointment of a suitable person to act as purser ends when a regularly appointed paymaster reports for duty, and without discharge or revocation.
- (f) A purser's bond to the Government, even when not prescribed by law, is valid as a common-law obligation, and if his duties are not defined by statute and are regulated by usages or the orders of the Department, these should be pleaded in a suit for breach of the bond.
- (g) The offices of Navy agent and of Navy pension agent are not created by law, nor are their duties defined by law, but the former and pursers are both disbursing officers whose accounts are kept separately at the Treasury Department.
- Rations.—An apothecary in the Navy doing detail duty at the marine barracks is not entitled to a daily ration under the section cited. But petty officers and seamen attached to and doing duty on shipboard, though not upon a sea-going vessel, are included in the words "ordinary of a navy-yard," and are entitled to a ration. The section does not authorize a ration for the apothecary of the Naval Academy when engaged on shore duty.
- (a) Cadets, boys, and men entitled to rations.—The statute cited contains the following proviso: "That all enlisted men and boys in the Navy, attached to any United States vessel or station and doing duty thereon, and naval cadets, shall be allowed a ration, or commutation thereof in money, under such limitations and regulations as the Secretary of the Navy may prescribe."

Rank.—Secretary of the Navy may adopt a rule to regulate the relative rank of Navy officers, and afterwards rescind it and adopt another, and the civil courts can not interfere therein by mandamus. 22 Stat. L., 472; act Mar. 3, 1883, ch. 97; U. S. v. Whitney, 5 Mackey, 370; see Gould and Tucker's Notes on U. S. Stats., p. 47, note on s. 416; see Gould and Tucker's Notes, p. 421, note on s. 1521.

Statute of March 3, 1883, chapter 97, appropriates for nine hundred masters, the title of which grade is hereby changed to that of lieutenants, and the masters now on the list shall constitute a junior grade of, and be commissioned as, lieutenants, having the same rank and pay as now provided by law for masters, but promotion to and from said grade shall be by examination, as provided by law for promotion to and from the grade of masters; and nothing herein contained shall be so construed as to increase the pay now allowed by law to any officer in the line or staff.

Recommendation of Retiring Board.—The cited section 4 of the statute of 1862 did not authorize the appointment of an examining board to recommend the retirement or promotion of naval medical officers. Rev. Stat., s. 1504; act July 16, 1862, s. 4; 11 A. G. Op., 105.

Reenlistment.—Under the statute cited service in the Navy can not be counted, and a man can not be reenlisted as a private unless he has already served as such in the Army for twenty years. Act Feb. 27, 1893, ch. 168; 27 Stat. L., 478, Olney, Nov. 23, 1893.

Reexamination.—President may order reexamination where the rule that no fact decided at a previous examination shall be inquired into, unless such fact continuing shows the unfitness of the officer to perform all his duties at sea has been violated. Rev. Stat., s. 1493; case of Thompson v. U. S., 18 C. Cls. R., 604.

Regulations.—"The orders, regulations, and instructions issued by the Secretary of the Navy prior to July 14, 1862, with such alterations as he may since have adopted, with the approval of the President, shall be recognized as the regulations of the Navy, subject to alterations adopted in the same manner." Rev. Stat., s. 1547; act July 14, 1862, ch. 164; 12 Stat. L., 565.

(a) The following words at the end of the original act, cited in the margin, "Provided, That no order, regulation, or instruction contrary to any act of Congress is hereby recognized as valid," were omitted in the revision. These orders, etc., must conform to the law, if a law exists upon the subject, not covered by statute; the Secretary can not change the character of an officer's service from sea service to shore service by ordering that it be so regarded. (a) Symond's Case, 21 C. Cls. R., 148, 494; 120 U. S., 46. See 6 A. G. Op., 10; id., 9.

(b) The Army and Navy regulations have the force of law; but only with respect to a person or subject-matter over which the Secretary has official control. (b) Gratiot v. U. S., 4 How., 117; U. S. v. Maurice, 2 Brock., 105; Smith v. Whitney, 116 U. S., 180; J. Adv. Gen. Op., 116; 16 A. G. Op., 497; 2 id., 209. (c) 16 A. G. Op., 494.

(c) The Navy Regulations concerning balances due deceased seamen and marines, wills of persons in actual service, payment of arrearages under wills, etc., govern only those in the naval service, and do not bind the accounting officers of the Treasury in the settlement of naval accounts.

Rev. Stat., s. 1500; 16 A. G. Op., 20. Rehearing.—An officer retired by a board without being duly notified after he has had permission to be absent at home until notified may be given a rehearing by the President.

18 A. G. Op., 395; Garland, May 14, 1886. Reinstatement.—Cases of Robert B. Higgins, Clarence H. Matthews, and William B. Day, for reinstatement.

Mr. Higgins had been illegally deposed from performance of the duties and from an enjoyment of the emoluments of the office of cadet engineer, and he accepted the office of second assistant engineer in the Revenue Marine. Notwithstanding the two offices are incompatible, and that the general rule is that the acceptance of a second incompatible office operates as a resignation of the first, the acceptance of the second office was not inconsistent with an intent on Mr. Higgins's part to resume the exercise of the office of cadet engineer as soon as he might be recognized as such: Held, that in view of all the facts, what he has done does not amount to a resignation or abandonment of the office of cadet engineer, that he still holds it, and should be reinstated in the actual enjoyment and occupation of it.

U. S. v. Redgrave, 116 U. S., 474; Leopold v. U. S., 18 C. Cls. R., 557; Perkins v. U. S., 116 U. S., 483.

20 A. G. Op., 631; Maxwell, Acting A. G., Aug. 4, 1893.

In the cases of Matthews and Day, who were dropped from the roll, it was held that the action was illegal; that the order was void; that they were still in the service, and entitled to reinstatement upon the roll of the Navy.

Remission of penalty.—Where a contract for the construction of a vessel for the Government contains a clause imposing a penalty for each day's delay beyond a stipulated time for finishing the vessel, and further provides that any question as to liability for the infliction of said penalty should be referred to the Secretary of the Navy for decision, and provides that his decision shall be conclusive upon all parties to the contract, it is not proper for a subsequent Secretary of the Navy to remit the amount of penalties imposed by his predecessor and pay that sum to the contractor.

Repairs, provision for, on existing vessels of war.

Reports to Congress by Secretary of the Navy.—Clause 1 of the section cited is abbreviated and modified from the cited act, the part of which relating to the Secretary of War is stated in the revision in connection with his Department.

(a) In clause 3 the word "showing," in first line, is here added, and the words "and showing," in the fifth line, are here substituted for "a statement" in the original act.

(b) 20 Stat. L., 167, ch. 311; 21 Stat. L., 331, ch. 73.

(b) Tabular statement of receipts.—The Secretary of the Treasury is required to transmit to Congress annually a tabular statement of the receipts and expenditures in the naval service under each appropriation, together with an account of balances in the hands of disbursing agents and a report of any amounts lost or unaccounted for by voucher.

21 A. G. Op., 120; Olney, Jan. 19, 1895.

Reservation, naval, restoration to public domain.—Congress alone is competent to subject to general governmental uses land heretofore reserved from the public domain for the use of the Navy Department.

Resignation of naval cadets.—“Where a naval cadet tendered his resignation, and it was accepted by the Secretary of the Navy and the cadet duly notified thereof, but in a short time (about two weeks) afterwards the cadet made application to withdraw his resignation, which was granted by the Secretary, who at the same time instructed him to report to the Superintendent of the Academy: Held, that by the resignation and its acceptance the relations of the cadet with the Naval Academy were completely severed and his position there became vacant; that he could not be reinstated otherwise than by an appointment in conformity to the sections cited; and that the secretary in permitting the withdrawal of the resignation after its acceptance had no legal effect whatever.

- (p) Two classes, line between.—The cause of incapacity marks the line between the two classes of retired officers referred to in section 1588, those whose incapacity was caused by the service being entitled to three-fourths of their sea pay and those whose incapacity was not so caused to one-half such pay.
- (q) Rev. Stat., s. 1594; Brown v. U. S., 113 U. S., 568; 16 A. G. Op., 22; 18 Stat. L., 304, ch. 30.
- (q) Difference of pay to certain officers.—The statute (18 Stat. L.) cited allows difference of pay to certain officers of the Navy, who were dropped, furloughed, or retired under the statute of February 28, 1855, and afterwards promoted and restored. The causes of the retirement of a naval officer, transferred under this section from the furlough list to the retired pay list, determine his rate of pay under section 1588; and an officer retired on furlough pay from causes not incident to the service can not be transferred to the 75 per cent retired pay list thereby provided by action of the Executive.

- (c) Retiring boards.—Composition of retiring board and how ordered. (c) Rev. Stat., s. 1246.
- (d) Must report cause of incapacity.—When said retiring board finds an officer incapacitated for active service, it shall also find and report the cause which, in its judgment, produced his incapacity and whether such cause is an incident of the service. (d) Rev. Stat., s. 1451.
- (e) Subsequent reconsideration.—If a naval retiring board, convened to inquire into the nature and cause of an officer's disability, has completed its work, rendered a perfect judgment, and adjourned, a subsequent reconsideration of the judgment, unless directed or authorized by competent authority, is without legal effect. (e) Rodney's Case, 16 A. G. Op., 104.
- (f) Finding of a board.—The finding of the board, when approved by the President, settled the fact as to the cause of an officer's incapacity. It is conclusive and cannot be reviewed by the Secretary of the Navy. (f) Burchard v. U. S., 125 U. S., 176; 19 C. Cls. R., 137.

Salary, rear-admiral, not bound to accept.—A rear-admiral appointed to the office of Chief of the Bureau of Yards and Docks is not bound to accept the salary provided therefor, but may demand that allowed him for performing shore duty. 10 A. G. Op., 377.

Sealing vessels, seizure of.—A naval officer to whom delivery is made of a vessel seized under the provisions of the treaty has no authority to investigate the seizure or release the vessel. 21 (part 2) A. G. Op., 234. Harmon, Oct. 3, 1895.

Seamen, deposit of the savings of.—The act of February 9, 1889, chapter 119, "to provide for the deposit of the savings of seamen of the United States Navy," does not extend to enlisted men of the Marine Corps. 19 Op., 616.

(a) Amount of savings not limited.—The act to provide for the deposit of the savings of seamen of the United States Navy, approved February 9, 1889 (25 Stat., 657), does not in terms, or by necessary implication, limit the amount which may be deposited to savings earned during any single period of time. "The paymaster of the United States steamship San Francisco may receive from the chief boatswain's mate the sum of $900 as a deposit under the provisions of the act referred to, provided the $900 represents the 'savings' earned by the petty officer, as an enlisted man, or petty officer, in the United States Navy." Sea service and pay, as affecting volunteer officers transferred to the Regular Navy. Rev. Stat., s. 1412; 14 A. G. Op., 142.

(a) All other officers.—Under section 1556 sea pay is due for active service on a training ship stationed offshore, although the Navy Department may have decided otherwise. (See note, section 1571.) Under section 3 of the act of June 1, 1860, which provided that no service shall be regarded as sea service but such as shall be performed at sea, under the orders of a Department, and in vessels (a) U. S. v. Symonds, 120 U. S., 46; 21 C. Cls. R., 248; U. S. v. Bishop, 120 U. S. 51; 21 C. Cls. R., 215.

employed by authority of law, the service which entitled an officer to the pay allowed for "duty at sea" began when, having been ordered to a particular duty, he reported at the place designated and entered upon that duty. Even though the vessel lay in port, the pay allowed by that act to officers on duty at sea commenced.

(f) Rutherford v. U. S., 18 C. Cls. R., 339.

(b) "At sea" defined.—The words "at sea," in sections 1556 and 1571, mean not out of sight of land, but upon the waters of the sea, and sea service may include service upon a training ship at anchor in an arm of the sea.

(c) Temporary duty on a vessel at anchor near shore not sea duty.—A naval paymaster on shore duty at a navy-yard, having charge of the accounts of certain ironclads temporarily at anchor off the yard and in commission for sea service, was held not entitled to sea-duty pay.

(d) Shore duty not allowed except upon order of the Secretary of the Navy.

(e) Retired in first five years of service.—A lieutenant retired in the first five years of service because not recommended for promotion is entitled to only one-half his sea pay at the time of retirement, under the last clause of section 1588.

(f) Sea pay, chief engineers.—A chief engineer retired in the third period of five years' service is entitled to 75 per cent of the sea pay of that grade, and not to the highest pay of a chief engineer who has served over twenty years.

Self-crimination of witness.—H. was tried by court-martial and found guilty of the offense charged. At the trial a witness objected to answering a question on the ground of self-crimination, but the court required him to answer, the judge-advocate reading in support of this requirement the section cited: Held, that if the court committed an error in compelling the witness to answer, the error is not such as to require a disapproval of the proceedings.

Whether the effect of that section is to take away from a witness the common-law privilege of declining to answer a question which tends to criminate him, when it is manifest that he could only be tried in the courts of the United States, quare.

Shipwrecked seamen, withholding pay from.—Where a United States consul-general has provided shipwrecked, destitute seamen with food, clothing, and passage to a port in this country, the amount so expended should not be deducted from the wages of such seamen.

Shore duty.—This statute provides “that hereafter no officer of the Navy shall be employed on any shore duty, except in cases especially provided by law, unless the Secretary of the Navy shall determine that the employment of an officer on such duty is required by the public interests, and he shall so state in the order of employment, and also the duration of such service, beyond which time it shall not continue.” 22 Stat. L., 481; act Mar. 3, 1883.

Speed premiums.—The appropriation for special speed premiums made by the statute cited is not limited in its application to premiums earned prior to January 1, 1894. Act July 26, 1894, ch. 165; 21 A. G. Op., 84, Olney, Nov. 16, 1894.

Status, officer.—The status of Commander Joshua Bishop considered, and held that he must be regarded as still on the active list of the Navy. Rev. Stat., s. 1443; 21 A. G. Op., 103, Olney, Dec. 21, 1894.

Storekeeper.—The commander of a squadron can not appoint a storekeeper, and a person so appointed can not recover pay for services as such. Rev. Stat., s. 1568; Larkin v. U. S., 19 C. Cls. R., 170.

Stores, naval, provision for the appraisal and sale of condemned stores that are unserviceable. 22 Stat. L., 296, s. 2.

Sufficiency of bondsmen, cost of certificate of.—There is no law requiring a United States judge or a United States attorney to certify as to the sufficiency of guarantors or bondsmen offered in connection with proposals and contracts with the Navy Department, and no fees are chargeable against the Government for such service. Rev. Stat., 3719; 19 A. G. Op., 181.

The expense of obtaining a certificate from the office must be borne by the bidder or contractor as other expenses are incurred by him in the proper execution of the papers.

Supplies, naval, contracts—withdrawing bid.—The Secretary of the Navy is obliged to give contracts for supplies to the lowest bidder who fills the requirements as to security, etc., although the Secretary is the person charged with the duty of ascertaining the facts in this regard, and his decision is not reviewable in any court. Rev. Stat., ss. 3709, 3710, 3718, 3719, 3722; also s. 3724; Twiss v. City of Port Huron, 63 Mich., 528, 531; 9 A. G. Op., 174; 15 A. G. Op., 648, 651; Rev. Stat., s. 3719; Whitney, Acting A. G., Aug. 31, 1894.

(a) Withdrawal of bid.—In the absence of any special statutory provision to the contrary, a bidder for a Government contract may withdraw his bid at any time until notice of acceptance.

(b) Quære.—Whether there is any such special statutory provision relating to the Navy Department?

Sureties.—Two supplemental contracts made with a contractor when the contract itself had contemplated and provided for such changes, which have been made in the manner fixed by the contract, do not impair the obligations of the sureties on the contractor's bond. 20 A. G. Op., 749, Olney, Mar. 19, 1894.

Sureties upon Government contracts.—A surety upon the bond of a Government contractor is not discharged from liability thereon by the contractor's thereafter agreeing to pay the moneys received by him to some third person, or entering into any partnership, or being served with an injunction order restraining him from paying out any of such moneys except to the plaintiff in the injunction suit, 20 A. G. Op., 643, Olney, Aug. 17, 1893.

the Government not recognizing any of such proceedings in any way.

Rev. Stat., ss. 1411, 1412; act Feb. 15, 1879, ch. 83; 20 Stat. L., 294. Surgeons, acting assistant, are required by the sections cited to sustain an examination, physical and professional, to be eligible to appointment in the Navy. If they fail in the examination or are physically disqualified, they shall be mustered out of the service, but if physically disqualified in line of duty, they may be placed on the retired list with pay of like officers in the Regular Navy. Acting assistant surgeons for temporary service shall not be appointed, except in case of war.

Collin's Case, 14 C. Cls. R., 568; Moore's Case, 95 U. S., 760; Germaine's Case, 99 U. S., 503; 22 Stat. L., 472. Surgeon, passed assistant, is an office, and a valid appointment thereto is made by a notification from the Secretary of the Navy, though the statutes do not prescribe the manner of appointment. The statutes cited in the margin provide that "two assistant surgeons not in the line of promotion shall hereafter, after fifteen years' service, be entitled to receive, as annual pay, when at sea, two thousand one hundred dollars, when on shore duty, one thousand eight hundred dollars, and when on leave or waiting orders, one thousand six hundred dollars." Section 1375, Revised Statutes, supplies the words "who (the above surgeons) shall receive the highest shore pay of his grade."

15 A. G. Op., 259.

(a) Rev. Stat., s. 1556; U. S. v. Moore, 95 U. S., 760. (a) Date of appointment, etc.—The words "after date of appointment" and "from such date," in the clause of section 1556 relating to passed assistant surgeons, etc., refer not to their original entry into the service, but to the notification by the Secretary of the Navy that the officer has passed his examination for promotion.

(b) By act of February 13, 1897 (29 Stat. L., 526), it is provided that assistant and passed assistant surgeons shall be regularly examined, promoted and commissioned. This is a statutory recognition of the grade of passed assistant surgeon.

the torpedo station and the Naval War College at Newport, R. I., after January 1, 1889.

Transfer of contract.—A manufacturing company, after having entered into a contract with the Navy Department to deliver a large quantity of steel castings to be used in the construction of an armored cruiser, proposed to transfer the contract to another manufacturing company, which contemplated fulfilling the covenants of the former company with the Government, and asked the approval of such transfer by the Secretary of the Navy: Advised that, in view of the prohibition of the section cited, the proposed transfer can not lawfully be approved and recognized by the Navy Department.

Rev. Stat., s. 3737; 19 A. G. Op., 186.

Transfer of men from service in the Army to the Navy.—The act of July 1, 1864, providing for the transfer of men from the Army to the Navy was intended more to meet certain exigencies existing at the time of its enactment than to establish permanent relations of the military and naval service.

Rev. Stat., s. 1421; 1 Com. D., 696.

Transportation of enlisted men of the Navy—Bond-aided railroad.—The section cited is interpreted to include seamen as well as land troops. The Government having contracted with the West Shore Railroad, a corporation of the State of New York, for the immediate transportation to San Francisco of certain enlisted seamen then in the city of New York, and a portion of the route being over railroads aided by the United States in pursuance of the act cited, and a question having arisen as to whether payment of said contract price should be made to the West Shore Railroad: Held, that the question was essentially a judicial one; that a construction should not be put on the law by the executive department that would enable the bond-aided railroad to receive payment from the Treasury for services that are in effect services rendered the Government; and that all compensation to the bond-aided railroad, in so far as such service was performed by the said aided railroad, should be withheld until the rights of such railroad are adjusted by an agreement in compliance with the terms of the law or are judicially determined.

Act July 1, 1862, ch. 120, s. 6; 20 A. G. Op., 11, Miller, Feb. 4, 1891.

Traveling expenses.—The statute cited provides "that no allowance shall be made in the settlement of any account for traveling expenses (of officers traveling under orders) unless the same be incurred on the order of the Secretary of the Navy or the allowance be approved by him."

Rev. Stat., s. 430; 18 Stat. L., 297, ch. 18.

(a) Officer entitled to actual expenses for travel in attending as a witness, etc.—An officer of the Navy is entitled only to actual and necessary expenses for travel performed in attending as a witness before a United States grand jury, in response to a subpoena, notwithstanding he may have been ordered by his superior officer to perform the travel in answer to said subpoena.

Vacancies, Marine Corps.—A question having arisen as to whether the officers to be promoted in the United States Marine Corps to vacancies existing in the offices of major, captain, and first lieutenant, said succession of vacancies having been created July 10, 1892, should or should not be examined under the act providing for the examination of certain officers of the Marine Corps and regulating proceedings therein, of date July 28, 1892, chapter 315, the opinion was given that the promotions under consideration might be made without the examination in question.

Rev. Stat., ss. 177, 179, 180, 181; 20 A. G. Op., 8, Miller, Jan. 31, 1891.

Vacancy in head of Departments.—Where there is a vacancy in the head of a Department, it can not be temporarily filled for a longer period than ten days, either by operation of law or by designation of the President. In so far as the second opinion cited holds that twenty days may be taken by the President, by allowing the statutory occupation of the office for ten days without designation and then making a designation for an additional ten days, not accepted.

(b) Intoxicating liquors.—The statute cited under (b) provides that no part of the appropriation by Congress for expenses of the Board shall be used to pay for intoxicating liquors.

Rev. Stat., ss. 1411, 1412; statute of February 15, 1879, chapter 83; 20 Stat. L., 294.

Volunteer officers, line, under sections cited, are required to be examined, and authorizes them, if found qualified, to be appointed in the Navy, or, if not so qualified, to be mustered out of the service; provided that such officers, if physically disabled in line of duty, may be placed on the retired list with pay of like officers in the Regular Navy.

(a) Credit for sea service.—To entitle an officer to credit for sea service under section 1412, he must have been in the Volunteer Navy at the time of his appointment to the Regular Navy; and if he ceased to be an officer in the Volunteer Navy prior to such appointment, however brief the interval, he is not within the statute. The last clause of section 1412 means that officers transferred from the volunteer to the regular naval service shall have whatever benefits their past sea duty would entitle them to, if, during the period of its performance, they had belonged to the regular naval service, holding, not the same grade as those to which they are transferred, but grades corresponding to those at that period held by them in the volunteer naval service.

Witnesses before courts-martial.—Where a civilian witness is brought before a court-martial but refuses to testify, the court is not invested with any inherent power to punish the witness in such case, either summarily or otherwise, as for a contempt. Such power can only be exercised by it when given by the positive terms of some statute. The section cited arms the court with authority to compel the witness to appear and testify, so far as this can be done by process; but in securing his testimony the court is restricted to the means which it is thus authorized to employ. It can not inflict any punishment where the power to impose it is not clearly conferred by Congress.

ADDENDA.

UNITED STATES STATUTES ENACTED BY SECOND SESSION FIFTY-FIFTH CONGRESS.

That to reimburse the survivors of the officers and crew of the United States steamer Maine, destroyed by an explosion in the harbor of Havana, Cuba, on the fifteenth day of February, eighteen hundred and ninety-eight, for losses incurred by them, respectively, in the destruction of said vessel, there shall be paid to each of said survivors, out of any money in the Treasury of the United States not otherwise appropriated, a sum equal to the losses so sustained by them: Provided, That the accounting officers of the Treasury shall in all cases require a schedule and affidavit from each person making a claim under this Act, such schedule to be approved by the Secretary of the Navy; and reimbursement shall be made for such articles of clothing, outfit, and for such personal effects only as are of a character and value and in quantity suitable and appropriate to the rank or rating and duty of the person by whom the claim is made: Provided further, That in no case shall the aggregate sum allowed for such losses exceed the amount of twelve months' sea pay (without rations) of the grade or rating held by such person at the time the losses were incurred.

Mar. 30, 1898.

An act for the relief of the sufferers by the destruction of the U. S. S. Maine, in the harbor of Havana, Cuba.

SEC. 2. That the widow, child, or children, and in case there be not such, that the parent or parents, and if there be no parent, the brothers and sisters, of the officers, enlisted men, and others who were lost in the destruction of said vessel, or who have died or who may die within one year from date of the disaster in consequence of injuries received in the destruction of said vessel, shall be entitled to and shall receive, out of any money in the Treasury of the United States not otherwise appropriated, to wit: The relative, in the order named, of the persons heretofore referred to, a sum equal to twelve months' sea pay of the grade or rating of each person deceased as aforesaid: Provided, That the legal representatives of the deceased persons hereinbefore referred to shall also be paid from the Treasury of the United States any arrears of pay due the deceased at the time of their death: Provided further, That if any person who shall receive reimbursement under this Act, for losses incurred in said disaster, shall die within the year in consequence of injuries incurred in the destruction of said vessel, the amount so paid shall be deducted from the amount of twelve months' sea pay (without rations) allowed to such beneficiary by virtue of this Act of relief.

SEC. 3. That the accounting officers of the Treasury be, and they are hereby, authorized to continue for a period of three months any allotments which may have been made in favor of any relatives of the degrees hereinbefore enumerated by any of the officers and men attached to the United States ship Maine who lost their lives in or in consequence of the disaster to that vessel: Provided, That the amount of the allotments so continued shall be deducted from the amount of twelve months' sea pay allowed to such beneficiaries by virtue of this Act for their relief.

SEC. 4. That the relief granted by the provisions of this Act shall be in full satisfaction of any and all claims whatever against the United States on account of losses or death by the destruction of the United States steamer Maine; and any claim against the United States which shall be presented and acted upon under the authority of this Act shall be held to be finally determined and shall not in any manner thereafter be reopened, reconsidered, supplemented nor be subject to appeal in any form; and the method of presenting and establishing said claims hereinbefore presented shall be followed in lieu of those prescribed by acts or parts of acts heretofore enacted relating to the presentation and allowance of similar claims: Provided, That nothing herein shall affect the right of any of the beneficiaries under this Act to any pension to which they may be entitled under existing law after the expiration of one year from said fifteenth day of February, eighteen hundred and ninety-eight.

SEC. 5. That no claims shall be allowed under the provisions of this Act which shall not be presented within two years after the date of its passage.

SEC. 6. That the Secretary of the Navy be, and he is hereby, authorized, whenever in his discretion it may be deemed practicable and expedient, to cause the remains of all or any of those who perished in consequence of said disaster to be removed to the United States cemetery at Arlington: Provided, That the relatives of any of such deceased officers and others mentioned in this Act who prefer that the remains of such be taken to their homes within the United States shall have such privilege extended to them, and the expense thereof shall be borne by the United States; and the sum of ten thousand dollars, or so much thereof as may be necessary, is hereby appropriated, out of any money in the Treasury not otherwise appropriated, to carry out the provisions of this section.

Apr. 1, 1895.

Temporary admission free of duty of naval supplies.

That such guns, ammunition, and other naval and military supplies as may be purchased abroad by this Government for the national defense prior to January first, eighteen hundred and ninety-nine, shall be admitted at any port of entry in the United States free of duty.

Apr. 22, 1898.

Joint resolution to prohibit the export of coal or other material used in war from any seaport of the United States.

That the President is hereby authorized, in his discretion, and with such limitations and exceptions as shall seem to him expedient, to prohibit the export of coal or other material used in war from any seaport of the United States until otherwise ordered by the President or by Congress.

The Secretary of the Navy is hereby directed to report to Congress a suitable design for a statue of David D. Porter, to be erected in the city of Washington, and the reasonable cost thereof.

May 4, 1895.

Design for statue of Admiral Porter.

To enable the Secretary of the Navy to execute the provisions of section fifteen hundred and fifty-two of the Revised Statutes authorizing the Secretary of the Navy to establish, at such places as he may deem necessary, suitable depots of coal, and other fuel, for the supply of steamships of war, two hundred and fifty thousand dollars, or so much thereof as may be necessary.

Depots for coal.

And whenever any officer, seaman, or marine entitled to a pension is admitted to the Naval Home at Philadelphia, or to a naval hospital, his pension, while he remains there, shall be deducted from his accounts and paid to the Secretary of the Navy for the benefit of the fund from which such home or hospital, respectively, is maintained; and section forty-eight hundred and thirteen of the Revised Statutes of the United States is hereby amended accordingly.

Pensions of sailors and marines admitted to Naval Home to be paid to Secretary of Navy.

To reimburse the enlisted men of the United States Marine Corps who incurred loss of clothing by the fires which occurred at the navy-yard, Washington, District of Columbia, on the twenty-second and twenty-ninth days of April, eighteen hundred and ninety-seven, fifty-one dollars and seventy-three cents: Provided, That the accounting officers of the Treasury shall in all cases require a schedule and certificate from each person making a claim under this Act.

Reimbursement of marines for loss of clothing by fire.

That section thirteen hundred and seventy of the Revised Statutes of the United States be, and the same is hereby, amended so as to read as follows:

“No person shall be appointed assistant surgeon until he has been examined and approved by a board of naval surgeons designated by the Secretary of the Navy, nor who is under twenty-one or over thirty years of age, inclusive.”

Appointment of assistant surgeons.

The President is hereby authorized to appoint for temporary service twenty-five acting assistant surgeons, who shall have the relative rank and compensation of assistant surgeons.

That no part of this sum shall be applied to the repair of any wooden ship when the estimated cost of such repairs, to be appraised by a competent board of naval officers, shall exceed ten per centum of the estimated cost, appraised in like manner, of a new ship of the same size and like material: Provided further, That nothing herein contained shall deprive the Secretary of the Navy of the authority to cause the necessary repairs and preservation of the United States ship Hartford or to order repairs of ships damaged in foreign waters or on the high seas, so far as may be necessary to bring them home.

Repair of wooden ships.

Preservation of U. S. ship Hartford.

For completion, repairing, and preservation of machinery and boilers of naval vessels, including cost of new boilers, distilling, refrigerating, and auxiliary machinery; preservation of and small repairs to machinery and boilers in vessels in ordinary, receiving and training vessels, repair and care of machinery of yard tugs and launches, six hundred thousand dollars: Provided, That no part of said sum shall be applied to the engines, boilers, and machinery of wooden ships where the estimated cost of such repair shall exceed ten per centum of the estimated cost of new engines and machinery of the same character and power, nor shall new boilers be constructed for wooden ships: Provided further, That nothing herein contained shall deprive the Secretary of the Navy of the authority to cause the necessary repairs and preservation of the United States ship Hartford or to order repairs of the engines, boilers, and machinery of ships damaged in foreign waters or on the high seas, so far as may be necessary to bring them home;

And whenever, within the next twelve months, an exigency may exist which, in the judgment of the President, renders their services necessary, he is hereby authorized to appoint from civil life and commission such officers of the line and staff, not above the rank or relative rank of commander, and warrant officers including warrant machinists, and such officers of the Marine Corps not above the rank of captain, to be appointed from the non-commissioned officers of the Corps and from civil life, as may be requisite: Provided, That such officers shall serve only during the continuance of the exigency under which their services are required in the existing war: And provided further, That such officers so appointed shall be assigned to duty with rank and pay of the grades established by existing law; and warrant machinists shall be paid at the rate of one thousand two hundred dollars per annum.

Appointment of officers by the President to meet emergency.

Secretary of Navy authorized to acquire by condemnation proceedings land for use of Navy.

The Secretary of the Navy is hereby authorized and directed to cause to be commenced, within three months after the passage of this Act, and the Attorney-General is hereby directed to carry on, proceedings for the condemnation of the following tract of land for the use of the United States for the Norfolk Navy-Yard, for the purpose of constructing a wet dock, and for other purposes, namely, the tract of land known as the Cedar Grove property, containing fifty acres, with a water front of one thousand six hundred feet on the Elizabeth River, immediately opposite to the Gosport Navy-Yard, in the State of Virginia, under the Act of Congress approved August first, eighteen hundred and eighty-eight, entitled "An Act to authorize the condemnation of land for sites of public buildings, and for other purposes," and other laws of the United States, so as to completely vest in the United States the title of said land. And all such proceedings shall be reported to Congress at its next session by the Secretary of the Navy.

Medals of honor authorized by certain acts.

That the Secretary of the Navy be, and he is hereby, authorized to issue to any person to whom a medal of honor has been awarded, or may hereafter be awarded, under the provisions of the Acts approved December twenty-first, eighteen hundred and sixty-one, and July sixteenth, eighteen hundred and sixty-two, a rosette or knot to be worn in lieu of the medal, and a ribbon to be worn with the medal; said rosette or knot and ribbon to be each of a pattern to be prescribed and established by the President of the United States, and any appropriation that may hereafter be available for the contingent expenses of the Navy Department is hereby made available for the purposes of this Act: Provided, That whenever a ribbon issued under the provisions of this Act shall have been lost, destroyed, or rendered unfit for use, without fault or neglect on the part of the person to whom it was issued, the Secretary of the Navy shall cause a new ribbon to be issued to such person without charge therefor.

To enable the Secretary of the Navy to enlist, at any time after the passage of this Act, as many additional seamen, landsmen, and boys as he may deem necessary to man the ships of the Navy, or in use by the Navy, as a temporary force therefor during the existing war, and for pay of the same and of the temporary additional officers and warrant machinists hereinbefore authorized, eight million eight hundred and thirty thousand dollars, or so much thereof as may be necessary; and to enable the Secretary of the Navy to enlist, at any time after the passage of this Act, the following additional force for the Marine Corps as a temporary force during the existing war, namely, not more than sixty gunnery sergeants with rank of first sergeants, not more than eighty corporals, and not more than one thousand five hundred privates, and for pay of the same, including the temporary additional officers hereinbefore authorized, and for provisions, clothing, fuel, military stores, transportation and recruiting, and for contingent expenses, on account of said additional force, five hundred and sixty-seven thousand nine hundred dollars, or so much thereof as may be necessary.

Additional force for the Navy and Marine Corps.

Toward the construction of four timber dry docks, two hundred thousand dollars each; in all, eight hundred thousand dollars; said dry docks to be not less than seven hundred feet in length, and of other dimensions sufficient to meet the present and probable future requirements of the largest vessels of the Navy and auxiliary fleet. One of these docks to be located at the navy-yard, Portsmouth, New Hampshire, to cost, when completed, not exceeding eight hundred and twenty-five thousand dollars; one at the navy-yard, Boston, Massachusetts, to cost, when completed, not exceeding eight hundred and twenty-five thousand dollars; one at the navy-yard, League Island, Pennsylvania, to cost, when completed, not exceeding eight hundred and twenty-five thousand dollars; and one at the navy-yard, Mare Island, California, to cost, when completed, not exceeding eight hundred and twenty-five thousand dollars; and the Secretary of the Navy is hereby authorized, in his discretion, to build one of said docks of granite or concrete faced with granite, and in such case the limit of the cost of said dock is increased two hundred thousand dollars.

Construction of dry docks.

Toward the construction of one steel floating dock of domestic manufacture which shall be a combined floating and graving dock, two hundred thousand dollars, said dock to be located at the naval reservation at Algiers, Louisiana, to be capable of lifting a vessel of fifteen thousand tons displacement, and twenty-seven feet draft of water, to cost, including moorings and wharf, eight hundred and fifty thousand dollars.

The Secretary of the Navy may employ, and pay out of the appropriations for dry docks herein authorized, such additional expert aids, draftsmen, writers, and copyists as may be necessary for the preparation of plans and specifications, to an amount not to exceed ten thousand dollars.

And the Secretary of the Navy be, and is hereby, authorized, under the limitations hereinbefore provided, to make contracts for the entire construction of said dry docks, and steel floating dock, and in each case the contract shall be awarded to the lowest best responsible bidder.

The Secretary of the Navy is hereby authorized and directed to appoint a board of naval officers to determine the desirability of locating and constructing a dry dock of sufficient capacity to take the largest naval ship in the harbor of Galveston or in the harbor of Sabine Pass, or the waters tributary thereto, Texas, and a dry dock of the same capacity in the waters of Chesapeake Bay above the mouth of the Potomac River; and to report such finding to the next session of the present Congress; and the sum of one thousand dollars, or so much thereof as may be necessary, is hereby appropriated to defray the expenses of said board.

Increase of the Navy.

That for the purpose of further increasing the naval establishment of the United States the President is hereby authorized to have constructed by contract three seagoing coast-line battle ships carrying the heaviest armor and most powerful ordnance upon a displacement of about eleven thousand tons, to have the highest practicable speed for vessels of their class, and to cost, exclusive of armor and armament, not exceeding three million dollars each, one of said battle ships to be named the Maine; and four harbor-defense vessels of the monitor type, each having one or two turrets, and to cost, exclusive of armament, not exceeding one million two hundred and fifty thousand dollars each; and sixteen torpedo boat destroyers of about four hundred tons displacement, and twelve torpedo boats of about one hundred and fifty tons displacement, to have the highest practicable speed, and to cost in all, exclusive of armament, not exceeding six million nine hundred thousand dollars; and one gunboat to take the place of the United States steamship Michigan, to cost, exclusive of armament, not more than two hundred and sixty thousand dollars,

One gunboat

said gunboat to be constructed on the Great Lakes or their connecting waters: Provided, That said construction of said gunboat shall conform to all existing treaties and conventions. And not more than two of said battle ships, and not more than two of said harbor-defense vessels, and not more than five of said torpedo-boat destroyers, and not more than four of said torpedo boats shall be built in one yard or by one contracting party, and the contracts for the construction of each of said vessels shall be awarded by the Secretary of the Navy to the lowest best responsible bidder, having in view the best results and most expeditious delivery; and in the construction of all said vessels all of the provisions of the Act of August third, eighteen hundred and eighty-six, entitled "An Act to increase the naval establishment," and amendments subsequently made thereto as to materials for said vessels, their engines, boilers, and machinery, the contracts under which they are built, except as to premiums, which are not to be offered, the notice of any proposals for the same, the plans, drawings, and specifications therefor, and the method of executing said contracts, shall be observed and followed, and said vessels shall be built in compliance with the terms of said Act, save that in all their parts said vessels shall be of domestic manufacture except that no proposal for the torpedo vessels shall be considered unless the bidder is already in possession of adequate plant, and that the advertisement relating to the proposals for such vessels may be published for three weeks only; and, subject to the provisions hereinafter made, one and not more than one of the aforesaid seagoing battle ships, and one and not more than one of the aforesaid harbor-defense vessels, shall be built on or near the coast of the Pacific Ocean or in the waters connecting therewith: Provided, That if it shall appear to the satisfaction of the President of the United States, from the biddings for such contracts when the same are opened and examined by him, said vessel, or either of them, can not be constructed on or near the coast of the Pacific Ocean at a cost not exceeding four per centum above the lowest accepted bid for the other battle ships or harbor-defense vessels provided for in this Act, he shall authorize the construction of said vessel, or either of them, elsewhere in the United States, subject to the limitations as to cost hereinbefore provided.

Plans and drawings.

Vessels in all parts must be of domestic manufacture.

On account of the hulls and outfits of vessels and steam machinery of vessels heretofore and herein authorized, thirteen million six hundred and forty-eight thousand four hundred and seventy-three dollars: Provided, That section two of the Act entitled "An Act to increase the naval establishment," approved August third, eighteen hundred and eighty-six, be, and the same is hereby, amended so as to read as follows:

Construction and machinery.

"SEC. 2. That in the construction of all naval vessels the steel material shall be of domestic manufacture, and of the quality and characteristics best adapted to the various purposes for which it may be used, in accordance with specifications approved by the Secretary of the Navy."

Toward the armament and armor of domestic manufacture for the vessels authorized by the Act of July twenty-sixth, eighteen hundred and ninety-four, of the vessels authorized under the Act of March second, eighteen hundred and ninety-five, of those authorized by the Act of June tenth, eighteen hundred and ninety-six, of the three torpedo boats authorized by the Act of March third, eighteen hundred and ninety-seven, and of those authorized by this Act, including the completion of ordnance outfit for the four harbor-defense vessels, the sixteen torpedo-boat destroyers, and twelve torpedo boats named herein, seven million one hundred and sixty-two thousand eight hundred dollars: Provided, That the total cost of the armor according to the plans and specifications already prepared, for the three battle ships authorized by the Act of June tenth, eighteen hundred and ninety-six, shall not exceed three million two hundred and ten thousand dollars, including all cost of nickel in the same, and exclusive of the cost of transportation, ballistic test plates, and tests, and royalty for steel face-hardening process, not to exceed one-half cent per pound, and which can not be made use of without the payment of royalty, and no contract for armor plate shall be made at an average rate to exceed four hundred dollars per ton of two thousand two hundred and forty pounds, including nickel as aforesaid. That hereafter all first-class battle ships and monitors owned by the United States shall be named for the States, and shall not be named for any city, place, or person until the names of the States shall have been exhausted: Provided, That nothing herein contained shall be so construed as to interfere with the names of States already assigned to any such battle ship or monitor.

Names of vessels.

Equipment.

Toward the completion of the equipment outfit of the new vessels heretofore and herein authorized, three hundred and seventy-five thousand dollars.

Electric plants.

For the installation of electric plants in gunboats numbered ten, eleven, twelve, and thirteen, forty thousand dollars.

The President may make appropriation immediately available.

It is further provided that whenever in the judgment of the President, the public interests may require he is authorized and empowered to make any or all the provisions and appropriations of this Act immediately operative and available.

May 11, 1898.

Naval battalion in District of Columbia.

That in addition to the companies of volunteer militia now authorized in the District of Columbia there may be organized not more than four companies of naval militia, which shall constitute a battalion to be known as the naval battalion of the National Guard of the District of Columbia.

Officers of battalion.

SEC. 2. That the officers of the naval battalion shall consist of one commander, and a staff to consist of one executive officer with the rank of lieutenant-commander, one navigating officer with the rank of lieutenant, one signal, ordnance, and equipment officer with the rank of lieutenant, one chief engineer, one paymaster, and one surgeon, each with the relative rank of lieutenant.

Composition of company.

SEC. 3. That each company shall consist of one lieutenant, one lieutenant, junior grade, two ensigns, and not less than sixty nor more than one hundred petty officers and enlisted men.

SEC. 4. That in all matters not otherwise specially provided for, the provisions of law which provide for the organization of the militia of the District of Columbia shall apply to the naval battalion.

General routine of duty, etc., of battalion.

SEC. 5. That general routine of duty, discipline, and exercises of the naval battalion, and parts thereof, shall conform with the laws, customs, and usages of the Navy, as far as the same apply, and where they do not apply then such routine of duty, discipline, and exercises shall conform to the laws governing the volunteer forces of the District of Columbia.

That a United States Auxiliary Naval Force is hereby authorized to be established, to be enrolled in such numbers as the President may deem necessary, not exceeding three thousand enlisted men, for the exigencies of the present war with Spain, and to serve for a period of one year, or less, and shall be disbanded by the President at the conclusion of the war.

May 26, 1898.

United States Auxiliary Naval Force.

SEC. 2. That the chief of the United States Auxiliary Naval Force shall be detailed by the Secretary of the Navy from the active or retired list of the line officers of the Navy not below the grade of captain, who shall receive the highest pay of his grade while so employed.

Chief of the force.

SEC. 3. That enlistment into the United States Auxiliary Naval Force shall be made by such officer or officers as the Navy Department may detail for the purpose, who shall also select from merchant vessels and other available sources such volunteers as may be deemed best fitted for service as officers in said force, and shall report to the Secretary of the Navy, for his action, their names and the grade for which each is recommended.

Enlistment in the force.

SEC. 4. That for the purposes of this organization the coast line shall be divided into districts, each of which shall be in charge of an assistant to the chief of the United States Auxiliary Naval Force; and such assistant chiefs may be detailed by the Secretary of the Navy from the officers of the active or retired list of the line of the Navy, or appointed by him from civil life, not above the rank of lieutenant-commander.

Shall be divided into districts.

SEC. 5. That the officers and men comprising the United States Auxiliary Naval Force shall receive the same pay and emoluments as those holding similar rank or rate in the Regular Navy; and all matters relating to the organization, discipline, and government of men in said force shall conform to the laws and regulations governing the United States Navy.

Pay of officers and men.

SEC. 6. That the chief of the United States Auxiliary Naval Force or such officers as the Navy Department may detail for such service, may, with the consent of the Governor of any State, muster into the said Force the whole or any part of the organizations of the Naval Militia of any State to serve in said Auxiliary Naval Force, and shall report to the Secretary of the Navy, for his action, the names and grades for which commissions in said United States Auxiliary Naval Force shall be issued to the officers of such Naval Militia, and shall have the power to appoint and disrate the petty officers thereof.

Naval Militia may be mustered into auxiliary force.

SEC. 7. That the officers, warrant officers, petty officers, and enlisted men and boys of the United States Auxiliary Naval Force thus created shall be paid from the appropriation "Pay of the Navy;" and the sum of three million dollars, or so much thereof as may be required, is hereby appropriated, from any money in the Treasury not otherwise appropriated, for the purchase or hire of vessels necessary for the purposes of this resolution.

Paid from "Pay of the Navy."

May 26, 1898.

Joint resolution ratifying and confirming certain temporary appointments of officers of the Navy.

That the temporary appointments made by the President on and after April twenty-first, eighteen hundred and ninety-eight, and up to the date of the passage of this joint resolution, of officers of the line and staff of the Navy, are hereby ratified and confirmed, to continue in force during the exigency under which their services are required in the existing war: Provided, That the officers so appointed shall be assigned to duty with rank and pay of the grades established by existing law, and shall be paid from the appropriation "Pay of the Navy."

June 8, 1898.

Support of naval establishment.
Navy Department emergency fund.

For special necessities of the various naval squadrons; for the charter or purchase of suitable vessels; for the increase of small craft attached to the various squadrons, and for replacing such as may be lost or destroyed; for maintaining and destroying communication; and for obtaining information, ten million dollars, of which sum not more than five hundred thousand dollars may be used to meet contingencies that can not be foreseen, but which constantly arise under existing conditions.

Bureau of Supplies and Accounts.
Commutated rations.

For provisions and commuted rations for the seamen and marines, which commuted rations may be paid to caterers of messes, in cases of death or desertion, upon orders of the commanding officer, commuted rations for officers on sea duty and naval cadets, and commuted rations stopped on account of sick in hospital and credited to the naval hospital fund, subsistence of officers and men unavoidably detained or absent from vessels to which attached under orders (during which subsistence rations to be stopped on board ship and no credit for commutation therefor to be given); fresh water for drinking and cooking purposes; labor in general storehouses and paymasters' offices in navy-yards, including expenses in handling stores purchased under the naval supply fund, one million dollars.

For purchase of clothing and small stores for issue to the naval service, the present fund being inadequate to meet the requirements of the service at this time, to be added to the "Clothing and small stores fund," one million dollars.

June 16, 1898.

An act for the protection of homestead settlers who enter the military or naval service of the United States in time of war.

That in every case in which a settler on the public land of the United States under the homestead laws enlists or is actually engaged in the Army, Navy, or Marine Corps of the United States as private soldier, officer, seaman, or marine, during the existing war with Spain, or during any other war in which the United States may be engaged, his services therein shall, in the administration of the homestead laws, be construed to be equivalent to all intents and purposes to residence and cultivation for the same length of time upon the tract entered or settled upon; and hereafter no contest shall be initiated on the ground of abandonment, nor allegation of abandonment sustained against any such settler, unless it shall be alleged in the preliminary affidavit or affidavits of contest, and proved at the hearing in cases hereafter initiated, that the settler's alleged absence from the land was not due to his employment in such service: Provided, That if such settler shall be discharged on account of wounds received or disability incurred in the line of duty, then the term of his enlistment shall be deducted from the required length of residence without reference to the time of actual service: Provided further, That no patent shall issue to any homestead settler who has not resided upon, improved, and cultivated his homestead for a period of at least one year after he shall have commenced his improvements.

That a hospital corps of the United States Navy is hereby established, and shall consist of pharmacists, hospital stewards, hospital apprentices (first class), and hospital apprentices; and for this purpose the Secretary of the Navy is empowered to appoint twenty-five pharmacists with the rank, pay, and privileges of warrant officers, removable in the discretion of the Secretary, and to enlist, or cause to be enlisted, as many hospital stewards, hospital apprentices (first class), and hospital apprentices as in his judgment may be necessary, and to limit or fix the number, and to make such regulations as may be required for their enlistment and government. Enlisted men in the Navy or the Marine Corps shall be eligible for transfer to the hospital corps, and vacancies occurring in the grade of pharmacist shall be filled by the Secretary of the Navy by selection from those holding the rate of hospital steward.

June 17, 1898.

Hospital corps, establishment of,
etc.

SEC. 2. That all necessary hospital and ambulance service at naval hospitals, naval stations, navy-yards, and marine barracks, and on vessels of the Navy, Coast Survey, and Fish Commission, shall be performed by the members of said corps, and the corps shall be permanently attached to the Medical Department of the Navy, and shall be included in the effective strength of the Navy and be counted as a part of the enlisted force provided by law, and shall be subject to the laws and regulations for the government of the Navy.

Ambulance service.

SEC. 3. That the pay of hospital stewards shall be sixty dollars a month, and the pay of hospital apprentices (first class) thirty dollars a month, and the pay of hospital apprentices twenty dollars a month, with the increase on account of length of service as is now or may hereafter be allowed by law to other enlisted men in the Navy.

Hospital stewards' pay.

SEC. 4. That all benefits derived from existing laws, or that may hereafter be allowed by law, to other warrant officers or enlisted men in the Navy shall be allowed in the same manner to the warrant officers or enlisted men in the hospital corps of the Navy.

Benefits to warrant officers.

SEC. 5. That all acts and parts of acts, so far as they conflict with the provisions of this Act, are hereby repealed.
